

Released Monday, January 4th.

"A Bitter Lesson"

Length 515 feet

Copyrighted 1908

HOME, SWEET HOME.—The husband is returning from work, hands his wife the pay envelope, they put some money in the bank and divide the balance for household expenses, etc.—It is a happy home.

BAD COMPANY.—Going home from work Charles, the young husband, is in comjointy with other workmen; they ask him to join them for a drink. He refuses, but their teasing brings him into the saloon. Two glasses of beer make him dizzy. His wife is horrified to see him in this condition, but he explains matters and promises not to drink any more.

FROM BAD TO WORSE.—Charles takes a drink while going to the factory; the gate-man refuses him entrance; enraged he goes back to the saloon, takes another drink, and while creating a disturbance is thrown out of the door.

AN UNWILLING WITNESS.—The young wife is uneasy about her husband. It late at night and he has not returned. She goes to call at the factory. While walking, she sees a gentleman, with high hat and coat. From behind comes a tough, knocking down and is just going to rob him when Charles in drunken state, comes out of an aleyway. At the same time a policeman comes rushing toward the crook. The tough fells the policeman that Charles tried to rob the stranger. The policeman takes hold fells the policeman takes hold so the points out to the officer the real perpetrator of the crime. The tough turns, runs away, but is knocked down by the policeman. The stranger's watch is found on him.

A BITTED I ESSON. Delicement out to the testing the policeman.

A BITTER LESSON.—Police station. The five enter, the tough is led away to prison, the lieutenant admonishes Charles, who by this time is entirely sober, not to drink any more. Charles takes a flask out of his pocket, throws it on the floor, breaking it in fragments and swears never to drink again. His wife forgives him, and from the way they leave the police station it seems Charles is going to keep his promise.

"The Old Maid's Dream"

Length 390 feet

Copyrighted 1908

Released Thursday, January 7th.

"Two Orphans of the G. A. R."

Length 650 feet

Copyrighted 1908

ALONE IN THE WORLD—In a plain little room lies an old Grand Army man thin dealthed. Beside him kneels a little girl. Two friends enter. He begs them she can of the little girl, they promise to do this, and relieved of a great burden by The two Grand Army men take the little girl by the hand and lead her away AT THE FUNERAL—With military rites the old soldier is carried to his grave

THE ORPHANS' HOME.—The Grand Army men bring the little girl to the Sois Orphans' Home, where she is received by the matron and presented to her future spanions. At the same time a boy is brought to the institution. He, too, is introduced to the boys of the institution and received with open arms.

LITTLE FRIENDS.—The little boy and the girl who have been brought to the in ution almost at the same time become great friends. It is now six years since they ie. We see them going through their daily exercises at the institution, a most insting picture of out-door life.

THE CALL TO WAR.—The country calls its sons to war; our hero without hesita offers his services. A last farewell, a last kiss and he has gone.

WAR.—An interesting picture, showing infantry and artillery in action.

RETURNING FROM THE WAR.—The war is over, the battle has been won hero returns and is received with open arms by his sweetheart.

WEDDING BELLS.—The two orphans join their fate. The parson fies the knot

"LEO'S AIR-RIFLE"

Length 320 feet

Copyrighted 1908

Grandpa buys an air rifle for his grandchild. After having received instructions how andle the rifle, Leo and his little sister start out to have some fun. The first one to receive a shot is Doctor May, the next one is the colored girl clean the windows. Unfortunately some innocent passersby are the real sufferers. Now begins the chase after the two mischievious kids. They are not caught, how before they have done a great deal of damage and caused a great wear and tear be temper of the victims of their fun.

S. LUBIN

Life Motion Picture Machines, Films, Slides and Stereopticons.

LUBIN BUILDING, 926-928 Market St., Phila., Pa.