Determined to avenge her brother's death, Angie Dickinson wins the support of a strapping farmer (Bert Nelson) in a plan to stir up a lynch mob against a man charged with a crime. The scene is from the July 12 episode of the CBS Television Network's "Have Gun, Will Travel" starring Richard Boone.

"The Case of the Baited Hook"

Blackmail, murder, a beautiful girl and half of a $1,000 bill lure Perry Mason into tackling "The Case of the Baited Hook" on "Perry Mason" Saturday, July 12, over the CBS Television Network.

COVER PICTURE.

The cover picture shows the signing of a paper headed, "The Unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America," and dated July 4, 1776, which, you might say touched off a real fireworks display in the world. Actually, these men could have become the kings and nobles of a New World tyranny. Instead, they chose to become free men in a nation of free men. How proud they might feel today, to know that those original thirteen states are still growing and have now reached the total of 49, with the addition of our newest state, Alaska.

TAKES THE OATH — New York — As Governor Averell Harriman watches, New York Secretary of State Carmine De Sapio swears in Margaret Mary J. Mangan as a Justice of the City Court of New York. Miss Mangan was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Justice Birdie Amsterdam who was appointed to the State Supreme Court.

PICK OF THE CROP — Pingtung, Formosa — With her arms, legs and face well-protected against heat and insects, this young Formosan Miss helps with the pineapple harvest on the Island. A hundred-thousand persons make their living from the booming industry that brings Formosa more than $6,000,000 a year in export income.

COOLER IN THE REAR — Knoxville, Tenn. — Here's one fine way to beat the heat as demonstrated here by little Debbie Raiford, 4. With the mercury soaring, Debbie decided to make delightful use of a handy fan.

HOMAGE FROM A CHIEF — Mackinac Island, Mich. — Dr. Frank Buchman (Right), founder of Moral Re-Armament, is greeted on his 80th Birthday by Chief Walking Buffalo of the Alberta Stoney Indians. Twenty-four years ago the Chief had made Buchman a blood brother and given him the name of "A-Wa-Zan-Zan-Tonga," which means "Big Light in Darkness." The conference was attended by 889 delegates from 34 nations.

Knights Of Columbus To Conduct Orphans Outing

More than 100 youngsters from Paterson and Passaic orphanages will be guests of Paterson Council 240, Knights of Columbus, at the organization's annual children's outing to be held Monday, August 4, at Palisades Park.

The children will be transported to the park by bus and lunch will be served to them when they arrive by the Columbiettes, auxiliary to Paterson Council 240. The Columbiettes will also provide refreshments during the afternoon and a light lunch before the children leave the park.

James J. Di Stefano is general chairman. The committee includes the Rev. John P. Hugh, honorary chairman; George J. Bellin, GK; Joseph Palladino, DGK; Arthur J. Strangeway, PGK; Peter A. Hin, Peter Alexon, Felix Vavalieri, William Parow, John P. Gill, Peter Adams, Charles Ged, Joseph Barbary, George Hajjar, Russ Stephenson, Joseph Kessel, Robert Maes, Leopold Maes, Vincent Molloy, Stanley J. Budnick, J. Anthony Bellin, James Elliott, William Lydecker, Michael Milazo, Carmen Burgio, Frank Crampton, Angelo Ferraro, Joseph Kiernan, Thomas Kennedy, Frank McKenna, John Peppinghaus, Thomas Smith, Raymond Taylor, James Downey, John Downey, Michael Gianone, Edward Fattell, Ralph Di Marcantonio, Louis Carrano, Walter Lewis, Thomas Brino, Paul Viragi, and Leonard Kevit.

P-TA Committee Heads Appointed By Chairman

FAIR LAWN — Committee chairmen appointments were announced by Karlton Coblentz, president of the Memorial Junior High School P-TA.

They are James Seawell, budget; Mrs. Charles Miller and Mrs. Melvin Weil, grade mothers; Mrs. Karlton Coblentz, hospitality; Albert Fisher, membership; Mrs. Julian Borns' ein, Parent News Letter; Mrs. George Mealy, program; and Mrs. Sidney Schulman, ways and means.

The PTA will hold its meetings on the first Wednesday of each month with the first fall meeting scheduled for October.

SEXTANT APPEAL — Miami, Fla. — Polishing up their celestial navigation, four Air Force Officers check their sextants, maps and techniques against the heavenly body of Betty Thompson in Miami, Fla. The flyers won second place in the Continental Air Command's Navigation Contest held in the area. They missed first place because of Gals — that's a term used to define magnetic deviation in small units and is derived from the astronomer Galileo.

GOING MY WAY? — Paris — To help out a lovely lass like Sylvie Solar, drivers going the other way would probably turn around to make sure they were going her way. Sylvie was practicing for her role as "Miss Auto Stop, 1958," in Paris, when the driver of this old car got the picture, though not quite in the picture.

ROLLED OUT OF A BARREL — Berlin — Without its one-time liquid contents, this large wine barrel still brings amusement to a large group. The barrel was donated by a wine manufacturer to Berlin's playgrounds, and the children love to crawl in and out and to play house in the barrel.

TOYS IN BABELAND — New York — Alfred Toy, of Quincy, Mass., greets his new adopted son, Christopher, a 3-year-old Chinese boy, on the boy's arrival at Idlewild Airport from Tokyo. Holding him is Mrs. Toy. Christopher is one of the first children to arrive in the U.S. under a new WAIF (World Adoption International Fund) program to unite Hong Kong orphans with American adoptive parents.

38th Annual Convention Of Christian Schools

The National Union of Christian Schools will hold its 38th annual convention August 5, 6 and 7 at the Eastern Christian High School, North Haledon. The Union is composed of over 400 Christian elementary and high schools in the United States and Canada. Local schools in the Association are the North Fourth Street Christian School and the Riverside Christian School, Paterson; the Midland Park Christian School, the Passaic Christian School, the Junior High School in Prospect Park, the Senior High School in North Haledon and the Rockland County Christian School in Monsey, N. Y.

Theme of the convention which last year was held at Lake Geneva, Wis., is "The Role of Science in Christian Education."

A principals' convention will precede the regular convention and will be held Monday and Tuesday, August 4 and 5.

Speakers for the convention will be Dr. John De Vries, professor at Calvin College, Grand Rapids, Michigan, and chairman of the chemistry division of the Illinois Academy of Science; and Dr. Paul Woolley, faculty member of Westminster Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, Pa. Banquet speaker will be Dr. Jerome De Jong, presently pastor of the First Reformed Church of Englewood, Chicago, Ill. The convention banquet will be held August 7 at Blasberg's Grove, Hawthorne.

Tours, recreational facilities, P-TA discussions, panels and other items of interest are being provided for the 500 delegates who are expected to arrive in this area during the convention week.

The gym of the high school will be converted into an exhibition hall and nationally known text book concerns and bus concerns have already signed up for the 42 exhibition booths available.

Russell Kauffman At Vermont Farm For Month

Russell Kauffman, 15, of 51 Linda Vista Avenue, left Saturday for Sheldon, Vermont, where he will stay for one month on the Spaulding family 240 acre dairy farm.

Kauffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Kauffman, went there as part of a youth exchange program of a national Grange project. He is a sophomore at Hawthorne High School and is active in Grange 195 programs. As part of the exchange, Gilbert Spaulding of Vermont, will stay a month here with the Kauffman family.

The souvenir book of the 25th anniversary of the Haledon Emergency Ambulance Association is now being compiled. Old pictures, stories or clippings regarding the early days of the squad are valuable to the anniversary committee, and anyone with the memorabilia may bring it to the Haledon borough office 408 Morrissee Avenue, opposite Ambulance headquarters. Be sure to have your name and address marked on the information so that it can be returned to you.

Ads will be solicited in the near future from all three boroughs businesses by an authorized representative of the organization.

Forty-five squads from all over the state have already accepted the invitation to appear in a spectacular parade to be held Saturday, September 20, or in case of rain, the following Saturday, the 27th. The parade route has not been definitely established as yet, but it will go through all three boroughs.

Some ambulance units will bring their own musical accompaniment, but more bands and drum and bugle corps are needed for the parade on the above date.

Any church, civic or service organization that has such an aggregation or would like to sponsor a band in the parade may contact Peter Rayot, 1118 Belmont Avenue, North Haledon, or Gerhard Gramp, School Street North Haledon. The phone number for Mr. Rayot is HA 7-5968 and for Mr. Gramp is HA 7-3444.

Souvenir glasses with the emblem of the corps and 25th anniversary stamped on them will be on sale near the Roe Street recreation field following the parade. The nominal price of the glass entitles the buyer to free beer and sandwiches and soft drinks. Ice cream will be on sale for children.

Mayor Brown of Haledon will welcome the visiting squads at the recreation field following the parade with Mayor Hook of Prospect Park and Mayor Fischer of North Haledon participating in the festivities. The visiting am-balances will be lined up around the field for inspection. Trophies will be awarded for the squads who traveled the furthest, the squad with the largest group attending and for other categories to be determined by the committee.

Plan to come out to see the parade and join in the 25th anniversary celebration of your ambulance association.

New arrivals in the three boroughs include: A boy for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Woudenberg, 24 Barbour Street, June 26 at Paterson General Hospital; a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Corsetto, 173 Burhans Avenue, Haledon, June 28 at St. Joseph's Hospital; and a boy for Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kreil, 364 North 10th Street, Prospect Park, June 28, at Paterson General Hospital.

This week saw test borings being started on the proposed site of the new elementary school on the municipal tract. The work is being done by Sprague and Henwood of New York City and the results of the tests as to whether the site is suitable or not should be known by the end of the month.

Louis Vanderspiegel, borough tax collector, will be on vacation from July 7 to July 21, and the tax office will be closed during that period.

James F. Champin, 28 Harrison Avenue, was among 99 Lehigh University undergraduates named to the dean's list for the spring semester.

Councilman William Tanis unveiled a bronze plaque, donated by the North Haledon Businessmen's Association as a tribute to the volunteers who rebuilt the firehouse and those who contributed funds, at the dedication of the newly remodeled Fire Company No. 1 last Saturday. Over 500 people attended the ceremonies and the open house which was held from 1 to 7 p.m.

Councilman Martin Beversluis served as master of ceremonies. He is a past company president. Other dignitaries who were introduced were Robert Mott, fire chief; Mrs. J. Verduin, auxiliary president; and Robert Devourney, Passaic County volunteer firemen's representative. Dr. C. Ransom Comfort, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church and fire chaplain, gave the invocation. Musical selections were played by the North Haledon Community Band led by Fred Lorenz.

Those who served on the building committee were Beversluis, Roger Giacin, James Price. Company officers were: Mott, chief; B. Caggiano, captain; M. Beversluis, lieutenant; Carl Hochkrein, president; B. Stutz, vice president; P. Kolb, secretary; Samuel A. Weiner, treasurer.

Renovations began in 1956 and the volunteers who worked on the project included: Mott, Giacin, Beversluis, Louis Klein, Hochrein, James Bilz, Fred Zergiebel, Fred Bochman, James Dunkerley, James Cochrane, George White, Robert Thieme, John Whitehead, Larry Scanlan, James Price, Peter Kolb, Jack Street, Robert Biggs, Fred Kroegman, William Murdock, Gerard Gramp, Ken Masi, Edward Stutz, Ervin Allaghi, Joseph Pascale, Joseph Thompson, Louis Vanderspiegel and Alfred Villopoto.

Contributors were Emil Buehler, architecture; John Mitchell, roof and cabinets; Leo Lippin, cement work; William Tanis, lettering and overhead doors; John Burrows, welding equipment; Sam Braen, concrete; Victor Pielat, lumber; Alfred Almond, painting.

Clara Mott, Mary MacKenzie, Ethel King, Gwen Giacin, Ann Klein and Betty Villopoto served on the refreshment committee.

Fire Company No. 1 was organized on September 12, 1913, by a group of 48 men who met at Stutz' North Pole Inn. Through their efforts a bucket brigade, the fore-runner of North Haledon Fire Company 1, was formed.

Otto Borsdorf was named first fire chief and Harry Van Dyke, Sr., first president. Two hoops, fashioned from railroad track and set up in different sections of the borough, constituted the first fire alarm system. A hand-drawn chemical wagon was the first fire fighting apparatus used.

Today, the fire department has four modern trucks equipped with the most efficient fire-fighting apparatus.

Saturday afternoon bloomed bright and fair last week for the last of the regularly scheduled events of this summer portion of the borough's Fiftieth Anniversary celebration. The Golden Jubilee field day, was really that for the youngsters of the borough, with games and events and prizes and awards, plus hot dogs, soda and ice cream. Pete Van Der Jagt and Hap Ford certainly deserve a hand for this "fun" day for the youth of Haledon along with the rest of their committee and their helpers.

They say in Spring many strange things happen, and I guess it's true even in Haledon. The other evening four lads took it upon themselves to climb on the roof of the Absalom Grundy School! They were up there when the police car came through and marshall Martin Groppi captured two of the lads who gave him the names of the other two. It would have been a sad day if the boys had toppled off.

The line forms at the right, gentlemen, for your $25 tickets to the Republican picnic to be held at Sea Girt on July 12. It is hoped that Passaic County Republican chairman Lloyd Marsh will be sufficiently recovered from his recent operation to be able to attend.

A lot was accomplished at Tuesday night's council meeting in Totowa despite the heat. Five ordinances were passed and adopted on final reading. They concern construction of curbs and sidewalks on Elizabeth Place and Washington Place; appropriation of over $10,000 for the expansion of playground facilities; purchase of a street sweeping machine; and the regulation of traffic on Riverview Drive, Lackawanna Avenue and a portion of Totowa Road. Mayor Joseph Ryan administered the oath of office to former councilman, John W. Masklee, as borough tax assessor; and introduced a resolution praising the faithful service of William R. Gibbins, who is retiring from public office, after serving since 1925 as tax assessor. Yes sir, a good night's work.

Hugh C. Spornow, juvenile and domestic relations court judge, recently fined the parents of seven juveniles $100 each for damage to over 150 windows broken by the children. Within a day after the damage had been done, the kids were rounded up, taken to their parents and the fine was the outcome. It sounds like harsh punishment, but if the kids think they'll get away with damaging public property, they'll keep it up, but if papa takes away their allowance for a couple of months because he has to pay a fine, maybe they'll learn and other parents can take warning.

This hot weather we all get a little weary and tired, especially when we're out shopping. Don't get so weary that you're not alert, because this summer period, when vacationers have their vacation pay with them, is the time the pickpockets love best. Keep alert while shopping, even in your neighborhood stores.

Anyone who has the ambition or who still is in town Friday night, Fourth of July, and whose children belong to the PAL swimming program in Haledon, the answer is "yes, the program is still scheduled." Whether or not all the help needed will be available is not known. Seeing as Friday night is parent's night to go swimming with their children, maybe it would be a good idea to go with them that night, to make sure there's enough supervision.

Hawthorne fire chief Dominic Mele really is proud of the interborough fire drill held at the old United Piece Dye Works on Goffle Road and Wagaraw Road, Monday night. Ten volunteer fire companies from Hawthorne, North Haledon, Prospect Park, Haledon, East Paterson, Fair Lawn and Glen Rock participated. Neighboring chiefs attending were Edmund Newmann, East Paterson; Peter Van Der Jagt, Haledon; Robert Adams, Prospect Park; Harry Van Tol, Fair Lawn; Jerry Faber, Glen Rock and Robert Mott, North Haledon. Chief Mele and the board of fire commissioners expressed their appreciation to the over 150 firemen who joined in the drill.

East Paterson To Place Ban On Water Use

A ban on usage of water during the afternoons and early evening has gone into effect in East Paterson.

Mayor Yuhas said that sprinkling lawns, car washing and filling of wading pools will be forbidden during the hours of 12 noon and 8 p.m. daily.

The ban, the mayor said, is a precautionary measure to conserve water during the summer.

Fire Co. No. 1 Auxiliary Bus Ride to Asbury Park

Bus tickets are still available from Mrs. Myrtle Norman for the annual bus ride of the Ladies Auxiliary of Fire Company No. 1 to be held Wednesday, July 9. The bus will leave the Pompton Road Firehouse at 9 a.m. and leave Asbury Park at 9 p.m. Members and friends are urged to attend this jolly affair. Deadline for ticket reservations is Monday, July 7, so call Mrs. Norman at SHERwood 2-8824.

"Say, that's a pretty bad cold! Taking anything for it?" "Sure. Anything. Make me an offer!"

The country boy had been trying to propose to his girl a long time. Finally he got up the nerve to blurt out, "I'll betcha wouldn't marry me!"

She not only called his bet but raised him three.

"Of course, I'll get it for you darling . . . Stand away, while I kick the window in!"

UPTURN IN BUSINESS

A business upturn has begun in certain important areas, and the prospects are that it will keep on gathering steam. The forecast is based on specific existing signs.

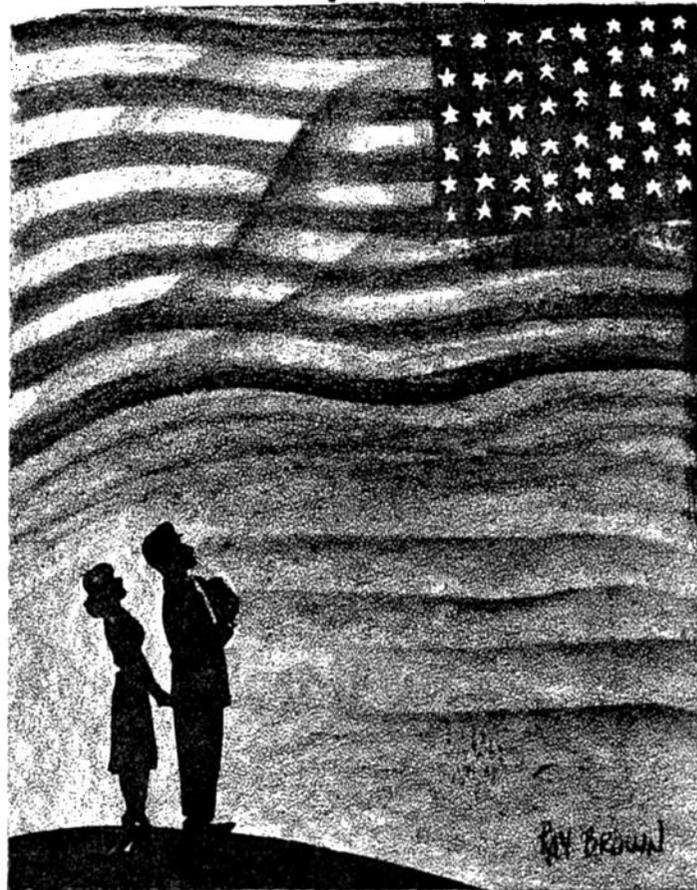

It should be added that a sudden upsurge in activity is not expected. Improvement will be gradual over the months ahead, and it will be much more marked in some fields of enterprise than in others. But strong forces in favor of recovery are now at work and they could lift the dollar volume of spending by the end of 1958.

The good signs range a fairly wide gamut. Steel production has at last risen. There are more new housing starts. Oil output is up slightly. Farm machinery sales have improved. Road building moves into high gear. A strong revival has brought smiles to the aircraft makers. A short time ago the stock market touched its highest 1958 level.

The big question, of course, is whether such gains as these will develop into a generalized upward trend. The report thinks they will for a number of reasons. For one thing, business is no longer carrying on major cuts in inventories and in some lines purchases are being stepped up. Government spending at all levels continues to increase. Money is cheaper and easier to borrow, both for individuals and for business. The gross national product (which is the value of all the goods and services we produce) ran at an annual rate of $422 billion in the first quarter of this year, while the second quarter rate has been about $426 billion. The rate for the last half of the year is expected to be $439 billion.

Actually, contrary to a widely held belief, the income available for spending has not materially declined during this recession. According to the report, wages and salaries have gone down by $7.5 billion a year. But there has been an increase of some $5 billion a year in other types of individual income — unemployment benefits, retirement benefits, retirement pay, old-age pensions. Farm prices recently reached the highest level in more than five years. As a consequence, what the economists call “disposable” income (the money consumers have left after taxes) has been down by only a slight percentage.

However, changes have appeared in the pattern of consumer spending. More of the money has gone for basic necessities, such as food and drugs, and for other non-durable goods. Less has been going for durable goods — notably automobiles. The report attributes this change to “the pressure of high living costs, the attitude of caution in taking on large debts, the lack of interest in present models of cars and appliances at present prices.” The hope is that an increase in public confidence as business in general improves, along with the offering of new models of cars and appliances, will gradually correct the imbalance in spending.

The Editor Speaks

VINCENT S. PARRILLO

Part of the Fourth of July weekend will be over by the time you start reading this and I hope you will all be healthy and happy to enjoy our Independence Day.

We now have something extra to shout about because we have our 49th State, Alaska, in our great Union.

When you read the headlines about the countries around the world that are struggling under the yoke of communist dictatorship, don't feel as though this were not related to our way of life, because they are struggling to gain the freedoms that we have had since our first Independence Day.

We had time on our side then. Transportation of war materials and information gathering services were slow. We could change our plans of attack before the news of our first plan could be sent back to the Mother Country. There were no airlifts to bring in supplies to the English troops. They were on foreign soil, far from home and probably only that fact kept them in the trenches, whereas our pioneers were fighting on their own land that they had helped to hew out of the forests.

The little nations now don't have time on their side. They have overwhelming odds to battle. A large “Mother” country that is vastly superior in wealth of arms and military personnel. They have neighbors who are not able to help them because they too have the same domination to contend with. These new countries, that really are old countries trying to re-establish their independence and their rights as free people with a country of their own to live and die for, must “grow up” over night as it were; they don't have the time to grow gradually as this nation of the United States had.

Think of that as you roast your weiners over the backyard barbecue, and be thankful that the only roar you hear will be that of fireworks at the firemen's field, or in the park. The only planes soaring overhead are the commercial airlines taking their cargoes of loved ones to visit their families, or start their vacations. Be thankful that the only death and destruction we have to fear this weekend is that havoc wrought on our highways.

QUESTION BOX

HALEDON —

Q. Has a definite date for Haledon to have a Fiftieth Anniversary parade been set?

A. No date has been definitely set as yet. If the majority of people in the borough indicate to the mayor and council that they would like to have money used for a parade, and that the citizens themselves would cooperate in the preparation, then there is a possibility that a parade could be arranged for the fall. No money was asked for by the anniversary committee specifically for a parade, and it was decided that it would be too costly to have refreshments available for all visitors appearing in the parade. A pageant, "Down Through the Years", put on by the pupils and teachers of Haledon's schools is scheduled for October 19, and that is the only event of the Fiftieth Anniversary celebration still planned.

There will be a parade on September 20, or in case of rain, September 27, sponsored by the Haledon Emergency Ambulance Association.

PATERSON—

A. To settle an argument in our house, which Paterson flood, the one of 1902 or the one of 1903, did the most damage?

A. The flood of the Passaic River in October 1903, caused $7,000,000 worth of damage, and caused the death of at least three people. The water reached a level which it had never reached before or since.

The flood in 1902 came just two months after the great fire swept the City of Paterson. The flood caused only $1,000,000 worth of damage and claimed no lives. However, many people remember this flood at the same time they remember the damage from the fire which makes them think it was the worst of the two.

Jersey Teachers Seek Higher Pay At Meeting

CLEVELAND, OHIO—A large pay boost for the nation's teachers will be urged by New Jersey delegates to the National Education Association convention.

The Jerseyans plan to propose a pay scale of $5,000 to $11,500 at the 96th annual meeting. The association last year approved a $5,000 to $11,500 scale asked by the New Jersey group.

John Sheps, president of the Newark Teachers Association, said the increase was necessary for a "truly professional scale for teachers.

"It would attract more and better young people to the profession," Sheps said, "and strengthen the country's educational system."

The proposal will be presented by Dr. James M. Lynch, Jr., vice president of the New Jersey Education Association and the State's representative on the NEA resolutions committee.

Last year's pay scale resolution was adopted over the objections of some delegates that naming specific salary goals was "unprofessional."

East Paterson Approves 22-Unit Development

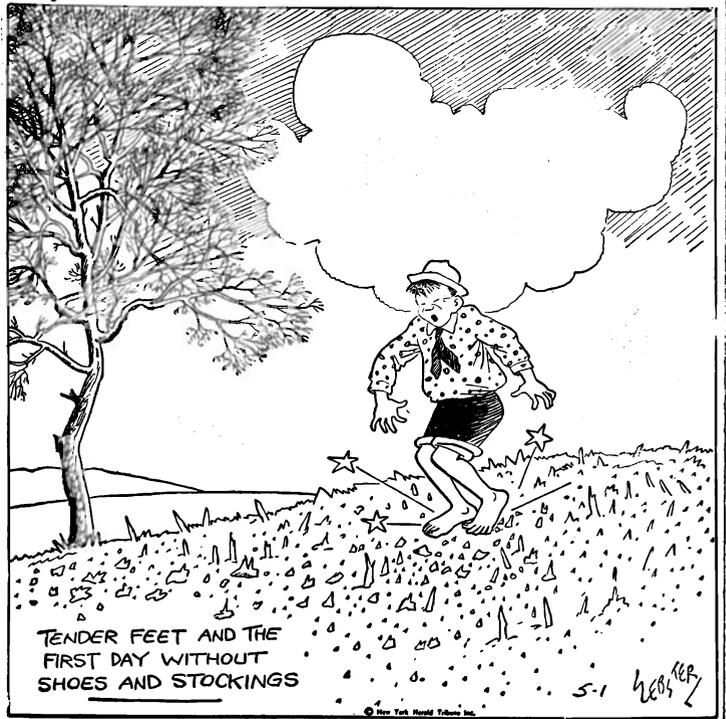

The East Paterson Borough Council granted a building permit to the Jarrel Building Corporation of Rutherford for the construction of 22 homes on Kipp Avenue, at a special meeting. The special meeting was called because the building firm option on the property expires July 3.

The matter was referred to the council by the building inspector. The tract lies in a light industrial zone.

R. Sery Nicosia, borough attorney, informed the council by letter that construction of one family homes is permissible in a light industrial zone.

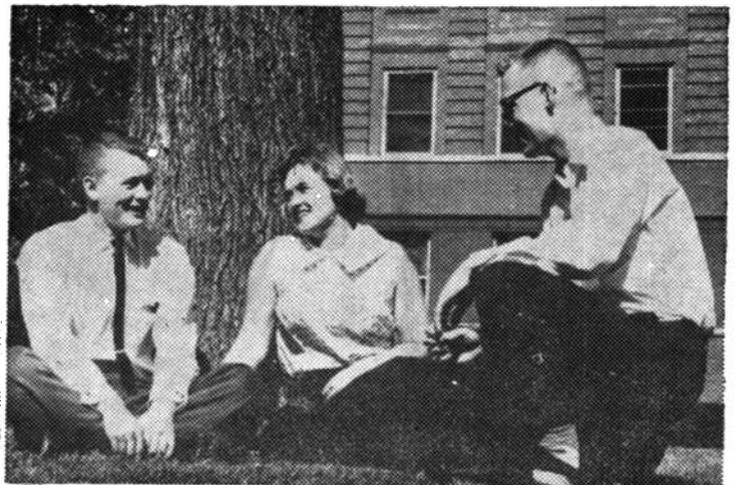

According to council the homes will be erected on a proposed extension of Kipp Avenue, running from the Susquehanna Railroad tracks to the Boulevard.

The council will require that the Jarrell Company pave the proposed extension and install utilities, water mains and drainage facilities under the supervision of the borough's engineer.

Seen here in this candid photo are Betsy von Furstenberg (left) as the defendant, Richard Derr as a witness (center) with their attorney during a recent trial for attempted murder which was held on the realistic series, "The Verdict Is Yours," which is now being broadcast in a one-hour nighttime version on Thursdays over the CBS Television Network.

The program will also continue its regular Monday thru Friday daytime schedule.

TRIPLE THREAT — Champaign, Ill. — Between classes, the Stark Family's triple assault on the citadels of higher learning pause to chat. Left to Right on the campus of the University of Illinois in Champaign, Ill., are: Fred Stark, 20, a Junior in pre-medicine; Dottie, 18, a Freshman, and Treasurer of the University Senate; and Tom, 22, a Senior in political science who plans to enroll in a Presbyterian seminary next fall.

"That's a darling hat," said the saleslady. "Really, when you put it on, madam, it makes you look ten years younger."

"Then I don't want it," snapped the customer. "I don't want to look ten years older every time I take it off."

Two women were discussing their husbands in that indulgent tone appropriate to the subject. "Henry is perfectly helpless without me," said one. "I don't know what would become of him if I went away for a week."

"John, too," sighed the other. "The way I have to look after that man! Why, whenever he sews on buttons or darns his socks, I always have to thread the needle for him."

Two Scotsmen visiting London were inspecting a large building when they noticed the cornerstone bearing the date in Roman capitals: MCMIV.

"There you are again," said one, "a brither Scot with his name on the biggest building in London. You canna' keep a guid man doon!"

In a beauty shop just the gossip alone would curl your hair.

"If I was a man I'd punch you on the nose — and so would my husband!"

Scout Season Closes With Court of Awards

FAIR LAWN— A recent Court of Awards completed activities of Girl Scout Troop 97 for the season. The affair was held in the Roosevelt School. Awards were presented by Miss Dora Goodbody, girl scout executive director for the Paterson area.

Education Ass'n Hits 'Average' Salary

FAIR LAWN — The quality of teachers in the local school system is threatened because of an "average" salary schedule, the Education Association has reported. The association is comprised of 300 educators in the school system. The majority of upper grade teachers, the Association said, is leaving the school system for higher paying teaching positions in other communities. It added that 20 to 30 teachers have not received salary increments over the past four years as they have reached the maximum in the salary scale.

The "poor increment and maximum salary schedule," the association said, affects new teachers as well as senior teachers.

Hartford Exhibit Invites New Jersey Firms

A plan to give assistance to the labor surplus areas through the display of contract opportunities has been inaugurated by the Department of the Navy, office of Navy materiel.

Edwin J. MacEwan, executive vice president of the Greater Paterson Chamber of Commerce has been invited by the Navy Department to visit the exhibit which will be held in the State Armory at Hartford, July 9 to 11, to represent the Industrial Defense Development Fund of North Jersey. MacEwan indicated this morning that he would attend the exhibit in Hartford on July 10 and 11.

He also suggests that any business men from the area who would like to attend this exhibit will be welcome. Those interested, should contact MacEwan immediately in order that he may get information and supply details to the Connecticut Development Commission.

This Commission is headed by a long-time friend of mine, Sidney Edwards, said MacEwan, and I am sure that every consideration will be given to Northern New Jersey industrialists who wish to participate.

The NEXT to the LAST WORD

By KALMAN PHILLIPS

People looked sideways at the tall deeply tanned young man threading his way through the crowds at the station. Jeff, conscious of their eyes, thought it was his civilian clothes. He must look strange in them. They felt so strange after so long.

His shoulders hunched slightly against a momentary flush of fever. Then he was out of the station, looking up at the sweet blue sky. The South Pacific was a long way from California — a bad dream away. Jeffrey Scott, medical discharge from the Army Air Force, was home.

His knees were a little shaky as he picked up the telephone in his hotel to call Karen. The fragile thread which had sustained him through eighteen months of fighting and for three delirium-ridden months in the hospital could be snapped too easily. He was probably a fool to think it hadn't been broken long ago.

They had fought over everything the night before he'd left. Their mutual apparent willingness to be sensible and not get married until after the war had touched the whole thing off.

After the preliminary skirmishing they'd really unleashed their heavy guns, and she ter that was probably just a remnant of his fever delirium.

Jeff recognized her voice on the telephone. He tried to hold his own steady.

"Karen? This is Jeff."

"Who . . . Jeff!" Her laugh was quick — excited. "You — you long lost voice from the past! Whatever happened to you? Why didn't you write?"

"Didn't think you wanted me to."

There was a pause.

"Jeff, you're a fool! On furlough?"

"I'm out. Medical discharge . . . malaria."

"Come over."

Karen walked slowly back into the living room. Her father looked up from his book. He stared at her.

"Whatever happened?"

"What do you mean?"

"That dreamy expression. I haven't seen you looking like that since you stopped being engaged to that Jeffrey Scott. By the way, what became of him?"

"That was Jeff on the phone. He's back."

His book shut. "Complications. What about Harvey?"

"What has Jeff to do with Harvey?"

"A girl can't become engaged to one man when she comes away from a telephone conversation with another looking the way you do. You told me last night you'd finally decided—"

"That was last night," Karen left the room.

Jeff swallowed as the door opened. The level-eyed girl standing there had been his fox-hole and cockpit vision through all the long months at the front.

Funny how anger and pride could make you shut yourself off from everything you wanted most in the world.

"Hello, Karen."

"Jeff! I—I'm so glad you're back."

Kissing her again was worth more than shooting down a flock Zeros. It was a long while before he reached for the poker to stir the smouldering fire back to life.

Her voice was dreamy. "We'll get a little house with a big shade tree in front. We'll have a barbecue out in back, Jeff . . . and an outdoor swimming pool."

He shook his head. "No pool. Cost too much to heat."

"They haven't put a meter on the sun, have they?"

"You're thinking in terms of California. They have snow and ice in Connecticut in the winter time. A pool would be impractical."

She blinked. "Who said I wanted to live in Connecticut?"

"Don't you?"

"Definitely not. Why I — I love it here, Jeff. I wouldn't ever want to love anywhere else. I couldn't be happy."

His eyes seemed confused. "You're sure? I mean, you could ski and skate — have white Christmases and sleigh-bells and snow outside and us snug and warm and happy in front if a roaring fire roasting chestnuts."

"It's all too real. Sniffles. Frozen toes. Wolves howling."

"They don't have wolves in Connecticut. You're thinking of Siberia."

"That's how I'd feel — exiled to Siberia. Our friends couldn't ever come to see us."

"Oh," Jeff rose listlessly. "I didn't realize where you lived meant so very much to you. Good-bye, Karen."

He seemed to waver for a moment. Then he turned and slowly walked out.

Karen stared at the closed door. It was impossible. They'd done it again . . . parted forever. Suddenly, she leaned against the pillow, sobbing miserably.

"What's wrong, child?" Her father was in the doorway.

She buried her face deeper.

"Jeff's going away again."

"Isn't that natural, dear? You don't get very long vacations in the Army."

"He's out of the Army . . . had malaria. But I won't see him any more anyway. He's just a selfish opinionated man, and I hate him. He's gone crazy suddenly about snow and ice . . . wanted me to live in Connecticut."

"What did you say?"

"That I love it here, of course. He—he wouldn't even give any real reason for going except roasting chestnuts and listen to the wolves howling."

"Oh-oh," Her father wriggled. "Well, we'd better start getting you some warm clothes for those New England breezes."

"Have you gone crazy, too? Would you live there?"

"If I had malaria. It hangs on in warm climates. He's undoubtedly had strict orders from his doctors to get up north and stay there. Of course, if you prefer the climate to the man . . ."

The tiny flakes of snow drifting past the windows of the train made her feel warm inside. "You know," she murmured thoughtfully to Jeff, "it isn't the being exiled that matters, it's with whom. This is going to be fun. I've never seen a wolf."

Jeff groaned.

"Not Siberia. Connecticut, Remember?"

"Does it matter?"

Jeff drew her a bit closer. It didn't at all.

AMERICAN HISTORY

—BY WILLIAM BRODIE

CONFEDERATE HIGH TIDE

The roar of cannon announced the beginning of the third day of battle as the dawn came up over the village of Gettysburg in southern Pennsylvania on the morning of July 3, 1863. More than 160,000 men of General Robert E. Lee's Confederate army and General Gordon Meade's Union army had been locked in terrific battle here for two days. Thousands of brave men had fallen over the hills and valleys surrounding Gettysburg without any advantage gained by either side.

Now at daylight of the third day the Union cannon opened fire on Culp's Hill, lost the day before. After four hours of bombardment the hill was recaptured. The Union lines were now back to their original position, with their strong center on Cemetery Ridge, opposite the Confederate center on Seminary Ridge.

After the recapture of Culp's Hill on the morning of July 3 a deep quiet came over the battlefield. It was like the calm before a storm. At one o'clock in the afternoon the silence was suddenly broken by an awful bombardment from the 150 cannon that Lee had massed on Seminary Ridge. The whole crest of the ridge seemed to be on fire with the heaviest cannonading ever known on the American continent. The Union cannon on Cemetery Ridge roared back. The hills seemed to be shaking.

The Confederate cannon stopped firing after two hours, and fifteen thousand picked fresh troops who had been assembled under cover of the woods near Seminary Ridge, charged out across the mile wide open field toward the Union lines on Cemetery Ridge. They were commanded by handsome, dashing General George Pickett.

General James Longstreet, to whose corps these picked men belonged, had opposed the attack, believing it would mean only useless slaughter. But Lee overruled him. It is said that when Pickett asked final permission before beginning the charge, Longstreet could not speak. He only nodded his head and burst into tears.

For half the distance across the open field the long column of Pickett's men marched gaily with flags flying and bayonets glittering in the sunshine. Then the Union cannon opened up and tore the advancing ranks with exploding shells. The gray lines reformed and swept on leaving the dead and wounded behind.

Within rifle range the Union infantry poured in a deadly fire. The thinning gray ranks returned volley after volley and quickened their pace. They rushed up to the mouths of the cannon, to the stone wall where the Union Infantry crouched and fired. One of the Confederate leaders, General Armistead, leaped upon the wall, waving his hat on a sword. But now there were too few gray figures to follow him. Armistead was shot down and the rest of the Confederates who reached the stone wall, battling like tigers, were halted in a swirl of savage hand-to-hand fighting. It was the end of the charge.

Pickett's men had gone into a death trap. Great numbers of them fell on the field, some were captured, and the beaten and tired survivors straggled back to their lines on Seminary Ridge. The battle of Gettysburg was over. Here had come the Confederate high tide. And, as the pitiful remnants of Pickett's brave men fell back across the bloody field, the tide of the Confederate cause receded with them, forever.
