GIRL TRIES SUICIDE IN JAIL CELL

Police Prevent Attempt At Hanging; Faces Charge Of Forgery

Arrested on a charge of forgery arising out of her alleged theft of approximately 30 WPA pay checks, a former Paterson girl tried to end her life by hanging in her jail cell today, but was foiled in the attempt by Paterson police.

She is 24-year-old Isabelle Cooper, now of Hackensack, who was arrested by Detective Mack Porecki and Newman Stone today after they had found a WPA check belonging to Emil Picarelli of 437 River street in her possession.

Police, who called in FBI agents to continue the investigation, said the girl, who is unemployed, had been looting mail boxes and cashing WPA checks by forging the signatures. She was arrested by the detectives at noon today on Broadway and Main street.

Shortly after she had been placed in a cell here, detectives returning to question her found her hanging from a noose devised out of a dress belt. They quickly cut the noose and physicians summoned from Barnert hospital revived her.

St. Michael's Triple Jubilee Ends Sunday

Sunday will mark the climax of the week-long celebration which parishioners of St. Michael R. C. church are now observing in connection with the church's triple jubilee.

The program for that day will open at a Coram Pontifice high mass which the Most Rev. Bishop Thomas H. McLaughlin will attend and will close at a banquet in the Alexander Hamilton hotel that evening.

The celebration marks the 35th anniversary of the founding of St. Michael's parish, the 30th anniversary of the establishment of its parochial school and the 10th anniversary of the erection of its new church building.

The Rev. Carlo H. Cianci is pastor of the church while Thomas F. Vigorito is general chairman of the jubilee committees.

Founder And Editor 1904-1929

The Late NICHOLAS PARRILLO

"THE MESSENGER" IS NOW 35 YEARS OLD

Founded In 1904, It Looks Back Upon Long Period Of Service

Another milestone in the long history of "The Messenger," Paterson's oldest weekly newspaper, is reached with the publication of this 35th anniversary edition today. It is dedicated simply and without fanfare to the late Nicholas Parrillo, its first editor and founder, and the many friends of this newspaper who have made possible continuous publication during the three and one-half decades which have elapsed since the appearance of its first issue.

"Il Messaggero," the Italian equivalent of its present title, published its first edition in 1904. It was founded by Nicholas Parrillo in conjunction with a company organized to acquire the rights of "Il Vindice," a political newspaper of that day.

Mayor Held Shares

The group of men instrumental in its founding was composed of Robert Geyer, Dr. Colacurcio, Peter Cimmino, S. Bonanno and Cristillo. They named Mr. Parrillo its editor and manager.

In its infancy, "The Messenger" was a bi-weekly publication among whose stockholders were Robert H. Fordyce, who was later to become Mayor of Paterson, and John Stagg, then chief of the Paterson Fire Department. Mr. Stagg served as president of the first board of directors, while Peter Cimmino was its secretary-treasurer.

In 1914, Mr. Parrillo bought out other stockholders and as-

LOOK FOR BIG VOTE ON TUESDAY

Candidates On Both Tickets
Bring Their Campaign To A Close

After being harranged for more than a month by candidates and leaders of both parties, Passaic county voters will go to the polls Tuesday to cast their ballot in an election which has been characterized by hard campaigning on both sides.

In addition to electing a United States Senator, four state assemblymen, two freeholders and a number of lesser officers, voters will get the opportunity to either approve or reject a referendum enlarging the spending powers of the Passaic County Parks commission.

In the contest for John Milton's seat in the United States Senate, the Democrats have opposed William H. J. Ely, former state WPA administrator, to former Senator W. Warren Barbour, Republican nominee.

The freeholder candidates find Republican incumbents John Nixon and Robert Wardle opposed by Edward J. O'Byrne and Gabriel C. Roberto.

In the assembly fight, incumbent Republicans William J. Hanna, Oscar Wilensky and Harry J. Donahue, and a newcomer, Mattie S. Doremus, are fighting it out with a Democratic quartet composed of Mrs. Nan V. Donohue, Milton J. Pashman, William F. Johnson and Emil M. Gacy.

Candidates on both tickets, meanwhile, were closing their campaigns at rallies scheduled for this week-end. Impartial observers labeled the election one of the hottest in years, and predicted a heavy turnout of voters.

Prison-Breaker Faces Sentence Here Tomorrow

Americo Eriquezzo, 21, of Hawthorne, will be sentenced here tomorrow by Judge Robert H. Davidson on an indictment of having escaped from the county jail here on May 3.

Eriquezzo was serving a six-months sentence for burglary when he made his escape. He was captured at Danbury Conn., on October 21.

Cards he had sent to various people in Paterson helped Sheriff Gavin's staff to track him down.

WELL, WE'RE GOING to have another election Tuesday and a lot of political fireworks, too . . . in fact, what has been popping off these last few weeks can be likened to small crackers compared with the rumpus which G. O. P. Mogul Marsh has started . . . if his charges were legitimate enough, we imagine we'd work up a first class "mad" about it all . . . but they aren't . . . and besides, we're kind of tired after all the work involved in publishing our 35th anniversary edition.

SO WEEKLY NEWSPAPER publishers have been intimidated by "Big, Bad Sheriff" Gavin, have they, Mr. Marsh? . . . naturally, we're a little bit offended about it . . . because we can't recall being intimidated at all . . . and if, as Lloyd Marsh says, the "Big, Bad Sheriff" has been going around intimidating weekly newspapers, we want to know why we have been overlooked—all of the time he has been in office . . . it ain't fair . . . maybe if we had a Republican sheriff, we wouldn't have been overlooked, would we, Mr. Marsh?

ANYONE WHO HAS COME into contact with him knows that Lloyd Marsh is a politician . . . first, last and always . . . and a shrewd one, too . . . that is why he waited until virtually the eve of the election to start a smearing campaign which would leave his opponents with little time in which to reply to his attack . . . to any intelligent voter, his tactics are obviously those of a politician bent upon winning an election, regardless of the character of the means at his disposal.

WHILE MR. MARSH POSES so nobly, yet unbefittingly, as the benefactor of the citizenry of Passaic county, we would like to ask him one or two questions . . . hold the pose, Lloyd, old pal . . . if you have such damaging evidence against the Democrats, as you claim, why do you withhold it from the electorate? . . . we'll make our question rhetorical . . . we'll answer it ourselves for you, Mr. Marsh . . . it's part of our free service, you see . . . in the time you have played politics, you never withheld anything that would damage the opposition . . . so since you withhold it now, it is quite logical to assume that you're up to one of your political tricks once more . . . and the 'damaging evidence' is just a figment of the Republican imagination, isn't it, Mr. Marsh?

WE'LL ASK YOU JUST one more question, Mr. Marsh . . . you see, we're kind of cramped for space, otherwise we'd go on all night . . . we love asking questions . . . especially embarrassing ones . . . remember Fred

FDR's Support May Turn Tide For Ely

New Deal Endorsement Seen As Determining Factor In His Campaign For Seat In Senate

Marked Gain In Strength Is Noted By Democratic Choice's Managers

Holding the gains he has made in all counties during the past month, William H. J. Ely's campaign for the United States Senate entered its final week with his election by a substantial lead confidently forecast by his camp.

President Roosevelt and the New Deal have thrown all their strength behind Mr. Ely, and the Administration's supporters in the state are solidly behind the Democratic candidate, who has pledged himself to uphold the policies of the President.

Secretary of War Woodring and Postmaster General Farley, both high in the Administration's council, have already expressed President Roosevelt's deep interest in Mr. Ely's election. Charles Edison, assistant secretary of war, and a close friend of the President, is scheduled to speak in Camden tonight.

Attorney General Wilentz, Democratic state chairman, in a statement declared that President Roosevelt's popularity in New Jersey is as strong as ever, and that the voters of the state would welcome an opportunity to express their confidence in the New Deal by electing Mr. Ely.

The Democratic candidate, in speeches this week, told his audiences that the only issue in the election was whether the people of New Jersey are in sympathy with or opposed to the liberal, humanitarian program of the President. Mr. Ely said:

"Specifically, the only issue is whether or not the people of this state favor an administration that has given them jobs, that has saved their homes, given them security for old age, protected their bank savings, and in many other ways has undertaken a vast program of social and economic uplift. That is the issue in the campaign."

Hoelscher Hits Seger's Record Of Reaction; Lauds New Deal

Fred Hoelscher, Democratic candidate for Congress, carried his fight to the voters of the county last week, pledging "complete support of President Roosevelt and the New Deal" and charging his opponent's voting record spoke "for itself as to where he stands in reference to the New Deal."

Hoelscher said his campaign for the Eighth Congressional districts seat in the House of Representatives would be "conducted purely and simply on issues and not personalities. Regardless of what any of the opposition forces might say, there are many issues in this campaign and I aim to conclusively prove this to be true," the Democratic candidate said.

Referring "to the record," Hoelscher said the Republican opponent had voted against many important New Deal measures, all of which were for the benefit of the people.

House Resolution No. 7562, a bill to encourage and promote the ownership of farm homes and to provide additional credit facilities for agricultural development; House Resolution No. 6763, an act to extend low interest rates on land-bank loans; House Resolution No. 8505, a bill to provide for conservation of natural soil resources; House Resolution No. 9282, a bill to provide revenue and equalization taxation."

"In addition to all of these measures my Republican opponent," Hoelscher charged "also, voted to recommit the Wage-Hours bill on December 17, 1937. This action was taken by readtionary forces to shelve the bill, but pressure on the part of that great leader of our nation, President Roosevelt, and leading union officials forced a favorable vote finally on May 24, 1938."

Attention, Teachers!

Ever since he was a baby, Philip Shafer's big ears have caused him to be the butt of jokes. So Philip underwent an operation in New York and presto, his ears are back to normal. Philip, originator of the campaign against ear pulling by teachers, blames his ear troubles on the teachers in the Roanoke, Va., elementary schools where he was a pupil.

Dante Alighieri Society Again Names Borloso Its President

Cultural Group Will Present First Public Program On December 1

The Dante Alighieri Cultural society this week again named Professor Alfred N. Borloso its president at elections held at 70 Cross street.

Professor Borloso is a member of the Paterson board of education and also is on the faculty of Paterson's State Teachers' college.

Named as the society's vice-presidents were the Rev. Carlo Cianci, pastor of St. Michael's R. C. church, Dr. Luigi S. Michela, and William Pizzimenti of Ridgewood; Pasquale Porro was elected treasurer; Joseph Bellomo, corresponding secretary; Matthew Fardello, financial secretary, and Dr. Fulvio Patella, Dr. Joseph De Rose and Dr. Anthony Amabile, to the board of trustees.

The society's first public program will not be presented until December 1, it was announced. No date, as yet, has been set for the installation of its officers.

Toscanini Begins Second Year As Conductor Of Symphony

Chotzinoff in Role of Commentator

NEW YORK, Nov. 3—Greeted by a distinguished studio audience of more than 1,400, acclaimed by music critics, the NBC Symphony orchestra under the baton of world-famous Arturo Toscanini has begun its second season of symphonic broadcasts.

The orchestra that greeted Mr. Toscanini contained 94 men, two more than last season. There are 74 veterans of last season and 20 new members, each a ranking artist in his profession.

Here is what the New York music critics said after the first performance of the Symphony Orchestra this season under the leadership of Arturo Toscanini: Olin Downes, New York Times: "One of Toscanini's marvels. He is here again."

"First Musician of World"

Lawrence Gilman, New York Herald-Tribune: "The First Musician of the World began the symphonic season in New York last evening with an opening concert of a series that is bound to be unrivaled. . . . Toscanini has returned. Why should he ever leave us?"

Oscar Thompson, New York Sun: "Toscanini remains Toscanini. All that this means for New York audiences has been restored to them."

Samuel Chotzinoff, New York Post critic, confessed that he had 'long ago given up all attempts to write with restraint about Toscanini's art, since it is quite impossible to be sensible about something which perpetually astounds and delights and defies analysis."

Mingling with other music lovers in the studio were Giovanni Martinelli, Grete Stueckgold, Lotte Lehmann, Susanne Fisher, Florence Easton, Maurice de Abravanel and Earle Lewis of the Metropolitan Opera. Among the many distinguished concert artists were Efrem Zimbalist, Mischa Levitzki, Emanuel Feuermann and Josef and Rosina Lhevinne.

sumed complete charge of "The Messenger," converting it from a bi-weekly into a weekly newspaper, a policy which its present publisher has followed until this day. Mr. Parrillo served as editor of the publication until his death in 1929, a period of one quarter of a century.

Editor Very Active

The founder of "The Messenger" was born in Salento, in the province of Salerno, Italy, on April 29, 1880. He received his elementary education there and graduated from the College of Salerno. In connection with his commercial activities, he had occasion to visit the United States several times, finally settling here permanently. He founded the Giuseppe Verdi Musical society in Paterson in 1903 and it soon won recognition for its cultural activities throughout the Eastern states, says J. J. Scannel, compiler of "New Jersey's First Citizens and State Guide" in his biographical sketch of Mr. Parrillo.

Mr. Parrillo also organized and founded the Marconi lodge of the Sons of Italy in 1908 and served as its head for the first seven years. He also served as president of the Italian National Circle for three years, and was an associate life member of the New Jersey Genealogical and Biographical society.

Served War Drive

During the World War, Mr. Parrillo dedicated "The Messenger" to a campaign for selling Liberty bonds and War Savings stamps to Italian speaking people in Paterson, and was honored with the designation of "Four Minute Man." He also conducted a vigorous drive to aid the naturalization of Italians in this city.

After his death in 1929, publication of "The Messenger" was assumed by his son, Vincent S. Parrillo, and the newspaper was converted into a completely English-language publication addressed to the general public of Paterson and vicinity.

WE BEGIN OUR 35TH YEAR

The Messenger, today, is 35 years old. Three and one-half decades have passed since the late Nicholas Parrillo, founder of "Il Messaggero" which subsequently became The Messenger, gazed modestly, but fondly at the first issue of this newspaper in the relatively dim past of 1904.

As we sat down to write this editorial, we had in mind a review of the period of time during which this newspaper has passed since the day when Nicholas Parrillo read the final proof of the first issue of The Messenger.

But crowding this thought from our mind is the man, Nicholas Parrillo, himself, and the ideal which prompted him to undertake the publication of this newspaper. The founder of The Messenger had always in his mind the interests of the majority, as opposed to the selfish few who are always with us. Time and again, he fought for what he, in his kindly yet firm way, thought would benefit the residents of Paterson at large, and the Italian-American community, in which he played an important part, in particular.

This newspaper, to him, was not primarily a business enterprise. It was, principally, a medium in which he could express his opinions and his ideals on important local problems fearlessly and without compromise, to those who opposed him.

His death in 1929 brought to an end a career which was marked by the many friendships he had made for his newspaper. We do not flatter ourselves for a moment that we could have carried on the publication of The Messenger without the good will which he had built up to buoy us up during the years which have passed since his death.

The policy of The Messenger has changed little since the days of Nicholas Parrillo. True, its scope has been enlarged, for The Messenger is now addressed not only to the Italian-American community of Paterson, but also to its general citizenry.

We have tried, in our humble way, to adhere faithfully to the precepts laid down by Nicholas Parrillo during the 25 years in which he sat in the editors' chair of this newspaper. Whether we have succeeded is not for us to say at this time; we leave the passage of judgment on this question to the many men and women, still living today, who knew Nicholas Parrillo well and who came into daily contact with him.

However, we do on this, the 35th anniversary of the founding of The Messenger, rededicate ourselves to the principles which guided this newspaper during the many rich years when Nicholas Parrillo was its editor. And we take this occasion to express our heartfelt thanks to the many who have shown their friendship for Nicholas Parrillo and the newspaper which he founded during the decade which has elapsed since his death.

IT WAS WELL-MERITED

To the Editor:

We have read your leading editorial of October 20th with a great deal of pleasure. It is most gratifying to us to know that our educational work, dedicated to the cultural advancement of Paterson, is being appreciated.

On behalf of the College of Paterson, I wish to thank you for your words of encouragement and support.

Herbert Spencer Robinson,
President.

THANK YOU VERY MUCH

To the Editor:

Let me take this opportunity to express to you my most hearty congratulations on this, the occasion of your 35th anniversary. I have followed the progress of your paper with a great deal of interest in the last few years and have always enjoyed reading its contents.

The greatest of success to you in the future.

Mrs. NAN V. DONOHUE.

MANY THANKS

The Political Cavalcade

As the election campaign draws to a hectic close with rallies here, there, and everywhere, one thought is uppermost in our minds . . . what are the boys going to do for beer and sandwiches—on the cuff—from now on? . . . but let's get down to business . . . attempts to corner the Democratic candidates this week on the question of economy proved futile as the Messrs. Mother's Death Halts Campaign Of Hoelscher

Last rites for Mrs. Julia Hoelscher, mother of Fred Hoelscher, Democratic congressional candidate, were held in the Broadway Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hoelscher, who was 80 years old, died in her home at 303 Burhans avenue, Sunday. He had suffered an injury last month which led to her death.

His mother's death caused Mr. Hoelscher to discontinue his campaign. He announced he would not appear on local platforms again before Election day next Tuesday.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. D. STEFANO

The late Mrs. Margaret Di Stefano who died at her home, 249 21st avenue, Monday, was laid to rest in Calvary cemetery following services which were held in St. Anthony's church yesterday.

The wife of the late Gaetano Di Stefano, she had lived in Paterson for 25 years.

for 25 years. He is a lieutenant in the U. S. Embalming corps and holds a government license.

Mr. Taylor's fraternal affiliations are many. He is honorary president of the Societa, St. Michael Arcangelo, of St. Michael's R. C. Church and is president of the Charles Pirolo Democratic club, which post he has held for the last five years. He was also president of the Passaic, Bergen and Morris County Funeral Directors' association for four years.

THE ONCE OVER . . .

. . . Al Herman

By LARRY FELLO

One can hardly speak of sports these days without mentioning Al Herman. Al's interest in sports dates back to his early teens, when he sported the colors of the Hill Tops, a light semi-pro nife that thrice captured the city championship. The Hill Tops boasted of such former sandlot stars as Rail Kirkman, Bubby Matchett, and Jimmie Cosine, now one of Paterson's finest Laying aside his ball and glove to seek adventure, Al joined the colors, to serve Uncle Sam as a sea-going marine. As a marine he travelled to all parts of the world, and saw many interesting places.

Returning to civilian life he turned to railroading, earning his livelihood as a detective on the Erie. He later became an attendant at the service station he now owns.

Back In Sports

Successful in business he again turned to his first love, sports. Although business prevented him from taking an active part, he financed and sponsored several teams and athletes.

Among those he sponsored were that ever popular brother and sister team of walkathon fame, Joe and Margie Van Raam, and Charlie Brugna, national amateur cycling champion, who recently made his debut as a six-day bike rider in Madison Square Garden. His pet interest now is the football team that bears his name, the "Al Hermans," recognized city champions for the past three years. The "Hermans" are now leading the Paterson Suburban League.

His service station at the corner of Bridge street and Hamilton avenue, is one of the finest and best equipped in this vicinity. The attendants in charge are skilled mechanics with many years of experience, which assures his patrons of courteous, reliable service.

A Family Man

Al is happily married. In his leisure hours he can be found at his home enjoying the company of his pretty wife and his two lovely children, Madeline, aged seven, and John, twelve. He is truly a devoted father, a true friend, and a real sport.

Textile Foremen Plan Unionization Before January 1

The Textile Foreman's Guild announced this week that it would conduct a vigorous campaign to organize all non-unionized areas in the industry in time for negotiations for a contract which will succeed the one due to expire January 1, 1939.

Organized on September 22, 1933, the guild has made rapid strides, growing from an original membership here of 65 to more than 600 foremen. Thomas F. Vigorito has been advisor for the group ever since its formation.

The group will meet soon at its 369 Market street quarters to lay plans for a Christmas celebration.

Alliance Asks Higher Wages For WPA Men

In a statement of principles issued this week, Herbert Snell, chairman of the local Workers' Alliance board, demanded higher wages amounting to a 20 per cent increase for unskilled and intermediate WPA workers.

Monday was set as the date for the start of the drive for higher wages.

The statement of the Alliance also declared that the group "will tolerate no political intimidation of WPA workers."

A NEWSPAPER DEDICATED to the INTEREST and PROGRESS of PATERSON...

Central-Passaic Clash May Decide County Grid Title

Ghosts Given Outside Chance In Jeff Contest

Unbeaten Elizabeth Squad Is Favored To Overcome Eastside Eleven

Eastside high school, still tasting its first defeat of the season handed it by Passaic last Saturday, faces a tatar in its attempt to return to the win column Saturday.

The Ghosts are scheduled to meet the powerful Thomas Jefferson high school at Elizabeth on the afternoon of that day. The Elizabeth squad is unbeaten, but tied, and is coached by Frank Kirkleski, who also handles Paterson's Panthers.

The Undertakers are given but a slight chance to upset the dope which rates the home team a heavy favorite to win the contest.

Injuries suffered by Al Calvano and Dick Nochimson have materially reduced Eastside's strength for Saturday's game.

Ryle Will Play With Upsala Here

Upsala college will face Albright University in the first varsity college football game ever played in Paterson at Hinchliffe stadium, Saturday, November 19.

The game will be of unusual interest to Paterson fans for the star of the Upsala lineup is Rube Ryle, former Central high school griddier.

Both Albright and Upsala are strong teams in their class, and a close battle is expected to result.

Central's Cagers Drill; 13 Tilts on Schedule Already

Central high school's basketball team is scheduled to play 13 contests, six of them on opponent's courts, according to an announcement made this week.

The schedule is as yet incomplete, but the Colt Hillers have already started practice under the direction of Coach Earl Gray.

A veteran team will sport the Red and Black colors this season. It is built around Captain Gabe Mosca, Ray Stanczak and Ted Rapella.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON LOOP IS ORGANIZED HERE

Eight local basketball teams will compete in the Sunday afternoon league which the O'Byrne Volunteers will sponsor this season.

The season's schedule will be divided into halves, it was announced. Games will be played at the South Paterson court each Sunday afternoon.

League Rivals To Meet Here On Saturday

Both Show Impressive Form In Recent Games; Expect Record Crowd

A game that may well decide the Passaic County Scholastic Football League title will be staged at Hinchliffe stadium Saturday afternoon when Central high school pits its strength against Passaic.

Showing greater improvement with each game, climaxed by last week's 12 to 0 victory over the hitherto undefeated Eastside high school eleven, Passaic will provide a stern threat to the Colt Hillers in their quest for the league championship.

Central, on the other hand, has also proven formidable in its last contests, handing Bloomfield its first loss and burying Bayonne under a 25 to 0 count last Saturday.

One of the largest crowds ever to witness a high school contest in Hinchliffe stadium is expected to be on hand when Central's squad, led by Gabe Mosca and Ray Stanczak, touchdown twins, takes the field against Passaic's eleven, whose spark-plug is hefty Joe Georgydeak, driving full back.

Swimming teams representing the Paterson Y. M. C. A. and the Y. M. H. A. will clash in the Ward street pool tonight.

Diamond Glove Hopefuls Enter Final Bouts At Armory Tonight

Team Which Will Oppose Bergen Champions To Be Selected

There will be at least 13 new champions crowned at the 1938 Passaic County Diamond Gloves championships tonight at the Armory. The program, consisting of 16 titular bouts, will be the final in the series conducted by the Paterson Evening News A. A., Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, Local No. 1 of Paterson, and the Mayor's Christmas Basket Fund of Paterson.

The competition in this year's preceding five shows of the Passaic County tournament has been so torrid, that several of the stars of previous tourneys have been eliminated. In addition, there will be no less than eight new novice titlists around this year.

Fights are slated to be pre-sented in 16 classes Thursday night at the Armory, with a banner crowd expected. The proceeds will be turned over to the charities fostered by the sponsors of the thrilling Diamond Gloves tournaments. Bouts for both novice and open class fighters will be staged in the 112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160, 175 pound and heavy-weight divisions this week.

The elimination of several stars of previous tournaments does not mean that all partici-pants are new to the Passaic County Diamond Gloves com-petition. The line-up for the finals reveals that ten of the 16 participants in the open class are champions of former tour-naments, and three have been finalists in previous tourna-ments staged by the Paterson Evening News and the Pater-son P. B. A.

Included among the stars of previous tournaments in the line-up are: John Tusk, Max Ruddle, John Lanzafame, John Capelli, Gilbert De Groat, Joe Cingale, the "outstanding box-er" of the 1937 tourney; Eddie Taylor, Jackie McFadyen, Fred DeRisi and Marvia Ackerman. Finalists in previous tourna-ments are Almar Williams, Tim Dedo and Earl "Tex" Reaves.

The novice class fighters will bear plenty of watching this week. With upset succeeding upset in practically all classes in previous shows, anything is liable to happen this week. Winners of the Bergen Evening Record Diamond Gloves tourna-ment will fight the champions crowned tonight at the Armory.

This page illustrates the fulfillment of the ambition of one who has devoted a life time to one task. That being to place at the disposal of the people of Paterson and vicinity, a real Home, spacious in size but so thoughtfully and beautifully furnished that its quiet dignity well befits the hour of bereavement. It is most comforting to be able to turn to someone who knows through years of experience just how to handle those innumerable details.

His reputation for courtesy and fair dealing soon spread widely and four years later he decided to buy the building at 94 Paterson Street, which included a store floor and three stories above. During the years which followed, the business continued to expand until every square foot of space in the building was put into use. By 1931 it became apparent that a still larger space was necessary. This move brought the fulfillment of Mr. Legg's dream that had been gradually developing for years. He selected the spacious residence at 384 Broadway, long known as one of the show-places of Paterson. It is located diagonally across the street from the beautiful Masonic temple. Here with the able assistance of his three sons, Mr. Legg has seen worked out the many hopes he had cherished for years. Today the Legg Home for Funerals is recognized as one of the finest in the State of New Jersey, truly a credit to the City of Paterson.

94 Paterson Street

So, let us look back through the years to 1889. It was then that Mr. R. Charles D. Legg started in this business working as an office boy.

August, 1904
96-98 Paterson Street

After ten years of hard work and study, which included a course in the Massachusetts College of Embalming, he took over the entire management of another funeral business in Paterson.

Five years later he decided to open a business for himself in his residence at 29 Hamilton Avenue, Paterson. From the very start the business showed the results of his long training and within six months he had to seek larger quarters at 96-98 Paterson Street.

TWINS

Mrs. Ruben Albert, of Passaic, yesterday gave birth to twins, a boy and a girl, at the General hospital in that city.

Mrs. Albert is the former Byrdie Zimmerman of Paterson. She also has a son, William 4. Mother and children are doing fine, it was reported. Mrs. Albert formerly attended Central high school in this city.

On the state-wide scene, the trend has been most noticeably toward the Democratic party of late . . . no doubt as the result of the endorsement given to Ely by President Roosevelt

FLASHES — DOTS — DASHES

They tell me that "Champ" Vetrone, president of the Third Ward Democratic Club, always discusses politics, over a cup of coffee, in a local eating emporium. The Boylan Association held its annual straw ride, and street parade last Sunday night, and a good time was had by all . . . Congratulations to Max "Axel" Polack, who recently received the Carnegie Award for saving the life of Miss Jean Sullivan when she accidentally fell from the third-story window of her home to the street . . . below, last January . . . Our hats go off to you "Axel" and we mean it . . . Tommy Breslin, he of the "Breslin Klan," is getting to be quite a rib artist.

Saw Charles "Pat" Rooney entering the City Hall the other day, where he is supervising a tax survey of the city . . . Arline, pretty waitress at the Health Shop, always has a pleasant smile . . . The success of the Sixth Ward Democratic Club card party, held last Friday evening was largely due to the efforts of Henry Riccobene, its president . . . Rudy Heitz is seen about town enjoying his belated vacation . . . Met Manager Genthon of the Garden Theatre, last Sunday evening . . . All I can say is he's a regular fellow . . . I wonder where Eddie Mayo is keeping himself these days?

Faraci, Mr. Marsh? . . . and those two county employes, who supposedly were protected against political machinations by civil service (a great institution), and what you did to them? . . . how, Mr. Marsh, is the noble G. O. P. conscience bearing up under that little deed these days? . . . we won't answer that one . . . the voters, we feel, will handle that little matter pretty well at the polls Tuesday . . . unless their memory is as short as yours . . . but we feel that friends of Mr. Faraci, (and he has many) and lovers of fair play won't forget that colossal outrage soon.

WELL, KEEP YOUR FEET DRY of all that kind of mud you're stirring up, Mr. Marsh . . . and let's hope it's a Happy Tuesday for the welfare of Passaic county.

. . . haven't seen him in ages . . . I hear Ronnie Glass will soon make his debut as a columnist . . . lots of success to you, Ronnie.

Jimmy Walsh was highly elated over the outcome of the Notre Dame-Army game played last Saturday at the Yankee Stadium . . . Monte Gold, of the "35 Club," is seen chatting with some of the boys . . . George Storms, former athlete, and now auto salesman, is quite a fight fan, never missing the amateur bouts at the Armory . . . Herb Draney of the Broadway Bank is passing by . . . Herb was one of the leading wrestlers in his hey-day . . . Lou Finklestein, local athlete, was seen window shopping . . .

Moore & Sons One Of City's Pioneer Firms

Funeral Directors In Business
Here Since Year
Of 1902

As "The Messenger" marks its 35th anniversary, the firm of Robert C. Moore and Sons, funeral directors of 384 Totowa avenue, enters another year in its long service to families of Paterson.

Founded in 1902 by the late Robert C. Moore, Sr., the firm was first established in the old Totowa Battery hall, now the site of the Junior Order building on Totowa avenue.

Mr. Moore opened his establishment after his graduation from the Renour Training School for Embalmers in January, 1902. In 1918 he constructed a modern funeral home and chapel, where the firm is now established. The elder Mr. Moore served as county coroner for four terms. When first elected to office at the age of 22, he was the youngest coroner to ever hold office in Passaic county.

His son, Robert, Jr., entered the firm in 1912 and served an apprenticeship of three years before graduating from the same school his father attended in 1925. Another son, Evan, entered the firm in 1930 and graduated from the New York school of Embalming and Restorative Art in 1933.

Robert C. Moore, Jr., is married to the former Miss Ruth Lindquist, while Evan Moore married Miss Paula Eckstein in 1934. They both carry on the business founded by their father.

Henry Ford and son Edsel with Mercury

Both Henry Ford and his son Edsel were on hand in Detroit to explain features of the new Ford product, the Mercury, a half-sister to the Lincoln Zephyr, to newspapermen gathered to view the new Ford cars. It is believed that the Mercury will retail for less than $1,000, but the price will not be disclosed until Nov. 3. The Mercury will fill the price gap in the Ford line between the Ford de luxe and the Zephyr. The Mercury is longer and wider than the de luxe Ford and everything about it is bigger.

The M. D. Says

HEALTH QUESTION: What is meant by occupational diseases?

Occupational diseases, as the name implies, are diseases which are associated with a person's occupation. The diseases are due to some injurious substances, conditions, or practices connected with the worker's occupation.

The chimney sweep of former days, whose work exposed him to soot and grime, was more often a victim of skin cancer than other people. Painters occasionally suffer from lead poisoning. Stone workers, sand workers whose employment put them in sand pits often incurred silicosis, a disease of the lungs, in former years before proper precautions were instituted.

Every worker should familiarize himself with possible health hazards in his occupation and guard against them.

Industrial management has worked to eliminate conditions which produce occupational diseases. Precautionary measures suggested as a result of medical research have been introduced and America is on the way toward elimination of occupational diseases.

Fish, Game Board Aims At Conserving State's Wild Life

TRENTON — Fish and game activities during the past fiscal year ending June 30 last, which were reported by the New Jersey Fish and Game Commission today, reflect constant efforts by the commission to keep the state constantly populated with game, birds and fish.

During the year 30,656 pheasants were liberated, of which 14,049 were propagated and distributed from the state's own farms; 11,513 purchased from dealers for liberation on open lands in the state, and 5,094 purchased from the public shooting and fishing grounds fund for liberation on state-controlled areas which are open to public for hunting.

Quail liberated totaled 12,943, of which 12,463 were propagated and distributed from the state's farm and 3480 purchased from dealers and liberated on open lands. The commission supervised the liberation of 20,953 rabbits of which 20,733 were purchased and liberated on open lands and 9,220 were purchased and liberated on public shooting and fishing grounds fund for lib-controlled lands. Twenty-eight raccoons were purchased and liberated on open lands during the year.

Fish propagated and distributed from the world famous Hackettstown Fish Hatchery during the year include 471,761 trout over seven inches; 167,500 under seven inches; 76,032 bass; 200,628 bluegill sunfish; 500 suckers; 50,000 baitfish; 1,120 catfish; 15 crappies; 94,800,000 yellow perch. Fish netted from reservoirs and distributed throughout the state include 93,879 crappie, sunfish and perch; 65 pike; 6,606; 655 pickerel; 580 calico bass; 20,290 white perch; 15,024 yellow perch; 3,700 striped bass; 1,511 catfish; 600 roach and minnows; 58 Oswego bass; 200 bluegills; 200 mud bass and 400 shiners.

Pneumonia Prophylaxis Is Predicted

TRENTON — Prophylaxis against pneumonia appeared as a possibility today on the strength of recent tests of a new vaccine. The State Department of Health has been advised by the U. S. Public Health Service that the agent has been developed after many years of intensive laboratory research by Dr. Lloyd D. Felton, senior surgeon, U. S. Public Health Service and others.

The vaccine used is sugar-like in nature. It is a chemical portion of the pneumonia germ and contains all the immunizing qualities of this microbe. It immunizes men and mice. The fact that the entire germ is not necessary to produce active immunity, and also that the immunizing fraction is practically free from the reactions common to almost all vaccines, led to a study of its effect on human beings.

The most baffling factor among the unknowns in man's fight against disease is the nature of his resistance to infection.

Why, for example, does one man come down with pneumonia while his 449 neighbors, who breathe the same air day in and day out and grasp the same door knobs, resist the disease? Almost everyone has the germs in his throat; but somehow only one, annually, out of each 450 persons in the United States, apparently lacks the lethal weapons in his stream necessary to stave off their invasion, and contracts pneumonia.

Early studies of immunity disclosed that germs provoke the production within our system of anti-bodies — specific weapons against specific microbes. But — many individuals who have no demonstrable anti-bodies against a particular germ nevertheless resist its invasion.

Deep Solemnity Marks Every Service

Peace and exclusiveness beyond evaluation plus complete assumption of all necessary details have won for us the adamant faith of hundreds.

Strolling Along...

PAT FERRO

Andre Kostelanetz theorizes that every radio listener should constitute himself a critic instead of an indifferent individual who takes everything for granted. Andre reveals that radio artists sincerely welcome criticism, whether of the bouquet or brickbat variety, if it is constructive. His pet idea on the subject is to find a means of attaching a questionnaire to the monthly electric and gas bill, so that everyone could tabulate their likes and dislikes.

The radio fan may or may not care what his favorite star looks like, says Anne Seymour, currently portraying the title role in "The Story of Mary Martin," but appearance really has a great deal to do with the success or failure of a star. Beauty or the lack of it makes practically no difference once an actress has attained stardom, but the possession of physical attractiveness is a great asset on the way up. Many of today's brightest luminaries owe their position in radio to experience garnered on the stage or screen, where appearance is a vital factor. All things being equal, the pulchritudinous lass should reach stardom sooner than her equally talented but less attractive sister.

It wasn't so very long ago, as time is reckoned, that a movie personality could run for public office and thereby gain for himself a neat bit of publicity as a result. The idea became quite popular in fact, for at one time a number of famous and near-famous men and women became quite civic-minded and sought public office—some of them being put in the running by fellow-townsmen who had never before thought of them as possibilities. In this latter class we find Al Jolson, who was nominated and elected mayor of Encino. There was not much publicity at the time, but the good people of his town will tell that there has been a great improvement in things ever since. Using the same energy at "mayoring" as he does in broadcasting, Al sponsored improvements and proposed ordinances of which any growing city could be proud.

THEATRICAL NEWS

Behind the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

By HARRISON CARROLL
Copyright, 1938
King Features Syndicate, Inc.

HOLLYWOOD.—There is more gunfire in "Angels With Dirty Faces" than the screen has seen since the early days of the gangster pictures. The film is snarling drama with few light notes.

However, outside the theater, the preview was enlivened with humor.

A boy who looks enough like Bernard Punsley, of the "Dead End" kids, to be his double claimed Punsley's tickets. When Punsley himself arrived, theater employes spotted the imposter and hustled him out in the lobby. To give him a scare, they called the cops.

"All right," they said, "shall we turn you over to the cop or shall we let the 'Dead End' kids take you out in the alley?"

The boy literally fled into the arms of the cop.

Evidently, Hollywood hasn't been giving Jon Hall enough credit for business ability. Since marrying Frances Langford, he has announced plans to build an apartment house, to buy a 52-foot yawl, to equip the boat with an expensive two-way radio and to buy an island in the Samoan group.

All on a salary of $250 a week.

The 13-year-old king of Siam is one of Shirley Temple's greatest fans. In January, when he comes home from school in Switzerland, one of the features of the celebration will be the presentation of recordings of all of Shirley's songs in her last four pictures. L. Von Haverback, director of 40 theaters in Siam, is now in Hollywood and will carry the gift back to the boy sovereign.

Here's an oddity. Buck Jones, the cowboy star, will sponsor a new symphonic suite to be introduced by Conductor Frederick Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra. A year ago, Anson Broughee, of Galveston, Tex., hitch-hiked to Hollywood to interest Jones in an idea for a symphony based on cowboy music. Jones gave the 21-year-old composer a home on his ranch and paid the necessary expenses.

GARDEN

Produced with the magnitude possible only on the screen, one of the most memorable pictures ever to come out of Hollywood, "Suez" is now at the Garden theatre.

"Suez" is truly a great picture. In spectacle, emotionally experience and sheer entertainment it is unsurpassed. It is said that into its production Darryl F. Zanuck has poured all his skill and 20th Century-Fox's resources — and "Suez" looks it.

The story is of heroic proportions. It tells of the amazing Ferdinand de Lesseps, who dreamed of creating the short route to the East, sought vainly by Columbus and Magellan, by tearing continents apart and joining the Mediterranean with the Red Sea. The great canal he built has become the jugular vein of the world.

Tyrone Power gives thrilling realism to the central character, with Loretta Young and Annabella stirring appealing in the feminine leads. Allan Dwan directed "Suez," which is one of the Movie Quiz $250,000 contest pictures.

STATE

The rascally Charlie McCarthy is starred in a warm-moving drama, unusual because John M. Stahl, great director who has always pulled at your heart-strings, now also tickles your ribs.

It is novel because of the strange story of five human fates which it tells—all wrapped up in a piece of paper. Featured in the picture is also Andrea Leeds and the suave Adolphe Menjou.

The co-feature of the State's bill is "Panamint's Bad Man" starring Smith Ballew, who interperses themany scenes of thrilling action with his popular rendition of cowboy fireside ditties and riding songs.

FABIAN

Teamed together for the first time in their sensationally successful careers, Errol Flynn and Bette Davis come to the screen of the Fabian today in Warner's lavishly produced film version of one of the biggest selling novels of recent years, "The Sisters," by Myron Brinig.

As readers of the novel will recall the story is concerned with the fortune of three beautiful sisters who start their lives in a Montana town, and most of the interest is centered about the brae struggle for happiness of the eldest sister, played by Miss Davis.

Anita Louise, Jane Bryan, Henry Travers, Beulah Bondi, Ian Hunter, Donald Crisp, Dick Foran, Patrick Knowles, Lee Patrick and Laura Hopecrews are in the cast.

Modern high school youth, its ambitions and problems is capably depicted in the co-feature picture "Gangster's Boys" starring Jackie Cooper.
