COVER PICTURE:

The Three Wise Men — Balthazar, Kaspar and Melchior — were among the first to worship Him . . . Today, twenty centuries later, He will be worshipped the world over, come this Christmas Morn. And when we go to church, during the Yuletide, let us meditate soundly upon His teachings of tolerance and understanding, that the days ahead may bear the fruits of happiness and good fortune for each and every one of us. The Chronicle Staff wishes you a Very Merry Christmas.

Christmas Carols

AWAY IN A MANGER

Away in a manger, no crib for a bed,
The little Lord Jesus laid down His sweet head;
The stars in the sky, looking down
where He lay,
The little Lord Jesus, asleep on the hay.

The cattle are lowing, the poor Baby
wakes,
But little Lord Jesus, no crying he makes;
I love Thee, Lord Jesus! look down
from the sky,
And stay by my cradle till morning is nigh.

Be near me, Lord Jesus, I ask Thee to stay
Close by me for ever and love me,
I pray;
Bless all the dear children in Thy tender care,
And take us to heaven, to live with Thee, there.

JOY TO THE WORLD

Joy to the world! the Lord is come:
Let earth receive her King;
Let every heart prepare Him room,
And heaven and nature sing,
And heaven and nature sing,
And heaven, and heaven and nature sing.

Joy to the world! the Saviour reigns:
Let men their songs employ;
While fields and floods, rocks, hills
and plains,
Repeat the sounding joy,
Repeat the sounding joy,
Repeat, repeat the sounding joy.

No more let sin and sorrow grow,
Nor thorns infest the ground;
He comes to make His blessings flow
Far as the curse is found,
Far as the curse is found,
Far as, far as the curse is found.

THE FIRST NOEL

The first Noel the angel did say
Was to certain poor shepherds in fields as they lay;
In fields where they lay keeping their sheep
On a cold winter's night that was so deep.

Noel, Noel, Noel, Noel,
Born is the King of Israel.

They looked up and saw a Star
Shining in the East, beyond them far,

And to the earth it gave great light,
And so it continued both day and night.

Noel, Noel, Noel, Noel,
Born is the King of Israel.

O COME, ALL YE FAITHFUL

O come, all ye faithful,
Joyful and triumphant,
O come ye, O come ye to Bethlehem;
Come and behold Him,
Born the King of angels.

CHORUS:

O come, let us adore Him,
O come let us adore Him,
O come, let us adore Him,
Christ the Lord.

God of God, Light of Light,
Lo! He abhors not the Virgin's womb;

Very God, Begotten, not created.

Chorus

Sing, choirs of angels,
Sing in exultation,
Sing, all ye citizens of heav'n above;
Glory to God in the Highest.

Chorus

SILENT NIGHT

Silent night, Holy night!
All is calm, all is bright
'Round yon Virgin Mother and Child,
Holy infant so tender and mild;
Sleep in heavenly peace,
Sleep in heavenly peace.

Silent night, Holy night!
Shepherds quake at the sight!
Glories stream from heaven afar,
Heav'nly hosts sing Alleluia;
Christ the Saviour is born,
Christ the Saviour is born!

Silent night, Holy night!
Son of God, love's pure light,
Radiant beams from Thy holy face,
With the dawn of redeeming
grace,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth,
Jesus, Lord, at Thy birth.

O LITTLE TOWN OF BETHLEHEM

O little town of Bethlehem,
How still we see thee lie!
Above thy deep and dreamless sleep
The silent stars go by;
Yet in thy dark street shineth
The everlasting light;
The hopes and fears of all the years
Are met in thee tonight.

For Christ is born of Mary,
And gathered all above,
While mortals sleep, the angels keep
Their watch of wond'ring love.
O morning stars, together
Proclaim the holy birth,
And praises sing to God our King,
And peace to men on earth.

Congressman Canfield To Retire In January

Congressman Gordon Canfield has announced his plans to retire at the end of his eleventh term on January 2, 1960.

Dean of the New Jersey Congressional delegation and veteran of 19 Congressional campaigns Canfield listed health as his reason for winding up his career.

In 1958 he underwent surgery and plunged into a bitter election campaign without taking adequate time to recover. This past summer his health broke under strain of a heavy legislative load and he was advised by his physicians to take a leave of absence. He recently resumed his Congressional duties.

In a statement announcing his retirement plans Canfield said:

"While rapidly recovering from my recent illness I must conserve my health. I will seek some association with private enterprise in the months ahead.

"I have been thrilled to represent in the world's largest free legislature one of our country's finest constituencies," he said.

Canfield also commended his loyal staff headed by Walter P. Kennedy and expressed gratitude to Passaic County Republican leader Lloyd B. Marsh, his party and all of his friends and supporters.

"I shall continue to be an active party worker in the cause of good government," he concluded.

Canfield was elected to his first term in 1940, succeeding Congressman George H. Seger, whom he served as secretary for 17 years.

First National Bank Declares Dividend

A regular semi-annual dividend of $1.50 per share plus an extra dividend of fifty cents a share payable January 2, 1960, to holders of record at the close of business December 17, 1959, was declared by the directors of the First National Bank of Passaic County at their regular meeting held December 14, according to an announcement by B. P. Rial, president. This is dividend No. 271 of the First National Bank which has 17 offices in Paterson, Bloomingdale, Clifton, Mountain View, Pompton Lakes, Borough of Totowa, Wanaque Borough, West Milford, Preakness and Ringwood.

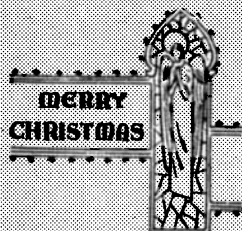

The bank has 200,000 shares of a par value of $25.00 per share outstanding. First National Bank has paid dividends to stockholders each year since it was founded in 1864.

SANTA'S FUSSY BEARD IS NOT APPRECIATED by this little girl who took one look at it and became hysterical. It took a bit of Santa's soothing to reassure her. The incident occurred at a party for orphans sponsored by Austin, Tex. High School Students.

Guided by a brightly shining star, the Three Wise Men traveled far and wide across many foreign lands to find this newly-born Child who was prophesied to become the greatest of all kings. After many weeks of wandering, their hopes were fulfilled.

MAY GOOD WILL PREVAIL

There is no other time of year quite like the Holy season of Christmas. No other holiday can match the magnetic heart tug homeward when the yuletide aura fills the air. With home as the magnet, nostalgic memories crowd every other thought out of the most harried mind.

Old friendships and ties are brought to fore. Memories of a completely different aspect with gaiety and exhilaration quickening the pulse are reawakened. Heavenly music fills the air. Ageless carols are revived and suddenly they become as new as tomorrow with added vibrancy. The tinsel and wreaths bring a sparkle unmatched by any lustre before or beyond Christmas.

But what causes all these changeless things to take on a completely unrelated aspect at Christmas?

Perhaps it is the chord of memory touching the heart as we recall the life which brought such an impact on the world twenty centuries ago. In a brief thirty-three years, He so fired the hearts of men to outshadow even the fiercest force of an atomic blast.

The spirit of love and humility generated by the Prince of Peace enthralls every man, woman and child the world over, regardless of religious denomination. It is a living, breathing action so infectious that no one escapes its hypnosis.

There is none among us who has not learned the true meaning of the first lesson of His Sermon on the Mount.

We have come to know that if we keep the door of sympathy and understanding locked in us, then in turn this very same door, in the hearts of others, may be locked against us at a moment when we have need of a compassionate friend. Let us emulate the spirit and love of Him whose birth we celebrate.

Let us each remember the sacrifice He made that all of us could share and enjoy His manifold blessings.

May our collective efforts and our strength increase with each passing year and may the fruits of our efforts multiply in every corner of our city, nation and the world over.

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Christmas In The Home —

The Editor Speaks

Christmas is a magical season. There are many traditional customs which warm the heart and bring happy hours. It is a joyous season for the kids and old folks as well.

The trimming of the tree, stringing popcorn, plum pudding and a generally double-rich diet throughout the Christmas celebration; these are among the customs still prevalent today. But there is one custom that intrigues girls, including my wife, that doesn't make much of an impression on me.

I know kissing is a world-wide custom. Everybody does it and I suppose everybody likes it. But at Christmas time it becomes a real process with mistletoe stuck in every corner of the house to trap me into kissing. Why? Who needs mistletoe?

It seems in the old days, when kissing was more or less by appointment only, a man or woman could demand as many kisses from the one underneath it as there were berries on the sprig. I'll bet the girls were looking for it by the bushel, putting up only the sprigs with the most berries. I don't think they count berries any more! At least, I never had the experience. You smooch once and that's it. But I can't see any reason for sticking mistletoe all over the place.

I think if a man or woman wants to be kissed especially during the holiday season, all you have to do is lean forward. Unless, of course, it's a perfect stranger. Then it's different. I guess you need mistletoe. But I remember once a few years ago at a party I, — well, I better not relate that story. My wife has a habit of reading this column and she might not understand. I guess mistletoe is okay to have around the house. But remember, if you run short, or if there isn't any around, just lean forward a little with your favorite girl. Who needs mistletoe?

Anyway, Merry Christmas to you all, with or without mistletoe!

U. S. Making Progress In Space Program

Despite the failure of the recent attempt to put a satellite into a moon orbit, U. S. space officials see substantial successes ahead. Definitely planned for 1960 are launchings of satellites to study the sun and the earth's outer atmosphere. If the current schedule of progress in rocketry can be maintained, the U. S. may shoot for Mars next fall. As early as next spring, the U. S. Mercury space capsule may be ready for experimental manned flights.

A ferry boat ride down the Bosphorus to the Black Sea resort of Kilyos is one of Istanbul's most delightful and least expensive side trips of a European trip. Visitors board the ferry at Galata Bridge and drift along past the palaces of former Byzantine court officials, the harem quarters of Turkish Sultans and twentieth century summer villas. Passengers for the resort debark at Sariyer where they hire a cab for the short ride to Kilyos.

DeMille Autobiography Interesting Reading

The most productive, durable and controversial of Hollywood pioneers, Cecil B. DeMille, whose motion pictures have been seen by four billion people, wrote most of his life story before he died in 1959. Donald Hayne, his longtime associate, completed the autobiography, which was published recently.

Last year when he was queried about the manuscript, which was five years overdue, DeMille remarked he seemed to be too busy living his life to finish writing it. At 77 he was actively engaged in planning future projects of enormous scope. Hayne sorted through 36 files of letters, memoranda and other papers to finish the book.

The photographs in the book are from the author's private collection portraying his youth, family and career. DeMille arranged some years ago that all royalties from the book go to a trust fund for charitable, religious and educational work.

DeMille was more than a filmmaker. He also founded the nation's first regularly scheduled freight and passenger airline; as a vice president of the Bank of America he instituted the present pattern of loans for film production; he valued the honor but rejected the nomination for Senator; he left his job as producer of radio's Lux Theatre which brought him $98,000 a year, because he would not pay a one-dollar political assessment levied by his union. He was a deeply religious man who never travelled without his well-worn Bible, and who took no financial profit from two of his films with religious themes, "The King of Kings" and "The Ten Commandments."

DeMille has always been a controversial figure, and film critics do not agree on the dramatic merits of his films.

He has been called a flamboyant showman, while others rated him "a screen statesman." He has been accused of looking on the Bible as a limitless story source for his "extravaganzas," while another point of view was put into words by Evangelist Billy Graham, who termed DeMille "a prophet in celluloid."

Scandal did not touch DeMille. He left behind his wife of more than fifty-six years in the home where they had lived for forty-three of the forty-six years they were in Hollywood.

He was born in Ashfield, Mass., August 12, 1881. His family settled in New Amsterdam in 1658.

Miss Mary Ann Cortese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Cortese of 36 Marcellus Avenue, West Paterson, became the bride of Giustino Farelli of 47 Danforth Avenue, at a double ring ceremony in St. Bonaventure's R. C. Church recently. The Rev. Joseph Kennedy, O.F.M. officiated at the nuptial rites. A reception for 250 guests followed at the West Paterson Firehouse.

Energy from petroleum can be as much as 1,000 times cheaper than energy from human muscle power. A strong laborer turning a winch for 8 hours a day for 250 days in the year could provide power equivalent to about 100 kilowatt hours of electricity. If one-fifth of the world's population worked this way, they would produce power equivalent to 20 kilowatt hours per person per year for everyone in the world — the amount of energy that can be obtained from not quite two quarts of fuel oil!

This Week In AMERICAN HISTORY

BY WILLIAM BRODIE

BATTLE OF TRENTON

Christmas Day of 1776, and in Trenton, New Jersey, by the ice-choked Delaware River, the Hessians were making merry in their comfortable quarters. They were a part of the German troops hired by the British to fight the American patriots. Across the river, on the Pennsylvania side, Washington's ragged soldiers huddled in their camp.

It seemed as if this bitter winter might see the end of the patriot cause. Washington's army had fled across New Jersey before the stronger British forces. Soldiers had gone back to their homes by the hundreds. The rest of the shrinking American army, poorly equipped, unpaid, and often hungry, was held together mostly by the forcefulness of its great leader. A week before Christmas Washington wrote to a relative, "If every nerve is not strained to recruit the new army with all possible expedition, I think that the game is pretty near up."

Though the situation was bad, Washington decided on a bold stroke with the troops that he had. There was one hope left he decided — attack! He would cross the Delaware by night and attack the Hessians at Trenton on the morning of the day after Christmas before their merrymaking mood wore off. "It is necessity, dire necessity," Washington said.

While the Hessians were having a grand time the freezing Americans prepared to cross the icy river. At twilight of that cold Christmas night the little army of 2400 men in boats began its struggle with the ice floes and the rapid current. Washington had hoped to be across the river by midnight, but with the load of cannon and baggage it was past three o'clock in the morning before all the troops had crossed over.

Snow was falling. The night was very black and cold. At four o'clock it seemed too late to march on Trenton with hope of a surprise. Yet it was too late to turn back. Forward, then! The shivering troops began the nine mile march to Trenton.

They suffered severely as they marched down the river road. The snow had turned to freezing sleet and on the sharp slippery ice red stains showed where brave men marched with broken shoes. It was eight o'clock in the morning when the American advance began driving in the Hessian pickets. The enemy was unprepared. Colonel Rall, the Hessian commander, jumped out of bed to rally his men. He soon fell mortally wounded.

The battle was sharp and over in less than an hour. Over one hundred Hessians were killed and wounded, while almost a thousand with all their equipment, were captured. The American loss was two killed, a few dozen wounded, and two frozen to death on the march. That night Washington and his army were back in their camp across the Delaware with their prisoners and booty.

The victory at Trenton shattered British hopes for a quick end to the Revolution. The colonies rejoiced and took new courage for the struggle for liberty.

In Philadelphia the captured Hessians were marched through the streets so the people could see the proof of the American triumph. The patriots thanked God for the victory won by Washington's little army. Muhlenberg, the Lutheran patriarch, exclaimed "The Lord of Hosts has heard the cry of the distressed, and sent his angel to their assistance!"
