Pertinent Information About Income Tax

The Internal Revenue Service for the Newark District emphasized that every citizen of the United States who had a gross income of $600.00 or more in 1958, including minors, must file a Federal income tax return on or before April 15.

If the taxpayer is 65 or over by January 1, 1959, he is not required to file unless his gross income was at least $1,200. Even though a taxpayer is not required to file under these rules, he must file to obtain a refund of any tax withheld from his salary or wages.

There is one exception to the general rule. Self employed persons must file an income tax return and pay a self employment tax if net earnings from self-employment are $400 or more.

Self employed persons are those carrying on a trade or business as sole proprietors, as members of a partnership, or rendering services as independent contractors.

Taxpayers are urged to send in their returns as soon as possible. They are to be sent to the "District Director of Internal Revenue, Newark, N. J. Checks for tax should accompany the return and should be made payable to "Internal Revenue Service."

The American Automobile Association also calls attention to allowable deduction which can be made.

Any motorist who chooses to list deductions on form 1040 may include the following:

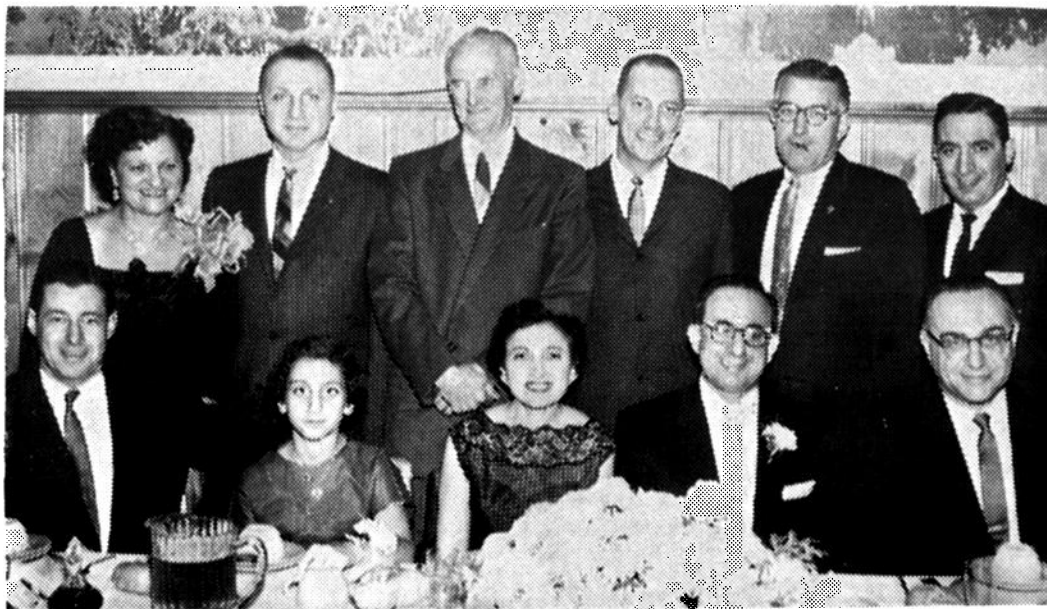

State automobile license fees, State gasoline tax, 5c per gallon in New Jersey, personal property tax, driver's license fees, casualty losses, not reimbursed by insurance, interest on automobile loans, municipal vehicle tax fees, State and city sales taxes.

If car is used for business, motor club dues, automobile insurance, depreciation, gasoline, oil and lubricating expenses, repairs, costs of washing and polishing and garage rent, parking and tolls are deductible.

BOY AWARDED $4,000 FOR INJURIES IN FRIENDLY SUIT

A friendly judgment of $4,000 was approved in Superior Court this week to an 11 year old boy who fell from the fender of his grandmother's car.

The boy, Lawrence Vangelas was sitting on the fender of his grandmother's car when his uncle started the engine. The boy slipped and fell face downward into the roadway.

"Old 1842" Train To Ride In Paterson

Arrangements have been made to have a 74-foot, six car antique railroad train tour the city's streets. The arrangements were made by the Paterson Mothers' March for Dimes. The train will ride through Paterson on Wednesday, January 28.

The train is loaned to the local March of Dimes by special arrangement with the F. & M. Schaefer Brewing Company. The "Old 1842" train will chug along in the midst of the normal stream of traffic, while mothers make a house to house canvass to raise funds to help in the National Foundation's fight against arthritis, birth defects and polio.

New Telephone Books To Be Distributed Soon

Passaic County Telephone directories will be distributed in the Paterson area beginning next Wednesday. Distribution in Passaic area starts January 30 and in the Pompton Lakes area February 3.

The three areas will carry different pictures on the cover. The Dundee Dam will be featured on the Passaic book; the Paterson Museum on the Paterson book and the Manor House in Ringwood Manor State Park on the Pompton Lakes issue.

About 202,500 directories will be delivered, which is about 9,100 more than last year. They will contain about 169,600 alphabetical listings. The information pages in the front of the book will provide more detailed information about dialing.

Uncle CHARLEY'S "Epi-grins"

The Ridge Corner parson went to sleep listenin' to his own sermon on a tape-recorder.

If money talks why don't it apologize to us.

When a woman guesses right that's her intuition.

As a rule folks who pat you on the back are tryin' to git you to cough up.

To be strong without you gotta be calm within.

It's so easy to mistake grandeur for greatness.

Jr. Hinch don't pray before he eats because his Mom is a good cook.

This metallic age means Gold in your teeth, silver in your hair and lead in your pants.

The folks who cracked the atom blame near busted civilization.

The problem of livin' ain't so bad if you kin find the answers.

The school of experience sure has some tough teachers.

Many a dad has a son to fill his shoes and a daughter to fill his shirts.

To make life easier reduce friction to a fraction.

FREEDOM FIRST

"I love America, and I don't want to live anywhere else . . . I feel so many Americans don't appreciate it . . ."

These words were not from the lips of a person wanting to make over everybody and everything; they were spoken by a beautiful Romanian girl. Her childhood record included starvation, floggings, three gun wounds while being used for target practice in prison camps including Dauchau.

This girl and her family, including a brother in the Air Force, are not finding it easy to make a living in this country, but they put the right to be free ahead of everything else.

We should never forget or belittle the right every American has to be free. This freedom should not be forgotten when pressure groups, in or out of government, seek to submerge the individual under mass regimentation. Infringements on individual opportunity can destroy the America the Romanian girl loves. The right to work, the right to vote, the right to worship, the right to speak, are not just trick slogans — they mean liberty.

HEART OF THE MATTER

An influential member of Congress proposes a study of ways to meet the Federal government's need for ever-increasing sums of money.

This caused a reader of the Wall Street Journal to write that the real answer to the budget problem is to reduce "the government's need for more and more money."

If that isn't fundamental, nothing is.

HOW MUCH IS YOUR TIME WORTH?

How much does it cost to feed your family?

That question can be accurately answered only by considering two kinds of "spending. One is money. The other is time.

A booklet prepared by the editorial staff of "Everywoman's Family Circle" in cooperation with the National Association of Food Chains tells an interesting story. According to government figures, home prepared meals for a family of four for one day average 4.90 in cost and take 5.5 hours of the housewife's time. Partly prepared meals cost $5.80 and takes 3.1 hours of time. And ready to serve meals cost $6.70 and require 1.6 hours of time.

In other words, if the housewife does all her own preparing, the meals will cost about a third less than if she uses the ready to serve types. But she will have to devote well over three times as many hours to the cooking task.

What it comes down to, as the booklet put it, is "how much is your time worth?" The tremendous increase in demand for partly and wholly prepared foods indicates that great numbers of housewives put high value on their time.

The Editor Speaks

VINCENT S. PARRILLO

Almost everybody remembers some particular advice or warning his mother or father gave him.

The reason I think so is because so many people in the course of a conversation say "My father used to say—," and then it comes.

Well, my father's favorite advice to me was "Mind your own business." Whenever I came to him with some especially juicy piece of neighborhood gossip or with a hand-picked rumor, he'd say, "Mind your own business," and refused to listen.

To show you how well I heeded his advice, let me remind you that I became a newspaper reporter, in which profession I minded everybody's business except my own.

And ever since those days — and, if I had to live my life all over again, I'd start right in as a newspaper reporter again — I have always been much more interested in other people's business than in my own. As my wife will discover to her grief when I depart this earthly sphere and she opens my safe deposit box.

Speaking of this earthly sphere, here is another piece of business which is not really mine at all, but which has aroused my interest.

What business do we have 'way up in the stratosphere? Haven't we enough trouble on this earth without sticking our nose into space and trying to find out whether we can't discover some more trouble a million miles from here?

A scientist said he believes that space suits of the future would be made of metal braid and be hermetically sealed. They would be complete with built-in radios and metal boots, while a small recoil "pistol" attached to the back would provide the power to move the spaceman.

I remember another remark my father made when I told him some extra tall tale: "How crazy can you get?"

Employers of Domestic Workers Are Responsible For Social Security

Employers of domestic or household workers must pay a social security tax to the Internal Revenue Service for any employee to whom they pay $50 or more in cash wages during a calendar quarter. The contribution rate for 1958 is 4½ percent of wages paid (2¼ percent deducted from the wages and 2¼ percent paid by the employer.) For the calendar quarter ending December 31, 1958, the due date for these taxes is on or before January 31, 1959. Beginning with January, 1959, the employer-employee social security tax will be 2½ percent each.

In making this announcement, Stanley J. Fiorese, district manager of the Paterson social security office, noted that there has been some confusion as to just what is a calendar quarter. Fiorese explained that there are four calendar quarters in a year, January, February and March being the first quarter; April, May and June the second; July, August and September the third; and October, November and December the last calendar quarter of the year.

"Only cash wages of domestic employees count for social security purposes. This means that the value of such things as room and board would not be counted as wages for social security purposes. If cash wages of less than $50 are paid to a domestic worker in a calendar quarter then no report is made for that individual for that particular quarter, and no social security tax has to be paid.

It is the responsibility of the employer to see that the tax returns are filed. The worker should obtain a social security card and report the number to his employer so that it can be shown correctly on the tax return.

Employers of household workers who are not receiving the forms for making the tax report are urged to contact the nearest social security office or Internal Revenue Service office for further information. Ask for a copy of the leaflet "Do You Have a Maid?" This leaflet explains how to get the form and make the report.

Your social security district office is located at 245 Market St., Paterson, N. J.

WATER STUDY MEETING POSTPONED TO FEBRUARY

There has been a postponement of the combined meeting of the Haledon and North Haledon borough councils to study and discuss the water situation.

The meeting is now scheduled to be held on February 16 and 18.

"Miss Fuselage of 1959" To Be Chosen Soon

A group of pilots based at Teterboro Airport, named the Legion-Aires, Inc., are searching for a shapely young lady to be crowned "Miss Fuselage of 1959."

The annual beauty contest conducted by this group is open to young ladies between the ages of 18 and 29, married or single.

Entries are to register before February 1. The winner will be chosen and crowned at a coronation ball to be held on Saturday evening, February 28, at the Knights of Columbus Hall, at Bergen Avenue and Park Street, Ridgewood Park. The public is invited to attend. An evening of gaiety and dancing is planned.

Miss Fuselage of 1959 will be presented with a mink stole; a personal interview in New York with Metro-Goldwyn Mayer talent scouts; also an interview in New York with the Pat Sullivan Agency.

Contestants should mail their information to Legion-Aires, Inc., 216 Broad Street, Palisades Park, N. J. Age, occupation, height, weight, bust, waist and hip measurements, and recent picture in bathing suit, is information requested.

Mental Health Ass'n Issues Free Pamphlet

The Mental Association in promoting better mental health has published a free pamphlet entitled "Are You Living In A Haunted House?"

The Association is participating in a five month public information program with the New Jersey Association for Mental Health and its 13 other chapters.

The pamphlet raises such questions as "Are you spending too much time with ghosts of the past?" "Are you making yourself sick over something that happened long ago?" "Are you haunted by hobgoblins of the present?" "Are you afraid of tomorrow?" Advice is given about how to handle these fears and worries, with emphasis on the point that life consists of just one today after another. "Today is for living. Let's enjoy it."

The pamphlet can be obtained by addressing a postcard to Mental Health Association, 339 Broadway, Paterson.

1st National Bank Ranks 136th In Country

The First National Bank and Trust Company of Paterson ranked as the 136th largest bank in the United States as of December 31, 1958. This information was obtained from the American Banker, a daily newspaper in the banking field. That publication is now engaged in its semi-annual tabulation of banks in the United States by dollar volume of deposits.

R. Raymond Peterson, chairman of the Board of First National Bank, commented on the news as follows: "With our seventeen offices in Paterson, Clifton, Bloomingdale, Mountain View, Pompton Lakes, Preakness, Ringwood, Borough of Totowa, Wanaque Borough and West Milford, we are serving a large proportion of the population of our trade area. Size is important to supplying the banking needs of many large and growing industrial enterprises in the area. However, our many community offices have made it possible for us to serve the small business man, the housewife and individuals in all walks of life. The number of people and organizations we serve is increasing constantly.

ABILITY FOR AGILITY — Fred Astaire demonstrates the dexterity that brought acclaim to his television debut on the NBC-TV Network colorcast of "An Evening with Fred Astaire." The hour will again be telecast (via color video tape) Wednesday, Feb. 11.

PAST AND PRESENT — Vincent N. Parrillo (left) retiring editor in chief of the Setonian, Seton Hall University's undergraduate newspaper, is shown with Roy Egatz of 56 Seger Avenue, Clifton, and Rev. James B. Sullivan, moderator for the Setonian. Mr. Egatz, who is a junior, has been a member of the Setonian staff for three years serving as reporter, news editor and associate editor. Vincent N. Parrillo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent S. Parrillo, is among the 31 seniors at Seton Hall University selected for "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." While at Seton Hall he was general chairman of the "Varsity Drag" Queen of the Campus Dance and the Society for the Advancement of Management; Phi Beta Sigma; Booster Club. Workshop Moderator; Ski Club; Scholarship Club and a Senior Class officer.

NATIONAL LEAGUE GOING ALL-OUT FOR NIGHT GAMES

The National Baseball League has laid its plans for a record number of night games for 1959. They plan to play 296 night games.

The fans seem to prefer the night games. Undoubtedly, they like day games, but their jobs prevent them from attending day games.

The Chicago Cubs is the only team which has not gone in for night games.

The National League officially opens its season on April 9.

PACIFISTS PROMISE TO BE GOOD TO GET OUT OF JAIL

Nine pacifists in England, who had been jailed for their "ban-the-bomb" demonstrations, were released from jail recently on their promise not to engage in any further demonstrations.

A number of others refused to promise they would not demonstrate and they remained in jail.

LITTLE FALLS TO HOLD CONFERENCE SEWERAGE

The Little Falls Township Committee will hold another meeting with Glen Ridge officials to discuss the township's sewage disposal problems on Monday, March 2. Little Falls is endeavoring to reach an agreement permitting a line to the Glen Ridge-Montclair sewer system.

MIDVALE WOMEN HELD ON SHOPLIFTING CHARGE

Two Midvale women were apprehended this week for attempting to sneak out meat from the Hamburg Turnpike supermarket. The supermarket security division made the arrest and summoned the Wayne police. The women were released on $25 bail each. Their trial will come up this Wednesday.

N. J. State Planning Conference February 5

It is expected that many conservationists will attend the annual New Jersey State Planning Conference to be held in Trenton on February 5.

Sponsors of the event are the New Jersey Federation of Official Planning Boards and the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development. All sessions are open to the public.

Governor Robert B. Meyner will deliver the luncheon address. Round table discussions are scheduled on various phases of planning, especially open space planning.

Because open space in New Jersey's increasing population is of such importance to sportsmen and the continuance of fish and game programs, representatives of the Division of Fish and Game will join other officials of the Department of Conservation

SOVIETS TO PRODUCE NEW MIDGET AUTOMOBILE

According to Soviet news item Russia has started to produce a midget automobile at Sverdlovsk in the Ural Mountains. The car will be called Ogonyok. It has 4-wheel drive and can climb hills up to 44 degrees. Its top speed is 46 miles per hour.

"Do you find advertising brings quick results?"

"Yes indeed. Why only the other day we advertised for a night watchman, and that very night the safe was robbed."

On a local bus here, a man gave a woman a seat. The woman fainted. On recovering, she thanked him. Then he fainted.

The fellow with the reputation for getting the most done generally has a habit of trusting the right people to do it for him.

The doctor bent over the operating table and said to his patient, "I'm going to be frank. Only four out of five persons recover from this operation. Before I proceed, is there anything you would like for me to do?" "Yes," said the patient. Help me on with my clothes and shoes."

Politician—"My boy says he would like a job in your department." Official—"What can he do?"

Politician—"Nothing." Official—"That simplifies it. Then we won't have to break him in."

Junior: "What's horse sense?" Pop: "Something horses have that keeps them from betting on people."

SPRING CONCERT PLANNED FOR YOUNG AMPUTEE

A spring concert is being planned in Totowa Borough to benefit Maureen Coughlin. She is a six-year old amputee. The Lions Club is co-sponsoring the program.

Maureen was afflicted with an ailment which necessitated the amputation of her right leg to prevent the disease from spreading.

Many of the area's finest and youngest accordionists will participate in the program. The program will be held on April 8 at the Memorial School. The proceeds of the program will go to help defray the medical expense of Maureen's affliction.

ARCHAEOLOGISTS FIND THREE ANCIENT CHARIOTS

Armenian archaeologists recently discovered three ancient chariots.

They came to light in excavating burial mounds long submerged in Lake Sevan. Hydroelectric projects had lowered the water level of the lake, revealing the mounds. The chariots are estimated to be nearly 3,000 years old. They have solid wooden wheels which are decorated with shields. ARMENIANindvealeda aolcm cc

DRILLERS FIND NEW OIL IN ENGLAND

England is rejoicing in a new oil supply found near the village of Corringham. Drillers were surprised when a small gusher soaked surrounding fields with oil, after having made a test bore of 4,400 feet.

MRS. WILLIAM PANTEL

Miss Lois Ann Griffin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent E. Griffin, was married to William Pantel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pantel, recently. The marriage took place at St. Brenden's R. C. Church. They went on a wedding trip to Florida.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS FOR FIRE-POLICE APPLICANTS

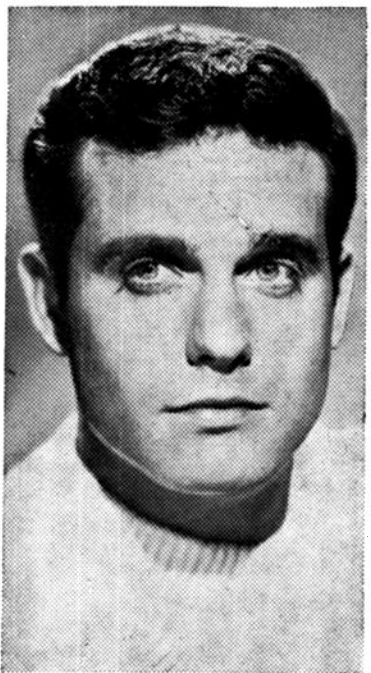

The Civil Service list of eligibles for Paterson firemen and patrolmen has been exhausted.

Clerk of the Fire-Police Board, Lester F. Titus, was authorized to contact the New Jersey State Department of Civil Service to arrange examinations for applicants.

New Play, Jan. 29

Reginald Rose, author of such memorable television successes as "Twelve Angry Men" and "Tragedy in a Temporary Town," has written his first original television script in two years, "A Quiet Game of Cards," a startling drama to be presented on the CBS Television Network's "Playhouse 90," Thursday, Jan. 29.

'MUSIC SHOP' STAR — Buddy Bregman, noted young composer-conductor-arranger, is host of a new musical variety series, "The Music Shop Starring Buddy Bregman," colorcast Sunday nights on the NBC-TV Network.

By FREDERICK LAING

You know how it is when there's a girl you can't forget.

You walk into some place — a bar for instance, and there's a radio playing that goofy tune. She'd been on my mind, off and on like that for weeks.

So naturally I was thinking about her the night I met this fellow Harry. In fact, I'd been wondering — although I tried not to — wondering what kind of men she was going out with now, and whether there was any one who had the inside track. It had never occurred to me that a fellow like Harry what's-his-name might appeal to her.

Let me tell you about this girl. She was herself, in spite of her old man. Coal and coke business retired, he was. I'd met him once: A beautiful sight in riding pants.

But this girl — she was like a kid who won't keep quiet when there's company. You've known her five minutes and she has you dressing her dolls.

She was the first thing I saw when I walked into the advertising agency to fill that copy writer opening. She was sitting at the reception desk and there were several men standing around her smiling. And when she looked up and asked my name, I found myself smiling like the rest of them. You just couldn't help it.

Maybe you think I tried to get friendly right away. This fellow Harry, that would have been his speed. I'll tell you about him later. But with me, it as nothing of that sort. These very popular girls — they never like me. And I'd seen her riding to work one morning behind her father's chauffeur. That let me out.

One night I was having dinner in a restaurant near the office and she walked in alone. So I asked her to join me. She flopped into a chair and said she was tired, worn out. We had a couple of drinks. And she told me about a place on Fifth-second Street. It was cute she said. So I took her there. And we made a pretty regular thing of it after that.

I felt, of course, that I was doing something I shouldn't.

Well, I got to thinking about her one night when I was working late at the office. I was wondering how all those expensive clothes of hers would look in the closet of my little two-room apartment on Forty-eighth Street.

And then I treated myself to a little philosophy. And the sum of it all was that this pride of mine was false pride.

If we were nuts about each other, I said to myself, why shouldn't I accept what we both had, and consider myself lucky.

I even saw myself riding behind the chauffeur and footman.

Finally, I thought my mind was made up and I went home. But I must have slept it off. Because in the morning I looked in the mirror as I was shaving and I said, young man, I said, trying to sound like the coal and coke business, how much do you earn a week, young man? And I started laughing.

It was shortly afterward that I found another job. The same old grind of pushing the typewriter, but with a different agency.

I didn't tell her about it until I was ready to leave. And I didn't call her up after I was gone.

Then she wrote me a letter. It had taken a wastebasket full of attempts to write that letter, or I missed my guess. She felt that she must have done something to make me angry, she said . . .

I didn't answer it, but for the next six weeks I never really stopped thinking about her for a minute. If she wasn't on my mind, she was in the back of it somewhere, and it's hard to say which was worse.

One evening after five I went down to the bar with a friend from the office. My friend runs into somebody he knows and he says, shake hands with Harry so-and-so, which I did. It wasn't exactly a pleasure. He said, "How do you do?" as though it were an effort. And he passed his hand to me like it was a piece of stolen goods.

But it turned out that this fellow Harry had plenty of conversation. An ample supply. And it was mostly about himself. About the restaurants he'd been to lately, for instance. He was quite an epicure. I remember that he had a weakness for pheasant the way they served it at a place called Chauncey's. Seven dollars a dish.

He seemed to be trying to prove something. He even had a trick way of putting a cigarette to his mouth, as though smoking was an art in itself.

Finally he looked at his watch and said he had to rush off to meet his wife. "Scoot," was the way he put it.

When he was gone, my friend told me about this gent. An advertising artist. He'd been working at a new job for a week when he married a girl in the office. One of these high society kids, my friend said. And he told me, he guessed she thought advertising was romantic or exciting, or something. Her family were lousy with what it takes to buy pheasant at seven bucks a throw.

And soon as he'd married this prize, he'd objected to his wife working for a salary.

That's all there was to the story as my friend told it to me. But I remember how this fellow had been talking about the offers he'd had lately. A dead give-away that he wasn't working at present. A pretty sad story, the way I saw it.

Well, my friend had to catch the five-thirty-five, and he left me there with a highball and whatever I might happen to be thinking about.

And, of course, I was thinking of the same old subject. She hadn't been off my mind for six weeks.

All of a sudden I set my glass down gently — very gently on the bar. It would be just like I was thinking? When she wanted something, she wanted it right away. Waiting drove her crazy.

My friend hadn't mentioned the name of the agency this fellow was working for. I went out to the street to ask him, but he was gone. I thought hard. No, he hadn't mentioned any names. But everything fitted perfectly.

The clock above the bar said five-thirty. I figured that if she was still there — still working at the same job, I mean, she'd be just about putting on her hat. I walked over to the telephone booth trying not to run, and I shoved a quarter in the slot. There wasn't time to get change.

She was still there, all right. "Oh, Bill!" she said.

She took a deep breath. "Listen," I said—I could hear voices around her — "Listen, let me do the talking." And I told her how I felt. That I couldn't stay away. That I didn't want to be away from her again, ever. And she said, "Me, too," in a little squak that barely came out.

"I'll tell you something . . . I know, I was absolutely sure now, that I could never be a fellow like — I mean it would be terrible if she had married a fellow like that.

THE WRIGHTS FLY FIRST AIRPLANE

For centuries man had dreamed of flying, not just in a wind-blown balloon, but by controlled flight in a heavier-than-air mechanically propelled airplane. And on Thursday, December 17, 1903, the Wright brothers made the dream come true on the sand dunes at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina.

Kitty Hawk was a small fishing village up on the North Carolina coast. Sand dunes for take-offs and soft ground for landings were here around a convenient slope known as Kill Devil Hill. The constant winds that blew here were helpful, and Orville and Wilbur Wright had selected this spot as best suited for their flight experiments.

During the 1880s and 1890s considerable experimentation had been done with gliders. The Wright brothers had done a lot of this experimenting, and by 1902 they had built a real good glider. A flying machine with an engine and propellers would come next. The vision of flying stirred the minds and inventive spirit of many Americans, but most people were convinced that God never intended man to fly, at least until he won his angel's wings.

Wilbur and Orville Wright thought that man could fly on a practical basis, and they worked hard to prove it. At the time of their first successful flight Wilbur was a man of 36, and Orville was 32. Neither was a trained engineer, but they were natural mechanics who liked to tinker and experiment. In Dayton, Ohio, they were partners in a bicycle repair shop. First as a pastime, then in serious work, they combined their talents to build a machine that would fly.

Based on the knowledge gained from their numerous glider experiments, the Wright brothers built a suitable plane which was nothing more than a biplane glider with a four-cylinder engine, a rudder and propellers. The engine weighed 750 pounds and developed 12 horsepower.

On Thursday morning, December 17, 1903, everything was ready for the flight test. An invitation had been extended to all people living in the vicinity to witness the event, but only five persons came out in the cold December wind to see what they all thought would be another foolish attempt at flying. Only nine days previously Professor Samuel Langley had failed, up in Virginia, in his second and final attempt to fly a plane.

The Wright machine rested on a single rail track. Orville was the pilot. All set. The whirling propellers clattered. The machine slowly moved ahead on its track, with Wilbur running alongside to steady the wing. After a run of 40 feet the machine rose 10 feet in the air and in the next 12 seconds flew 120 feet before it dipped to the ground.

"Damned if they ain't flew!" exclaimed one of the natives looking on. It was true. For the first time in world history man had flown a machine raised by its own power! To satisfy themselves beyond doubt, the Wright brothers made three more flights, and on the fourth and last one, with Wilbur piloting, the machine stayed up in the air 59 seconds, flying 825 feet. The Wrights were satisfied. They had flown successfully.

The press, still ridiculing Langley's recent failure, gave little notice to the Wrights' success. Even when the two brothers proved by continued successes during the following days that their first flight was no freak, most people were still skeptical. Only years later did the world acknowledge fully the triumph of these two audacious and persevering Americans, the Wright brothers, on that cold December morning at Kitty Hawk.
