STRIKE NEAR AS DYERS VOTE 'NO'

Motorcyclist Badly Hurt In Accident

Randall Suffers Fractured Bones, Abrasions; Will Enter Reckless Driving Charge

Thern Randall, 25, of 508 Berdan avenue, Fair Lawn, was seriously injured yesterday when he was forced into an electric pole and cable while yesterday while riding a motorcycle in order to avoid a collision with a car driven by Alfred Siss, 20, of 533 Main street.

Siss was making a U-turn on Madison Boulevard and allegedly forced Randall's motorcycle, coming in the opposite direction to leave the road, crash into an electric cable and then into the pole, throwing him on a nearby lawn.

Randall was rushed to the General hospital where he was found to have sustained a fractured femur, a fractured rib just above the chest, and abrasions to the face, right hand and nose. He was treated by Dr. Arney and detained for observation.

Paterson's Dye Workers Again Reject Contract; May Decide On Walkout

Rank-and-file members of Dyers' Local 1733 yesterday voted "no" for the second consecutive time on the new contract submitted by Federation officials and dye house operators in a meeting at Lazzara's Hall that began in the morning and lasted into the afternoon. Their action brought closer than ever the prospect of a strike in the Paterson dyeing industry when the present contract expires on September 1.

Forces led by Hank Perrone continued their opposition to Clause 16 in the new contract which calls for the elimination of the "work-load" provision in favor of the employers and commanded an "overwhelming" majority of the membership of Local 1733.

May Vote Strike

It was reported that in the event that dye house operators refused to meet their demands in respect to the "work-load" clause, the majority, led by Perrone, was in favor of issuing a general strike call.

Earlier in the day, it appeared that the contract might win ratification at the hands of Local 1733, the only branch of the Federation of Dyers, Finishers, Printers and Bleachers of America which is opposed to it. The executive committee, which includes members of the Paterson local, had decided to recommend that the membership ratify the contract. Shop chairmen and delegates also took the same stand after a meeting Friday night.

Want Old Contract

Perrone forces, however, substantiated their claim that shop chairman represented only "8 or 9 shops" by succeeding in having the majority of the local vote it down yesterday.

As an alternative, they voted to re-open negotiations with the dye house operators and to recommend that the old contract, which will expire August 31, be renewed for another year. This motion was made by Joseph Ventura. However, inasmuch as the employers have stated that they will not yield an inch from the new terms laid down, a general strike appeared to be the only recourse for the Perrone group.

In contrast to the situation which prevailed Friday night when shop chairmen voted to ratify the contract, 38 to 18, the membership appeared to be in a rebellious mood during the course of the noisy meeting. At times the session threatened to get out of the control of President Anthony Ammirato.

Boisterous Session

City officials, members of the Industrial Commission and even Joseph W. Knapik, president of the Federation, came in for "panning" each time their names were mentioned during the discussions. Cries of "Shame! Shame!" punctuated the proceedings.

Local 1733 is considered the backbone of the Federation, with all the other locals usually following its lead. However, this year finds ratification coming at the hands of all the other locals, and the Paterson chapter now stands alone in its fight against the "work-load" clause.

Want "Ceiling"

There appears to be some hope of avoiding a strike in the suggestion of the Perrone forces that a "ceiling" be placed on the "work-load" clause, restricting the dye house operators in their manipulation of men and their distribution of work.

MAN ASSAULTS COMMON-LAW WIFE, MAKES HIS ESCAPE

Police Seek Seyrico After Lorraine La Plante Lands In Hospital

Police today were seeking the common-law husband of Lorraine La Plante, 21, of 100 Fair street, after she was found badly beaten in her home yesterday.

The object of their search is Joseph Seyrico, who allegedly lived with the La Plante girl in a furnished room at that address. Seyrico made his get-away after the girl was taken to the General hospital for treatment. She is still a patient there.

Meanwhile, police took into custody the girl's two children, aged 2 and 4, respectively, and placed them in a home for temporary safekeeping. Had it not been for the action of the authorities, the tots would have been left to shift for themselves.

Charges of assault and battery will be lodged against Seyrico by Police Lieutenant Bengert tomorrow morning, it was announced.

An automobile owned by Sey-rico which was parked in front of the Fair street address was towed by police to the city garage.

Two Injured In Car Crash; Driver Is Held

Two persons were injured yesterday afternoon in an automobile accident at Carroll street and Park avenue involving cars driven by John H. Knight of 317 Carnegie Place, Vaux Hall, N. J., and Howard Hogan, 62, of 863 East 24th street.

The injured are Hogan, and Miss Ruth Hogan, 28, of the same address. They were taken to the General hospital for treatment by Dr. Arney. Knight was arrested on a charge of speeding and reckless driving.

Hogan was knocked unconscious by the crash and was kept at the hospital for observation. Miss Hogan was treated for back injuries.

Royal Air Force Claims Two German Aircraft Factories Destroyed In Series Of Raids

LONDON, Aug. 17—RAF bombers last night made "widespread successful attacks on new objectives" in Germany, including the Messerschmitt aircraft plant at Augsburg and the Junkers assembly plant at Bernburg, the Air Ministry announced tonight. The raiders also struck at railroads in the Ruhr, the Zeiss military precision instrument factory at Jena and the important hydrogenation plant at Leuna, near Leipzig. Also attacked were the benzine (gasoline) refinery at Bohlen, aircraft stores at Kollez, near Weimar and a German anti-aircraft shop in Stavanger Fjord, Norway.

Three British planes were lost.

The ministry said a large force of RAF bombers caused "very large damage" to the hydrogenation plant, which is Germany's most important producer of synthetic gasoline from coal. The plant normally produced 400,000 metric tons annually.

The attack, which continued for more than an hour, set off a chain of fires along most of the 2,000 yards of the main plant, the Ministry said. The bombers made their attack in the face of intense anti-aircraft fire.

Two bombers failed to find their mark, the statement said. One returned home with its bombs; the other loosed a salvo at a large Nazi anti-aircraft battery.

"These are samples of the extreme care the RAF takes to identify its targets and thus avoid all danger of bombing non-military objectives," the Ministry explained.

Berlin Admits British Planes Active Over German Cities

BERLIN, Aug. 17—The German High Command disclosed today that British bombing planes had raided Germany last night, apparently in retaliation for the German air force's mass assault on London's industrial suburbs.

British planes attacked several German towns, causing "moderate material damage" and "killin gtwo civilians and wounding several others," the High Command said.

Munich reported that four explosions, like those of bombs, were heard west of that city early today.

Reports that the main railroad station in Munich had been struck were denied. It was the first time a raid had been made on Munich since June 5. Munich is the headquarters of the Nazi party.

Nazi sources charged that the British raided Weimar, shrine of German poets and musicians, and dropped bombs in Goethe Park near the house where the poet lived and on a Red Cross station.

"There were no military objectives anywhere in the neighborhood," these sources asserted.

Willkie Lashes At Spending, "Dictatorship" In Speech Of Acceptance As 200,000 Listen

ELWOOD, Ind., Aug. 17—Wendell L. Willkie, accepting the Republican Presidential nomination before an outdoor throng, today told the U. S. it must face the "brutal, perhaps terrible, fact," that our whole way of life "is in competition with Hitler's way of life." Indorsing the principles of military conscription and of aid short of war to Great Britain, Willkie called on the nation to "arise to a new life of adventure and discovery" in order to "outdistance Hitler in any contest he choose in 1940 or after."

The Republican nominee, in his first campaign speech, charged President Roosevelt with inciting the country to war by "inflammatory statements and manufactured panics" and with endangering the nation by "secretly meddling in the affairs of Europe."

Turning to domestic policies, Willkie said the "one great issue" is that "the New Deal stands for doing what has to be done by spending as much money as possible. I propose to do it by spending as little money as possible. . . . I say that we must substitute for the philosophy of spending the philosophy of production."

Willkie challenged President Roosevelt to appear with him "on public platforms in various parts of the country to debate the fundamental issues of this campaign."

Recalling the President's statement that he would not have the time or inclination to engage in purely political debate, Willkie said:

"I do not think that the issues at stake are 'purely political.' In my opinion they concern the life and death of democracy."

"I make this grave charge against this administration," Willkie said:

"I charge that the course this Administration is following will lead us, like France, to the end of the road . . . to economic disintegration and dictatorship."

Report Roosevelt Will Tour New Jersey Shipyards Soon

Edison Reveals President Asked Him For Road-Maps Listing Sites

WASHINGTON—Reports that President Roosevelt soon will make an inspection tour of New Jersey shipyards were strengthened yesterday when a road map of the state was sent for during his conference with former Secretary of the Navy Edison. Shipyard sites in relation to railways and highways were marked by the Democratic gubernatorial candidate.

Edison's conference, to which he was summoned by Roosevelt Wednesday lasted an hour and included lunch at Roosevelt's desk. All Edison would say was that the President asked him his observations on the program of naval construction in the New Jersey yards and the existence or threat of industrial and transportation bottlenecks.

When President Roosevelt left last night for Ogdensburg, it was said he intends to complete inspection of all military and naval preparations within his self-imposed radius of "12-hours by train from Washington." The President already has visited the Navy and other shipyards in the Portsmouth-Norfolk, Va., area.

Edison admitted that the sale of obsolete destroyers to Great Britain had been brought up, but said further information on that subject would have to come from Roosevelt.

"Mainly we talked about New Jersey's position as a great industrial seaboard state in the whole national defense setup," Edison said. "We didn't discuss politics. I was able to verify Secretary Knox's information that naval construction in the New Jersey yards was ahead of schedule and gaining more momentum. I told him I had found public opinion for preparedness to the hilt, without qualification.

"We also talked about housing facilities for the constantly growing numbers of industrial workers. He did not say anything to me about visiting the state on any definite date.

Kuhel's Hit Does It

DETROIT, Aug. 17—The White Sox, led by Joe Kuhel, whose three hits included a triple with the bases loaded, fanned three Detroit pitchers for a 9-5 victory today to make it two straight over the Tigers.

In an official communique the Air Ministry reported that in the 12 hours since dawn this morning the Germans had not made a single attack on Britain. However, there were occasional reports of German planes, possibly reconnaissance craft, flying over scattered areas.

The Associated Press reported that the Ministries of Air and Home Security announced today that German bombers had attacked South Wales and south-east and southwest England during the night, damaging property and causing a few casualties, but the assaults were described as "not heavy."

An enemy bomber was reported shot down by anti-aircraft guns in the channel.

A United Press Berlin dispatch reported that German quarters said the resumption of the aerial offensive was delayed by bad visibility over the English Channel.

Meanwhile workers dug into the debris of London's southwest bomb battered suburbs. It was believed the casualty list from yesterday's attacks would run high.

NOTED WRITER DIES

LONDON, Aug. 17—Hector Charles Bywater, 56, distinguished writer on naval topics, died today in London.

"We have reason to believe the Rome government proposes to clarify the attitude of Greece completely within the next few days," said the newspaper, which gave a more ominous turn to the recent propaganda being waged against pro-British Greece.

"It is necessary that everything be brought to light. It will thus be possible to judge if those responsible in Athens intend to recognize the rights of Albania and Italy or suffer the consequences of a policy of complicity."

Heretofore the Italians have accused Greece of being a vassal of Britain, of aiding her Mediterranean war against Italy and of conniving in plots along the Albanian frontier.

The newspaper said the British press was urging Greece to resist Italian demands.

Strongly hinting at possible invasion, it asked:

"Is it in the interest of the Greeks to repeat the experience of the Czecho-Slovaks, the Poles, Norwegians, Danes, Belgians, and French?"

Time Is Short

Real tragedy lies ahead for the City of Paterson if the current stalemate between the Federation of Dyers, Finishers, Printers and Bleachers of America and local dye house operators regarding the renewal of a labor contract is not broken.

We now have a situation arising from the failure of Local 1733 to join with its sister branches to ratify the contract drawn between negotiators for both sides that has resulted in a singular spirit of stubbornness—a condition which finds none of the parties willing to yield in the slightest degree.

Where does the fault lie? Upon whose shoulders should the blame be placed?

The dye house operators condemn the Federation for failure to make concessions which would enable them to compete with non-union operators.

The Federation, having agreed to approach its rank-and-file membership with a work-load clause concession, condemns Local 1733 for blocking the contract.

Local 1733 blames both the Federation and the dye house operators, completing what now appears to be a vicious circle.

The dye house operators, themselves, have contributed nothing to the cause of harmony by stating that they will not yield an iota of ground in the present matter. Let's hope it is a bargaining move, nothing more.

Some charges have been hurled to the effect that the current rebellion in the ranks of Local 1733 has been deliberately engineered by factions seeking to overthrow the present Federation leadership—by individuals who would have conjured up some bone of contention regardless of the terms of the contract which until recently was in the stage of being drafted.

If this is true, their behaviour in the present situation is nothing short of criminal. Their action would serve to bring upon the dyeing industry in Paterson another disastrous strike. It would mean that hundreds of local families would be thrown on relief, that whatever strides the industry has made in the direction of complete rehabilitation would be nullified.

It is of imperative importance that no such strike take place here this Fall. We refuse to believe that all channels of argument and reason are closed. The Federation, Local 1733 and the master dyers, meeting in a spirit of compromise, can yet iron out their difficulties.

Spokesmen for Local 1733 say that if a 'ceiling' were placed on the work-load clause, that stipulation in the contract would not be so objectionable. In this observation lies an opportunity for the Federation to re-open negotiations with the dye house operators. It is to be hoped that it will not be passed by.

The current controversy serves to teach the negotiators a lesson. Under the present system of contract negotiation there is little time for rebuttal on the part of both factions. In the future, it would be wise to begin negotiations in June, conclude them by mid-July, and leave something like six weeks in which adjustments in the contract might be made.

The present situation finds only two weeks remaining before the old contract expires. The time remaining in which an agreement might be reached is perilously short.

Short as the remaining time is, it is to be hoped that all factions will enlist patience, fairness, and reason in an effort to avoid the grim spectre of another strike in Paterson.

Needed—A Voice

It now appears that Senator W. Warren Barbour's chief argument for his re-election will be based on the contention that it is wise to keep a Senator in office for a long time in order that he may be given choice committee appointments because of seniority.

What an intelligent argument that is for a voter to consider!

Mr. Barbour, in effect, says that we ought to re-elect him because there's no sense starting out all over again with a new Senator. He makes no mention about his past record—one that is indelibly stamped with futility, aimlessness and "pussyfooting." He merely contends that because he has been in office for two "short terms" he ought to be elected again so that he can plump his stuffed shirt into some important committee seat where he most likely will repeat his performance of futility, aimlessness and "pussyfooting."

His opponent, James H. R. Cromwell, who has been Barbour's target for mudslinging, puts the lie to Barbour's argument quite effectively.

"It should be obvious, even to Senator Barbour, that in a Democratic administration, a Democratic senator would wield infinitely more influence than a Republican senator," Cromwell observes. "The Senate will remain Democratic irrespective of the forthcoming election. Hence, if influence is at stake, in my opinion he has made an irrefutable argument for my election, and not his own."

During the four odd years he has sat in the Senate, Barbour has not once contributed an outstanding bill for the public welfare. As his opponent points out, he has been New Jersey's inaudible voice in the Senate.

It truly is time that we had a voice in the upper house that will be heard and respected, when the occasion calls.

What Did He Say?

Wendell Willkie, the Republican nominee for president, has spoken—and many of us are still trying to figure out what he said that was notable.

One thing is certain. He accepted the nomination. Of that there can be no doubt.

As far as his utterances on foreign and domestic policy are concerned, he leaves us in the dark. He's against dictators, but he won't antagonize them, he says, until the time is ripe. What a vigorous and forceful foreign policy that is.

As for domestic policy, he intends to do what Roosevelt did, without spending so Psychological Corporation, one of the leading public poll organizations of the United States, is warning clients privately about the reliability of public opinion polls under present unsettled conditions.

Psychological Corporation is headed by Dr. Henry C. Link, who is the originator of the "P. Q." or Personality Quotient, and other psychological tests. He is also connected with a number of national business concerns, including U. S. Rubber, Lord & Taylor, and Gimbel's department store. Psychological Corporation set up the original Fortune Poll and has conducted numerous polls in its own name.

Despite its long experience, however, P. C. will not conduct polls of general public opinion this year. Reason for this is that the war and public reaction to it have set up rapid cross currents of opinion as to make established polling methods unreliable.

P. C. will continue to make any poll for which its services are employed, handling each job according to the individual requirements. But on polls where the war enters as a factor, or in regard to political opinion, P. C. will undertake them only on condition that definite predictions will not be made because of incalculable rapid shifts of opinion.

On polls not involving these factors, which it will conduct as it has similar ones in the past, P. C. makes no reservations. But it definitely is hedging on political polls and is frankly telling clients so.

GERMAN PARTNERS

Despite the intervention of Arthur V. Davis, chairman of the Aluminum Corporation of America, the Justice Department is going ahead with its grand jury proceedings against that company and the giant German chemical cartel, I. G. Farbenindustrie, for alleged violation of the Sherman anti-trust law in the production of magnesium.

Magnesium is an alloy even lighter than aluminum and is used in the manufacture of airplanes. It was in such demand by Germany for Hitler's airplane program, that Germany paid cash for American magnesium, even when she was desperately hard up for exchange.

Mr. Davis came into the Justice Department and offered all sorts of cooperation to the Government. But the Department's anti-trust experts figure that it is too late. They have taken the position that when an American company cooperates with Germany to restrict production of an important metal, it hampers national defense by discouraging American industry in peacetime.

The magnesium industry, they figure, should have been developed sufficiently during peacetime so that it could be expanded very rapidly now in an emergency.

It is also their contention that the restriction of magnesium production in normal peace times discourages airplane manufacturers from experimenting with this very important alloy and learning to make full use of it.

So the grand jury investigation, now in progress in New York, will continue.

ELECTRIC FAN DIPLOMACY

Washington diplomats have never worked so hard as they are working today. Even during the World War, they took time off for summer holidays in New England. The Germans went to Rye, N. Y., the British to Manchester-by-the-Sea, and the French sought the social glamor of Newport.

It was a complete diplomatic evacuation. No diplomat who was a gentleman could be found enduring Washington's "beastly" climate after June 15. The whole staff packed up their frock coats and their code books and departed for New England.

Today, Washington is just as hot as ever. In fact, the Capital is enduring one of the hottest summers in years.

Let's Talk Politics

—by OJAY

IT LOOKS LIKE THERE WILL BE A three-cornered race for the Haledon mayoralty post this Fall . . . Robert Hall, Republican candidate, and Michael Strassner, Democratic candidate, opposing Mayor Irving Watson, the incumbent, who is running independently . . . at this stage, the "wise money" is interested in Strassner, the youthful druggist and the tip is to watch his smoke . . . he will have the added support of the Democratic county organization in his quest for the mayoralty post.

* * *

While on the subject of Haledon, let us relay to you a rumor making the rounds to the effect that in a very short time, that town may witness the explosion of a bombshell that may prove very embarrassing to its No. 1 man and his administration . . . let's hope it will not turn out in the same form that marked the Hawthorne explosion of not so long ago.

* * *

Down Passaic way, it looks like City Republican Leader Herman Schulting may have some real opposition when it comes time to elect a city chairman after the next primary . . . First and Fourth Ward Republicans in that town are said to be prevailing upon former Judge Frederick B. Conant to make the race against Schulting . . . and if he declines, as he says he will, either Edwin Meyers, Passaic manufacturers, or former Commissioner John J. Roegner may be called upon to carry their standards into battle.

* * *

WE CERTAINLY GOT A KICK OUT OF "Pew" Politico's illuminating column about the good fortunes which are attending the City of Paterson these days . . . it seems the entire community is "just a cottage small by a waterfall" to judge by "Pew" Politico's cozy picture of economic affairs here . . . even our relief clients are dining on turkey . . . but then that is to be expected from a man of expedience.

* * *

Still with "Pew" Politico, they tell us that he will shortly undertake to sell Wendell Willkie to the public through the medium of his column . . . if he is as successful as he was while boosting Hoffman against Hendrickson, the Democratic party will not have much to worry about . . . "Pew" Politico has a lot in common with Willkie . . . like the latter, he was a Democrat, having worked something like six years for the party . . . quite suddenly he has become the publicity agent for the Republican high command . . . Democrats, incidentally, will be reassured to know that he has never backed a winner . . . but it will be interesting to read the bombastic and pompous phrases he will use in praise of the Republican ticket.

* * *

We wonder if there will be any peace made on the part of Democratic leaders at the Democratic County outing at Idlewild Park today? . . . one of the finest presents that can give to Charles Edison and James H. R. Cromwell, who head the state ticket, is the reassurance that the entire Democratic organization will be plugging as one unit for victory in November.

* * *

"MIKE" DE VITA IS FINALLY ON A long-deserved vacation . . . being a schoolteacher, he is entitled to loaf around in the shade for two months . . . but "Mike" is also a candidate for freeholder on the Democratic ticket, and as such he has been working hard . . . as a matter of fact he has borne the brunt of campaigning for the entire ticket during the past month . . . youngest man on either ticket he certainly is showing the old-timers how to build good will and support for the party.

* * *

While on the subject, it is interesting to note how one of the Democratic candidates campaigned on the John J. Roegner boat ride the other night . . . he had

REGENT

Looking at history in the present rather than the past tense, "The Mortal Storm," a thrilling document of current world affairs is now at the Regent theater, with an all-star cast headed by Margaret Sullavan, James Stewart, Robert Young and Frank Morgan.

The story deals with the experiences of a family "somewhere in Europe," who become a house divided as a result of political dissension. It is dramatic, simply told, effective.

The experiences and development of young Tom Brown at Rugby, under the able head-mastership of Dr. Thomas Arnold, provide the absorbing basis of "Tom Brown's School Days."

FABIAN

In line with its policy of presenting the finest of the new crop of film entertainment the Fabian theater is now showing "All This and Heaven, Too", Warner Bros. picturization of the sensationally successful Rachel Field novel. Bette Davis and Charles Boyer are co-starred in the film.

Supporting Miss Davis and Boyer is a huge featured cast which includes such names as Jeffrey Lynn, Barbara O'Neil, Virginia Weidler, Helen Westley, Walter Hampden, Henry Daniell, and many other stars.

An excellent short reel entitled "Information Please" starring Wendell Willkie is entertainment marked by a gay spontaneity with Willkie's presence.

The weekly news events, round out the Fabian's excellent program for this week.

RIVOLI

Against a background highlighted by the breathless beauty and tropical brilliance of the South Seas, Edward Small's new film production, "South of Pago Pago," is now showing at the Rivoli Theater. The stellar cast of this new adventure romance is headed by Victor McLaglen, Jon Hall, Frances Farmer, Olympe Bradna, Douglas Dumbrille and Gene Lockhart, and the picture was directed by Alfred E. Green.

Consistently bearing out their reputation for being "tops" in the hillbilly musical field the Rivoli offers for its co-feature "Grand Ole Opry."

THE MCGINTYS—A new romantic team, Brian Donlevy and Muriel Angelus, head the cast of Paramount's "The Great McGinty," now showing at the U. S. Theater. It packs punch and comedy galore.

Brazil Launches 'Good Neighbor' Warship

Modern Lesson in Flying Technique

These are orphaned sons of British airmen slain in battle with German flyers. Ten of the youngsters have been given shelter by a citizen of Sevenoaks, England, who has turned his home over to the government for that purpose. Not daunted by the death of his dad, one youth shows his companions some flying technique.

Putting teeth into the declaration of Pan-American unity in defending the Monroe Doctrine, Brazil leads the parade of South American nations in speeding preparedness by launching a new destroyer, the Marcilio Dias, at Rio De Janeiro, one of the six class "A" destroyers being rushed to completion. Mrs. Getulio Vargas, wife of Brazil's president, christened the vessel.

'East Side, West Side' Takes a Walk

Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, who announced his intention of supporting Wendell L. Willkie for President, is shown at the piano after acting as judge in the Barber Shop Quartet contest at the New York World's fair. The Happy Warrior made a quintet by joining the winners in "The Sidewalks of New York," his campaign song in the Presidential race of 1928.

Seven thousand Indians representing 30 tribes of the Southwest will give demonstrations of chants, games, races and ceremonial dances at a celebration which opened at Gallup, N. M., August 14, to continue for three days. The celebration marks the twentieth annual Inter-Tribal ceremonial. Sixty different types of Indian dances will be exemplified. Above are shown typical scenes from the ceremonial. One of the most colorful dances will be performed by the Apache Indians, who are shown in the lower right doing their "Devil Dance."

Weekly News Analysis 'Battle of Britain' Is On As Nazis Launch Mass Air Attacks

By Roger Shaw

EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst, and not necessarily of this newspaper.

THE WAR: Step-Up

Reports from both London and Berlin indicated that long awaited aerial blitzkrieg against the British isles had been stepped up to the point where as many as 500 Nazi planes were making periodic attacks on shipping ports and air-dromes.

Apparently the German tactics had a threefold objective: (1) to challenge Britain's sea control of the English channel by damaging naval harbors and shore establishments; (2) weakening of British air defenses by bombing airports, silencing ground guns and attempting to wear down British pilots by forcing them to maintain 24-hour patrols; (3) a bolstering of the morale of the German people by continued reports of air victories.

As usual London and Berlin in turn each claimed to have the upper hand in the first days of this "battle of Britain." Nazi leaders declared that in the first raids the ports of Margate, Dover and Portsmouth (naval yards) had been ruined by constant bombings. British sources reported a large number of Nazi warplanes shot down (as many as 60 in one day) and government spokesmen praised what they called the "heroic work" of the British fighter plane pilots.

Down East

The most interesting new phase of the II German war was not in the least degree German. It came as John Bull's worst setback in the whole fracas, since last September, and Hitler had virtually nothing to do with it. It was simply this:

The Japanese kicked the British out of the wicked Chinese city of Shanghai. Here England has controlled the so-called international settlement for a century. In North China, where corrupt Shanghai is queen-city, there still are 10,000 British subjects, and nearly a billion dollars' worth of British invested capital. But out the British garrison went, and it was sent far south to Hongkong, a British commercial island just off Canton. Hongkong probably will be next. Already, the Japanese are penetrating French Indo-China, which doubtless won't be "French" very much longer.

That's Not All

There are 500,000,000 folks in the British empire. Of these, about 70,000,000 are whites, and the rest are multi-colored. Some 400,000,000 of them live in India. In the II German war, they have been practically neutral, although some Indian regulars in the British army have seen service. England is anxious to get India into the war, and so offered Mahatma Gandhi "full and equal" dominion status, like Canada or Australia, but not until after the war. The Indians were too foxy. They replied they would be a great help—if they were given complete independence, right now. Churchill had always been the No. 1 foe of Indian home-rule, and the Indo-nationalists simply didn't trust him. In the last war, India had dished up millions of soldiers and workers, and many, many millions of good, hard dollars. What Churchill really wanted, was another crack at these untold, untapped resources. But Gandhi, as usual, was from Missouri—or, perhaps, from the Irish Free State.

From Missouri or Irish Free State?

In Africa

The Italians in Ethiopia staged an offensive against little British Somaliland, on the Red sea. Musso-lini's local legions started out by doing very well, and won some bush-league initial successes. It looked as if the Somali capital of Berabera. Was going to get it, and the Italians captured some tanks and sunk some airplanes, as they forged ahead. London did not worry much about Berabera. That hell-hole is no gold mine like Shanghai, Hongkong, Bombay or Calcutta, where imperial profits stack up.

DEFENSE?

Nat-Guard

The senate passed the measure of National Guard mobilization, by 71 to 7. The National Guardsmen, who didn't seem to know what they were in for, could be sent absolutely anywhere in the Western hemisphere, or to the far-flung Philippines, for that matter. Most of them were business men, and could ill be spared from key positions. Married men were exempted if they resigned within three weeks after they were called up. As a whole, the National Guard is supposed to have Willkie tendencies, and not Rooseveltian ones. But Mr. Roosevelt hastened to assure the Guardsists that it was most unlikely they would be sent far afield—something like a 100 to 1 shot. This tended to cool their disgruntlement. New York's crack high-society cavalry became an armored-car outfit, and New York's ditto infantry turned into coast artillery anti-aircraft. So did Harlem's ditto-ditto infantry Negroists. The entire New England National Guard had two tanks (from Hartford, Conn.), and it was authentically asserted by war department bigwigs that we wouldn't have a real army till 1944.

NO SHIPS:

For Hitler

England did one thing that will calm many an American heart. She promised categorically to surrender none of her warships to Germany, in case the latter won the war. England indicated she would scuttle them instead. This was fine news all round. The English begged, too, for 50 to 100 Yankee destroyers. It seemed that British naval losses, in the destroyer class, had been very heavy indeed.

MOSLEY'S:

Upper Crust

One of the funniest aspects of the war developed. It was this. Perhaps 400 of Sir Oswald Mosley's blackshirts—male and female—are interned in the Erixton and Holloway jails in London. Mosley is a wealthy blueblood, and so are more of his Fascist followers: people who are used to the best, in everything.

MRS. OSWALD MOSLEY
She has her sunbaths on the prison lawn.

These Fascists have turned the two jails into pleasure resorts. One lady Fascist ordered 26 bottles of champagne in a single day. The wardens have turned into waiters. The government has had to advertise for more wardens, to do more waiting. Lady Mosley, sister of Hitler's famous girl-friend, Unity, takes sunbaths in a bathing suit, on the prison lawn. Good Sir Oswald eats via an outside caterer, wears silk shirts, and sports a different, newly tailored ensemble each week.

London aristocrats motor to jail, to visit the suffering Fascists. They bring with them hampers of rich food. There is plenty of bridge, and cocktails for all. The other jail inmates, less favored, consist of penniless aliens. They resent the traditional English class distinctions, which exist even in prison. There has been a "stink" in parliament, and irreverent questions were asked. Meanwhile, the other Fascists, in jail, will take orders from nobody but Sir Mosley himself. In the last war, Mosley was a flier, and a good one.

FINLAND:

Doomed?

The Germans took over Czechoslovakia in two stages. The first stage consisted in grabbing the Germanic Sudeten region, and the second stage came five months later, when Hitler snatched virtually all the rest of the country. So, with Russia and the Finns. After a war of 100 days, Stalin took the Mannerheim line, Viborg, Finland's second city, strategic islands, and border strips. Finland was almost disarmed. Then the Soviet's absorbed Bessarabia (from Rumania) and the little Baltic states of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

Now it looked like Finland again—or what was left of it. The Russians said they "feared" Finnish activities, and accused the Finns of maltreating their Communist minority. It was the old formula, to precede aggressive action. Meanwhile, the Finnish red leader, Otto Kuusinen, was elected vice president of the Soviet Russian parliament, as a significant gesture. Kuusinen had been an open traitor to his country during the first Finnish war of 1940. The number of Finnish Communists, actually, is rather minute. They call themselves "members of the society for friendship and peace with the Soviet Union in Finland."

NO JEWS?

Persecution

The two toughest papers in Nazi Germany are the Stuermer and the Schwarze Korps. The latter is the organ of the party's "elite" black bodyguards. It came out with an editorial which said: a German peace will be a Jewless peace. It said: the Nazis plan to clear the entire European continent of Jews, and colonize them in some remote spot. It said: the recent Hungarian and Rumanian anti-semitic legislation is too weak. Needless to say, the radical Schwarze Korps did not speak for the German conservatives, like Goering, Krupp, and Schacht, whom it dislikes, and who openly dislike it.

Julius Streicher, Nazi boss of Nuremberg, and publisher of the radical Stuermer, was reported dead. Then he was reported alive again, but it seems he had lost his lucrative Nuremberg job. Streicher is a close student of Yankee lynchings, which he approves. He always quotes the "latest" lynch in detail, when the Yankees assail his methods in the III Reich. Streicher is especially disliked by Tory-minded Goering. Plebeian Mr. Streicher is a self-made man. Goering is not. The air marshal attended the aristocratic Prussian "West Point," and his father was a bigshot under the old Kaiser. Goering owns the National Zeitung of Essen, which is comparatively "respectable." It is not especially anti-semitic, nor is the German air force.

'Last Appeal'

A British soldier seems to get some grim humor out of the leaflet dropped on many English towns from German bombing planes. Leaflets contained a translation of Adolf Hitler's speech in which he made "A Last Appeal to Reason" before sending aerial legions on extensive raids over the British Isles.

More of It

Another aspect of Nazi persecution is the Danish case. Up in Copenhagen—the Paris of the north, they claim—they still like to fight duels. But the Nazis have disarmed the Danes, and they are gun-less to the "nth" degree. A local dramatic critic made a dirty crack about a local actress. So a local actor challenged the critic. The critic accepted. There were no guns, no pistols, no nothing fiery. But hate will find a way. The enemies took to bows and arrows. After two flights of arrows, the actor was pinked in the arm, and it was all over. The actress looked on, and everybody went home anti-Nazi, but happy.

Those same Nazis, it was announced from Vichy, had shot down 30 per cent of the entire French air force in 46 days of the battle of France. Pierre Cot, former French air minister, was placed on trial by the enraged Generals Petain and Weygand, and perhaps not without reason. Meanwhile, the Nazis slapped a 15 per cent income-tax, surtax on all their new Polish subjects, for "social equalization." They also claimed, in bewilderment, that the subject Dutch had such bad manners.

LIBERTY:

Kentucky

The most patriotic town in the United States is named Liberty, Ken. The population is all of 500. A fifth of the total population is now in the U. S. army. Some 66 boys signed up in a single week. That totalled more than 100, who had joined the colors within a month. Liberty, Ken., has no use for conscripts or conscription.

In the Revolutionary war, and in 1812, the long Kentucky rifle proved the world's most deadly weapon.

DR. FOSDICK:

He Speaks Out

Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, generally considered New York's No. 1 clergyman, spoke on the radio, and assailed the "hysterical haste" of congress in the matter of peacetime conscription. He said it smacked of being "totalitarian." He said it was undemocratic, and that voluntary enlistment had not been given a fair trial. In substantial agreement with Dr. Fosdick were our two best military critics, Hanson Baldwin and Maj. George Elliot. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.

NAMES in the news . . .

☛ Governor Stassen, Norse-German-Czech governor of Minnesota, outlined plans for a local home guard, made up of war veterans, as suggested by Mr. Roosevelt.

☛ Senators Minton of Indiana and Holt of West Virginia went into each other's personal characteristics and family histories, in the bitterest congressional debate seen in perhaps a century. Alcohol, slacker activity and billingsgate added to the senatorial spice, and fist-shaking gave a subtle punch to the proceedings. The issue was based on a single potent word: conscription.

☛ Secretary Morgenthau had uniformed guards put around his office in Washington. Officials declined to explain the order, treasury or no treasury. Mystery!

☛ Anonymous Dutch cats and dogs came in for the war, with a vengeance. Cats were rationed with a mere 3 1/2 pounds of meat per month. Dogs were permitted 3 to 12, four times this amount, if they were big enough to justify it. Anonymous Dutchmen rushed to the defense of their anonymous pets, despite the Nazi ordinance.

☛ Mussolini told his Italic women to quit wearing slacks and big sun glasses. The Iron Duce said it was anti-feminine, and smacked altogether too much of Hollywood. Musso has always liked 'em feminine.

☛ Winston Churchill told General Charles de Gaulle that England guaranteed the future "independence and greatness" of France, after the war was won. De Gaulle's French refugee troops were to be paid and equipped by the British, and given as many naval vessels as they could man. De Gaulle was ex-Premier Paul Reynaud's confidential military adviser, and a tank expert.

☛ Nelson Matthews is the office boy of the British legation at Bucharest, Rumania. The Rumanian secret police wanted his diplomatic secrets, if any. They threatened the lad with guns, then tried to get him plastered. Nelson withstood both attacks, so the lurid story went. Critics declared that it was very British of Nelson to withstand the guns, "un-British" of him to withstand the alky.

☛ Annabella, French movie wife of Tyrone Power, underwent a major operation in little old New York. Then she recuperated, felt fine, and planned to rejoin her handsome, fairly new husband. He was out west, picture-posturing.

U. S. Defenses Pin Hopes on Detroit; Auto Plants 'Key' to Mechanized Needs

By ROY OLMSTEAD

(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

DETROIT, MICH.—A man sat in the great office of a big corporation in New York the other day opening letters. Suddenly he was galvanized into action. The letter he just had opened warned of a plot to bomb the office in which he was sitting.

His first act was to call the company's own police and have the building searched. Even while this was going on, the long distance phones were working and the firm's extensive plants in Detroit were being warned and much more elaborate precautions were being taken there, although the letter said nothing about the Detroit factory.

Key to U. S. Defense.

Why all this interest in Detroit? Mainly because that city and its outlying municipal brothers-in-industry—Flint, Pontiac and Lansing—are fast becoming the key to America's defense program, the Ruhr of the United States.

The eyes of the army and navy, as well as the National Defense commission, are on Detroit. Here are going many of the millions of dollars that make up the billions Uncle Sam is spending to modernize and equip services.

An expert of the National defense council, looking up from a mass of figures in his Washington office recently announced that Detroit and its neighboring automotive towns would be able by this time next year, to fulfill all orders for army trucks, tanks, caissons, plate parts and motors for airplanes and small boats, for both sides of the European war at the war's present rate of consumption. And while this was going on the factories would be able to turn their usual quota of civilian automobiles as well.

Certainly Detroit is preparing to do just that, and the preparations take into consideration the use of only the present available manpower. Virtually no additional employees, beyond those now on the payrolls, need to be added, although the number of work days and hours may be increased to the present legal maximum.

Set for Special Calls.

Much of this, of course, calls for material adjustment in the precision machinery now in operation. One Detroit body factory which never thought of airplanes six months ago, already has signed an experimental contract with an eastern airplane maker to produce wings. At least two other plants are getting ready for any call not only to airplane engines but parts as well.

A locomotive puffs out of a blast furnace with a string of ladle cars filled with slag. This scene is being enacted in all the automotive plants in the Detroit area now, with the additional push being given the national defense program. Right, is a view from above of the new army-type bomber.

Time Is Important Factor.

One entire plant of a General Motors corporation subsidiary now is engaged in airplane engine making, although it is encountering difficulties in getting into large-scale production. If the international situation continues to be critical, time will be the essence of the problem, and the automobile industry has the habit of telescoping hours into minutes.

But it will require several months of intense preparation, even under the pressure of war, for the automobile companies to swing into the mass production of aircraft.

A good deal of preliminary work has been done. The spotwelding of aluminum alloys, up to now a tick-

U. S. Secret Service Wars on Counterfeit

What do you know about dollar bills? About fives, tens or twenties?

Perhaps you are aware that the picture of George Washington appears on all one-dollar bills. But do you know that the first President's likeness appears only on one-dollar bills? Can you say without looking whose portrait is printed on twenty-dollar bills, or tens, or fives?

If you know these things you have made a beginning, even if it is a small one, toward protecting yourself against counterfeit money, according to officials of the United States secret service.

Educating America on how to detect spurious money is one of the jobs that occupies the attention of the secret service. It has been steadily on this job for nearly 80 years.

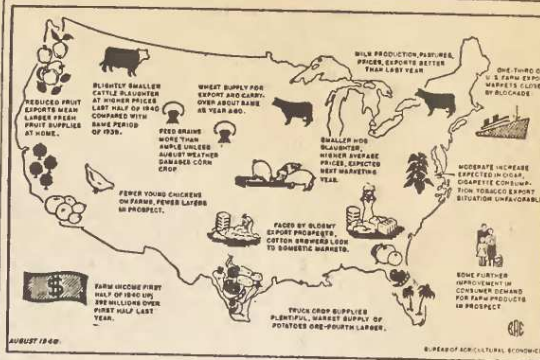

"Know your Money" is the slogan of this educational campaign. It is being carried to people everywhere by movies, the radio, lectures, newspapers.

A short-subject motion picture, "Know Your Money," has been shown to more than 25,000,000 persons in the last six months. Thousands of money handlers—tellers, clerks, cashiers—have been taught by secret service agents how to detect counterfeit bills and coins.

For the first six months of 1940 the secret service took out of circulation $44,426—every dollar a loss to someone—compared to $122,254 for the first six months of 1939. This drop of nearly 64 per cent represents the effect of the "Know Your Money" campaign, Secret Service Chief Frank Wilson asserts, adding:

"When we have taught the American people to be completely counterfeit conscious, counterfeiters will quit making counterfeit money because of the impossibility of passing it."

lish and largely unsatisfactory method of building airplanes, is being studied. Two makes of European aircraft engines have been torn down by automobile factory engineers to determine how fast they could be produced, and the results are encouraging.

Plans at Ford Plant.

Ford, for one, knows the precision requirements of aircraft engine construction differ materially from the ordinary volume-produced automobile motor, but precision is routine in the automobile industry. Even in the average car motor measurements for less than one-thousandth of an inch are a standard requirement.

Just 22 years ago Ford was assembling 105 "Liberty" motors a day for World War planes. Ford is going to make some British-designed Rolls-Royce engines regardless of whether he gets an order from the United States government. He may even make a complete airplane powered with one of the motors.

Speed Preparations.

Plans, in fact, have been drawn at the Ford plant for the additional buildings and floor space that would be required for airplane and plane engine output.

A single item of the preliminary work illustrates how Ford proposes to speed up engine production in the event of an emergency. He plans to cast the crankshaft instead of forging it. The shaft of the Rolls-Royce in its finished state weighs 103 pounds. In the rough stage, as produced abroad, it weighs 261 pounds. Cast in the Ford foundry, it weighs 135 pounds.

Thus in the Ford shops only 32 pounds of metal is machined off as against 158 pounds in the British factories.

Meanwhile tooling is being surveyed in all plants for 1942 models and sales departments are getting their 1941 production into high gear. As in all other years there are inventions that will quicken the eye of the prospective purchaser and open his pocketbook.

Hudson was two weeks ahead of others in the usual starting date for assembling new models. Their feature this year will be "symphonistic styling," a harmonizing of interior colors with those of the exterior.

The basic colors are gray, green and tan, which will harmonize with the exterior color. For example, if the purchaser selects tan, not only the exterior but also the upholstery, headlining, trim, carpets and instrument panel will be in harmonizing shades of tan.

There will be two color choices in the low-price class and three in the medium.

Meanwhile, Hudson also is making plans for armament orders. In the last war they made tanks, Liberty motors for planes, shells, transmissions for tanks and four-wheel drive trucks. Officials, however, are not revealing what the present plans contemplate.

Preparations for production of a new all-metal "fivever plane" designed eventually to sell for $1,000 also is occupying attention. The idea has the backing of Fred J. Fisher, eldest of the family of Fisher brothers and a founder of Fisher corporation.

Fisher confirmed that he is associated in the venture with William B. Stout, a pioneer aeronautical and automotive engineer. A spokesman for Fisher said the plane still was in the experimental stage and plans for mass production would not be made until the trial model is tested and licensed, probably after the first of next year.

The plane was said to be designed for simplified flying with its engine mounted in the rear driving a pusher propeller. It was said to be a two-seater with a range of 500 miles, a cruising speed of 110 miles per hour and a landing speed of 35 miles an hour, and a wingspread of 35 feet.

Opium Stored to Prevent Shortage

Stores of opium in United States treasury vaults, more precious than the gold they replaced, insure the nation against a shortage of morphine, Dr. Ernest H. Volwiler, vice president of Abbott Laboratories, North Chicago, said recently in a report published by the American Chemical Society.

Danger of shortage in the great majority of drugs does not exist, according to Dr. Volwiler, who pointed out that, owing to the industrial and inventive contributions of the American pharmaceutical industry, drug scarcities such as those of the World War are not likely.

"The one drug which probably leads all others in its essential character is morphine," Dr. Volwiler wrote. "For this we are absolutely dependent on remote foreign countries, such as Turkey, Yugoslavia and China. Fortunately the federal narcotic bureau has provided stocks of opium, to the extent of some 500,000 pounds; much of this is in the vaults of the treasury in Washington, a far more valuable and essential commodity than the gold which it replaced.

"Cinchona for making quinine, the specific for malaria, of which we use several million ounces per year, comes principally from Java, although some supplies of lower alkaloid content and quality are obtainable from South America. Should our present sources be seriously interfered with, no doubt the need will be met by American manufacture of already known synthetic products effective against malaria."

Other drugs of natural origin are far less essential and in many cases can be replaced with products of domestic origin, Dr. Volwiler said.

A new field for biological manufacture relating the preparedness program in the United States is the immunization of troops with tetanus (lockjaw) toxoid, Dr. Volwiler continued.

"This will be the first time that United States troops have been immunized to any extent, whereas some of the European armies have used tetanus toxoid as a prophylactic for several years," he adds.

The United States is said to be particularly well provided with synthetic drugs, and there is scarcely an essential which the country is not producing in ample quantities.

Community picnics are fun! They offer an opportunity for a carefree day under the open sky—carefree for even the chairman in charge of affairs, if she's planned her program well and chosen her helpers wisely.

If the crowd to be served is a really large one, it's a good idea to have one committee member responsible for each main dish such as meat, potatoes, salad, dessert, and beverage, and one responsible for extras such as buns, butter, relishes, etc. There'll be a serving committee and a clean-up committee, as well.

Picnics for four or five families are usually co-operative affairs. Each family may supply its own lunch, but more often each one provides one item in large enough quantities to serve the crowd. One family might provide the salad, one the meat, and still another family the dessert, which might be watermelon, a luscious chocolate cake, or a freezer full of old fashioned ice cream. With a little planning, the cost can be fairly equally distributed.

When an outing is in the offing and it's up to you to plan the menu for a crowd, you'll find these picnic pointers helpful.

- 1. If lunch is being prepared at home, choose foods that permit beforehand preparation, and that are not too difficult to carry or to serve.
- 2. Provide a fairly simple meal, with plenty of everything but not so much variety that it will cause confusion and lots of extra work.
- 3. Unless you are sure of a good water supply, it's better to carry the water from home.
- 4. Carry fruit juices, tomato juice or milk in thermos bottles.
- 5. The main dish for the picnic—which might be chili, baked beans, or scalloped potatoes, can be cooked the day before, then in the morning brought to the boiling point, and the dutch oven or casserole wrapped in several thicknesses of newspaper to retain the heat.
- 6. Don't overlook the possibilities in frozen foods for picnic use. Quick-frozen meats can be carried, without ice, even on a warm day. They thaw out on the way to the picnic ground and will be ready to use.

You'll find other picnic pointers in my cook book, "Easy Entertaining." There are menus and tested recipes for beach parties, hikes and a "Colorado beefsteak fry."

When you write to me, won't you tell me something about the "community meals" your group has served? Do you serve dinners for the church, for business men's organizations or for the farm bureau, perhaps? How many people do you serve at meals like this, and what are your favorite menus? I'll be waiting to hear from you!

There's something very social and heartwarming about entertaining friends in your own home. And entertaining needn't be expensive, nor does it necessarily mean a lot of work!

Eleanor Howe's cook book, "Easy Entertaining," will give you the secrets of doing just that—entertaining without fuss and bother, and to fit your budget.

Cut with 3 1/2-inch cookie cutter, and press a raisin into the center of each. Sprinkle with sugar. Bake on a greased cookie sheet in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) for about 10 minutes.

Barbecue Sandwiches.

- (Filling for 3 to 4 dozen buns)
- 2 pounds beef
  - 2 pounds pork
  - 1 tablespoon chili powder
  - 1 teaspoon white pepper
  - 1/4 teaspoon red pepper
  - 1 teaspoon dry mustard
  - 1 1/2 tablespoons salt
  - 3/4 cup flour
  - 1 1/2 cups tomato puree or condensed tomato soup
  - 1 1/2 quarts meat stock
  - 3 large onions (sliced)
- Cook the meat until tender in enough water to cover. Drain, and grind coarsely. Combine seasonings and flour. Add tomato puree and the meat stock, and cook for 5 minutes. Brown the onions lightly in butter or bacon fat, and add to the sauce with the coarsely ground meat. Serve hot on large, round buns. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Red Corduroy

It's time to give thought to the inevitable easy-to-slip-on jacket that is indispensable when cool breezes announce that autumn days are here. The pick of them all, in the estimation of fashion-wise college girls and their younger school-faring sisters is the jacket that is made of bright red corduroy. A grand twosome for early fall days on the campus or for general wear when the tang of autumn calls for comfortable wraps is a jacket of stop-light red corduroy such as is pictured here, topped with a matching hat of the identical corduroy.

Digging a Cellar. QUESTION: I intend digging a cellar under the kitchen. The bungalow is supported by eight concrete piers. The plot is near a lake and composed entirely of sand. Would you suggest concrete block or poured concrete? Would the caving in of the sand be too much of a hazard? Do you think the cellar would be too damp to use? Would like information on the easiest and cheapest way of doing this.

Answer: My preference is for a poured concrete cellar. If there is any danger of the sand "caving in," the sides should be shored up with boards. As to dampness in the cellar, much will depend on the quality of the concrete and the drainage qualities of the soil. The Portland Cement association, Chicago, Ill., can furnish you with printed matter on this subject.

Removing Wallpaper.

Question: I should like to have your formula for removing old wall paper.

Answer: Old wallpaper can be removed by a thorough soaking with warm water to soften and free the paste. A handful of washing soda to the gallon of warm water may quicken the action. Be careful not to splash the solution on painted or finished woodwork, as it will destroy the finish. Do not let it run down on the floor. When the paper loosens, tear it off, starting from the top. With the paper off, while the wall is still damp, sponge it with clear, warm water. After drying, sandpaper the wall lightly to remove bits of paper and hardened paste.

Fireplace Tile.

Question: My fireplace is faced with brick-colored tiles that are not handsome. Could I cover them with marbled linoleum and blacken the tiles of the floor?

Answer: Wall linoleum can be applied to tile, but I do not think that the effect would be particularly good. It would be better to bear with the tiles for a while until you are able to replace them with tiles that are more attractive, or with slabs of real marble. If the floor tiles are glossy, the color cannot be changed. If they are dull, you can blacken them with nigrosine dye, to be had at a paint store, or with black ink.

Bungalow Plans.

Question: I understand you send out blue prints, at a small cost, to readers of your papers. I have in mind a bungalow 31 feet by 33 feet; four rooms, bath and front porch. Will appreciate any information you can send me.

Answer: I am sorry, but I do not furnish this kind of service. The Superintendent of Documents at Washington has a booklet of "Farmhouse Plans" which may be helpful to you. Write for Farmers' Bulletin 1738. The price of the booklet is 10 cents in coin.

Sweating Tank.

Question: In the bathroom of my country home there is water on the floor most of the time, due to the flush tank sweating. The water coming out of the well is usually about 50 degrees. Can I insulate the tank to stop this dripping?

Answer: A wooden box lined with some form of insulation, made to enclose the tank on all exposed sides, is one way of overcoming this condition. Warm moist air must be kept from coming in contact with the cold surface of the tank.

Water Heater Piping.

Question: I would like to move the hot water storage tank from the kitchen to the cellar; to be connected with the tank water heater and the furnace. Is there a book I can buy, which will tell me how to make these connections?

Answer: Manufacturers of water heaters publish data on the proper way of making connections between the storage tank and the heater. I am sure the firm whose heater you are using will furnish the necessary data.

Congressional Expenditures Pass Twenty-One Billion Dollar Mark

This Money Could Buy Entire Railway System of U. S. Or House One-Fourth of Families in Nation, According to Survey by A. F. I.

William Bruckart, for many years Washington correspondent whose letters appeared in this newspaper, died suddenly Sunday, August 4. Temporarily the Washington letter will be written by Carter Field and others.

By G. F.
WASHINGTON. — For the first time in American history one session of congress has authorized federal expenditures in excess of $20,000,000,000.

The nation was astonished and indignant in 1913 when two sessions of congress appropriated $1,000,000,000. It was our first "billion dollar congress."

In 1934, we had our first $10,000,000,000 session.

Six years later, between January 3 and August 15, 1940, the third session of the Seventy-sixth congress authorized spending to the extent of $21,439,678,000.

How much is $21,000,000,000. It would buy outright the entire railroad system of the United States—every mile of track, every bridge, terminal and yard, every piece of rolling stock and locomotive equipment, every mile of telephone and telegraph equipment, plus every station and siding.

The official reports of the Interstate Commerce commission place the current value of American railroads at roundly $20,000,000,000. The nation built up this railroad system over a period of 115 years.

It is difficult for the mind to grasp such spending. But we may reduce the authorizations of the present session to familiar terms. Let us assume that the whole amount authorized since January had been devoted to building houses at $3,000 each. That would be a substantial house—better than the average American home today. Federal appropriations for these eight months would build 7,000,000 such houses, or one for every fourth family in the United States.

Translated into bushels of wheat at current market prices, the expenditures approved for the program since January this year tell a more impressive story.

Assuming a farm price of 70 cents a bushel and an average yield of 30 bushels per acre, we arrive at a gross production of $21 per acre.

This means that it will take a billion acres of wheat to pay for the federal spending authorized in eight months—assuming the government took every ounce of the national farm production.

But, of course, we could not raise a billion acres of anything in a single year. The combined harvested area of all American farms and all crops is only 300,000,000 acres. This means it would take the full crop of three successive harvests, plus one-third of the fourth harvest, to pay the federal spending bill as approved in the year 1940 to date.

Stated another way, every American farm would have to produce its normal crop and turn everything over to the government for more than three years to pay for this first $20,000,000,000 congress.

This would mean nothing left on the farms for feed, seed, or family food supplies. It would leave nothing for routine operating expenses.

Our federal government is the fastest growing "industry" in the United States.

Recent official figures show public employment in 1939 as 125.3 per cent of 1929—despite a small decrease in the combined state and local payrolls over the decade.

Only one major sector of American industry employed more persons last year, as compared with 1929—the electric utilities, with employment at 102.4 per cent.

But total factory employment for 1939 was but 80.4 per cent of 1929.

Employment in retail trade was 75.6 per cent; and railroad employment, 64.7 per cent.

The U. S. civil service commission's July report shows a few more than 1,000,000 civil employees on the federal payroll—against 564,487 on March 4, 1933.

American industry in 1939 paid taxes aggregating $611 for every person on the payroll. This is the figure reported by the American Federation of Investors, on the basis of detailed reports from 183 leading corporations.

All taxes were 54 per cent of combined net before taxes. Seven corporations earned a profit but landed in the red after paying taxes.

Taxes were $3.05 per common share outstanding, against dividends of $1.62 per common share paid for the year.

These corporations maintained average employment of 3,378,255 persons.

Conclusion of the study: "Ever-mounting tax burdens are not only a handicap to the national welfare, but also raise added problems for every manufacturer and business man. They directly affect every employee and stockholder. They increase the cost of doing business, and reduce or wipe out profits."

RECORD EXPENDITURE

For the first time in history, the United States congress appropriated a sum exceeding $21,000,000,000. Congressional expenditure passed the $1,000,000,000 mark for the first time in 1913, according to a recent study released by the American Federation of Investors. The study reveals that this sum equals the entire gross income from American farms for more than three years.

They Call It POLITICS

By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON. — Aid to Britain has slipped into second place, with our own preparedness now first. This is not because President Roosevelt wants it that way. The President believes that aid to Britain is the best possible policy for the United States—that every day Britain holds off the Nazis gives the U. S. that additional day to prepare, that every weakening of Germany under the British defensive blows will make the eventual task of the United States that much easier.

Yet it is politics which has caused the President to turn cagy on new steps to aid Britain. He has to be SURE that he is not endangering his own re-election. Not because the high command of the Republicans would attack such an action, but because the isolationists are making such a determined effort to convince the public that Roosevelt is leading us down the path to war.

For instance, take the matter of these 50 destroyers. Ambassador Lord Lothian said in a radio interview a few weeks back that the greatest aid this country could give Britain IMMEDIATELY would be 50 of those World war destroyers.

But later there came the torpedo-boat episode. It developed that the United States had built some of these little ships with 18-inch torpedo tubes, the size used by the British. We have no 18-inch torpedoes; our navy does not like them, preferring the 21-inch type.

Congress discovered by accident that these torpedo boats were to be turned over to the British and there was a terrific outcry from the isolationists. They protested despite the obvious absurdity of our keeping a type of boat which fires a different size torpedo from the one we use when the British were eager to pay for them, and we could use that money to build the type we do want.

So eager is the President to aid the British that there is no doubt he would have forced the issue, and have forced the issue more recently on the 50 old destroyers, if he were not alarmed by the strength shown by Wendell Willkie in the polls.

But he is working on public sentiment. The fact that Secretary of State Cordell Hull virtually summoned photographers to picture him congratulating Gen. John J. Pershing, after Pershing's radio appeal to let Britain have the destroyers, speaks volumes.

When stewing fruit, add the sugar just before taking the fruit off the stove. In this way far less sugar is needed than if it is put in at the beginning.

Make cuts in marshmallows, insert bits of butter and jelly. Arrange on crackers and broil or bake until the marshmallows are puffy and brown.

Mustard and baking powder settle in cans and should be stirred lightly before using.

Grass stains can easily be removed from linens, cottons or white stockings by rubbing the stains with molasses before washing.

Delicate colors in washing materials will not fade if before being washed they are soaked in tepid water to which a few drops of turpentine have been added.

All vegetables should be put on to cook in boiling water. This holds the major portion of the mineral matter and starch within.

The backs of pictures should be inspected from time to time. If there are any holes in the paper, fresh pieces should be pasted over them, or dust will get in.

Clean paint brushes used for enameling with turpentine. When used to shellac, clean with denatured alcohol.

BULLY IS PERSISTENT

Persist, persist, and still persist
And then persist some more;
And when it seems no use at all
Persist just as before.

THAT seems to be the motto that Bully the English Sparrow believes in and tried to live up to. It is a good motto. Yes, indeed, it is a very good motto, when it is rightly used. You know that to persist means to keep always trying and trying over and over again. So it is always perfectly splendid to persist in things that are right. But always be sure that you are right, before you persist, because if you don't you may fare no better than did Bully.

The next day he visited the Old Orchard to see if Bully had left.

When Farmer Brown's boy pulled Bully's nest out of the hole in the apple tree in the Old Orchard and tore it to pieces and carried away the six eggs that were in it he thought that Bully and his wife would surely leave the Old Orchard. That is why he did what seemed like such a dreadful thing. He wanted them to leave the Old Orchard, because he knew that if they didn't the other birds would, and that would be truly dreadful. He knew that other little feathered people simply couldn't live with such noisy, quarrelsome neighbors as Bully and his wife, and wouldn't live there. He knew that unless something was done, the Bullies would have the Old Orchard to themselves the next spring, and then how the worms and the insects would thrive on the trees! But he couldn't quite make up his mind to kill or really hurt Bully and Mrs. Bully, so he thought that if he took their eggs and destroyed their nest there couldn't be any baby sparrows to grow up and make more trouble, and then perhaps Bully and his wife would go away from the Old Orchard.

But Farmer Brown's boy didn't know Bully. No, indeed! He didn't know how persistent Bully can be. The next day he visited the Old Orchard to see if Bully had left. What do you think he found? Why, he found that Bully and his wife had a new nest half built in the very same hole that the old one had been in! He tore this to pieces only to find another on the next day. And so it was on the following day and the day after that Farmer Brown's boy just had to admire the spunk and persistence, of Bully and Mrs. Bully.

"You certainly deserve to be left alone," said he, "but I can't do it. You are a nuisance, and so you have

Gold Jewelry Will Be Worn This Fall

In spite of the fact that gold jewelry has been somewhat out of the picture for a brief spell comes reports to the effect that it has again come to the fore in the style picture. However, the new gold jewelry that will enliven smart black jersey dresses and those of sheer wools, is not of the garish spectacular type. There is exquisite refinement expressed in subtle detail and workmanship in the incoming necklaces, bracelets, pins, clips and lapel ornaments.

got to go if I have to come here and break up your nest every day all summer."

A day or two after that Farmer Brown's boy found no nest when he put his hand in the hollow of the tree. "At last they've given up," thought he. "I hope they have left the Old Orchard for good." He was almost out of the Old Orchard on the other side when his sharp eyes caught sight of a little bird just disappearing in a hole in the very last tree. He walked up and pounded on the tree. Out popped—who do you think? Why, Mrs. Bully to be sure! She and Bully were building a nest there. It took Farmer Brown's boy three days to make Bully and his wife understand that they couldn't build there or anywhere else in the Old Orchard. Finally they gave up and flew away. And where do you think they went? Why, straight to Farmer Brown's barn, and there way up under the leaves, where only the longest ladder could reach them, they built a nest, and raised their young. Farmer Brown's boy said that such boldness and impudence deserved a reward and so as long as they were out of the Old Orchard and not bothering other birds he would leave them alone.

And in the Old Orchard there was great rejoicing, for now no one wanted to move away, and everyone there looked on Farmer Brown's boy as their friend.

Feathered Trims Used in Many Ways

Feathered trims are used in new and delicate ways on the hats shown for summer wear. Tiny curls of beige ostrich tips cover the crown of a beige-toned beret. On a brown felt sailor the brim is faced with brown ostrich feathers that extend out to form a soft fringe around the edge.

Side-Saddle Drape

South America makes her contribution to sophisticated fashion in the intriguing presto chango play suit adapted from an Ecuadorian costume in the Traphagen school museum collection. The red wool shawl worn casually over the shoulders with the white rayon shorts and blouse can be easily whisked into a skirt as here shown, with the new slim side-saddle drapery which is the current rage and which is highly appropriate for luncheon at the beach club.

STAGE SCREEN RADIO

By VIRGINIA VALE
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

HOLLYWOOD is all agog over a contest that's to take place on August 25th at the RKO studios. The participants are Jack Oakie and George Bancroft, and the event is—of all things!—a table-setting contest!

It all started when a Los Angeles department store persuaded ten prominent men about town to set tables as each thought they should be set. Oakie and Bancroft saw the exhibit, and the argument was on, each being perfectly sure that he could out-do the other if ever—heaven forbid—he had to set a table. First thing they knew, they'd arranged the contest; the only rules are that they'll use modern Ameri-

Phyllis Kennedy ought to succeed if anybody should.

In 1933 she was dancing with a troupe in Denver, and fell and fractured her spine. Doctors said she'd never walk again. Two years later she was dancing once more. She was engaged for chorus work in the Astaire-Rogers musicals, and her gift for comedy got her the role of the maid in "Stage Door." Warner Brothers offered her a contract, but she hesitated, let people tell her what to do, and the chance slipped away.

She's working now in "Honeymoon for Three," and Lloyd Bacon, who's directing, is helping by building up her role. Watch her—she's bound to get ahead this time!

As president of the Motion Picture Relief fund, he and members of the organization's executive committee will soon begin looking for a site for the home. ## And the Director Meant ABSOLUTE QUIET!

The director was preparing to shoot a scene on stage 6.

"Quiet!" he ordered.

A technician stepped on a loose floor-board, and the resultant squeak brought the director whirling round with a yell: "Quiet!"

A makeup man dropped a lipstick, and the almost inaudible thud brought a scream from the director: "Quiet! QUIET! ! ! !"

A hush fell over the set as the camera started to grind and the director signalled to start the action.

Two submachine guns burst into a deafening chatter, pouring a stream of lead into a kitchen filled with crockery.

The scene was over.

Firing One-Ton Shell

The aiming of a 16-inch coast-defense gun, which can effectively shoot a 2,100-pound projectile a distance of 26 miles, is based on many factors, such as the target's distance, direction and speed, curvature and rotation of the earth and the direction and velocity of the wind.

When blowing at 20 miles an hour, a cross wind alone can carry this shell as much as 303 yards off its course during the 101 seconds that it is in the air.—Collier's.

Fashion Decrees

THE PRINCESS SILHOUETTE is back with us, but slightly changed: the fullness comes in the front instead of in the back. Another bit of welcome news: one of the leading Fifth Avenue beauty salons gives individual instruction in the art of makeup. You emerge with the knowledge of an expert but with the look of a "natural." Besides your beauty treatment you have a "personal problem" session with your instructor who gives you makeup advice based on your mode of living, your taste in clothes, hats. And all for $1.50. Cheap 'nuff.

ANN SHEPHERD, energetic lit- the actress heard in CBS net- work's "Joyce Jordan, Girl In- terne," is having fun with the new kind of bowling. The yo-yo ball was a wonderful idea, and bowling was a wonderful idea.

Ann Shepherd

Now the two are combined in a new game called Bo-li-o. Bol-li-o does not need a bowling alley—it can be played on the beach, on the grass, in a large room. It can be played by two people or more. You have to knock down pins like in bowling, but there is an extra twist to the game — you have to catch the ball on the rebound, after it has knocked down the pin!

THE NEW "AH" in the fashion dictionary is Brigance's stole-shawl. And do you remember Elsie Dinsmore, the good little girl who lasted through about forty-eight volumes in our 'teens? There is an Elsie Dinsmore beach ensemble now—camisole top and flutter skirt with inserts of ruffled pique. Lord & Taylor in New York carry it, and CBS' Penny (Blondie) Singleton wears it.

TO GO with this fascinating beach stuff is the new pearl-glow enamel—something to throw a different light on the nails.

EYE GLAMOUR with ROUX LASH and BROW TINT

If you like your eyes vivid, glamorous, bright . . . darken your lashes and brows with ROUX. Lovely, efficient, so smart . . . and the coloring wont wash off or run! Black or dark brown.

SHIRR ENOUGH, 14-year-old Gloria Mann can wear a bodice shirred from waist to neckline and still look trim and tiny. The skirt is of diagonal pink and white stripes, harmonizing with the stripes in her linen shoes. Gloria is the youthful actress who plays on Columbia's "Aunt Jenny" stories, and "Hilltop House." She started her career with Helen Menken and Judith Anderson in the Broadway production of "The Old Maid." ---

Day and Night

PERENNIAL WHITE is here lightened by bands of silver leather forming six fetching bands around pretty Jane Logan's slim waist. Its simplicity and chaste lines are this gown's four-star features. Miss Logan has just relinquished her role of Helen Stephenson in "Road of Life" to devote full time to her new starring part of Kay Fairchild in "Stepmother" serial.

A Smart Suit For Business

NATURAL GABARDINE is the answer to a maiden's prayer if she happens to be a career girl like Mabel Ellis. This neutral color fabric is cool, sturdy, and fitting for any daytime occasion. The collarless suit is Miss Ellis' preference for hot mid-summer days. The absence of collar and lapels shows up the blouse and costume jewelry to better advantage, Miss Ellis says.

FOR PLAY OR PICNIC—A little two piece combination like this playsuit and detachable apron worn by Maxine Rascoe, starlet of Aunt Jenny's Real Life Stories, is indispensable. It can have many uses. You can play in the garden, weed the lawn, gambol on the beach in the playsuit. Put on the apron, and you are ready for that outdoor-grill fun, or picnic. Of if you're a home-body, for straightening out the house, a task where long skirts are a nuisance.

Pleated Dress For Afternoon

SUNBURST PLEATS are something new under the sun. Adele Rouson, finds them pleasing to the eye and flattering to the figure. The dress is of light brown crepe with cone-shaped gold buttons. The side placket instead of being carefully hidden is boldly brought into view by button decoration to match that on the front of the dress. (Dress from Bonwit Teller). --

THIS WEEK'S RECIPE

Welcome Lewis of CBS's "Singing Bee" has a prized recipe for Spanish chicken, which she learned to prepare from the Mendoza family of California pioneers. She sings its praises as we think you too will do.

Wash, dry salt, pepper and flour each piece of chicken. Lightly brown each piece in a large skillet of olive oil in which four cloves of garlic have been placed. As each piece of chicken is removed, place in a large pot. Add enough hot water to oil in skillet to cover chicken. Stir to clear pan of all drippings and then throw over chicken. Add one small can of Del Monte tomato sauce and one full can of water, or a little more.

Add about two tablespoonsful of Gebhart chili powder, or more if you desire it real hot. Salt and pepper to taste.

Allow to steam (not boil) until chicken is tender. When tender, lift each piece out of pot, place in receptacle, strain liquid so as to remove garlic. When strained, thicken, pour back over chicken and serve.

vick, Joseph Guarriello, John Kotran, Anthony Jobeless, Angelo Manzi and Lenny Steiner. In the early part of 1908, a group of young men used to congregate in a drug store at the corner of River and Lyon streets. Among this group were: Martin F. Becker, who was later to become first president and James P. McNair. These two men conceived the idea of forming an organization of Catholic young men under the jurisdiction of Our Lady of Lourdes Church.

The Lyceum now boasts of a modern club room, having four first class bowling alleys, pool, and bagatelle tables and everything that goes to make a club room comfortable for its members.

A coincidence in connection with the history of the organization is that the present spiritual director, Rev. William Van Zale, was the first honorary member.

The present officers are president, Charles Dahlinger; vice-president, August Standard; treasurer, John Standard; financial secretary, Angelo Manzi and librarian, Ettore Manzi.

The executive committee is composed of James Fitzsimmons, William Corkey and Andrew Hessler.

Now, with the added wear of the rubber against the top of the racing-strip, and with the drivers more familiar with the alterations,

It was chiefly a baseline duel with McNeil, ranked third nationally, cutting the net with close shots and Kovacs dropping points on poor deep court placements. Kovacs' serve in the 8th, 12th and 14th games and in the second set broke his serve in the 4th and 6th.

Big Cliff Melton, who has been trying to win his ninth victory for almost six weeks and either Harry Gumbert or Bill Lohrman will go to the hill (weatherman permitting) at the Polo grounds this afternoon to try and sweep the remaining games of a series with the Phils.

These are important games for two reasons. They may cut the six-game lead over the club now held by the second-place Dodgers and could do much to improve the boys' spirit for their impending final dash through the West, which will begin in Cincinnati tomorrow.

Story Of St. Isidora On Air

The story of St. Isidore, is the subject of the Ave Maria hour broadcast today at 6:30 p. m.

St. Isidora, an Egyptian nun, was so renowned for her piety and good works that her name became a byword for sanctity. To escape the laudation which even reached her in the cloisters and to avoid varied honors heaped upon her, she fled to a desert hermitage where she died. St. Basil relates that then "she flew to Heaven as a bee to its hive, laden with the honey of good works."

More than 20 species of prehistoric mammals are represented among the fossils taken from the Miami, Tex., fossil quarry.

3,900 AIRPORTS

Assistant Commerce Secretary Robert Hinckley, who originated the civilian pilot training program, is quietly completing the details of a new major air preparedness plan.

It will call for the construction of 3,900 model airports in every section of the country at a cost of $500,000,000.

At present, U. S. airlines are using approximately 1,000 airports, a large number of them being inferior fields. Hinckley proposes to enlarge and modernize these and to build 3,900 others for combined military and commercial use.

For example: One type he would construct is underground airports, of which the U. S. now has none at all.

Hinckley conceived his airport plan with his eye to the future. With the government spending millions to train tens of thousands of pilots, and billions to develop a vast air fleet of 50,000 planes, he foresaw an inevitable "bottle-neck" in landing fields, with inadequate storage and servicing facilities, unless steps were taken at once to meet the problem.

So in consultation with Army and airline experts he set to work drawing up charts for a nationwide airport building program. This plan is well advanced and if Congress remains in session in the fall, may be submitted for action.

Meanwhile, the pilot training program will start on its second term on September 15 when another 20,000 students will begin primary flying instruction. Also scheduled to begin on this date is a class of 3,000 for advanced piloting. Graduates from this group will be eligible to enter Army and Navy flying schools.

Next spring, another 20,000 will be enrolled in the 701 private flying schools the government is using for training purposes. When this class has finished, a total of 50,000 youths will have been taught to handle an ordinary plane. Hinckley plans to ask the new Congress convening in January for funds to train another 50,000 beginning July 15. This will give the country a reservoir of around 100,000 potential air defenders.

NOTE—So far out of more than 30,000 trainees, there have been only two casualties; both students who had soloed and where flying on their own.

School Fund To Benefit From St. Stephen's Outing

The second annual picnic sponsored for the school fund of St. Stephen's R. C. Church will be held on Sept. 1 at North Haledon Park. Rev. Wrzeciono, pastor of St. Stephen's Church, has asked the entire parish to make a special effort to attend.

L. Gorski and Mr. Wisniewski are in charge of arrangements for the event.

Besides the dance music by Andy Baron and his orchestra, games for young and old will be presented for the enjoyment of those attending.

Late War Bulletins

BERLIN, Aug. 17—Germany tonight formally notified the United States that the Reich could not assume responsibility for the safety of the American army transport American Legion, which sailed from Petsamo, Finland, yesterday with 897 refugees aboard. Included were Mrs. Florence Harriman, U. S. Minister to Norway and the Norwegian Crown Princess Martha and her son, Prince Harold.

In a note to the United States Embassy in Berlin, the German Government declared it declines responsibility for the vessel's security because her scheduled course lay "dangerously near the field of military operations around England." The German Foreign Office said it had warned the American Embassy that the 13,736-ton liner should take a different course from that decided on, but the Embassy had notified the Foreign Office only today that the transport would sail on the course originally chosen, despite the German warning.

LONDON, Aug. 17—The submarine Orpheus is "considerably overdue and must be presumed lost," the British Admiralty announced tonight. The Orpheus is of 1475 tons and carries a complement of 50 officers and men.

CAIRO, Aug. 17—It was officially announced tonight that the Italians have abandoned Capuzzo, where for several weeks an Italian garrison has been surrounded by British forces.

ROME, Aug. 17—Italy claimed today to have won the battle of British Somaliland, but in the same communique said British had withdrawn to second line of fortifications under Italian assaults.
