Ras Desta's Raids Ended By Italians

ROME—Announcement was officially made here today that Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of Emperor Haile Selassie and last of the Ethiopian chieftains opposing Italian rule in Ethiopia, had been captured and executed yesterday by a band of native troops under Italian command.

Graziano Reports

The report, which came from Addis Ababa and was signed by Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, viceroy of Ethiopia, read:

"Yesterday, February 24, Ras Desta was overtaken by the native band of the Dejjac Tocl commanded by Captain Tucl. Desta was captured and immediately executed."

Ras Desta's execution brought an end to a search which began after last Friday's bombing attempt at Addis Ababa which seriously wounded General Aurelio Liotta, commander of the air force in Ethiopia, and less seriously injured Marshall Graziani and the Abuna Cyril, head of the Coptic Christian church in Ethiopia.

Ends Haile's Claim

Ras Desta, when captured, was leading a small force of warriors, the last of his great army, toward the Ethiopian capital. His death deprives Haile Selassie of his claim that the Italian conquest had not been accomplished because his soldiers still remained in the field to contest Italian supremacy in Ethiopia.

Murphy Asks Board For 15 New Patrolmen

Says His Department Is Undermanned

Chief of Police John A. Murphy urged the appointment of 14 new patrolmen and one policewoman at a meeting of the fire — police board Tuesday evening.

29 Vacancies

Chief Murphy stated to the board that actually there were 29 vacancies in his department caused by resignations and deaths in the personnel of the police force. His realization of the need of economy, the chief said, prompted him in his request that only approximately half of these vacancies be filled at this time.

He emphasized in his statement that the department could not be expected to function efficiently with such a shortage in personnel.

Praises Scout Patrol

The chief's statement also touched on the need for more traffic lights and contained laudatory references to the work of the scout patrol which, he said, was responsible for the noticeable let-down in crime of all kinds.

COUNTY BUDGET ADOPTED WITH ADDITIONAL INCREASE

Auditor Darby's Ruling Adds $32,162 To Final Sum

The board of freeholders, yesterday afternoon formally adopted its 1937 budget after a last minute change which increased the amount to be raised by taxation by the sum of $32,162.33 over the originally stipulated item of $2,757,586.46.

Appropriation Cut

The change in the schedule was made to conform with an order issued by Walter R. Darby, state auditor, which called for a reduction of the appropriation of surplus revenue to the budget in general. Early figures had placed this sum at $400,000, but it was pared down to $336,516.65 as a result of Auditor Darby's ruling.

New Fire Alarm System Necessary

Sup't. Moore Tells Board Present Equipment Is Outmoded

Daniel F. Moore, superintendent of the fire and police telegraph system, Tuesday night urged the replacement of what he termed the "outmoded fire alarm system" now being used in Paterson.

"This recommendation," said Mr. Moore, "is particularly pertinent at this time because the city is endeavoring to secure a reclassification, in order to obtain reduced insurance rates. In order to secure a reclassification, one of the most important requirements to be met will be the immediate replacement of the existing fire alarm system."

Long Aware

"The necessity for replacing the old system," said Mr. Moore, "was well known to those in authority long before my appointment in 1922."

MERGER OF PATERSON WITH OTHER CITIES URGED IN PLAN

McBride Sees Many Benefits In This Proposal

A greater city composed of Paterson and ten surrounding communities and the advantages of such an amalgamation were pictured by Dr. Andrew F. McBride, former mayor of Paterson for three

0 mayors of the 11 communities included in Dr. McBride's proposed creation of a "greater city" in Passaic county were told to the proposed plan, it was reported this afternoon. Mayor Hinchliffe of Paterson could not be reached, while Mayor Turner of Passaic thought the matter "should be left for the people to decide."

terms, and Ex-State Commissioner of Labor, in an address given before the Zonta club at the Alexander Hamilton hotel Tuesday evening.

The new adjustment in the budget will bring the tax rise up to 8 and one half points, a total increase of one half a point over the earlier figures released by the board of freeholders.

Employee Consent

The board announced also that in lieu of state authority to continue salary cuts in effect, the county had to obtain the signature of its employees before it could make out its salary lists at the rates called for in the budget. The failure of the state legislature to reenact legislation enabling counties and municipalities to keep pay reductions in force made this step necessary.

The total appropriations for this year's budget amount to $3,773,437.90 an increase of $131,660.91 over last year's figures.

Police Hold 2, Recover $1,000 In Store Loot

North 3rd Street Pair Charged With Safe-Cracking

Approximately $1,000 in loot gathered from almost a score of local robberies was recovered by police this week when two young men, residents of 96 Third Street, were taken into custody by Paterson detectives and charged with the many store and safe burglaries which had kept police busy for the last month.

The prisoners are James Zebe and John Meyers, aged 24 and 19 respectively. They are being held on open complaints pending further examination.

Detective Work

Zebe and Meyers were arrested by Detectives Joseph Sellner, Martin Brennan and Frank Robinson, under the direction of Acting Detective Captain James J. Smith.

Italian Women's Club Announces Its Incorporation

The New Jersey branch of the Italian Professional Women of America laid plans for the holding of its annual spring dance in conjunction with the New York chapter of that association at its meeting in the Alexander Hamilton hotel early this week.

At the same time, announcement was made that papers of incorporation had been filed by the New Jersey chapter. Elizabeth T. Batist was named as agent.

Guest Speaker

The guest speaker at the meeting was Professor James De Girolamo, of the French and Italian department of New York University. Colonel Matteo Riccio, Italian consular agent, was also among the guests who attended.

Mrs. Donohue Offers Traffic Bills To House

Mrs. Nan V. Donohue, assemblywoman from Passaic county, last night introduced two bills in the assembly calling for the correction of the overlapping of powers which exists at present between the fire — police board and the board of works in the city of Paterson.

It is expected that passage of the bills will enable the city of Paterson to properly adjust its traffic problems by transferring entire jurisdiction in the matter to the fire — police board.

The bills were referred to the committee on municipalities.

Adoption Of City Budget Is Delayed

The board of finance yesterday postponed its formal adoption of the 1937 budget in order that it could confer further with Walter R. Darby, state auditor, on the matter.

Yesterday's meeting was devoted principally to a public hearing on the the budget. It is expected that the new schedule will be ready for official adoption on Saturday morning.

Changes ordered by State Auditor Darby, added to the insistent questioning of delegates of taxpayer groups, made the session an amusing, if troubled one for the members of the board of finance.

Auditor Darby's recommendations made it necessary to add a two point rise to the tax rate which is provided for in the budget. As it now stands, the budget calls for the sum of $7,760,568.12 to be raised by taxation.

Two Point Rise

This total is two points above the original estimate and is the result of changes ordered by the state auditor.

The revised budget was forwarded today to Mr. Darby's office and will become official as soon as the board acts upon it after receiving Mr. Darby's approval.

Question Board

The Taxpayers' League, represented by Theodore Haefell, president, and Charles S. Silberman, counsel, occupied the first portion of the meeting by asking and getting a clarification of several points contained in the budget. At times, the discussion approached a heated stage, but all differences of opinion were quickly smoothed over and the atmosphere, in general, remained calm.

The new tax rate, according to the figures recommended by State Auditor Darby, will be 4.46.

URGE NEW PURE FOOD STATE LAW

Congress was called upon this week by State and local health officials to adopt new pure food and drug act to remedy the "deplorable deficiencies and limitations" of the present law.

After hearing a paper by W. R. M. Wharton, chief of the Federal Food and Drug Administration's Eastern division, the annual conference of health officers at the State House adopted a resolution holding that a new law should end needless suffering, loss of life and economic impositions.

Mr. Wharton said the present law did not prohibit false labels, prevented regulation of advertising, left sale of dangerous drugs unsupervised and failed to authorize legal standards for food and cosmetics.

The question of child marriages also was discussed at the conference, which opened yesterday, D. L. South of Trenton, State Registrar of Vital Statistics said minors cannot wed under New Jersey law without consent of parents, but that the statutes do not fix a minimum age. Assemblyman Thomas D. Taffart of Atlantic County has introduced a bill in the Legislature prohibiting the marriage of girls under 16 and boys under 18, regardless of consent.

Amos Field Jr. of Kearny was elected president of the New Jersey Health Officers Association succeeding Dr. Edwin F. Stewart of Fair Haven. Dr. John N. Ryan of Passaic, was elected vice president and William C. Blake of Princeton re-elected secretary treasurer.

24-Cylinder Motor Aim For War Plan In Improved Design

The Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corporation at Farmingdale, L. I. plans an airplane engine of twenty-four cylinders to deliver 1,000 horsepower and permit the mounting of a rapid-fire cannon, firing through the engine.

Development is considered a serious effort to put the United States more nearly on a parity with foreign countries in the matter of in-line, air-cooled engines, all high horsepower air cooled types in this country being of radial type.

Many details of the new engine are being withheld for military reasons, Mr. Fairchild explained, however, that four air-cooled banks of six cylinders in line will be used to make up one of the big power plants. The type will be that known as an "H" engine, as the frontal appearance suggests that letter.

Each unit is connected to a propeller shaft in the center of the assembly and this shaft is bored for the muzzle of a small cannon, so that shells can be fired through it. The H engine has an overall width of thirty inches, which is 40 per cent less than that of the smallest radial engine of equal horsepower.

"It is not my contention," Mr. Fairchild said, "that the in-line engine is the answer to all airplane power plant problems. I do feel, however, that with such conspicuously successful engines as the Rolls Royce, Merita and others developed abroad, we should do something in this country to put this type of engine into the higher horsepower." He predicted that the "H" engine would probably weigh about 1,100 pounds for 1,000 horsepower.

Job Placements Up Over 1936, Rise In Industry Is Hailed

In spite of seasonal declines in business activity, placements of workers in private jobs during January were 131.1 per cent above a year ago. The United States Employment Service reported the number of placements at 142,981. Secretary Frances Perkins, head of the Labor Department said:

"The steady betterment in private placements since last Spring has followed an intensive effort by employment offices to secure openings for workers with private employers."

"In connection with this activity, the service has carried on a large-scale program of field visits. In January 149,035 such field visits were made, the number being second only in the entire history of the service to those made in December, which numbered 153,435."

"The effect of these field visits is apparent in the fact that in January, for the second time in the history of the Employment Service placements with private employers exceeded placements in governmental and relief employment combined."

Seasonal declines were felt in all other phases of Employment Service activities. Requisitions for workers on public works projects were reflected in the total of 34,068 placements in public employment which was 12.3 per cent below January 1936. Relief placements in January numbered 13,618 continuing a downward trend.

Applications from job seekers declined moderately; 291,941 new applicants were registered and classified, a drop of 4.9 per cent from January, 1936. This decline brought the total of new applicants to the lowest point in 22 months.

Spurred By Others, Retail Sales Rise Toward New Record

All major branches of business forged ahead at a fast pace during the week, spurred by the heavy volume of retail distribution, which in some cases reached the highest level so far this year.

Gains were especially impressive in the South, retail sales figures in some areas rising 25 per cent ahead of those in the corresponding period last year, with the demand for Spring merchandise the heaviest since 1930.

Retail trade was active in the metropolitan area here, department store sales gaining 10 per cent or more over the figures for the corresponding period last year.

While buying showed a seasonal falling off in some of the wholesale lines, manufacturers continue to operate at capacity to fill orders for merchandise for the Spring season. A large number of buyers from the Ohio River Valley flood areas visited the wholesale markets to replenish stocks destroyed by water. Practically all of the leading industries in the New England territory were operating at higher levels than at any other time since 1929, although the increased activity of labor agitators has caused some uneasiness particularly in the textile industry.

Special sales events created an abnormal demand for merchandise in Chicago stores, with sales being estimated at 25 per cent ahead of last year's figures. Unfavorable weather retarded business activity in the Northwest, as many of the

Robinson Sees A Plan For Voiding Old U. S. War Debt

Within a year, Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Arkansas Democrat and majority leader, hopes there will be something substantial accomplished toward settlement of war debts.

Senator Robinson emphasized he was expressing his personal opinion. During debate on the war debt situation, Robinson was prompted to make the statement following proposal by Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, Illinois Democrat, for reciprocal trade agreements with nations which have defaulted on debts to this country.

Previously the Senate Finance Committee had reported favorably a resolution extending for three years President Roosevelt's authority to negotiate reciprocal trade pacts.

Robinson said that in his opinion "there is in progress now a reversion of sentiment so that there is a strong likelihood that in the next year something substantial will be accomplished looking toward settlement of the war debts."

Senator William E. Borah (Rep. Ida.) inquired whether the talk of settlement did not involve a reduction of the debts.

"No proposals have been submitted," Robinson replied. "No plan has been formulated."

"There is now beginning a movement in some of these debtor countries to build up a public opinion which will lead to some settlement."

Lewis introduced a resolution supporting his proposal to "give notice clearly" that countries owing debts to the United States will not be eligible for reciprocal trade agreements which would "flood our markets."

Borah said he believed "there is undoubtedly a movement to obtain reconsideration of the question, but the entire program is based on a reduction of the debts."

"I do not think it is possible to forecast at this time what will be accomplished," Robinson replied. "I do not like to say I am unwilling to see a reduction or that I will agree to a reduction."

rural communities were snowbound during a part of the week. The effect of dust storms in the Midwest was reflected in a loss of trade in some of the agricultural areas, although the general average of business continued at a fair level.

Italy Now Ready To Open Ethiopia; Suppressing Natives, Road Work Hard

Two years after Italian troops sailed for East Africa for conquest of Haile Selassie's domain, consolidation of Italian power has been proceeding rapidly.

The first phase of the operations, consisting of the effective occupation and garrisoning of all the territory that once recognized Haile Selassie as its sovereign, is rapidly drawing to a close and the Viceroy, Marshal Graziani, is already at work on a vast program to prepare Ethiopia for the stream of colonists who are clamoring for permission to settle on land in this new Italian empire. By the return of the rainy season next June the whole of Ethiopia will be firmly in the hands of the Italians and some parts of the territory will be sufficiently organized to permit intensive colonization, which is expected to begin at the end of the rain in October.

When the 1936 rains put an end to military operations, the Italians had occupied about two thirds of Ethiopia. Their hold over a considerable part of the territory, however, was very loose, for, with the exception of the Tigre, which they had thoroughly organized, they controlled only the principal roads and the most important inhabited centers.

The task that the Italians tackled when they resumed operations in October was therefore twofold. They had on the one hand, to round up the remnants of the Ethiopian Army that had remained inside the occupied area and to disarm pacify and organize the natives, good modern highways are to be completed by the middle of 1938. Six main roads are to be built, linking every part of Ethiopia to Addis Ababa and to the old Italian colonies of Eritrea and Somalia.

"The progressive and liberal leaders in American Government today are far behind the people they are supposed to be leading."—Roxford G. Tugwell, retired Under-Secretary of Agriculture.

AUTO PRODUCTION IS HEADING FOR NEW RECORD DURING 1937

Automobile factories are steadily heading for a record level of production since capital and labor in the motorcar industry have decided for the time being at least to compose differences of opinion around the conference table.

Assembly lines of General Motors, completely halted by the more than six weeks of strikes, began moving again this week on a limited basis. Immediately the week's output volume turned upward to approximately 89,000 passenger cars and trucks compared with 74,145 last week, barring unexpected developments, the industry's total assemblies should near the 110,000 unit mark.

Steady progress has been reported from the General Motors and U. A. W. A. conference seeking to compose strike differences. In 8 sessions in four days at the corporation's offices here they have reached a tentative agreement on machinery for the handling of grievances of union members employed by General Motors; have ironed out several misunderstandings incident to resumption of production operations, and have plunged into a discussion of the union demand for seniority based on length of service.

Awaiting discussion are questions of wages and hours, systems of pay and speed of production lines. These will be taken up when the negotiators resume their meetings Monday.

So far as the motor car industry itself is concerned, there are no major labor disputes in any plant. At present the supply of steel, glass, rubber and other materials in that classification continues to flow in the volume needed for the assembly of passenger cars and trucks.

The United Automobile Workers of America and the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel Company announced an agreement which provides wage increases for 5,000 workers, aggregating approximately $400,000 a year. A strike of Kelsey-Hayes employees was ended by a truce on Dec. 23.

FHA Aide Warns Of Overbuilding

According to Frederick M. Babcock, chief of the underwriting section of the Federal Housing Authority, residence building must be carried on according to programs recognizing requirements in different price ranges and localities if the evils which result from overbuilding are to be avoided.

Builders, he said, must realize that the capital and income of potential buyers varies. One of the largest factors contributing to the severity of the recent depression in the real estate market, he added, was overproduction of homes in the higher price ranges which found their way into the hands of owners unable to afford them.

Babcock said the greatest building boom in history would be necessary in order to provide sufficient homes to supply the growing demand.

FIND CURE FOR SINUS

Great news for persons who suffer from sinus trouble was released this week when a new non surgical treatment gave permanent relief to 80 per cent of sufferers treated.

According to physicians, the new method promises to revolutionize the treatment of sinusitis, an ailment for which no known effective remedy previously has existed.

The treatment consists of injections of an autogenous vaccine taken from nasal secretions combined with a preparation of histidine hydrochloride.

In addition to the injections, a new form of heat treatment, a dry heat introduced internally to the affected parts by a hot water solution, is applied.

"The congestion disappears," Dr. Shorell reported, "together with the inflammatory disease."

Order For 40 All-Service Busses Is Placed By P. S. Co.

An additional order for forty light weight, transit type busses of 21 passenger seating capacity has been placed with General Motors by Public Service Coordinated Transport. These busses will be of the same design as the 185 purchased by Transport from General Motors last year for use on lighter traffic lines.

Special electrical apparatus for converting thirty six of its gas electric busses into all service type of vehicles has also been ordered by Coordinated Transport from the General Electric and Ohio Brass companies. The electrical busses to use power from overhead wires as well as to run under their own engine power.

In December, Transport placed an order for 195 all service vehicles with General Motors. When these are delivered the company will have 424 all service units, the largest fleet of vehicles equipped for trolley bus operation in the U. S.

Mussolini Calls Million Fascists Into Italy's Army

So that a rearming world would learn how rapidly Italy can be placed on a war footing, five classes of Italian conscripts received orders from Premier Mussolini this week to swell Italy's men under arms to more than 1,500,000.

Acting as his own Secretary of War, Il Duce in a terse one sentence communique warned the 1,600,000 Italians between thirty-three and thirty-seven years old to be ready to answer the Fascist call to arms within the next few months.

Mussolini was considered in informed quarters to have called out these classes to emphasize that men of all ages must be ready to fight.

It was recalled that Il Duce boasted several months ago that 8,000,000 Italians could be placed under arms at a few hours' notice.

When the actual order goes into effect—at a moment's notice some time in the next few months—Italy will have a formidable war machine of more than 1,500,000 men during the short time the conscript classes are kept under arms.

Industrial Jobs Up 59% In Jersey

State Employment Service of New Jersey reported an improvement in the employment situation in private industry in New Jersey.

Of a total of 4,651 placements in all employment last month, 3,582 were with private employers. This is compared to 2,236 such jobs in January, 1936, a gain of more than 59 per cent.

The figures last month represented an increase of more than 16 per cent over the private placements in January, 1935, a better month for comparison, because in January, 1936, the service offices were engaged in placing about 11,000 persons with Federal works relief administrations.

Only 258 placements last month, including 125 men and 134 women, in private employment were from the relief rolls, or a little above 7 per cent of the total private placements.

The State Employment Service on Jan. 1 had an active file of applicants for employment totaling 240,802. On Feb. 1 the active file had increased to 245,583, due to the seasonal trend, it was said. The total was a favorable decline from an active file of 304,192 as of Feb. 1, 1936.

Blood Kin To President Grant Asks Women To Preserve America's Freedom

Speaking to the members of the Bergen County Woman's Republican Club on Wednesday afternoon Mme Cantacuzene, grand daughter of President Grant, urged that the spirit of the pioneer be not forgotten and that women get out and fight to preserve America as a democracy.

Mme Cantacuzene was preceded to the platform by three uniformed members of Doremus Post 55, American Legion Bugle Corps and escorted by Mrs. Marie Dadds and two members of the Legion Auxiliary also in uniform. Mrs. Pamela Francisco led the pledge to the Flag and the singing of America and recited a poem "What shall I say to you old Flag."

Mme Cantacuzene who has recently been in Europe and lived in Russia during the Revolution felt she was well prepared to point out the disadvantages of living under a Dictatorship, which in the old world in many cases has followed the paternalistic form of government. Only in America, said the speaker, is there the equality of opportunity which permits one born in the humblest circumstances to rise to the highest position in the land; the freedom of America must be maintained. This can only be accomplished when the balance of power is divided between the three branches of government as provided in the Constitution.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. William H. Stratton of Ridgewood a fellow D. A. R.

MARSH HAS RIGHT IDEA

Credit County Clerk Lloyd B. Marsh with the right idea for ridding the Republican party of its population of "Droopntellies", as he termed them.

We feel that Marsh points his criticism at both Governor Hoffman and Senator Van Winkle, when he charges that politicians are playing the party for personal gains.

There are a number of Republican pessimists in the ranks who have made unsuccessful campaigns for jobs, and, disgruntled, have begun to bore from within with disrupting propaganda.

Marsh has the right idea in his proposal to clean house!

NO SENSE

The nation looked upon the fact that 600,000 men were thrown out of work in three months as a national calamity. The rate was that high during the worst depression years.

Private employers could not help themselves. It was a case of lay off workers or go bankrupt. Faced with such a clear-cut choice, they made the inevitable decision of cutting payrolls to fit declining orders.

But the Federal government is not a private employer. It isn't faced with bankruptcy. On the contrary its credit has literally never been better; its revenues aren't decreasing; they are rising rapidly with business expansion.

Yet the Federal government deliberately and with no economic pressure to bear, plans to cut 600,000 workers from the WPA rolls by June. At least that is

WRITING YOUR CONGRESSMEN

Older heads at Washington recently gave their younger Congressmen the following advice, in effect: "Answer those letters from constituents the day you get them. Reply first to those written in pencil on tablet paper. They come from somebody at the head of the creek who'll be your friend for life".

Answering letters promptly and sending constituents literature seems to be a popular method of impress voters with the fact that officeholders are their friends and that they are wise.

Officials should be elected for responsibilities, however, upon more serious qualifications than the ability of hiring first-class secretaries who can flatter voters in their territory with letters and inconsequential attentions.

RIGHT TO LIVE—G.O.P. VERSION

State Senator Loizeaux, G. O. P. floor leader of Jersey's upper house, denounced the Democratic plan to use eight million dollars of highway funds for unemployment relief, to keep human beings from starving.

His reason—Because that would be "playing politics with human lives", since it would fail to protect motorists by giving them more and still more roads.

Apparently, one must own a motor car to qualify as a human being with the party dedicated to two cars in every garage.

one way of looking at the statement of Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins in Chicago recently.

The present WPA projects, including flood work are giving jobs to 2,150,000. The $650,000,00 appropriated by Congress last week will not provide for that number of WPA workers, because millions of it have already been used for emergency flood work.

Why take a perfectly justified flood-relief appropriation out of WPA funds? If there were no WPA a flood-relief allocation would have been made from Federal funds.

Why penalize the WPA program and make it pay the bill for flood work?

AN UNEMPLOYED KING

It seems ungracious the way the acrimonious haggling of the House of Commons (and particularly its Labor members) is evident in discussion of a proposed pension for David Windsor, late King Edward VIII.

An argument is presented that the British people have no responsibility for supporting the Duke of Windsor, now that he is a private citizen. And technically, this may be true.

But David Windsor knows that he has a few trumps in his own hand. He could go to Hollywood. He could obtain a fairly comfortable income indorsing cigarettes, shaving lotions and tooth paste.

Trained from birth in royal traditions, David Windsor could enter mighty few jobs without compromising the royal prestige of the House of Windsor, and with it the dour dignities of those who preferred to have him abdicate than marry the woman he loved.

Great Britain would be conferring no favor upon Edward by granting him a pension. It would merely be making up, in part, for the opportunities which are denied him by reason of his name.

DEMOCRACY'S WEAKEST LINK

Landless farmers will make the most dangerous threat to the nation's social order and progress. Over half of the farmers in the United States today don't own the land on which they work. They are tenants, share croppers or laborers.

A new plan is being molded whereby the farmer will be resettled on his land. Farmers will be made owners of the land again and repay their debt to the government over a forty-year period at a low interest charge.

Any European nation with as large a farm population has had a similar problem. Most foreign countries waited for revolutions and strife and hunger periods before passing laws to restore the farmers to their land as owners.

In the South of the United States farm tenants and share croppers run as high as 70 per cent of the total rural population. The result is a horribly low living standard which includes undernourishment, sub-human housing, disease, ignorance and such examples of social decay as the recent child marriage in Tennessee.

Sheer self preservation dictates the course of the Wallace plan for renewed human farmer lives. The United States must check increasing farm tenancy, or else increasing farm tenancy will undermine the United States government.

A chain is no stronger than its weakest link; a democracy no more stable than the security of its most depressed class.

Quotations

From the News

New Jersey was the first State in the Union to enact public roads legislation providing for State aid in the construction of highways. Improved road building began in Jersey prior to 1850 to facilitate transportation of copper ore from mines in Passaic, Warren County, to Esopus (N. Y.), now Kingston.

Is it any wonder we lead so many states in beautiful roads?

BETWEEN THE LINES

Last year, this time, Between The Lines had the following comment:

"Judge Delaney (Court of Errors and Appeals) is practically assured reappointment by Governor Hoffman next year at his term's expiration now that Gerry Westerhoff finally received the Chief Probation Officer's spot in Paterson.

"Paterson barristers discussing the case say that while the two judges (Court of Errors and Appeals) never publicly disagreed on the appointment, only their joint approval of the Republican counts with the Board of Freeholders, who would not take the thing to a court of law on the judges' actual disagreement on the Probation Chief selection.

"Smart Democrats say that while some adherents will consider Delaney's action a piece of party bucking, the deal was the necessary thing. Imagine a Democratic Board of Freeholders approving the appointment of a Republican to one of the more profitable county jobs."

One time I feel a tip came my way heavily coated with reliability. Thanks, Nat.

Ralph Kirby, the NBC dream singer, is mostly wrapped up in fish dreams. He insists that if fishing interferes with your business, you should quit the business—not the fishing. Kirby shoots a pistol as well as a rifle, casts a wicked fly (or maybe worm) and can fly as well as he can walk, at least so his press agent told this column.

He flies in either one of two small planes which he uses in his hunting and fishing expeditions, in between baritone on the air.

Ralph lives in Paterson. He's been known to teach firearms handling to Silk City policeman, I've been told.

Kirby was a close companion of a local newspaperman. This press agent felt that a voice that charmed fish and women should get the air. So NBC heard of him. Kirby got a job with time to hunt and fish and the radio public got a new dream singer. The story turned out just as nice as the news paper man said it would.

Upon invitation of the boss, I made my way to Lazara's Music Hall in Paterson Sunday evening to take a gander at Italian drama. In spite of the fact that the language is strange to me, I really had the message of the story, "Little Mary, Flower of the Eastside" starring Cammi. There were easily 2,000 persons in the hall, with the S. R. O. sign being tacked up long before the curtain went up on the first act.

The remarkable thing about Italian drama at the Lazara hall every Sunday night, is that Mr. Lazara spares no expense and spends much of his personal time and effort to obtain only the best available Italian dramatic companies to appear at his hall. Turnouts of the last few weeks must be refreshing to Mr. Lazara, rewarded for his efforts.

This Sunday Angelo Gloria, who was a volunteer to Africa during the Ethiopian expedition of the Italian government and who left the stage to serve in Duca, returns to the legitimate stage in "St. John, Beheaded," a three act comedy starring Emma Alba, as Ona Lona.

MARSH DEFINITELY IN RACE; PLANS PARTY CLEAN-UP SOON

County Clerk Lloyd B. Marsh has made definite announcement of his candidacy for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in May.

Mr. Marsh is at present in Florida for a two week rest. On his return from the South, he intends to make plans for a clean up in State politics. It appears that the clean up will be a clean out of Republican jobholders, pessimistic about the party's outlook and a stiffening of the party morale.

"I think the time has come," said Mr. Marsh, who is Republican County leader, "for the Republican Party in New Jersey to take a firm and defiant stand, cease its you hit me, and I'll hit you back attitude and once and for all cease this defeatist complex."

This was read by some as a reference to the feud between State Senator Winant Van Winkle and Governor Harold G. Hoffman over Bergen County patronage.

"I am not going to stand idly by and see our party shattered by the winds of political indifference and by a lot of Droopnellies whose only ambition is to sell out for the best price," he declared.

Mr. Marsh faces the prospect of a primary contest for the nomination. If he wins, he will face U. S. Senator A. Harry Moore, twice elected Governor in the Fall.

Mr. Marsh recently recovered from an attack of pneumonia. He is taking the vacation on the advice of his physician to recuperate

Fire Losses In City For 1936 Total $510,152

The annual report of the fire department, tendered to the fire-police board Tuesday night by Fire Chief Coyle, revealed that damages for 1936 blazes in Paterson totalled $510,152.

The sum of $119,152 represented the loss on buildings, while the remainder was the cost of fire damage to the contents of buildings.

Had it not been for the costly Hamilton Lumber Company fire on December 10, 1936, which did damage amounting to $271,000, the city would have reached an all time low for fire losses.

NOT SO DUMB

In my humble opinion Madison Square Garden will do no little squawking about the fact that Champion Jim Braddock ran off to Chicago and signed for a championship ship bout with Joe Louis.

But Madison Square Garden is building its own fences. Jimmy Johnston knows full well that the promised boycott of the Braddock-Schmeling fight for June 9 has taken a good deal of the polish off the glamour of the bout. Johnston knows that Schmeling's stock, in spite of his sensational knockout of the Brown Bomber, is worthless when the fans won't pay their way to see him fight, much less give him the opportunity to take Mr. Braddock's title back to Chalmers.

So the Garden will yell murder about the Braddock run-out on Mr. Schmeling. The New York Boxing Commission will suspend Braddock maybe. There'll be all sorts of publicity. Court action and a lot of heated words back and forth. Bal-lyhoo of the first order.

Meanwhile let's turn for a minute to the scene in Chicago where Jim Braddock has just signed to meet the Brown Bomber at Comiskey Park on June 22.

When signing's done with, Braddock whistles "Pennies from Heaven." His manager Joe Gould, says that there's lots of time to start preparation for the Schmeling bout June 9 and that Braddock fights Louis many days after the Schmeling bout and everything's all right.

On top of that the Boxing commission says that if Braddock is not training for Schmeling by May 27, he's automatically suspended.

My, my, but the boys are getting rough.

Here's the real story behind the whole thing.

The Garden will finally (if it hasn't already) compromise by getting Schmeling with the winner of the Braddock-Louis bout. Between so much boycott propaganda and Braddock not being given much of a chance against the Ulan heavyweight after the champ's two year layoff, the Braddock-Schmeling match would draw no better than the Braddock-Baer bout, if as well.

If Braddock wins over Louis, then, with this fight under his belt, he would figure to have an excellent chance against Schmeling and the Garden would be assured a good gate, boycott or no boycott.

And if Detroit Joe Louis should be returned the winner in the Chicago heavyweight championship match, the return match between Schmeling and the Brown Bomber couldn't miss being a million-dollar gate.

That's why I think the Garden is behind the signing of Louis and Braddock after all.

Wrestling Bouts At Lazzara Music Hall

Thursday, February 25th, Frank Loscalzo will again stage one of his all dynamite studded wrestling cards. In the main bout, which is destined to furnish fireworks galore, Loscalzo has signed Gino Garibaldi, the Italian Champion, to exchange grunts and groans with Frank Bronowicz, the Polish title holder. This battle of champions is scheduled for 90 minutes, with one fall deciding the superior.

The semi final, which in all probability, will be exciting as the main event finds Jim Wright, the young Texas cowboy facing Scotty McDougal, the Canadian old man. This battle will be one of those Youth vs. Age sagas. The cowboy is being groomed for the heavy-weight title, and should he trounce McDougal, then his ability will be something to write home about. This will go 30 minutes or less.

The three remaining prelims, all studded with action, are scheduled to go one half hour. Of these the Bobby Roberts-Sammy Manacher fight will be a hair raiser, as both lads are young, powerful and fast. The two other prelims find George McCleod against Fritz Schmeling of Germany, and John Swencki, who appeared here several weeks ago, and became a favorite, tackling Lou Farina, a reputed wrestler.

BOBBY GILBERT HEADS BILL AT THE MAJESTIC

A splendid three hour program of five big acts of vaudeville and two feature pictures that are bound to please the taste of almost any pleasure-seeking person will be found in the new bill which opens at the Majestic Theater in Paterson tomorrow.

The headline attraction will be Bobby Gilbert, stage, radio and screen star. Mr. Gilbert who, among other programs was featured with Rudy Vallee in his "Showboat" is the originator of the talking fiddle and with it he garnishes a lot of laughs.

Another feature of the program will be handsome Hob Eaton one of America's foremost entertainers and his lovely but tiny little partner, Ondea Odette.

Among the other acts are Jack Seymour and Company in a delightful song and dance revue and the Four Robeys in tumbling, rope skipping and comedy bit entitled "Grace And Agility."

The feature pictures will include "House of Secrets" with Leslie Fenton and Murial Evans, and "Send Flow" with Buck Jones.

On Monday evening "Bank Nite" will take place and $125 in cash will be given away.

"JOHN MEADE'S WOMAN" PLAYING AT THE U. S.

After a brilliant career on the stage, in which she distinguished herself for the ability in which she handled widely diversified roles, Francine Larrimore, one of the best known actresses on Broadway has entered films.

Her first picture is John Meade's Woman, in which she is co-starred with Edward Arnold, and which begins tomorrow at the U. S. Theatre in Paterson. Miss Larrimore was chosen for the role because of the powerful emotional qualities involved; qualities, Hollywood says, which very few film actresses could handle properly. It is a role which calls for an actress of unusual histrionic and emotional ability and Miss Larrimore's career on the stage has equipped her to handle it to perfection.

As "Teddy Connor," an unemployed country girl trying to make a go of it in a large city, Miss Larrimore meets the all powerful and ruthless Arnold, who is amused with her frankness. He is engaged to a beautiful society belle, played by Gail Patrick, and when he discovers that she is untrue to him, he marries the country girl just to humiliate the socialite. When Miss Larrimore discovers that it was not love but vengeance which made the man marry her, she leaves him, spurning his offers of payment.

Her love turns to deep hate. In order to hurt him as he had hurt her, she goes to the wheat belt, where farmers who had been victimized by Arnold's merciless business vaccine that will prevent dread spotted fever.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke, who was knighted by King George for magnificent work on the stage, is superb in the role of Dean Harcourt. Margaret Lindsay, as Frances O'gilvie, who loves Paige but has to give him up, gives a convincing and sympathetic performance as does Henry O'Neill, as the older surgeon who is the cause of Flynn's martyrdom. Walter Abel fits competently into the role of Paige's friend.

Co-feature—"That's gold in them thar hills", but the gang of crooked stock salesmen in the hilarious screen comedy, "Don't Tell The Wife", didn't believe it so Guy Kibbee went "a prospectin'" and found himself a bonanza, and the crooks who had tried to fool him get left out in the cold.

"MEN ARE NOT GODS" COMES TO THE GARDEN

"Men Are Not Gods" the Alexander Korda production which arrives at the Garden Theatre, offers Miriam Hopkins in one of those bright frothy characterizations which made her famous.

This smart modern comedy which presents a new variation on the tangle theme tells the story of a stenographer who made an actor she had never seen famous and then fell in love with him and faced the problem of taking him away from the woman to whom he belonged.

Gertrude Lawrence, Sebastian Shaw and Rex Harrison are featured in the star's support.

The film, which marks Miss Hopkins' first picture for a British studio, shows many celebrated London sights, including Hyde Park, the Savoy Hotel, the Royal Academy, the "Cheshire Cheese", and the famous old Alhambra theatre.
