Ernest "Hap" Ford was returned as Haledon GOP leader this week by a split 7 to 5 vote of the county committee. But there isn't much happiness surrounding the group. It seems Ben Christner was scheduled (at least he was told) to assume the post with a unanimous vote. What went wrong? This could develop a third GOP faction in the borough.

Mayor Joseph F. Ryan of Totowa Borough will be honored at a friendship dinner on Sunday, June 8, at Donohue's. It will be an SRO affair for the popular Democratic freeholder candidate. Doing yeoman work in assuring a record turnout are Larry Gabriel, Democratic club president, and Borough Building Inspector Harry La Bruna.

* * * *

Despite political differences, reports are prevalent that Haledon Mayor David Brown will name former Mayor Charles Cona to a new committee currently being formed. Cona is a man of unquestionable talent and ability. The appointment will be based on the premise that the borough deserves the best talent available in supplying service to citizens.

* * * *

George Grillo's more than 25 years of service to Hawthorne as borough clerk and dedicated citizen have not been unheralded. People from all levels have been commenting that the recognition was "too long overdue". Congratulations, George.

* * * *

It is difficult to understand political strategy sometimes. For example, George Sokalski, Totowa Borough GOP leader, was an indefatigable worker in the party's behalf. He was replaced by William Ferraro. The betting is currently 4 to 1 that Bill won't call nearly as many meetings as George did during his tenure.

* * * *

In Passaic, Isadore Zabotinsky's re-election as GOP city leader, is still being questioned. However, it doesn't make any difference whether "Zab" is right or not. The damage has already been done and the Republican organization in the Woolen City is so split as to be almost non-existent.

* * * *

Totowa Borough Democratic leader Stanley Wolek was re-elected unanimously to his sixth term. Wolek's leadership is providing a united party for the November election despite a hard fought primary.

* * * *

Mrs. Lucille Belfi, still considered one of the hardest workers and best vote-getters in Clifton. An ardent Democrat she is on the firing line every day.

Democratic State Committeeman Joseph V. McGuire and Assemblyman Joseph Keegan will be feted at a dinner May 3 in Passaic. A capacity crowd is expected to attend the tribute.

First Things First!

Senators, educators, school board members, community citizen's committees, bankers, philosophers, scientists, and psychologists have all had their say about "changes in education" since recent worldwide happenings have blazed around the world.

Some recommend complete curriculum overhauling. Some say, "modification of liberal arts" and "specialization in mathematics and the sciences" will be the best thing for our students.

Eventually they will come to a compromise agreement and a new set of standards for our educational system will be established.

But one glaring problem must be met NOW, in order to live up to these new standards.

Who will teach?

We have had a shortage of elementary teachers for the last ten years. We're facing the fact now that we have a shortage of secondary school teachers. More youngsters are attending and staying in high school than ever before; more secondary schools are being built but teachers to staff them are hard to find.

Now, these high school students are being urged, rightfully so, to go to college. Even right now college enrollment in the state of New Jersey is up to 9 out of every 25 people attending college. In 1900 only one out of 25 went to college.

These students are being urged to become mathematicians, scientists, and physicists to help keep our nation strong. We find no quarrel with this, but please remember!

We need college professors to teach them! Let us urge our qualified students to become college teachers. Then let's show them our willingness to go along with state expenditures to expand our college facilities. Let's show them improved salary schedules for college professors so our young men can become good college teachers without having to forfeit marriage and a normal family life.

In other words, let's take care of first things first!

Don't Neglect Your Chest X-Ray!

According to Dr. H. H. Cherry, superintendent and medical director of Passaic County Valley View Hospital. 400 new cases of tuberculosis were reported in the county in 1957. This is due to the increased number of persons visiting the Mobile Chest X-Ray Unit operated by the Board of Freeholders.

Good news, is that, due to the use of this service, more cases of TB are caught in the early stages, resulting in fewer deaths. In the entire county, the death rate dropped to 7.5 per cent per 100,000 persons and is now below the state average.

Recent findings show that active tuberculosis is now most frequently found among persons above 40 years of age. So all you "over 30's", be chest conscious and take advantage of this free service when the Mobile Chest X-Ray Unit comes to your neighborhood or your plant. Remember it isn't only to help you, but to protect your family!

THE LETHAL ONE-TWO PUNCH!

The Editor Speaks

VINCENT S. PARRILLO

This past week on Thursday, April 24 was the 254th anniversary of the first permanent American newspaper published in Boston.

While Indians were attacking Deerfield, Massachusetts, on February 28-29 with 40 killed and 100 taken prisoner, John Campbell, postmaster of Boston prepared to publish the Boston Newsletter. The first issue finally came out on April 24, 1704.

An earlier paper published in 1690, called Publick Occurrences was suppressed after one issue.

How much we take for granted when we pick up our favorite paper. Isn't it amazing to realize that an American newspaper was being published 73 years before we actually were an independent country?

No wonder earlier papers were suppressed; we were still a colony of England and probably were only supposed to read the papers sent over from the Mother Country.

Picture the radical changes in our history as well as in newspaper publishing. Actually, your newspaper is a daily historical record, not only of international and national scope but right down to the local level. Future history books will be written from the chronicle of events which are now being spread on the pages of our daily papers.

Millions of people all over the world are employed in the news-gathering business. News publications are helping to bring the peoples of the world closer together; in the places where freedom of the press still exists.

Some countries have government owned papers that merely publish propaganda that the state wishes spread. Some nations which claim scientific superiority, still abide in the dark ages as far as news is concerned.

So even though no special holiday was proclaimed, let's all say thanks for a man of vision and courage, John Campbell, who established a tradition that has lasted for 254 years and let's hope for many more to come.

Let's Talk

Politics

—by O JAY

The opinions expressed in this column are exclusively those of the writer and do not necessarily reflect the policy and opinion of The Chronicle.

The past week has seen a great deal of activity in both major political parties. Leaders at all levels have been selected without major upheavals and will follow a "settling down" period before the "big push" for November votes.

Biggest question among Passaic County Democrats is resolved with John Thevos assuming the prosecutorship and Charles Joelson taking Thevos' post as director of the State Department of Law and Public Safety. It has been a long time in coming and this event should release a flood of other patronage for party faithfuls. There has been no definite decision as to the naming of assistants to the prosecutor. But, according to unofficial strategists, the lineup should be: Dick Schiffman, as first assistant; Joe Harrison, seeking the mayoralty of West Paterson; Ed Wolak of Clifton, plus anybody's guess for the other two spots.

Sen. Anthony Grossi can breathe easier now that this monumental poser is off his back and he can give more attention to assuring a Democratic win in the General Election.

Meanwhile, Republicans seem to be suffering from a bad case of galloping ulcers with the economic situation still on the downtrend. The prospects look gloomy and a defeat this year will hit them with a patronage drought which could be disastrous to whatever party unity is left.

There has been little or no decided GOP action to offset the unemployment situation from the national level and though Governor Meyner has been reluctant to extend unemployment compensation benefits, the blame is still being heaped on Ike and his GOP 'braintrusters.'

So bleak is the situation that many local rank and file Republicans are knocking at Democratic doors seeking an "in". At state and national levels, Republican leaders are claiming "labor domination of the Democratic party". This has been a favorite bogeyman for years and even during the Roosevelt years the "labor domination" failed to materialize. So it looks like the people will answer the charge in November and elect more Democrats to halt a deepening of the recession.

Democratic leaders, however, are not permitting workers to become complacent about November possibilities. Paterson GOP leader Moe Di Gangi, is banking heavily on help from Frank Greco to make certain inroads. On the county level, GOP leaders will use popular Robert Moore to quarterback the freeholder team of Schoen, Moore and Barszcz.

Paterson Mayor Edward O'Byrne still ailing and on a very limited schedule. It seems some hopefuls are preparing a farewell testimonial to Sgt. Emil Balint, who has been attached to the prosecutor's office for the past several years.

Band Concert Scheduled May 2

NORTH HALEDON — The North Haledon Community Band Association will give its first concert Friday, May 2, 8 p.m., at the Eastern Christian High School, 50 Oakwood Avenue.

The band, made up of fifty children, teenagers and adults, has been in existence for about two years; learning to play instruments and learning to play as a group. It has developed to where it has been invited to march in the Memorial day parade on the afternoon of the holiday in Totowa.

The money derived from the concert will be for uniforms and a trailer to carry the accordion section.

While parading, the youngsters carrying these instruments would tire too easily, so a low trailer is needed. The band has been invited to parade in Haledon when the Ambulance Association celebrates its 25th anniversary.

Under the direction of O. Fred Lorenz, members practice every Saturday morning from 9:30 to 11:30. A dress rehearsal will be held Wednesday.

Tickets are on sale from any member of the association. Honorary chairman, John Whitehead; president, Ralph Clarke; tickets, Joseph Markart; ad book and boosters, Robert Dean; publicity, Rose Lipinski; reception, Lydia and Lincoln Cinquino; program and arrangements, John Heinzelmann; stage manager, Peter Sinke; treasurer, Roy Howard.

Woman's Club Names Institute Delegates

TOTOWA BOROUGH — Miss Rosemary Bergmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bergmann, was named delegate to the Citizenship Institute at Douglass College to represent the Totowa Borough Woman's Club.

A junior at Passaic Valley High School, Miss Bergmann was a member of the Christmas Concert and Valley Varieties. Active in hockey and basketball, she served as a freshman representative on the student council. She has held office in the St. James CYO and is active in 4-H work.

Janet Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Walker, was selected alternate.

Miss Walker also took part in the Christmas Concert and Valley Varieties at Passaic Valley High School. She is a member of the Tri Hi-Y, The Rainbow Girls and the Methodist Youth Forum. She served as class historian and alternate representative to the safety council.

FRANKIE SURPRISED AT TOUR'S END — Los Angeles, Calif. — Frankie Laine hugs his wife on his arrival at International Airport after completing his latest tour. Wife Nan surprised the singer with a bus-load of guests for his — you guessed it — surprise birthday party.

Registration For June Election Closes May 1

HAWTHORNE — George V. Grillo, borough clerk, announced May 1 is the last day borough residents may register or transfer to be eligible to vote on the Board of Education referendum on the Junior High School on June 10.

Residents not registered may do so at the borough clerk's office in the Municipal Building daily, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. For the convenience of the voters, the borough clerk's office will be open from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on April 28.

GOP Plans Social

WEST PATERSON — The regular Republican Organization will sponsor a spring social Saturday, May 24 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Anthony Mannarino is general chairman and Anthony Padula, organization president, is ticket chairman.

Mrs. Catherine Cornette is in charge of entertainment.

HALEDON — A basketball uniform, long drawers, a ballerina skirt, and a mid-victorian cape and hat were some of the outfits modeled at the "Old Clothes Social", featured at the Auxiliary meeting of the Passaic County Firemen's Association.

The Auxiliary of Fire Company 1, Pompton Road, Haledon was the host company this month. Next month the meeting will be held Wednesday, May 28, at Fire Company 2, West Broadway and Granite Avenue, Haledon.

The regular meeting of Fire Company 2 Auxiliary, to be held Wednesday, May 14, will feature a film on the early detection of cancer, sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

A STEP UP FOR THE BABY CARRIAGE — Dusseldorf, Germany — One of the highlights of the baby carriage exhibition at Dusseldorf is this buggy being demonstrated by a model. While the carriage remains horizontal, the wheels automatically adjust to the different heights of the stair steps.

A five-year old showed up at kindergarten one day dressed in faded blue jeans under a frilly petticoat and a beautiful ruffled party dress. Pinned to the dress was this note from the girls mother: "I hope you don't think this was my ideal!"

"Have you ever been troubled by diphtheria?"
"Only when I tried to spell it."

Mrs. Black: "Yesterday I almost got killed."

Mrs. Blue: "What happened?"

Mrs. Black: "I walked into an antique shop and asked, 'What's new.'"

Laurie: "The people next door must be very poor?"

Mother: "How do you know, dear?"

Laurie: "They made such a fuss when their baby swallowed a dime."

Politician: "There are many ways, my friends, of making money. But there's only one honest way."

Opponent: "What's that?"

Politician: "I was pretty sure you wouldn't know!"

Aunt: "Well, Bobby, how do you like school?"

Bobby: "Closed, of course."

"It may have been my turtle. I brought it in with me."

Three of the fourteen stars in "The Timex All-Star Jazz Show," Wednesday, April 30, on the CBS Television Network, are Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong, who will appear as the U. S. Ambassador of Jazz (left), popular Garry Moore (top), who will host the special, hour-long program, and songstress Jaye P. Morgan (bottom). Also in this 'live' jazz show are Lionel Hampton and his orchestra, George Shearing and his Quintet, the Gerry Mulligan Quartet, Jack Teagarden's Jazz Band with Cozy Cole and Henry "Red" Allen, Gene Krupa, and the Dukes of Dixieland.

John Forsythe, who portrays the debonair Bentley Gregg on the CBS Television Network's "Bachelor Father" series on Sundays, has the enviable role of consort to a bevy of beauties on the program. Here Forsythe finds the company of lovely LaRue Katzman much to his satisfaction.

Brown Shoes

By LILLIAN MITCHELL

Lenore rose jerkily from the train seat. A cold terror numbed her muscles, and she felt her limbs respond as a puppet's respond to pulled strings. A cup of tea might help, if only she could find the dining car. She walked blindly through the train. The Passengers' faces were indistinct, pale blobs, yet all seemed focused on her, like wan spotlights out of darkness.

"Yes, ma'am. A table right over here, ma'am." Oh, thank Heaven she had found the dining car. If only everything weren't so vague. She must be ill.

"Tea, nothing more," she said to the waiter.

Well, she'd soon be with Jim. He'd meet her at the little station and take her to the mountain hide-out they'd agreed upon. There in the peace and quiet of the forests, things would become orderly again. It would be worth the trouble then, worth the dangerous planning, the nights of anxiety lest there be a mistake. No one had ever suspected. An accident, they'd say. She'd even stayed for her husband's funeral, wearing her widow's black and sobbing most convincingly. Oh, she was a smart woman all right. Of course, Jim had helped her with the details, telling her what to do, but she, with her own hands had prepared the car, the death car. There hadn't been enough of it to tell what had happened when they found it at the bottom of the steep canyon. Not much left of her husband either. "Apparently fell asleep driving," was the verdict.

She was feeling better now. The hot tea was what she needed. She was so cold. A chill seized her as she raised her cup, slopping tea into her lap. She must have dropped her napkin under the table. She bent looking under edge of white cloth. Then—horror swept over her, flooding up over her stomach and chest, and exploding into prickles on her scalp. A sturdy pair of feet rested side by side under the table, encased in neatly tied large brown oxfords, the service-weight-hose clad legs seeming to end at the far edge of the cloth.

"No!" thought Lenore. "I won't scream," as she felt the terror bubbling up into her throat. The woman must have just come in—or had she been sitting there all the time? Animal-like instinct to flight took possession of her and she hastily rose and, keeping her face averted, hurried from the car. Oh, she'd forgotten to pay her check. Would the porter call her back? She could feign sudden illness, she thought, hunting for the lounge. Oh, here it was. She sat on a little chair in the corner and covered her face with her hands. She WAS ill. And now this. If only she hadn't become ill until she was away. Those brown shoes! She'd seen them before. Somewhere in her mind she realized they had to do with the terror. She must pull herself together enough to figure out why. It must be the police. They had sent a matron to follow her. She'd be caught like a rat in a trap when she met Jim. And he too would be involved.

But no, it couldn't be. They couldn't possibly have suspected. They'd have questioned her. She'd let everyone know she was going on a little trip to forget. No one had tried to stop her. No. She was too clever to be suspected. The funeral had gone too well, she'd been grief-stricken, unconsolable.

She was thinking a little clearer now. An idea began to take shape in her mind. But of course, 'Brown shoes' must be Jim's wife. Lenore had never seen her, but she would be this type. Jim's wife had suspected the affair between her and Jim, and was going to stop them. Oh, she couldn't have suspected the murder—she couldn't possibly realize things would go that far. Jim had said his wife was through with him, that she was of no concern. Lenore knew differently. She could tell by the set of the feet in those determined looking shoes. She was one of those selfish, self-righteous women, with an outraged sense of justice. A dog-in-the-manger woman. Well, Lenore could handle her. She felt better at having solved the woman's identity. The police would have been more difficult. This would be easy. She'd just ride on past the station and to the next city. There she could quickly lose 'brown shoes' in the crowd and board another train back.

Jim would be anxious at her delay, but wouldn't he be pleased with her cleverness when she told him what she had done?

She was still sitting with her face buried in her hands, when she sensed another person in the small room, and her scalp rose in prickly terror again. Even before she raised her eyes and stared over her trembling fingertips, she knew who it was.

The vague, swimming feeling had possession of her again as she walked back through the car. She took an empty seat by the window and stared out, watching the country slide backwards past the window. This didn't look like the mountain country where she was to meet Jim. Could she have gone past already, or where were they? She'd lost track of time and didn't seem to have her watch. She'd have to ask the porter where they were, and arrange to change her ticket to the next city. The train was approaching a station now. If only this horribly ill feeling would leave her.

Oh! She felt a steel-like hand grip her arm, half raising her from the seat. Her head fell forward and she saw, through the sickening whirlpool, the brown shoes, dissolving and reappearing, dissolving and reappearing. Feeling so ill, there was nothing she could do but go along. When this spell passed she could decide what to do. She let herself be led from the train and into a waiting station wagon. The waves of nausea cleared a little as she felt the breeze from the open window. Then the blurred spinning wheel of her consciousness slowed. Fragments became shapes. Looming shapes. She saw the great iron gates and the brick buildings beyond. A great balloon of fear swelled within her, and burst, and away in the distance she heard herself whimpering like a hurt animal.

The white capped superintendent looked up as the matron clad in brown traveling clothes and brown oxfords entered the room. "Have much trouble getting her back?"

"No, she came along quietly enough, pretty nervous though. She's never improved, has she?"

"No. Twenty years in the county asylum is a price for love of a man, isn't it? She cracked up at the accidental death of her husband, you know."

—BY WILLIAM BRODIE—

THE OKLAHOMA RUSH

On the sunny afternoon of April 22, 1889 a shouting, pushing and impatient mob of 20,000 persons crowded together on horseback, in wagons, buggies, carriages, on bicycles, and even on foot, was lined up for miles along the southern border of Kansas facing toward the wide open spaces of central Oklahoma. For on this day, Oklahoma, the "Beautiful Land," as the Indians called it, was to be thrown open to white homesteaders. The mob was to rush into the new land on a signal to be given at exactly 12 o'clock noon.

Oklahoma was the old Indian territory which had been reserved for the Indian tribes alone. But as good land for homesteading became scarce, white settlers kept sneaking into Oklahoma, the last big vacant corner of the old West. This was illegal, and these squatters had to be removed from time to time by U. S. soldiers.

Finally, the clamor to grab the fertile lands from the Indians became so great that Congress and the President decided to give way to the inevitable. The government made a deal with the Indians and bought the land from them, against their will. In March of 1889 President Benjamin Harrison proclaimed that Oklahoma would be opened to free homesteading at 12 o'clock noon of April 22.

For weeks eager men and women of all ages had gathered for the rush, the homeless, the adventurers, the speculators, as well as the homesteaders. Now they waited impatiently for the signal. Soldiers were stationed up and down the line for miles to hold back the "sooners" who wanted to beat the signal for the mad rush forward. As the hours passed and the final minutes ticked away the shouting, milling, fighting thousands strained on the starting line like penned-up animals ready to stampede.

Army officers, watches in hand, waited with their guns held high to fire the signal shots. Twelve o'clock, and bang! bang! bang! The revolvers cracked along the line and army bugles blared. The soldiers stood aside, and with a roar like that of a flood pouring over a broken dam the struggling mob dashed off in a mad race. Galloping horses, wildly careening wagons, colliding men and teams dashing madly about raised a tremendous cloud of dust. New arrivals by the hundreds kept joining the rush. Ahead lay fertile homesteads to be grabbed by the fastest, the strongest, and the luckiest in the wild scramble.

Within a few hours the 1,920,000 acres of the Oklahoma district were taken up. All over the plains the lucky homesteaders labored to stake out their claims and build shelters. Others marked out city lots. Somehow, two cities sprang up. Oklahoma City had a population of 10,000 tent dwellers and Guthrie had 15,000 by night. City governments were organized, and a bank with $50,000 capital was started in a tent.

By nightfall the rush was over. Flickering campfires marked the locations of new homesteads all over the countryside. The dust had settled, covering the last traces of the old frontier. The last of the Indian lands had been taken over by the white man.
