Gov. Robert B. Meyner, reelected to a second term.

NOVEMBER 10, 1957

VOL. XXIX, No. 44

PUT 'EM UP, YOU PHONY! — London, Eng. — On the Right here, making hostile gestures, is "Apricot Royal", a Mousehound of purest indigo blood, and on the Left is "Doorstop Queen", who has no blood of any color, but serves as a doorstep — in pottery. This little set-to took place at the opening of the Annual Siamese Cat Club Show in London.

POSTMAN'S HOLIDAY — Paris, France — Parisian Postmen had a night on the town when fifty selected Mail Carriers went to the Olympia Music Hall to hear singer Henri Ganes in the first presentation of his latest song hit "The Postman of Santa Cruz."

CHILDREN'S FRIEND — To jolt the townspeople of Hamelin from their greedy ways, the Pied Piper (Van Johnson, above) decides to take the children away, in the 90-minute NBC-TV filmed special, "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," which will be colorcast Tuesday, Nov. 26. The Pied Piper does this in retaliation because he was cheated out of his fee for ridding the town of the sudden influx of savage rats.

COVER PICTURE:

Governor Robert B. Meyner's decisive victory in Tuesday's election was the result of a calm and steady presentation of the facts to all the people. His sincerity and morality in office manifested themselves many times during his tenure of office. The approbation he has received from the New Jersey voters catapults the governor, head and shoulders, above other national figures prominently mentioned as potential presidential candidates in 1960.

PATERSON'S FIRST MAYOR FOR 3-YEAR TERM

MAYOR EDWARD J. O'BYRNE

Edward J. O'Byrne scored an overwhelming victory Tuesday to become Paterson's first mayor to a full three-year term. His reelection came as no surprise and the returns in all but three of the city's 103 districts were clearly definite of the esteem in which he is held by Democrats and Republicans alike.

As Mayor of the city and as Democratic County leader O'Byrne has conducted his affairs in a manner to inspire confidence in the future growth of Paterson and of the entire county.

The fruits of his labors cannot be determined overnight but within his new term of office many changes for the betterment of the Greater Paterson area will become decidedly evident.

The decisive victory of Mayor O'Byrne is a mandate to continue his progressive program as the representative of all the people.

This Week In AMERICAN HISTORY

BY WILLIAM BRODIE

LEWIS & CLARK REACH THE PACIFIC

For 18 months the exploring expedition led by Meriwether Lewis and William Clark had pushed doggedly across the unknown Northwest. The group had started out from its camp near St. Louis in the spring of 1804. Now, on November 7, 1805, they saw on the horizon the blue line marking the Pacific Ocean.

Captain William Clark wrote in his diary how delighted they all were to be at the great Pacific Ocean which they had been so long anxious to see, and to hear the roaring of the waves. And well they might be delighted. The most important exploration expedition in American history had reached its goal.

After the Louisiana Purchase from France, President Thomas Jefferson decided to send an exploring party through the tremendous territory which few white men had ever seen. In 1803 Congress appropriated $2,500 for the expedition. Jefferson appointed his private secretary, Meriwether Lewis, who was also a veteran of the frontier wars, to be the leader. Lewis, in turn, picked William Clark, younger brother of the Revolutionary War hero, George Rogers Clark, to head the expedition with him. Lewis was 30, and Clark 34 years old at the time.

On May 14, 1804 the explorers set out by flatboats up the swollen waters of the Missouri. The group included 26 soldiers, two French voyageurs, Clark's Negro servant, York, and last, but not least, the patient, loyal Indian girl, Sacajawea, known as the "Bird Woman." She was the wife of one of the Frenchmen, and she was to prove of great help to the expedition in getting along with the Indians.

After struggling up the Missouri until late October, they camped for the winter at some Indian villages near the present site of Bismarck, North Dakota. The next spring the party, in six canoes and two keelboats, set out toward the mysterious West. So little known was that wild country that the expedition had been told to be on the lookout for mastodons and mammoths.

Late in May they got their first sight of the Rockies, majestic, snow-capped ranges whose peaks seemed to mingle with the clouds. After a long, rough journey across the Great Divide they reached the Snake River, and thence by boat once more down to the Columbia, and finally to the sea.

Their journey had been a rugged one. They had starved at times and suffered great hardships, and even had eaten dogs among the Nez Perce tribe. But they had accomplished their mission, had met and made friends with many Indian tribes, and had gazed on grand scenes of mountain, plain and forest never before seen by white men.

At the mouth of the Columbia the Lewis and Clark party built a crude shelter called Fort Clatsop and spent the winter there. In March, 1806 they began the long journey home. Crossing the Rockies again the explorers split up into two groups to make a more extensive examination of the country. One party went down the Yellowstone and the other down the Missouri and at the junction of the two rivers the two groups united. Late in September they reached St. Louis again after having been gone for 28 months, from May 14, 1804 to September 23, 1806. An epic exploration was ended.

The information Lewis and Clark brought back was the first official report on our country's vast territory between the Mississippi and the Pacific. The way was now opened for the greatest development in American history, "The Winning of the West."

Dear Vincent:

Last week's cover shows that you are a henpecked husband. I think women should not have the right to vote. Ever since they have had the right all they keep voting for is "the good looking guys" or the fellow who appeals to feminine vanity. Sure there are smart politicians among women but they are the exception to the rule. Let's do away with wo-

Books'n Stuff

Are fairy tales, bedtime stories and adventure yarns—with their wicked stepmothers, blood-thirsty agres and horrible beasts—bad for growing children? Pauline Rush Evans, former editor of Child Study magazine and editor of "Good Housekeeping's Best Books Series," the first six volumes of which will be published November 1 by Prentice-Hall, doesn't think so.

In the new Good Housekeeping series, designed for children 6-12, she backs up her contention with selections from the cream of old and new writing for youngsters. Each volume contains selections from all fields of literature, and includes works by such writers as Rudyard Kipling, Jules Verne, the Brothers Grimm, C. S. Forester, Booth Tarkington, Edwin Way Teale, Thoreau, Felix Salten and James Thurber.

First six books in the series (more are scheduled for next year) are Good Housekeeping's "Best Books" of Adventure Stories, Animal Stories, Bedtime Stories, Fairy Tales, Fun and Nonsense, and Nature Stories.

Each book is illustrated with drawings by the best modern children's artists, and with classic original illustrations such as Tenniel's famous drawings for "Alice in Wonderland."

Mrs. Evans has included not only "Cinderella" and "Jack the Giant Killer," but modern stories such as Phyllis McGinley's "The Plain Princess," and Frank R. Stockton's "Ting-A-Ling's Visit to Tur-il-a-ra." In the book of Nature Stories, the young reader will find selections from Thoreau's "Walden" alongside modern scientist William Beebe's "My First Walk on Indefatigable Island."

For what is a man profited if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? —St. Matthew 16, 26.)

So often, these days, so many of us sacrifice so much to make "big" money—to "hit the jackpot" of fame or fortune—and we ignore the inner longing that is our soul. Somehow we think that this can wait until we have made ourselves secure in success... But, who knows the day and hour of his death?

"That's a darling hat," said the saleslady. "Really, when you put it on, madam, it makes you look ten years younger."

"Then I don't want it," snapped the customer. "I don't want to look ten years older every time I take it off."

Two women were discussing their husbands in that indulgent tone appropriate to the subject. "Henry is perfectly helpless without me," said one. "I don't know what would become of him if I went away for a week."

"John, too," sighed the other. "The way I have to look after that man! Why, whenever he sews on buttons or darns his socks, I always have to thread the needle for him."

Two scotsmen visiting London were inspecting a large building when they noticed the cornerstone bearing the date in Roman capitals: MCMIV.

"There you are again," said one, "a brither Scot with his name on the biggest building in London. You canna' keep a guid man doon!"

In a beauty shop just the gossip alone would curl your hair.

"If I was a man I'd punch you on the nose — and so would my husband!"

JUST THE FACTS

Most bowlers take things for granted. For instance few bowlers realize that a pair of bowling lanes installed costs in the near vicinity of $10,000. Even less realize that pins are a major problem to the proprietors. It costs a proprietor more than two cents for every game rolled. For years experiments have been conducted in order to find a pin which would give plenty of wear and still not cut down scoring. The answer may be in plastic pins but as yet the boys are still looking—and hoping.

Though there are more than 20 million bowlers in the nation, less than four million roll regularly in league play. The other 16 million are content to roll on week-ends or whenever they have the time and the inclination. And now that many establishments are open around the clock you can go out bowling at 3 A. M.—those automatic pinsetters never get tired and unlike pinboys they never talk back either.

In December the first World Invitational Match Game championship will take place in Chicago. It will feature 160 men and 64 women—all selected on the basis of past records and present performance. This event will be followed in January by the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America match game championship in January. In this event the contestants are bowlers who have survived local eliminations to win the right to compete in the big show. This is a start in building up a tournament trail similar to that in golf.

There are only a handful of bowlers who make a living from the game. A small group of teams have large sponsorships but most bowlers pay their own freight and seldom break even at the end of the year as expenses usually are larger than winnings.

A bowling ball is made of rubber and ABC rules bar the use of any metal in any way. In the days of the "dodo" balls bowlers would put mercury in the ball and have it set so that the mercury would force the ball to roll at a perfect angle into the pins.

The best way for any bowler to overcome nervousness in the clutch is to compete in tournaments. There are many crucial situations in bowling and the more experienced bowler is usually the one who comes out on top. There are all types of tournaments to fit the average of any bowler and most make it fair by giving handicaps.

THE SPORTSCENE

Many former New Jersey All-State scholastic stars are now playing in college ranks at leading schools throughout the country. Bruce Erb, ex-cager at Paterson Eastside High School, will show his talent for Coach Bob Van Atta this season at Memphis State College.

Memphis State was runner-up last season in the National Invitation Tourney at Madison Square Garden where Bradley, the former war-horse of the sport, returned to the big time by winning the NIT.

Erb before entering the southern school had broken all frosh records at Colgate University held by two former great stars, Ernie Vandeweghe and Carl Braun of the New York Knickerbockers.

Last season he performed in the Paterson Board of Recreation's Major-Heavyweight League, and averaged 37.2 points per game and led Allan Goldberg's Ross Ticket Agency five to the City loop title as well as the Paterson Evening News Round Robin championship and the Passaic County Playoff title.

Others that will see action on the court this coming December are Herb Busch playing at the University of Virginia. Last basketball campaign he scored 198 points, in 10 games, for a 19.8 average.

Busch, during the baseball season, pitches for the Paterson Generals in the North Jersey Baseball loop. The 6.9 giant killer resides in Short Hills, New Jersey.

Another local area star is Bobby Roapke, a former All-Passaic Valley Conference first team member at Passaic High School, who is slated to see action at Lehigh University. In the 1956-57 season he averaged 18.4 points per contest.

While Bill McCadney, the 6.7, 190-pound former whiz at Hackensack High School, under famed coach Howie Bollerman, will be playing his senior year at Fordham University, for Johnny Bach who was seen many seasons back at the Paterson Armory playing with the Hartford Hurricanes in the old American Basketball League, against the Paterson Crescents.

NBA BASKETBALL RANKS

Three New Jersey residents are listed among the top 50 players in the National Basketball Association. Tommy Heinsohn, the former All-State star from Union Hill High, and Holy Cross College in Worcester, Mass., is starting his second season with the World Champions of the NBA, the Boston Celtics.

The 6.7 Heinsohn last year was voted Rookie of the Year and this writer sees him becoming one of the all-time great players to compete in the pro game.

The 24-year-old Heinsohn scored 1,163 points in 72 NBA games, canning 446 field goals, and 271 foul points, while garnering 705 rebounds, as he averaged 16.2 points per game for the season. Now you know why he was picked as Rookie of the Year.

Togo Palazzi, another ex-Boston Celtics star who saw action with the Syracuse Nationals last season, came on strong to average 8.8 points per contest for the campaign.

Richy Regan, the former Seton Hall playmaker, who teamed with Walt Dukas to give Seton Hall University a National Invitation title a few seasons back, also had a banner season in the pro ranks last season. He scored 696 points for a 9.8 average for the Rochester Royals and is operating out of Cincinnati this season.

Budget Thoughts

Political predictions and trends in Washington are as variable as the weather in the nation's capital.

Although Congress is not in session, there is plenty of activity in the departments and agencies and among committee staff members on Capitol Hill who are preparing for a busy session of Congress next year.

One thing Washington observers agree upon—that now is the time to be thinking of the 1959 federal budget, which must be approved by Congress before it adjourns next summer prior to the important November elections.

There is no indication how much the President will ask for in his budget message to Congress next year.

However, in view of the fact that Congress pared the President's budget request during the last session, and the fact that there is a tremendous economy drive on in government departments and agencies, there is a possibility that the request next year may only be slightly lower than the last year.

Satellite Program

A Congressional investigation is shaping up to study U. S. failure to beat Russia at launching a satellite. The Russian Mutt-nik, weighing more than half a ton, was propelled by a force much greater than American scientists and engineers have yet been able to achieve.

Representative Thompson of New Jersey has called for the enactment of legislation establishing Federal loan programs for scientific and engineering college students and allowing income deductions for all tuition and fees.

Congratulations

Governor Robert B. Meyner has become the first "do-it-yourself" candidate in the state's history. In our opinion, he conducted his own campaign without aid of any national Democratic leadership.

The stunning plurality of more than 200,000 catapults the governor into the forefront of claimants for national recognition in 1960.

Unquestionably, the election had national significance. The GOP high command fired their best ammunition to unseat Governor Meyner. They realized that the Congressional races next year and the White House in 1960 were at stake if Forbes lost.

All of the predictions of pollsters, analysts and arm chair generals failed to give proper account of Governor Meyner's acceptance by the people, his vote-getting strength and personal appeal.

His straightforward outline of the issues at stake, his calm, methodical approach to questions of policy concerning New Jersey's well-being, won him the heart and imagination of millions of voters.

Truly a magnificent victory, rightfully deserved.

Many local candidates can thank the governor for his vote pulling power, strong enough to capture control of the Assembly at a time when hope was at low ebb for such a prospect.

God Speed, Governor.

"Nothing Sells Like Newspaper Advertising"

"At the retail level, nothing sells like newspaper advertising if the product has news-worthiness, is priced right, and if in-store promotion follows through."

That statement was made the other day by a Philadelphia advertising man, speaking at a sales forum. He gave the example of one of his clients, who gained $8 million in retail sales over a three-months period for an advertising expenditure of less than $100,000. He added: "The real payoff of this promotion came as the result of newspaper advertising."

The other and newer media have their place—but they can't supplant the newspaper. That goes for the papers in the little towns no less than those in the great cities.

Pulse of the Country

The great American cities are booming in population. But millions of people still prefer the smaller towns, the grass-roots feel and atmosphere, the way of life that goes with the countryside.

Recently an employment agency ran a three-line ad in the New York Times offering jobs on country weekly newspapers. From that single, tiny notice more than 60 replies were received. This caused the American Press to say that "... there may be many newspapermen who have gone to the cities to seek their fortunes and, after a few frustrating months or years, long to return to the country ..."

Those who work on the smaller papers are about as close to the pulse of the country as anyone can be.

Always Looking Over His Shoulder

The Editor Speaks

VINCENT S. PARRILLO

The huff and puff of the election is over and Edward J. O'Byrne has become the first man who will serve a full three-year term under a new law recently enacted.

It was a hectic battle and both the mayor and his opponent, Thomas Lazzio, have earned a rest.

But there is a lot of activity still yet to come. For the losing candidate it is just a matter of thanking his supporters and workers. But for the successful candidate, it is another story. His headaches begin afresh.

He is faced with the task of naming new commissioners, board chairmen, assistants, secretaries and a hundred and one other details.

The second round starts with the parade of ward and district leaders clamoring for recognition for work done in bringing out the vote. Each, in his own balliwick, feels the votes he brought out were the ones that turned the tide for the winner.

Post mortems on what might have developed if this or that hadn't been done are the order of the day. Pity the mayor who has to handle these details in a manner to keep tempers at an even keel and without antagonizing anyone.

Somehow, and in some manner, this situation is resolved between election day and New Year's Day.

But there is still another facet to post-election activity we haven't mentioned. Maybe because it's the best. Good for laughs at any rate. The mayor is faced with a host of pseudo party members and opportunists who have "pussyfooted" for months.

Comes the announcement of victory and they become bolder and louder in proclaiming their prowess at winning friends and influencing people. These are not politicoes who approach ward leaders. Oh, no, they are too big. They go direct. Each feels more important than the next guy and if he has to wait an extra two minutes to see the mayor, he's sore. The mayor is then accused of partiality, an ingrate and a guy with a short memory.

It doesn't matter to him about anybody else but he MUST be admitted to the inner sanctum to go over the entire election, to substantiate his claim to the appointment of a "spot" somewhere.

For every available post there are thirty candidates. How can it be done? Oh well, I'm glad I'm not the mayor.

To Mayor O'Byrne we offer our sincere congratulations and wish him Godspeed in his plans for a better Paterson.

THE SHOWCASE

By D. G.

When Bing Crosby walked into the Columbia Radio Studio in Hollywood last week, he was greeted with strains of Mendelssohn's "Recessional". The musical greeting was in tribute, of course, to Bing's marriage to actress Kathy Grant. It was the first occasion the program associates had to congratulate the Groaner.

Since Clint Walker sang on one of his "Cheyenne" television shows, he has had offers from four major recording companies to sign up with singing contracts.

You won't be seeing Jayne Meadows on television's "I've Got a Secret" panel show, for the next few weeks or so. Jayne, who is Mrs. Steve Allen in private life, is on a leave of absence as she is awaiting the arrival of Mr. Stork. Audrey Meadows, Jayne's sister, will succeed her on the panel show. You know her as Alice Cramden, Jackie Gleason's television wife of the famed "Honeymooners" series.

Capitol Records' new Christmas albums, decorated for the Yule season, are ready for the market. "The Music of Christmas" as performed by the Hollywood Bowl Symphony Orchestra conducted by Carmen Dragon, is one album. "A Jolly Christmas" from Frank Sinatra offers Noel favorites: "Jingle Bells", "I'll Be Home For Christmas" and others. And finally, a new album by Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians is titled, "Now Is the Caroling Season."

A first birthday candle was brightly shining at the Broadhurst Theatre for "Auntie Mame" last week, as the successful Broadway comedy celebrated its first year. The play was adapted from the novel by Patrick Dennis, and is one of the biggest hits produced on Broadway this year. It stars Rosalind Russell, who has played to capacity plus audiences at every performance.

In the first year, "Auntie Mame" has received more than 100,000 mail orders. Miss Russell will leave the cast of January 18 to make a motion picture version of the hit. Greer Garson will step into the role on January 28.

ANNIE — Mary Martin stars as the internationally famous sharpshooter Annie Oakley in the Irving Berlin musical, "Annie Get Your Gun" — with book by Herbert and Dorothy Fields — which NBC-TV will colorcast Wednesday, Nov. 27. John Ralitt co-stars as Frank Butler. Richard Halliday is executive producer, in association with Edwin Lester.

"We should not allow our young people to enter the adult world unarmed against Communism. They should have the best armor that we can give them. And the best armor against Communism is the truth about it—what it is, how it originated, what it does to destroy individual rights and human freedoms. Thus armed, our young people can be vigorous champions of Democracy, and not merely subservient followers of it."

A letter writer says: "The new Horatio Alger stories will read like this: 'So Tom Fairweather answered all the quiz questions correctly, collected $100,000 and gave $65,000 of it to his Uncle Sam'."

"It may be worth your life to consider not only your car's condition but also your own limitations each time you slide in behind the steering wheel."

"Definition of a socialistic bureaucrat, and there are plenty of them in government: 'One who has nothing himself and is willing to share it with everyone else'."

"Efficiency, economy and the elimination of pork barrels offer us the only hope of reducing the cost of government."

ASK THE MAN

WHO KNOWS THE ANSWERS!

CHARLES VAN DOREN

Explains why U. S. Savings Bonds are even better investments now than ever before.

Q: What two new benefits have been added to the U. S. Savings Bonds Program during 1957?

Mr. Van Doren: Every Series E Savings Bond bought since February 1, 1957 pays a new, higher interest—3¼% when held to maturity. It also reaches maturity faster—in only 8 years and 11 months.

Q: What should every Bond owner do about his older Savings Bonds?

Mr. Van Doren: Just hold onto them. The rate of interest a Savings Bond pays increases with each year an owner holds it, until maturity. Therefore, the best idea is to buy the new—and hold the old.

Q: Why are Savings Bonds better than cash?

Mr. Van Doren: Because cash lost, stolen or destroyed is gone forever. But the U. S. Treasury will replace Savings Bonds, including interest earned, without cost to you.

Q: What is the average investment in U. S. Savings Bonds per Bond owner? $100? $500? $1,000?

Mr. Van Doren: Over 40,000,000 Americans now own more than $41,000,000,000 worth of series E and H Savings Bonds—with an average investment of more than $1,000 per Bond owner.

Q: What is the safest and surest way for a U. S. citizen to guarantee his own and his country's future financial security?

Mr. Van Doren: By investing regularly in U. S. Savings Bonds—either on the Payroll Savings Plan where he works or by regular Bond purchases at his bank.

People who know the answers know the value of investing in U. S. Savings Bonds. So sign up for Payroll Savings where you work. Or buy Bonds regularly where you bank.
