Dear Yannarelli:

I have all your communications, and, as I do not know just where to reach you, I am writing this letter to the National headquarters.

I was indeed surprised to from you at Buffalo. I cannot make out it out yet. However, I am hoping that you spent your time profitable while you were there.

As to the situation here, and the T.W. conference: We in Paterson are badly in need of ^{you} as something must be done to hold shops we have and get new shops. At Passaic, I can not seem to find out what is what. I was to the meeting you wired me about and also to a meeting they were supposed to have with the bosses - which did not take place. When I left the secretary promised that he would telephone me how things are getting on. Up to date (over a week having gone by) he has not let me hear a word from him. And I have not the time to go out there myself.

The conference at Easton seemed eager for more activity - and I know we can do things - so the only thing I can write you now is: Get back as soon as you can, and we'll get on the job.

What are you doing to make conditions better in the shop?

Yours as always Harry
