PILOT FINDS POLIO NO HANDICAP — Lexington, Mass. — Robert W. Lewis, of Lexington, Mass., an Edison engineer in his forty's, sits at the controls of a Revere Airways plane. Stricken with Polio, wearing leg braces and using crutches, he none the less learned how to fly. The father of two takes his CAA Cross Country Test on Saturday.

BRUSSELS FAIR COMMEMORATIVE STAMP — New York — An aerial view of the United States pavilion at Brussels, Belgium is featured on this three-cent stamp to be issued in Detroit, Michigan, honoring the opening of the Brussels Universal and International Exhibition.

ILSE'S A "GOOD CITIZEN" AFTER ALL — Boston, Mass. — Ilse Naujoks, 17, of Marlboro High School, is greeted by Lt. Gov. Robert F. Murphy at the State House where she was given a special "Good Citizenship" scroll on Student Government Day. She was denied the "Good Citizen Award" of the Daughters of the American Revolution because she was not a citizen.

COVER PICTURE:

This week's cover is the artist's rendering of Wayne's new million dollar T-Bowl, scheduled to open Easter Week. An ultra modern, luxurious bowling center, located on Hamburg Turnpike, the T-Bowl will feature thirty-six alleys, automatic pin-setting, and a subway return to eliminate distraction and inconvenience for the players. This swank recreational center will also include a snack bar, lounge area and a separate playroom for children. The alleys will be divided in two sections with eighteen on either side, with a bar centrally located. The new center will also house a package liquor department off the foyer. The Tumminello Bros. operators of the enterprize have already scheduled many leagues which will begin play during opening week. Formal grand opening ceremonies will be held at a date to be announced.

Hour-Long Lucy-Desi Show, April 14

Desi Arnaz (left) is baffled by the winter sports enthusiasm shown by his wife Lucille Ball and guest star Fernando Lamas in "The Lucille Ball-Desi Arnaz Show" on CBS Television, Monday, April 14. In the special hour-long program, the final one of the season in this new Lucy-Desi series, Lamas agrees to romance Lucy here at Sun Valley in order to make her husband jealous, and Lucy's irrepressible antics take the stars through a panorama of the winter resort's snow and fun activities. Regulars Vivian Vance, William Frawley and Richard Keith are also starred.

Sponsor: Ford Division of the Ford Motor Company.

WEAVER OF SPELLS — Funny spells, that is! He's Cliff Arquette, as he really is (on the right), and in the character of Charlie Weaver (on the left). Cliff has appeared as Charlie so often on "The Jack Paar Show" on NBC-TV that some people may not know he has another face and personality. "The Jack Paar Show" is telecast Monday through Friday nights.

Chronicle of the week . . .

EAST PATERSON — The Bergen County Council of PTAs will sponsor a workshop for the East Paterson district on April 10. The session will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 2:45 p.m. in the Peoples Trust Company room of the Garden State Plaza. Mrs. William Sayer is chairman of the local district.

FAIR LAWN — Mrs. Earl Kupferstein took office as president of the B'nai B'rith Women at an installation held by the organization in the Jewish Center.

Also installed were Mrs. Paul Lederman, first vice president; Mrs. Ralph Castel, second vice president; Mrs. Edward Silverman, third vice president and Mrs. Edward Nemeth, treasurer.

WAYNE TWP. — The 12th annual Packanack Lake "old timers" ball will be held May 17 at the clubhouse. This year's affair will be geared to the celebration of the 30th anniversary of the lake community.

WEST PATERSON — Memorial Post 238, American Legion, has again gone "over the top" in its annual membership drive.

Alfred De Robbio, post commander, and Harry Schwartz, membership chairman, announce 135 members for 1958.

POMPTON LAKES — Lee T. Purcell has been named to succeed Fred S. Childs as member of the State Board of Professional Engineers. The nomination, made by Governor Robert B. Meyner, requires Senate confirmation. Term of the unsalaried office is five years.

Purcell is consulting engineer for Wayne Township as well as the North Jersey District Water Supply Commission. He is regarded as one of the top water experts in the state.

CLIFTON — The Boys' Club of Clifton selected Bruce Hollowich as "Boy of the Week."

Hollowich, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hollowich, 179 Knapp Avenue, was chosen at a special movie night program. The 16-year-old boy is a junior at Clifton High School. He has been a member of the Boys' Club six years and is a member of the Leaders Club.

FAIR LAWN — The Education Association has set April 8 as deadline for application for the Michael A. Ziccardi Scholarship. The annual award will be made at the June graduation ceremonies to a high school senior preparing for the teaching profession.

CLIFTON — Registration for Clifton's May municipal election will be held this week, Miss Edith Marrion, city clerk, announced.

Residents can register at City Hall from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Thursday. City Hall will be open from 7 to 9 each night.

The following firehouses will be open for registration from 7 to 9 p.m.; Monday, Albion Place firehouse, Valley Road; Tuesday, Richfield (Clifton Fire Headquarters), Broad Street and Van Houten Avenue; Wednesday, Allwood Avenue firehouse, Brighton Road, and Thursday, Delawanna firehouse, Delawanna Avenue.

April 2, at 4 p.m. is the deadline for councilmanic candidates to file petitions. The election will be held May 13.

HALEDON

The Fiftieth Anniversary celebration will be held during the first three weeks of June. In order to have as many residents' names on the patron's list, a flash drive for one night will be held on Monday, April 7, from 7 to 9 p.m. The men of the fire department have volunteered under the leadership of Chief Pete Van Der Jagt to canvass the borough that night. The borough will be divided up into four districts, with each of the four pieces of fire apparatus with its complement of men will go to their district. The fire whistle will blow at 6:30 p.m. to summon the men to their own headquarters to start the drive.

Because so many requests have been received by the book committee for a page of names of people who have died in the borough, an "In Memoriam" page will be included. The minimum charge for a name is one dollar for either the patron's list or the In Memoriam List. The firemen have requested that everyone who wishes to add these names to the list, have their front porch lights on the night of the drive and have their names and donations in an envelope for the firemen to pick up.

Other events listed for the celebration are a banquet, a pageant given by the school children, a band concert, an antique show, an art exhibit of paintings by Otto Benz of Haledon scenes, a field day and block dance and special church services. More about each of these events will be publicized later.

A picture of the Memorial Honor Roll is needed to get the complete list of names of servicemen who served from Haledon in World War II. If anyone has such a picture please get in touch with Mrs. Edgar B. Lupton on Pompton Road, calling LAMBERT 3-4738. The picture will not be used in any way. Names may be added to the list for April 14.

the display. Some beautiful articles have already been proposed. This is only a loan out of your treasures and they will be handled with loving care. If you have anything you would like to add to the display, call Mrs. Joffe, after 6 p.m. at her home, LAMBERT 5-7437.

Two ex-convicts, Paul Friedlander 25, and Richard Campbell 23, both of New York city, were captured in the Bronx last week, after holding up some card players; later, the car of Richard Campbell was examined and American Express Co. orders were found, that had been part of the loot taken from the Haledon Grand Union Store last February 22. The assistant manager, James Shea, made positive identification of the bandits according to local police.

The members of the Ladies Auxiliary of Fire Co. 2 held their March meeting and accepted Terry Manger as a new member. An envelope social was planned for the April meeting which will be held on Wednesday, April 9 at headquarters at West Broadway and Granite Avenue.

Judy Ulrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ulrich of 7 Woodside Ave., has just been installed as treasurer of Alpha Delta Phi, sorority at Boston University. Judy also serves as publicity chairman for the Wesley Foundation. Part of her training involves work at settlement houses in the slum areas in the vicinity where she spends two afternoons at this work every week. She will be home this week for her ten-day Easter vacation.

Wednesday, March 26th June and Jim Gamble celebrated their 26th wedding anniversary. They are the parents of Jimmy, Jackie, Jerry, Eddie and Denise. June is serving her second year as a member of the local school board and recently opened her own Ceramic Studio at 212 Belmont Ave. The studio will be open Wednesdays 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Thursdays 7 to 9:30 p.m. and Saturdays 10 to 12 p.m. Many of the above names are on the list.

Mrs. Alfred F. Bottcher celebrated their 25th anniversary on April 4 to 9 p.m. at their home at 256 Granite Ave. This popular pair who have always been so active in their community through Fire Co. No. 2 and its auxiliary, and American Legion activities deserve the congratulations they receive.

Condolences are extended to Mrs. Aldo (Helen) Bocchio upon the death of her father, John Dudasik, 76, of 237 Rckerman Ave., Clifton, last Sunday.

Phil Huntley of 45 Zabriskie St. is due back at work Monday, if the doctor gives his okay, after nearly a month's layoff with pneumonia. His wife, Fannie, is available now for practical nursing duties, now that Phil is off her hands.

PROSPECT PARK

Donald P. Block, class of '59 of Rutgers University, who lives at 284 North Thirteenth Place, has been elected as an usher in the Alpha Gammo Pho fraternity.

The following were named as the nominating committee, at an executive board meeting of the PTA held last week: Betty Marchitto, chairman; Ann Troast, Betty Robbin, Marie Evans, Charlotte De Vries, will serve with her. On Tuesday, April 1, a Parents Study Group meeting will be held with the topic to be on the Christopher Records.

Belle's Lunch, a luncheonette featuring hot meals and sandwiches, will open Monday at 255 North 9th St., formerly Poelstra's Dry Goods Store. The proprietor, Belle Sutton, formerly operated a restaurant on Haledon Ave., near North 4th St., in Paterson.

The Prospect Park Christian School Ladies' Aid sponsored a Coffe Klotch at the home of Mrs. Jacob Faber, 63 North 15th St., Haledon, on Tuesday. Cake and "ollie bollen" were served with the coffee and conversation. *

Bob's Confectionary Store, at 321 North 8th St., is now under the new ownership of Joe Struck.

NORTH HALEDON

The Fourth Annual Spring Musical of the North Haledon Choral Society has been set for June 7, at the Eastern Christian High School at 8:30 p.m.

The officers are Minerva Wiener, president, who is filling the unexpired term of Kenneth Da- vidson; Robert Orr, secretary; Lillian Orr, corresponding secretary; Johanna Koster, treasurer; Adele Schwier, music chairman; Nancy Luedke, good and welfare; Walter Luedke, Nicholas Siccamma, patron committee; Peter Filippo, auditor and chairman of the concert; Lillian Orr, tickets; Isabelle Pabian, program; Florence Brookman, hall chairman; Johanna Koster, flowers and ushers; Stewart Brown, stage props; Samuel Wiener, tickets at the door and Susan Pilgrim, publicity.

Every Friday night at 8 p.m. the group meets in the Memorial School on Squaw Brook Rd., with director Stanley Opalach. Membership still remains open and newcomers are always welcome. Mr. Opalach is expert in his field and will be able to fuse the new voices into the group harmoniously, as he is assistant music professor at Paterson State Teachers College.

Mrs. Ruth Dykstra is the piano accompanist. Tickets will be available soon; reservations may be made now, by calling Mrs. Orr at HA 7-6278.

Matt Mathews, the country's foremost jazz accordionist, was the guest artist at the second annual concert presented by the Leydens Accordion School Bands, Friday night, at Hawthorne High School.

The three bands under the direction of Matthew Leydens of 16 Kuiken Ct., were sponsored by the Accordion Music Lovers, Inc. Members of the bands receive their accordion instruction from Leydens. The hall was packed, the music was beautiful and it was very well received.

The meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Passaic County Firemen's Association was held at Fire Co. No. 11, Wednesday. The main feature of the evening was a "hat" social, with prizes given for the prettiest hat, the funniest and the most original. We'll have the prize winners listed next week.

SUBURBAN

West Paterson Councilman Arthur George has left for Arizona on advice of his physician. Following an illness of several months' duration, Arthur is seeking the warm, dry climate to recuperate his strength. Our best wishes for a speedy recovery.

The Haledon Primary election contest among GOP candidates promises a number of surprises! Councilman Maurice Metzler is apparently not getting the proper backing from those who extended him the nomination after asking seven others first.

The location of North Haledon's new school is still a moot question. The tug-of-war is whether or not the building should be placed on municipal property. Borough Engineer Bob Spinnler, who knows the area and drainage problems, says "don't put it on municipal land."

* * * *

Wayne Mayor Robert Roe seems to be regretting his decision not to seek a berth on the Democratic ticket. Intimates say he is unhappy with the way things have turned out.

* * * *

Many are wondering about the formation of a group in Fair Lawn to lend moral and financial aid to Borough Manager Williamson. Nothing of the kind was considered for Mayor Matule or Councilman Sogorka. The action perhaps means the latter two were prejudged "guilty" which was manifestly unfair.

* * * *

Ben Fischer, of Morningside Florist fame is currently on vacation in Haiti. The Haledon businessman and his wife are expected back at the end of this week.

* * * *

West Paterson Democratic leader Jerry Fitzpatrick has already been told by GOP administration officials that he will not be reappointed Borough Tax Assessor when his term expires in June. Jerry being forewarned is forearmed, he is getting set for the election battle in November with staunch support.

* * * *

What is it that's happened recently to make Mayor Louis Bay of Hawthorne look so worried?

* * * *

The Totowa Borough GOP candidates are having a difficult time in finding campaign issues. Residents are completely happy with Democratic leadership after GOP control of more than 50 years. This is a tribute to Mayor Joseph F. Ryan, Democratic freeholder candidate.

* * * *

In Totowa Borough it is almost a foregone conclusion that Councilman Felix Liberti will succeed Mayor Ryan.

But

The annual fashion show luncheon and card party of the Little Sisters of the Poor Auxiliary, will be held on April 9 at the Meadowbrook. The luncheon will begin at 12:30 p.m. The event of the year attracts more than 1,000 women to the affair. Mrs. Benjamin Rail is general chairman with Mrs. Bernard Stafford as reservations chairman.

Preparations for an Easter Egg Hunt are being completed by the Raymond Pellington Post 77, American Legion. The date has been set for April 5. Commander James De Ritter is in charge.

Jerome Hines, Metropolitan Opera star, will present his sacred opera, "I am The Way" at the East Paterson High School, River Road, East Paterson, on Saturday, April 12. The program will be presented under the auspices of the Greater Paterson Chamber of Commerce. The opera was written and composed by the noted basso. Tickets may be obtained at the Church Council, YMCA and YWCA, and the Alexander Hamilton Hotel. Tickets are free.

A Spring Festival, an annual fete of the Swiss Hall Group, will be held on Saturday. The affair will feature bock wurst. A card party will also be held and refreshments will be served.

The annual dinner of the Passaic County Tuberculosis and Health Association will be held on Wednesday, April 30 at 6:30 p.m., at the Brownstone House, West Broadway. Robert Boyle is dinner chairman.

This weekend the lenten play "His Mother's Promise" is being presented at Eastside High School. The play will continue until April 1.

Returning home from a Caribbean cruise is Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Pruden of 123 Woodland Avenue, Ridgewood.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore L. Belle of 291 North 12th Place, Prospect Park are celebrating their 40th wedding anniversary. The couple have a daughter, a son and three grandchildren.

MRS. ROBERT WEIR

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Virginia Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper of 9 Margaret Court, Fair Lawn, to Robert John Weir, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Weir of 15 Hopper St., Prospect Park, was solemnized recently in the Fairview Gospel Church, Ridgefield Park. A reception followed in the church hall. The couple are honeymooning in Pennsylvania and will live at 134 Prescott Avenue, Prospect Park.

MRS. ROBERT SANBORN

Miss Arleen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith of 107 Woodside Avenue, Midland Park, was married recently to Robert Van Ness Sanborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Van Ness Sanborn of 7 Popular Street, Pompton Lakes. The marriage was performed by Rev. Ralph Menning in the First Reformed Church. The bride is employed by the Oxford University Press, Inc., in Fair Lawn, and the groom is with the United States Navy, at the destroyer base at Newport, R. I.

MRS. GERALD B. PAULISON

In the Riverside Bible Church, Miss Diana Helen Gryskiewicz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gryskiewicz, of Gordon Lakes, Butler, became the bride of Gerald B. Paulison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Adams of Hamburg. The reception followed in the Pine Village Grove, Oak Ridge. They are on a wedding trip to Florida.

MRS. HENRY H. SMITH --

Miss Carol Mahon and Henry M. Smith were married recently in the Gospel Tabernacle Church. The Rev. Enoch Moore, performed the ceremony, and a reception was held at the Marlboro Inn, Montclair. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Pallozzi, of 1085 East 10th Street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Smith of North Haledon. ## OUR PRESENT DANGER

Communism has produced a vast literature. That literature has now been notably enriched, with J. Edgar Hoover's newly-published "Master of Deceit".

Mr. Hoover's book carries the subtitle "The Story of Communism in America and How to Fight It." No man is more familiar with that story. He was made Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation during the Coolidge Administration, has been retained in office by every President since, and has done an outstanding job in keeping the bureau free of political influence, inefficiency and corruption. And, in recent years, Mr. Hoover and the Bureau have become more and more involved with the Communist conspiracy.

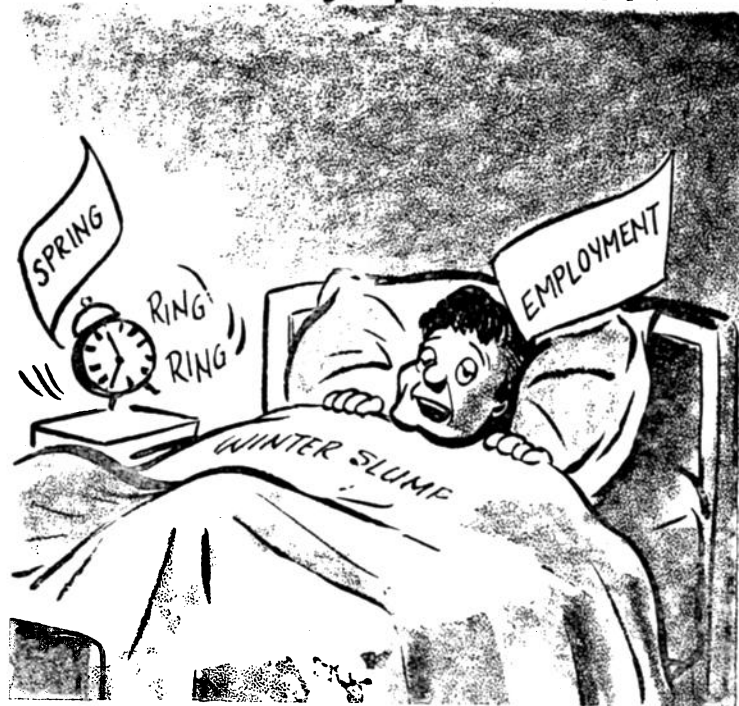

The purpose of "Masters of Deceit" is intensely practical. It is to explain the facts about communism—what it is, how it works, what its aims are, the dangers it poses, and what loyal Americans must do to protect their freedom. Mr. Hoover provides a short account of communism's beginnings, and goes on to explain who American communists are and why they adopt the ideology. He shows how the party is organized, and deals with its subtle and devious strategy and tactics. Espionage and sabotage—weapons with which trained communists are extraordinarily adept—are given careful attention.

Mr. Hoover is particularly concerned with the danger of discounting the menace of communism in the United States. It is true that Party membership has declined. It reached its peak of 80,000 in 1944, dropped to 22,600 in 1955, and has gone down farther since then. However, no less an authority than William Z. Foster has said: "... we no longer measure the importance of revolutionary organizations by size. In some places where there are only one or two men, more results are obtained than where they have larger organizations..." If conditions are ripe, a comparative handful can take over a nation—and they have done exactly that time and time again. To quote Mr. Hoover: "Under communism, a tiny minority, perhaps 10 to 20 men, would rule the United States. An open dictatorship called the 'dictatorship of the proletariat' would be established." Communist Party henchmen would take over, and opposition would be ruthlessly liquidated.

What can the individual do about the danger? Mr. Hoover's answer is "a lot." He must know the answers to communism's false claims. If what appears to be subversive activity comes to his attention he should report it, sticking to the facts, to the nearest FBI office—and the FBI, incidentally, is as much interested in protecting civil rights, including the right to hold unpopular opinions, as it is in combatting those who would destroy us. He should be alert and informed. No one can fight communism if he doesn't know what to look for. In this connection, "Masters of Deceit" contains a glossary, in which terms frequently used by communists are listed and defined, which will be especially valuable to those whose familiarity with the movement is sketchy.

Finally, "Masters of Deceit" makes for first class reading as well as for first class education against a clear and present danger. It is one of the most important books of our time."

Come On Boy, Up And At It!

The Editor Speaks

VINCENT S. PARRILLO

A learned college professor said the other day that if you have any superstitions it is a sign that you are not fully civilized.

Personally, I cannot see for the life of me why I am less civilized because I won't walk under a ladder, or because I cross my fingers for good luck.

* * *

And, talking about superstitions: If you want to know about some real ones, you ought to listen to W. R. Draper, who went into the deepest Ozarks and interviewed an 84-year-old hillbilly.

He told him about a plant called the love vine that grows down there. If the plant flourishes, your sweetheart is going to remain true. If it withers—well, then it's the other way 'round.

If a red bird flies across a girl's path she will be kissed twice before sundown. When she plucks a hair from her head, runs it through her hand and it curls, she is certain her lover will be faithful; if it doesn't, he will turn to another woman.

If a young man wants to find out if his girl loves him, he makes this test: He bends a mullein leaf down toward the home of his girl. If that leaf grows straight again, then she does love him. If it stays down, he'd better get himself another girl.

When a death occurs in the Ozarks, someone immediately stops the clock, covers every mirror in the cabin and pulls down all the window shades. That is so that the evil spirits can't get in.

If it rains on the wedding day, that is bad for the young couple. If it rains during a funeral, it means that the soul will rest in peace.

If red birds hover around the back door, it means trouble for the whole family. If a snake gets into the cabin home, then enemies plotting evil. Never carry a hoe into the house, it means death to a friend; and if you trip over a spade, you might as well dig your grave with it—you'll soon be buried.

And yet they tell me that the Ozark folks are as civilized these days as you or I.

* * *

Just the other day a little six or seven-week-old black kitten crossed a side road as I was going to turn into it. This side road saves me time going home, but did I take it? I did not. I went four miles out of my way. Not that I am superstitious, but why take a chance?

The opinions expressed in this column are exclusively those of the writer and do not necessarily reflect the policy and opinion of The Chronicle.

There is a great deal of concern among top political leaders in Paterson these days. The news has become widespread that Mayor Edward J. O'Byrne is more gravely ill than many were led to believe at the outset. With the Mayor, who doubles as Democratic County chairman, away from the hub of things, a great deal of speculation and uncertainty is sure to develop and grow. There are a number of decisions to be made which require the leader's personal attention and thus far those who await the favorable word are "champing at the bit" — Hoboken Mayor John J. Grogan, who seeks the Democratic nod for U. S. Senate, has garnered quite a following in Passaic County and his amazing popularity in many other quarters has local and state leaders worried about the Primary outcome — There are at least a dozen local top ranking Democrats who are putting on a front for Harrison Williams, Governor Meyner's choice, but who are secretly (they believe) working tooth and nail for Grogan — The revelation will come April 15 — Meanwhile, Freeholder Frank Graves and Ralph Gambatese are spearheading a noon dinner meeting for Harrison Williams at the Tree Tavern on April 9 — According to reports, it will be limited to about 100 to get the ball rolling here for Williams' candidacy — Despite no Primary opposition, freeholder Democratic aspirants Joseph Ryan and Gambatese are losing no time in getting around the county renewing old acquaintances — Some questions are being asked about Robert Scheffrin of Passaic, the third candidate, who seems to be completely unknown hereabouts and up-county — Sam Bruno likely to repeat in the Third Ward following the dropping out of Leo Scialla due to ill health — Scialla sacrificed a good job and a friendship of 30 years to stand by his principles and the people of his ward — His position to maintain the City Hospital has won wide favor and, according to reports, popular sentiment will force the issue to a referendum.

When little people are aroused anything can happen and in this situation it seems likely that the administration has bitten off more than it can chew — "Joe" Masiello's appointment as community relations director for the County Bank and Trust Company is a recognition of his outstanding ability. He is still a man to be reckoned with personally and many GOP ranks and file members still look to him for dynamic leadership — "Nick" Cuccinello, former business agent of the Local 1733, and nominee for a Sewerage Commission post slated to wait for too long a period before the patronage stalemate is resolved — Democratic leaders certainly owe him more consideration than to just have him stand on the "sidelines" until "something breaks."

THE SHOWCASE

By D. G.

"Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?" elected the "funniest evening ever in the theatre", climbed into the smash hit class in its first full week at the Martin Beck Theatre. Last week the new Norman Krasna hit starring Pter Lind Hayes, Mary Healy and Ray Walston rang up a record gross of $40,137.00

"I've Got A Secret," the Wednesday night Garry Moore panel show, is now a veteran of the TV circuit but it continues to maintain a popularity that has constantly kept it in the top ten shows in nighttime network schedules. For instance, the latest Nielsen roundup of the top ten finds "Secret" nestling cozily in fourth place!

Seven leading vocalists and musical groups already have recorded the tune, "A Very Precious Love", which is sung in "Marjorie Morningstar," forthcoming Warner Bros. release starring Gene Kelly and Natalie Wood.

The seven platters, already receiving heavy play by the nation's disc jockeys, include the Ames Brothers recording for RCA-Victor, Doris Day's rendition for Columbia Records, Bonnie Guitar for Dot, Slim Whiteman for Imperial, Jack Jones for Capitol, Johnston Brothers for London and Dick Haymes for Hallmark.

"A Very Precious Love" was written by Academy Award-winning composers Sammy Fain and Paul Francis Webster.

SMALL TALK —

Joanne Woodward, Academy Award contender, has been signed for an appearance on Kraft Theatre, April 16, NBC-TV — Judy Garland reportedly conferring with NBC-TV executives about starring in a spec version of "Little Women" next fall — Lawrence Welk to be a grandpa shortly — ABC and NBC finally got together, with result that Eddie Fisher will guest on Sinatra's April 28 show — Sinatra sent Sal Mineo a congratulatory message after "Alladin", a pizza pie with "Congratulation" spelled out in cheese.

An antique collector passing through a small village stopped to watch an old man chopping wood with an ancient ax. "That's a mighty old ax you have there," he remarked. "Yup," said the villager, "it once belonged to George Washington."

"Of course," admitted the old man, "it's had three new handles and two new heads."

When a man just returned from his vacation complained of the rainy weather he'd had, a friend interrupted, "It couldn't have been so bad—you're sunburned!" "Sunburn nothing," he replied. "That's rust!"

Kentuckian: "We have so much gold at Fort Knox we could build a gold fence four feet high clear around Texas."

Texan: "You go ahead, pardner, and if we like it, we'll buy it."

Lady driver: "Yes, but I never flirt when driving."

There is just one thing worse than having to pay income tax, and that is not having to pay any.

CELEBRATING THEIR TWENTY-FIFTH — Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bottcher, 256 Granite Avenue, are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary tonight, with an open house party from 4 to 9 p.m. Mr. Bottcher, now retired, worked 29 years with New Jersey State Highway Department, president of the Haledon American Boosters, member of Haledon Fire Co. 2 and member of New Jersey Civil Service Association. Mrs. Bottcher is past president of Auxiliary of Fire Company 2, and Auxiliary of American Legion; was associated with her daughter at Chris, Big 'n Little Shop until her recent illness.

DISCUSS ANTI-RECESSION MOVES AT BREAKFAST — Washington, D.C. — President Eisenhower and Senator William F. Knowland, Minority Leader of the Senate, are shown at the White House after a breakfast conference. The meeting was held amid indications that the Administration is preparing to make another Anti-Recession move.

UP TO HER HIPS IN PUPPIES — Toronto, Can. — Hands over ears in an attempt to keep out the baby barks and whimpers, two-year-old Janet Jilek sits surrounded by ten Afghan puppies at the home of her mother, Mrs. William Jilek, in Toronto. The mother of the puppies sits proudly keeping an eye on things. The Afghan is believed to be the oldest breed of dog known to man. One legend hath it that Afghans were the dogs taken into the Ark by Noah. A litter of ten is comparatively rare for the breed.

LOVE and a sable scarf

Madge had three hours to shop between trains, but she wasn't enjoying herself. Her heart wasn't in it, and Carrie was the reason. Madge Blake was on her way to Carrie's college, and the child's letter was in her purse, and the letter was too much a cry from the heart to be ignored. "Mother darling," Carrie had written, "Chuck and I are dreadfully in love and we don't know how long it will be before he's sent across, and we want to get married right away . . ." There had been more like that and Madge had wired "Leaving for college today. We'll talk it over then."

She had taken the night train to New York and had had three hours before the next one, and she'd tried wandering through the stores, but all she could think of was "Chuck, Chuck Beverly!" Why, she's never even met the boy — or maybe you could call him a young man. Since Carrie had said he was twenty-three. Very young, that was. Finally she decided on lunch. In the restaurant she was given a corner table for two, which fortunately, had no other occupant.

Madge ordered lunch and realized with relief that she really had come to a decision. Carrie was only eighteen, and impulsive — a lanky, wind-blown child, who seemed to prefer blue-jeans most of the summer, or else those backless things. She looked delectable in them.

The waitress went off with the order, and Madge thought about her own satisfying marriage. She and Jim had known each other for years, and their families had known each other's families, so that there had been a kind of naturalness — which meant companionship as well as love. And she wanted that for Carrie. An ordered, fulfilled happy life, the kind she had had with Jim. Fortunately Carrie had written, "I won't do it, Mother, unless you want me to. Anyway, Chuck wouldn't let me." So really it was only a matter of consoling Carrie.

It was all so simple when you put your mind on it! Madge, absorbed in her thoughts, hardly noticed the bustle and chatter around her. As a result she was a little startled when she heard a voice say, "Right here, please," and saw that someone was taking the seat opposite her. Of course she didn't mind sharing her table. In war-time you were lucky to eat in a restaurant at all. But this type of woman always gave her a vague feeling of uneasiness. She thought of her as the drone of the species, the much-married woman who collects alimony with each divorce and spends it all on herself.

Madge couldn't help glancing now and then at her new companion. And, as she did with such women, she began to wonder how dowdy in her brown suit and last year's hat and a trifle smug and superior about all she had Jim and the child's home in Lakehaven, and a host of activities. And this woman obviously had nothing but her own

Madge lost interest. Not that she had been really interested, but she had found something to watch people, and watching people, and watching people. That girl over there, for instance, so poised and adorable, had led to a table. There she sat about her. Not far from where she reminded Madge of a girl she had known a long time ago.

The girl was of radiance and her hair was not like Madge's, but she had a serenity, that was in her look. And she was in love.

Sharon Robbins, she'd heard, had hair, that had been blonde. But then she was a sophomore, then in her first year. His name was a sophomore, money or no money.

He was in love. Sharon wanted to know.

Madge remembered her mother came from a family that da with her heart even more than her fingers. a white camisole for Sharon's trousseau. A camisole, of all things! And Sharon came in and saw the fillet lace spread all over Madge's lap . . . and Madge couldn't remember exactly how it happened, but Sharon was sitting on the bed crying. And then Sharon had buried her face in the pillow — and Madge had never seen anyone cry like that before. Sharon's mother didn't approve of Peter, and wanted her to have a debut, and was going to take her away tomorrow, on a long trip.

Madge recalled only vaguely that Sharon had left school the very next day, and disappeared forever out of her life. But she remembered the way Sharon had clung to her hand, saying over and over, "I love him so. I love him so dreadfully . . ."

So dreadfully! Why that's just what Carrie had written! Then she had a strange feeling, as though Sharon's cold little hand were still in hers, clinging in that feverish way. And she knew quite suddenly she could never do that to Carrie. The world, Madge found herself crossing at the girl who had reminded her of Sharon Robbins. And suddenly she was talking to herself, and there was a kind of memory in her heart—because AD been like that young and yet so desperately believing. Carrie had said that too. And Madge discovered that her mind was made up she had found something, settled feeling, as though a decision had really been inevitable. But she hadn't been reminded of Sharon Robbins. If she had never known Sharon—she would have reasoned herself into some course of action.

She picked up her check and left a tip for the waitress and wished that she'd had more wedding dresses. She had no money now, only a fond motherly feeling, of ardent young Carrie in a wedding dress.

The woman with the sable scarf drained her coffee and looked impatiently at her watch. She wanted her check. But when the check had come she took time to smooth her lipstick and returned the make-up. She was a bill from her lawyer. After all he'd managed a deal she'd have to pay it soon. It arrived that morning, and she wrote to Mrs. Sharon Robbins of Astoria . . . She picked up her pen to write Jim on the long, careful letter. She thought I thought we shouldn't con- sider her do it, Jim. But then in a girl who reminded me of her, and I knew that we simply couldn't happen to Carrie . . .

This Week In AMERICAN HISTORY

BY WILLIAM BRODIE

END OF THE ESSEX

"We have been unfortunate, but not disgraced." So Captain David Porter, in a communication to the Secretary of the Navy, spoke of the end of the U. S. frigate Essex on March 28, 1814 at Valparaiso, Chile. As master of the Essex, Captain Porter could make that statement with pride.

Sailing from Philadelphia in December of 1812, the light frigate Essex, 46 guns, headed for the South Atlantic to join Commodore Bainbridge's squadron at Bahia, Brazil. The Essex missed Bainbridge's ships. Captain Porter decided to take his ship southward.

Around Cape Horn sailed the Essex, the first American warship to do so, and she set out on a raiding cruise against British whaling ships in the Pacific. After replenishing her supplies at Valparaiso, Chile, in March, 1813, the Essex began stalking the British whalers around the Galapagos Islands. The happy hunting went on from April to September with more than half of the enemy whaling fleet captured and millions of dollars loss inflicted.

A fleet of British warships began to hunt the Essex, and hearing of it, Captain Porter sailed his ship 3,000 miles to the far-off South Sea Islands, little known at that time. Here, among the tropical Marquesas Islands, Porter overhauled his ship. He had the run of the islands, and on one of them he founded Madisonville, the first American overseas naval base.

In December the Essex started back on the long voyage home. The first stop was again Valparaiso. And here in this neutral port the British at last caught up with the Essex. Two ships, H. M. S. Phoebe, 44 guns, and the war-sloop Cherub, 26 guns, commanded by Captain J. M. Hillyar, blockaded the American frigate anchored in the harbor.

For days the ships lay in harbor while the rival captains glowered across neutral water and the crews traded shouted insults. Fearing reinforcements for his blockaders, Porter decided to make a dash for the open sea at first opportunity. He saw his chance when a gale blew up, but just outside the harbor the storm suddenly tore away his main-topmast. Captain Porter tried to put his severely damaged ship back into port but the two enemy ships closed in. Now the cannon boomed.

The Essex was boxed in against the shore with the Phoebe off her stern and the Cherub on her bow. The battle was terribly bloody and one-sided. The British ships raked the Essex repeatedly while the latter in her partly-crippled condition could hardly bring her guns to bear.

For two hours the Essex resisted stubbornly, but hopelessly. The battle was dreadful. The American ship was almost shot to pieces. After three-quarters of her crew had been killed or wounded, Captain Porter surrendered. The battle had been one of the worst slaughters of the War of 1812. One American survivor was a 12-year-old midshipman, Davy Farragut, captured with his pet pig "Murphy." Vividly he recalled the slaughter. "I was standing near the captain," said the boy who was to become a great naval hero years later. "when a shot came aboard, killing four men and scattering the brains of one over both of us."

After one of the most adventurous cruises in naval history, the end of the Essex was, indeed, unfortunate. But as her captain well reported, her end was certainly not disgraceful.
