Mid-Atlantic States Catholic Leadership Institute Opens Feb. 1 In Paterson

Outstanding priests and lay leaders from Roman Catholic archdioceses in the East will conduct a series of workshops at the Mid-Atlantic States Leadership Institute February 1, at the Alexander Hamilton Hotel. Paterson Council 240, Knights of Columbus, will handle registration for the Institute.

More than 400 are expected at the institute which is being sponsored by the National Council of Catholic Men at the invitation of Bishop James McNulty. Bishop McNulty will preside and deliver the keynote address. The program will open at 9:30 a.m. and will close with a banquet at 6:00 p.m.

Msgr. JOSEPH M. O'SULLIVAN
DCCM Moderator

Plans for the institute have been laid by a committee of the Paterson Council of Catholic Men under the leadership of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph M. O'Sullivan, William F. Johnson, KSG, of Pompton Lakes, secretary of the NCCM, is general chairman.

A number of archbishops and bishops will attend. Some of these bishops will act as moderators at the workshop sessions.

The purpose of the institute is to assist in the formation of Catholic men as lay apostles and to make them more responsible and effective leaders in their organizations.

The participating dioceses include Newark, Trenton, Brooklyn, Scranton and Washington. These dioceses are currently taking part in the widening program of the NCCM.

Diocesan moderators, officers, Committee chairmen, county and district officers have been invited to the one day meeting.

These key men will take part in workshops dealing with organization, programs, decency in print, family life, legislation, youth activities, labor management relations, religious instruction and many other phases of Catholic Action.

Theme of the institute will be "The Layman in the Crisis of the Modern World: Responsibilities and Training".

NCCM officers and members of the national staff will be at the hotel to conduct some of the specialized meetings and to lend their experience to the whole institute.

The accent will be on practical learning through small informal workshops and brief talks.

The workshops will be run in series of six at various times throughout the day. There will be two general sessions.

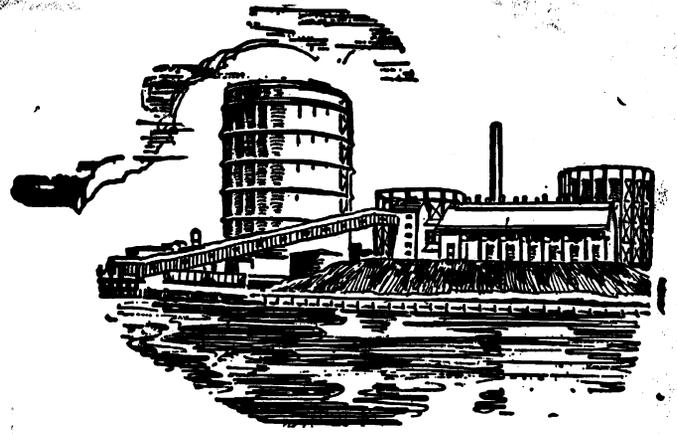

Among other things, participants will learn what the lay apostle is and why it is important to the Church. They will find answers to many of their questions about the Council of Men, such as how to use the federation for Catholic Action purposes, how to make the program committee system function, how to develop plan and carry out programs.

Advance registration may be made by contacting any one of the following: Grand Knight, George Bellin, Chairman, PGK, Arthur Strangeway, DGK, Joseph Palladino, Joseph Barbary or John Gill.

COVER PICTURE:

State Senator and Mrs. A. J. Grossi pay respects at the recent tribute to Freeholder Frank X. Graves which produced an unprecedented outpouring of the likes of which has seldom been seen. People from all occupations, businesses and professions came to pay their respects to a friend. We can think of no finer tribute to Freeholder Graves than the "friendship" expressed by more than 1,200 people who attended the social event. Political leaders of both major parties sat side by side with equal pride as they proclaimed their common "friendship" for the guest of honor. The Chronicle extends every best wish to Freeholder Graves and the members of his family.

IT'S AN OLD JAPANESE CUSTOM — Tokyo, Japan — One of the annual Japanese events in January is swimming across the Edo River in the near-freezing water. Here five girls perform the Japanese "Kasa" (Umbrella Dance) in the water while young and old await their turn to swim.

AFTER THE DELUGE IN NEW JERSEY — Oakland, N.J. — Yesterday's torrential rain over a large area of the eastern seaboard left a lot of damp misery around. Here's a view of Park Drive in the Colony Section of Oakland as waters of the Ramapo River turned the street into a waterway. Many homes were isolated by the flood waters

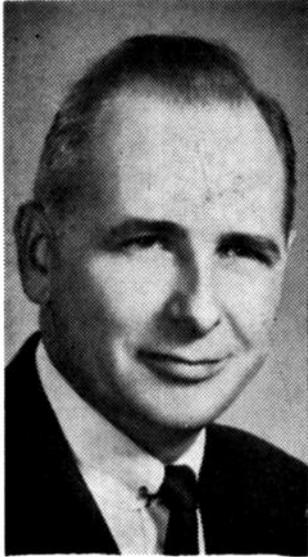

KHRUSHY'S SPUTNIK HAS REALLY GONE TO HIS HEAD — Bellflower, Cal. — The U. Richard S. Felton, manager of the Installment Loan Department, and Robert G. Champney, supervisor of the Bookkeeping

The promotions were part of the Broadway Bank's policy of advancing its competent employees, said Nathaniel Kent, chairman of the board.

A WEBSITF CLASSIC

SUBURBAN

Carmen Tarantino, now a resident of Totowa Borough, didn't do too well at the Board of Education's public hearing on its proposed budget. His objection was to a $900 item in a $444,535 budget, earmarked as expense and travel for a 9-member board when and if they attend conventions and workshops dealing with education. He could have questioned the need for another principal in the two-school system. Or the $8,000 for book replacement. Text books last more than a year unless the kids eat them.

Saul Mann, Haledon Borough Attorney, will be replaced Monday at a special meeting of the council. His successor will be Joseph Fumagalli, spearhead of the group which has stripped Mayor David Brown of virtually all appointive powers. History has the un-failing habit of repeating

What motivated James Grieg and Charles Whiteman to withdraw from the Hawthorne school board election? It is too high a price for children to pay when two such valuable men have to be sacrificed by those who engage in political skulduggery.

And — watch for the sure win of Mrs. Bonnie Barbieri, who was definitely cut out to make her mark in the field of education. A dynamic lady, Mrs. Barbieri will add to the stature of the school board.

Felix Liberti, Totowa councilman, and the man most likely to succeed Mayor "Joe" Ryan, is slated to speak at a San Francisco convention of chemical engineers outlining new and improved formulae he has developed. Another of several theses on the subject, (unpronounceable to us) Liberti will be honored for his brilliant contributions in the field of chemistry.

His itinerary includes stops in Florida, California, Illinois and later Europe.

It appears that the Totowa school board budget of $444,535.50 will meet with stiff public opposition. Opponents claim at least $40,000 could be trimmed without any loss to children, teachers or borough residents who face the job of paying the freight.

It has been said the Totowa school board purchases fuel oil without submitting the item to public bids. The oil is delivered by Sam Braen and Sons where the board secretary is employed. Is this proper practice? Perhaps there is no connection, but it doesn't seem quite kosher.

William Lenk, oldest living past president of the Paterson Veterans Council, will install Ben Turco as president, as well as the entire slate of the organization's new officers next Saturday. Lenk is a prominent resident of North Haledon.

For the past six weeks, people have been waiting for some alert municipal employe to notice the hanging globe in front of the Municipal Building in Hawthorne. It looks as though a little prodding is needed in this matter.

Eric Graupe of Clifton, was named Grand Marshal of the 1958 Memorial Day Parade. Graupe, most deserving of this honor, has been long overdue, having devoted more than 30 years to veterans' causes in this area.

Salvatore Rubino, who lost by 23 votes in the 1957 Board of Education election in Fair Lawn, is staging another campaign and is being given a good chance of snaring a board seat . . . many residents would like to see Rubino on the board with Mrs. Eleanor Numark, another independent candidate.

The indictments against the Fair Lawn officials seems to have left a few of the boys holding the well-known satchel.

TANK HELPS IN ITS OWN MOVING JOB — Milton, Pa. — En route from Milton, where it was built by the Advanced Products Division of ACF Industries, to Saranac Lake, N.Y., this 30,000-gallon storage tank for high-pressure gas occupies a special rig in which the tank acts as its own truck bed. The rig has only cables connecting the rear dolly and forward cradle on which the tank rests. Because of all the space it takes up on the highway, the rig and tank move only on prescribed routes in daylight hours and in good weather.

HOW TO HAIL THE TRIUMPH OVER POLIO

A new kind of celebration is in full swing in this country. This month thousands of communities in every part of the land are observing the 20th anniversary of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. It was National Foundation leadership and National Foundation money, provided through the annual March of Dimes, that made possible the Salk vaccine and the hope that polio epidemics eventually will be eliminated forever in America.

Think what that means! No more mass imprisonment in iron lungs each summer; no more shriveled arms, legs, hands; no more dread in the hearts of millions of parents each time their children come home with "the symptoms."

The best way to celebrate a blessing like this is to show our gratitude. And the best way to be grateful for the Salk vaccine is to think about the blighted lives of those for whom it has come too late and to do what we can to wipe out or relieve their helplessness. There are, in America, some 100,000 boys and girls, young men and women, who have had polio and who need further rehabilitation.

These people can benefit, some of them tremendously, if modern techniques of rehabilitation are applied to their disability. It is the purpose of the March of Dimes to finance the care they need. The cost will run to many millions. And the March of Dimes looks to us — to every one of us — to give what we can toward this wonderful objective.

Let's not forget those who were not as lucky as we. Let's remember, as the March of Dimes puts it, that "Survival Is Not Enough". Let's give!

Senator McClellan of Arkansas says: "I know that talk about eliminating extravagance, waste and nonessential expenditures in government is an old, old theme. It is something about which we have talked a lot but about which we have done very little.

"If we are to meet the challenge of world dangers that threaten our survival, it is imperative that we maintain sound fiscal policies and keep our economy strong."

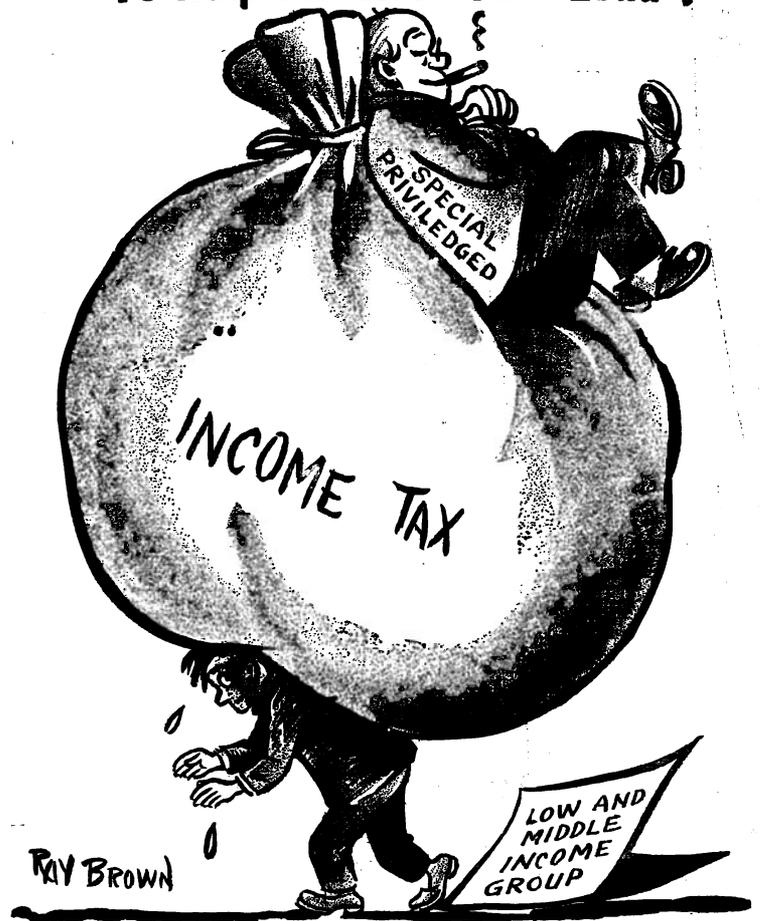

THE FAILURES OF COMMUNISM

Although the Communists have preached brotherhood, in practice they have murdered many millions of innocent people. Although the Communists have praised absolute equality they have established absolute despotism. Although the Communists have aped Christian charity in words, they have resorted to theft and confiscation in actuality. Although the Communists have promised Utopia, they have delivered whole nations to mortal torment. Although they have talked unendingly of peace, they have thriven by war."

Communism is a philosophy of pure materialism. Yet Communism in practice has miserably failed to better the material living standards of the people.

It takes a Russian factory worker 306 hours and 35 minutes to earn enough money to buy himself a suit — the American factory worker can earn the suit in 22 hours and 9 minutes. It takes that Russian worker 18 minutes to earn the price of a cake of soap, as against 3 minutes for the American. It takes the Russian 3 hours and 23 minutes to make enough to buy a pound of butter; in our factories the figure is minutes. So it goes, down the roster of practically everything in ordinary use.

Where's That Fellow Who's Supposed To Help Me With This Load ?

The Editor Speaks

VINCENT S. PARRILLO

What is causing this increase in juvenile crime? Children are not born criminals. In my opinion a child starts life with a clean slate. It is what parents write on this slate that forms the child's character.

It is the church that puts character into a mold and forms the shell that holds the teachings together.

I would like to ask parents, teachers, clergymen one question "What have you done to acquaint children with things that are different from what they were fifty years ago?"

What are you doing NOW — to acquaint that child with the dangers that confront it in this fast moving century?"

Are you twentieth century parents, teachers, preachers, or do you stick to old-fashioned ideas YOU were taught in times when there were no fast automobiles, when cocktail parties were "afternoon tea", when marihuana was just a weed, when television was still unknown?

Why is it parents, teachers and clergymen, don't say, "This immorality MUST end! We have had enough of it."

Wherever you look there is TEMPTATION. What are you doing to teach the young to resist temptation?

Do you expect them to find out themselves, that stealing, carousing, violence, rape, and other sorts of immorality are BAD? How can they, when they see them glorified and nobody tells them the TRUTHS of life?

Where would YOU be, Mrs. Mother and Mr. Father, if YOUR parents, your teachers, your clergymen had not led you into the paths of righteousness?

Or is it because too many of them didn't that there is so much more crime and immorality rampant today?

Let's Talk

Politics

—by O J A Y

The opinions expressed in this column are exclusively those of the writer and do not necessarily reflect the policy and opinion of The Chronicle.

If there was ever any question about Governor Meyner's courage and ability to make decisions on his own it was dispelled last week when he refused to accede to requests of State Senator Anthony Grossi and Paterson Mayor Edward O'Byrne in the matter of replacing Charles Joelson as Passaic County prosecutor.

had counted on the Governor's high regard for John Thevos to effect the switch but the answer was "no", and in no uncertain terms, we understand.

Despite a resounding party victory here, the Governor seems to be motivated only by an intense desire to give New Jersey good government, and he is going about it in his own way, despite pressure from Passaic County.

Meyner is not taking any chances on dimming his hopes of becoming president by a deviation from his policies in Passaic and other counties.

Perhaps things will be different after the April rains when Democrats and Republicans select new organization leaders. Discounting rumors, there will be little change in GOP circles. But

COMM. LOUIS AQUINO

Democrats, among other minor changes, will select a new city leader to replace Senator Grossi. A number of candidates have been advanced but the mantle will be placed on the shoulders of Police Commissioner Louis Aquino.

Aquino has the dignity, temperament and "savior faire" to capably discharge the arduous responsibilities of the post. That his ability is recognized is reflected in the support and acceptance by a majority of ward and district leaders.

Aquino also has the happy faculty of being able to make friends easily. This factor can result in a greater unification, city and county wise, of the several dissident groups which are threatening the organization.

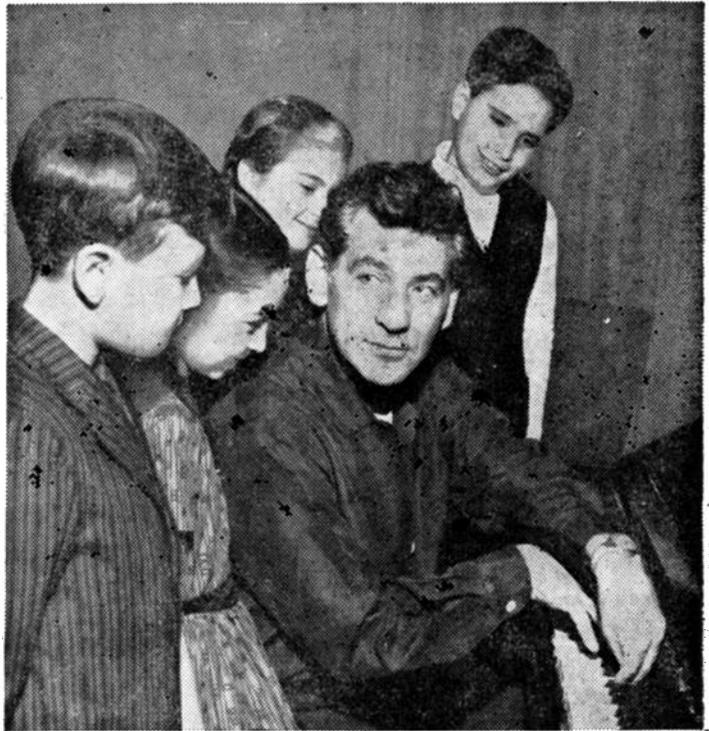

As police commissioner, he has done a good job. And while he has made some mistakes, (and who hasn't) all of them can be classified under the heading of a desire to produce the best possible results or the city and its citizens.

In any case, Aquino's assumption to the city leadership will be a decided relief for Grossi and permit him more time to the studies and duties in his role as senator.

Meanwhile, quiet move in other quarters indicate a Michael DeVita - Carmine Tarantino coalition to spearhead a fusion slate in the November general election.

It is doubtful whether such activity can gain sufficient momentum to pose any real threat to either political party.

Young People's Concert, Feb. 1

Leonard Bernstein, who conducts the New York Philharmonic Young People's Concert on CBS Television, Saturday, Feb. 1, illustrates a musical point for the benefit of a group of youthful admirers during rehearsals for the special program. On this second hour-long concert in a series of four, Mr. Bernstein and the orchestra take up the question, "What Is American Music?"

IN BOB'S PAST—Doris Wiss portrays the World War II Italian girlfriend of Bob Collins (Bob Cummings) and his pilot pal Paul Fonda (Lyle Talbot). She appears in two episodes of "The Bob Cummings Show" — "Bob's Italian Past" and "Bob's Italian Past Moves In" — to be seen on NBC-TV Tuesdays, Feb. 11 and 18, respectively.

The Top 10 juke box tunes as listed in the February 1st issue of Cash Box are: "At The Hop", by Danny and The Juniors; "Rounchy", by Bill Justis - Ernie Freeman; "Great Balls of Fire", by Jerry Lee Lewis; "Peggy Sue," by Buddy Holly; "The Stroll", by Diamonds; "April Love", by Pat Boone; "Stood Up," by Ricky Nelson; "Kisses Sweeter Than Wine," by Jimmie Rodgers; "You Send Me," by Sam Cooke; "La Dee Dah", by Billy Ford's Thunderbirds.

FIRST HIT PARADE — "Number 1 on Your Hit Parade" became a new phrase in the American language after the show's radio debut April 20, 1935. On that first boardcast, the number 1 song was "Soon" and it was sung by Gogo DeLys, the Virginia Gibson of the 30's. Lennie Hayton, popular orchestra leader and recording artist, was the first conductor.

New York born Barry Sullivan, who stars as the barbourmaster on ABC-TV's "Adventure at Scott Island", is the seventh son of a seventh son of an Irishman.

Donald Duck, featured on ABC-TV's "Disneyland" and "Mickey Mouse Club," is 24 years old — having been born in 1934.

Lewrence Welk, Jr., 17, has been asking his dad for months to get him an autographed picture of Jim Garner whose ABC-TV "Maverick" series is filmed in Burbank, Calif., near the ABC Television Center in Hollywood, where Lawrence Welk's two shows originate.

Today, young Welk has the signed photo of his hero, but only after Dad journeyed 3,000 miles to New York and corralled the western star at a party in the Waldorf-Astoria's Empire Room.

Welk and officers of the Dodge Division of the Chrysler Corp., were honor guests of ABC-TV following Welk's first New York telecast. Garner, also on a brief eastern trip, arrived with Miiki Taka, his co-star in the film "Sayonara." The Campagne Music Master immediately nailed his neighbor for his son's trophy.

Q: "Can you tell me Pat Boone's real name?" — Cecil R.
A: "His real name is Pat Boone."

THE GOOD OLE' U.S.A.

While commenting on the international political mud-slinging these past months, a friend of ours back from occupation duty in Germany thought this story would give us pause to be a bit happier we're in the States despite the victor.

Seems three prisoners in a Russian work camp were talking:

The first asked, "Why are you here?" His co-prisoner replied, "I was for Slansky. Why are you here?" The first said, "I was against Slansky." They then turned to the third and asked, "Why are you here?" He confessed, "I'm Slansky."

Mrs. Newlywed: "Norval, my dear, I know something is troubling you; and I want you to tell me what it is. Your worries are our worries now."

Mr. Newlywed: "Well, dear, we've just had a letter from a girl in Boston; and she's suing us for breach of promise."

Missionary: "Why do you look at me so intently?"

Cannibal: "I am the food inspector."

"Sam stopped looking at television ages ago, but he still loves to turn off the commercials."

Russian boys and girls even in the first 10 grades of school put in more than 35 per cent of their time on science and mathematics. By way of contrast, during 1956 only 34.4 per cent of all high school students took chemistry; 24.5 per cent took physics; 9.2 per cent took trigonometry, and 7.6 per cent took solid geometry.

"What we must do . . . is to answer the Communists with truth and clarity on every intellectual level. We must point out that government ownership and operation are grossly inefficient; that socialism does not create wealth but impoverishment; that dialectic materialism is nonsense; that the whole class-struggle argument is false; that workers and managers, employees and employers, are essentially cooperators in production; that the whole system of private capitalism is a marvelous system of social cooperation."

American parents believe higher pay for teachers is more important than improved buildings and facilities.

The Tax Foundation finds that in every year but one between 1946 and 1956 consumers spent more to support government than they spent for food.

Leading economists now admit, "A mild business recession definitely is under way and no upturn is likely before late 1958."

The Journal of the American Medical Association recommends that polio shots be given infants as young as two months. In 1956, attack rates of paralytic polio were highest in one-year-old children and the largest proportion of cases occurred in the under-five-year age group.

"It is obvious that competition in all lines is growing keener. This puts a new premium on good selling, good public relations and a keen analysis of the market in which we operate."

LOVE APPLES

By DAISY DREXEL 1

THE three-year-old feud between Melissa Caruthers and Uncle Billy Winters, which had its beginning in good natured rivalry, had ripened into an all out offensive. Funny, how a little thing like the growing of tomatoes could have caused such a caustic exchange of monosyllables between two friends.

The close proximity of Melissa's spick little cottage behind the white picket fence to the equally spick cottage of Uncle Billy didn't help matters any either. It was a constant reminder to Melissa, having Uncle Billy under her nose like that, of her failure. They were to have been married in the Summer of 1940, but Uncle Billy laughingly told Melissa that he wouldn't marry her until she could grow tomatoes equally fine as the ones he grew.

Silly? Of course it was, downright silly, but Melissa took up the challenge and set to work. She prepared the soil with a fine hand and set her plants out lovingly. But that first year her tomato plants were a sorry sight to see.

Melissa wasn't one to give up easily so she kept trying. The next year she got the most expensive plants she could buy and read up on how to cultivate them but Uncle Billy's bore first—and best.

Uncle Billy got cocky somewhere along the way. Two years passed and still Melissa's tomatoes didn't come up to his standard. So Melissa kept right on teaching school and Uncle Billy kept right on growing prize tomatoes.

In the Spring of 1943 Melissa got panicky. She wasn't getting any younger. In fact, she was crowding 40 and she decided that it was this year or never.

It was one of those fine days in early Spring when the air is full of growing magic and the earth smells like a planter's paradise, that Melissa became inspired. Maybe the good Lord took pity on her, for the seeds she sowed that day bore fruit.

Uncle Billy was across the fence watching her out of the corner of his eye but she ignored him completely. He stood it as long as he and then he came to the fence

"Seems like you're power-of late, Lissy, what's eatin' you? Seems like something's come between us."

"Nothing's come between us," Melissa said testily. "Nothing that a little of God's sunshine and rain won't remedy," and her blue eyes sparkled. "This is the year, Billy, I feel it here," and she placed her hand over her heart dramatically.

"The year for what?" Uncle Billy asked. As if he didn't know!

"Tomatoes!" shrilled Melissa.

"Oh, them," said Billy scratching his chin. "Plumb forgot about tomatoes—besides it's too early to set plants. Don't tell me that you're going to try to raise your own plants this year!" He eyed the cold frame with suspicion.

"It's a new variety," said Melissa secretively. "No reason I can't raise my own plants if you can."

Uncle Billy only said, "Hrmp!" and turned back to his garden.

Very soon it was time to set tomato plants. Uncle Billy never knew when Melissa set hers because she transplanted them the week end he went to Lincoln and by the time he returned her plants were sturdy and erect and high.

The following Monday morning Uncle Billy was in his garden setting his tomato plants. He'd never told Melissa about that hot house in Lincoln. That was his secret. He chuckled to himself and then he walked to the fence between his place and Melissa's. He stared, adjusted his bi-focals and stared again.

Melissa opened her back door. "Hello, Will," she said cheerily. "Have a nice trip?"

"Good enough," Uncle Billy said. "Well, I must say, it didn't improve your disposition any."

Uncle Billy ignored her remark as he pointed with trembling finger at the tomato plants. "Who sold you those plants?" he shouted.

"Why, no one," said Melissa. "I grew them from seed."

"Rot! You never did it before. It's not possible!" roared Uncle Billy. "And they're ahead of mine this year!"

"So you doubt my word," said Melissa. "Well, I might have expected it," and she turned away.

For several weeks Uncle Billy never once spoke to Melissa and the spring went out of her step.

When the green tomatoes began to set on the vines Melissa swallowed her pride and broke the silence that had stood like a wall between she and Uncle Billy. She walked gaily to the fence one evening and called, "How's your disposition today, Will? Can you stand a shock?"

Uncle Billy was staking his tomato plants but he stopped and drew himself up to his full six feet. "Shock! What have you been up to now, Melissa? You'll be tellin' me next that you've got ripe tomatoes on those fake vines of yours."

"That's just what I have, Will," said Melissa softly.

Uncle Billy strode to the fence. There before his eyes hung tomatoes such as he had not seen outside a hot house. His eyes bulged. But instead of being glad he was like a spoiled boy. He spluttered, turned on his heel and walked away.

Melissa just sat down on the bench outside the garden gate and cried and cried. She must have been saving her tears for three disappointed Springs for the sun went down and she still sat on.

After awhile the little gate between the two houses opened and Uncle Billy came through carrying a basket. He said, "I've been watchin' you, Lissy, and you didn't go in for supper so I thought you'd share some of mine."

Melissa's face cleared like the sky after an April shower and she said softly, "Oh, Billy, you shouldn't. But let's go inside."

"No, it's a picnic out here to celebrate," said Uncle Billy.

"Celebrate what?" asked Melissa shyly.

"Our marriage!" said Uncle Billy. "You finally did it. I'd begun to think that you'd never catch on to how I grew tomatoes," and he kissed her sq.

As Melissa the sweetness of Uncle Billy's kiss she hoped that it wouldn't make any difference to him if he ever found out that she'd pinned those hot house tomatoes on the vines with safety pins

BY WILLIAM BRODIE

UNITED STATES LEAVES THE GOLD STANDARD

A "golden age" ended in the United States on January 31, 1934. At three o'clock in the afternoon of that day President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed a proclamation which devalued the American dollar in its relationship to gold.

The day before, on January 30, 1934, Congress passed the Gold Reserve Act compelling the Federal Reserve Banks to surrender their gold to the U. S. Treasury. Furthermore, the Gold Reserve Act directed the President to devalue the dollar by fixing the weight of the gold dollar between 50 and 60 percent of its former weight.

President Roosevelt acted promptly under the new authority given to him by Congress and the very next day after the Gold Reserve Act was passed he devalued the gold dollar to 59.06 cents. It was an inflationary move, planned to raise the price level of that depression period.

The move to abandon the gold standard began early in 1933. On March 11, 1933 President Roosevelt ordered a stop on the export of gold. On April 5th of that year his executive order directed all holders of gold, whether in the form of coin, bullion, or gold certificates, to turn it all over to the Federal Reserve Banks in exchange for other forms of money.

Then on June 3, 1933 Congress repealed the "gold clause." Anyone who had a financial contract that called for getting paid in gold, could now be paid off in any currency that was legal at the time. A great protest arose from the holders of such gold clause payment contracts. They claimed breach of contract. They were bitter. But there was to be no more payment in gold to them.

The gold standard was now a precious relic of the past.

Under the Gold Reserve Act the President reduced the fine weight of the gold dollar from 25.8 grains to 15.5/21 grains (a grain here is traditionally derived from the weight of a grain of wheat). This was done by announcing that the U. S. Government would now pay a new price of $35 an ounce for gold, instead of the old price of $20.67. This was in effect a reduction in the value of the gold dollar to 59.06 cents.

With gold revalued, it was also nationalized by Congress. The Federal Reserve Banks were ordered to turn their gold over to the U. S. Treasury. The banks got gold certificates in return to be used as reserves against deposits and their own notes. The U. S. Treasury got a bookkeeping profit of $2.8 billion on the deal. Of this "profit" $2 billion was put into an Exchange Stabilization Fund with which to stabilize the dollar. And the American people got a 59 cent dollar.

We must remember that the devaluation of the dollar was a "mild" inflationary measure whose purpose was to raise prices during a severe depression. Instead of printing paper money, the Government raised the price of gold, cutting the dollar's value by 40 percent. No longer was it possible to get "a dollar's worth of gold for a dollar at the treasury." There was much grumbling and criticism about the new "59 cent dollar," or the "baloney dollar," as some critics called the devalued dollar. But all to no avail. The American gold standard had departed with a stroke of a Presidential pen.
