Will You Look
in The Mirror?

When we gaze into a mirror it gives back to us, coldly and impartially, the mirror cares not whether the image be as fair as an adolescent dream of love—or ugly as squalor. It stoops to no flattery, is not moved by compassion, cannot err. Remorseless as Time, it throws back dispassionately the thing that IS.

Most of us have become accustomed to seeing the same old countenance day after day. If it is unimpassioned we've become used to THAT too, and reflecting surfaces hold no terrors for us.

There is another mirror, however, into which few dare look. And that is the mirror that reflects the true state of our financial arrangements for our dependents in the event of death.

It is a happy—and a rare—man who can do so and be reassured by what he sees.

Too many of us are content to insure ourselves for an amount that SEEMS like a lot of money. Unless you translate that sum into terms of income replacement for your dependents in the event of your death, you will not have the true picture. Make the test now. I shall be happy to review your insurance with no obligation whatsoever to yourself. DARE you look in the mirror?

THE SHOWCASE

By D. G.

SHOW BIZ: Walter Kelvin, who has been doing a pretty good job of publicizing Paterson, his home-town, through his singing efforts in show business, has again latched on at what looms as a solid hit musical production.

The show is "Silk Stockings" which is due to arrive in New York later this month after polishing up its performances in the hinterlands.

Cole Porter, one of the all-time greats in the song writing profession, has chronicled the words and music for "Silk Stockings" and that's like money in the bank, if you base your calculations on Porter's fabulous record of past Broadway successes.

Hildegard Neff and Don Ameche, both fugitives from Hollywood, have the starring roles in "Silk Stockings" which is a streamlined version with music of the old Greta Garbo flicker hit, "Ninotchka".

Kalvin has enjoyed considerable success in top Broadway productions including "My Darling Aida", "Allegro", and his recent stint as a cop in "Wonderful Town" along with Roz Russell and Edith Adams.

WALTER KELVIN

Walter has also been spotted as a featured soloist with the Paterson Philharmonic Orchestra and is regarded by many as one of the finest singers to venture forth from Paterson in quest of fame and fortune. And he's giving it a good try.

THEATRE CORNER: Viveca Lindorfs and Eugenie Leontovitch are featured in a new melodrama, "Anastasia", which opened the other night at the Lyceum Theatre in New York.

"Anastasia" has been adapted by Guy Bolton from the French script of Marcelle Maurette who, in turn, based her play on the real life enigma of Anna Anderson (still living in Germany) who claims to be the Grand Dutchess Anastasia, youngest daughter of the late Czar of all the Russias. Naturally, the authors have taken some liberties with the known historical facts, but in the main the play hews close to what is now considered one of the most romantic and baffling of modern mysteries.

In addition to Miss Lindorfs and Miss Leontovitch, the cast features such well known Broadway actors as: Joseph Anthony, Hurd Hatfield, David J. Stewart, Boris Tamarin and Michael Strong. Other players are Dorothy Patten, Vivian Nathan, Carl Low, William Callen, Stuart Germain and Sefton Darr.

Alan Schneider who earlier this season directed "All Summer Long" and last season's comedy hit, "The Remarkable Mr. Penny-packer", directed "Anastasia". The settings and costumes have been designed by Ben Edwards who also created the delightful decor for "The Traveling Lady" and "Sing Me No Lullaby."

Miss Lindorfs, who enacts the title role, made her American stage debut in John Van Druten's "I've Got Sixpence" and later toured with the Theatre Guild's production of "An Evening With Will Shakespeare."

ENTHRONED on a diving board, lovely Carolyn Stroue leaves no doubt why she was chosen Orange Bowl Queen. She's wearing the latest in strapless bathing suits, men.

POLIO VICTIM Leslie Strom hands out a March of Dimes button to Mrs. Julien Chaqueneau, chairman of a committee for group's 11th annual fashion show. Marj Williamson, one of models in the New York show, is looking on.

The Athletes Make New Year's Resolutions

It's a new year coming—1955—being within arm's reach. (Father Time's arm). With the advent of another year, it's time for resolutions and of course everybody's busy making them.

Unfortunately, in many cases, they're also busy breaking them! Still, you can't tell what the resolutions are without a scorecard so pull up a chair and see what the athletic figures in this area—and environs—are resolving for themselves and for others. For example, a listing of what the sports gentry might desire for 1955, could read this way:

BILL DALY, fight manager — No more fights (outside of the ring).

VINCE MARTINEZ, Paterson's welterweight contender — Ditto—and the world's title.

LARRY DOBY, Cleveland Indians' outfield star — The "most valuable player" award in the American League. Also another pennant—and the World Series too.

ABE J. GREENE, National Boxing Association Commissioner — An undivided administration of Boxing with uncompromising respect for fair play and principles.

BENNY BORGMANN, St. Louis Cardinals' scout — A few more good young prospects such as Joe Cunningham, the Saddle River boy who clicked in his first year in the majors.

JOE CUNNINGHAM, Cardinals' first baseman — More home runs and a perfect fielding average at the bag.

CORP DI LULLO, Chicago Cubs' scout — A few more prospects such as Billy Hoeft, his discovery with Detroit.

SAM LE VINE, Uncle Sams' sponsor — Another championship baseball team.

CHIRP CHIRCHELLA — More banquets.

SAM SHEBER — The News' Round Robin basketball title after all these years of waiting.

DOVERS — The softball championship.

HEAVYWEIGHT BASKETBALL LEAGUE TEAMS — Big crowds to match those of former years.

TOMMY GRANATELL — Repeat of his North Jersey Baseball League championship next season.

JIM PANTANO — The State AAU basketball championship for the Pantanos-Edwins team.

BILL FINUCAN — A pump that produces money instead of gas.

JOE ABBOTT — A method of smoothly dividing loyalties between the old alma mater, Notre Dame, and his son's medical school, Georgetown.

WALT JAMIESON — The best Mid-get League baseball program in the country . . . and the Cleveland Indians' World Series victory Larry Doby wants.

WALT PERRY — A championship year for the Dovers soccer team.

TEX PELTE — A new deal for Boxing, all over the country.

ANGELO PUCCI — Another Tippy Larkin.

JOE PASSERO — More sports activity throughout North Jersey.

PAT MUCCI — More golf championships.

TONY PIO — A little more height for improved bids in his baseball and football careers.

LOU INFALD — No more headaches over eligibility (and ineligibility) in the different leagues.

DANNY O'CONNELL — A few more points (about 20 or 30) to fatten that batting average.

GENE WOODLING — The biggest season yet, to help the Baltimore Orioles sing, like a bird.

TOM ACKER — Big league food—and pay!

MARTY FELDMAN, young Paterson boxer — More victories for the winning streak and a good fight in Madison Square Garden.

BILLY DE GRAAF — An All American season at Cornell.

PATERSON CRICKET CLUB, PATERSON CASTING CLUB, and BATES BAR BELL CLUB — More recognition.

BEN MARMO — A pennant for the Phils.

PATERSON FANS — Big league franchises for the city in Basketball and Football again, along with an ice-skating rink to take care of all the winter sports followers here.

CHRONICLE STAFF — To you — A Very Happy New Year!

EDITORIALS

1944 is ended. Here we are on the threshold of a bright New Year.

As we wait and watch the old year slowly ebb away, many of us will think back to the happy moments provided by 1954. Others among us will think back only to the hardships and the disappointments.

Now no matter what our situation, it is safe to assume that some little good must have come out of this past year. To be sure the future promises brighter things to come.

1955 promises to be a much better year for all of us. The world tension has greatly diminished and the actual shooting war has come to an end. This fact alone, should make us jubilant. Countless thousands of lives will be spared, and all the attendant horror of war will disappear.

WHERE THE MERCHANT SHIP IS UNIQUE

A merchant ship is an element of war. Ships are the lifeline between the fighting fronts and the production lines.

In this regard merchant ships have a unique characteristic. The other elements of war — fighter planes, tanks, guns, A-bombs — are useful for nothing but war. The ship, on the other hand, is an all-important instrument of peace. It is almost universally agreed that we must maintain a major merchant marine against the possibility of war. But it doesn't stand idle, waiting in readiness for that grime time when fighting may begin again. Day in and day out, on all the essential trade routes of the world, American merchant ships perform a necessary service.

It is true that the New Year will present us with new problems and obstacles, but none which we cannot meet and solve if we approach them unafraid and with Faith in our hearts.

Faith has moved mountains and will most assuredly safely guide us through the year to come.

With renewed hope, we pray that 1955 will bring fulfillment to all our desires. To each of us who so eagerly await its beginning, let us look to the New Year not so much for what it can do for us, but rather what can each of us do each day that will provide us with greater blessings and a great deal more contentment.

The Chronicle and its staff extend best wishes for a wonderful New Year to its many readers and friends. We earnestly hope that it will bring an ever increasing measure of health, happiness and success to them and their families.

Foreign trade has a far greater influence than most of us realize on this country's productive ability and living standards. Thousands of men and women who have never seen an ocean, work directly or indirectly at producing foods and manufactures for export. And foreign trade is a two-way street — we must import a long list of commodities which are not available at home. To depend on foreign-flag lines to indefinitely take care of these shipments would be blind folly — if war should come, their services might be denied to us overnight.

Vital in war, vital in peace. That slogan pretty well describes the American Merchant Marine.

Well, what kind of year has it been. 365 days have passed by and we are on the verge of another year and each of us is wishing that the next 365 days will produce bigger and better things in 1955. I have never seen it to fail that around this time of the year, each person you meet says, "this year could have skipped me, things were rotten with me. I hope the next one is better."

We mortals are peculiar. We place the blame for everything that happens to us on all but where it belongs. If we catch cold; it's the change in weather. If we take a fall; the steps are faulty. I could go on with a list as long as my arm. Not once in a million will you hear anyone admit "I was careless" or "I wasn't looking." Always blaming some circumstance.

It is the same when you wish a friend a Happy New Year. You are sure to hear a tale of woe. Doesn't anyone do anything wrong?

Now I have had my share of trouble, too. Our family budget during 1954 took a terrific beating. A few doctors are a little better off financially because of illness in my family. I broke a large mirror at home. At the plant the presses went berserk several times during the year and each time it happened it was an expensive proposition not only from the standpoint of repairs but also because of the time lost.

All of the things that happened to me were not the fault of the year or any particular day of the week but rather my own carelessness. The same applies to everyone else. Success and happiness do not visit people at their homes. They have to be looked for. Some effort has to be put forth before they can be achieved. Yet many develop a begrudging nature if some friend or neighbor appear to be a little better off than they are. These malcontents never consider the time and work that went into success that others have achieved. There is a cause and effect for everything that happens.

1955 will be a much better year for all of us if we remember that accidents do not happen—they are caused. If you catch cold, it's because you were probably a little careless with your dress. No matter what the circumstances were in 1954 that caused so much discomfort, remember that things could have been much worse. The new year will bring many problems but none which we cannot meet with courage and faith. Instead of waiting to see what each day of the New Year will bring, let us each try to see how much we can put into each day. Our return will be a large measure of success and happiness.

Let us each strive a little harder. Let us each be a better friend. Let us each give a little more serious thought before we do or say anything which may alter a situation. Then "Happy New Year" won't be just a hollow wish but a reality.

I hope that all of you have a lot of fun in greeting the New Year and that it will be a bigger and better year for all.

Happy New Year.

Column of Comment. . .

One whole year has gone by and the political patronage stalemate still continues strong as ever. It appears that Prosecutor Colleston will still be entrenched when Governor Meyner makes his bid for re-election.

With the possible exception of a mayoralty candidate, Tony Grossi seems to be having quite a difficult time in lining up a Democratic ticket. As of now the political status is that Eddie O'Byrne will face Titus come next election day.

Or could Grossi would assume the County chairmanship once Eddie becomes a candidate. The big question is what can be done to soothe and soften some of the avowed candidates. How about De Vita? Mike is not altogether happy with the relatively unimportant role he is playing.

1955 being an election year, Les Titus has let it be known to one and all that the tax rate must be reduced. That is important to him because the voters must be appeased. Let us hope that the braintrusters will not come along with another big 2 point cut. People are too wise to these tactics. There are many surprises in store for the Mayor.

The submitting of Mike Notorgiacomo's name as a motor-vehicle agent will have loud repercussions immediately after the holiday season. Even some of Mike's friends admit that there are plenty of desirable candidates within the party. Will this move make San Bruno happy?

Sam Blechman, prominent shoe merchant and president of the Guida Organization was accorded quite a warm welcome when he put in an appearance at Democratic headquarters. Sam, while not a politician, is possessed of an unusual amount of astuteness and acumen. He was quick to spot the double talk.

There are those who would inject the name of Robert Ormsby in the lists as a mayoralty candidate. As president of one of the largest unions in the country, Bob is not currently interested in anything which will conflict with his union duties and responsibilities. He is at the moment engaged in campaigning for his re-election as president of UAW-CIO 669. In this contest Ormsby and his running mates will not face any serious opposition.

Carmen Tarantino, eighth ward firebrand is resolved to make the run for Mayor as a candidate in the general election. We wonder what designation he will use and more important . . . who will finance his campaign?

The Commissioner elections in Passaic are scheduled for May. With the recent doings, it is reported that Ben Manney will not seek re-election but will seek some lucrative post through his contact with Frank Shershin.

An increasing number of labor leaders in New Jersey are becoming more and more discontent with Carl Holderman's attitude in his post as Labor Commissioner. It seems that the post has caused Carl to forget some of the trials and tribulations he went through in the union movement. This column feels that Commissioner Holderman is doing the kind of job all public servants should do . . . devotion to duty without regard for personal interests or special privileges.

Nick Cuccinello, business agent of the Dyers' union is again on the lookout. This time he would like to replace Sal Maso on the State Mediation Board. Try as he may, Nick will not be substituted for John Condron who is the choice for the CIO spot.

Governor Meyner has already left to bask in the Florida sunshine. In all probability he will see the New Year in while in the southern clime.

Anthony Pasquariello, ninth ward alderman is slated to become president of the aldermanic body. At the same time, Anthony is eyeing a berth on the ticket as Democratic candidate for Freeholder in 1956.

Italian Circle To Hold New Year's Party

The Italian Circle of Paterson will hold their annual New Year's Party at their Headquarters on New Year's eve. Al Mosca, chairman of the affair, has announced that this event will be one of the most enjoyable yet held and will be attended by 150 members and friends. Co-chairmen are Frank Ventimiglia and John Scala.

RODNEY PARRY, who doctors say will soon die of a brain tumor, holds onto his dog, Duke, who may be taken from him. Neighbors in San Bruno, Calif., say dog is dangerous to children. He's Rodney's only playmate.

MOST PREMIERES in Hollywood are klieg-lighted ones held for grownups, but some youngsters got a chance to attend theirs when they saw a Walt Disney movie. Former star Eleanor Powell and son admire a cookie house.

BUTTER FINGERS

By ZOA SHERBURNE

GINNY always figured that if once . . . just once in her whole life, she could excel Caroline at something she would die happy.

If she could have hated Caroline it might not have been so bad but Caroline, besides being Bill's cousin, was Ginny's very best friend. A really lovely girl who had the irritating habit of doing all things very well!

She bowled in the hundred-eighty bracket and golfed a neat seventy-four. She was an excellent cook and housekeeper and a beautiful swimmer. She did charming simple water colors that brought her a flattering amount of artistic recognition and she held down an advertising job that was both lucrative and glamorous.

"The good fairies were out en masse the day that babe was christened," Bill loved to declare. "She's got everything, she has . . ."

Ginny Allison was forced to agree.

The Tuckers and the Allisons were practically inseparable . . . and if the other three suspected anything of Ginny's phobia about her husband's attractive cousin they made no sign. "Butter Fingers" they called her with tolerant amusement. And it was so apt that Ginny cringed every time she heard it.

Ginny was the gal who tripped getting on the bus and spilled fruits, vegetables, eggs and pastries all over the other passengers. She tried to tint her hair to bring out the coppery high lights and it all turned a vivid unhealthy green that had to be clipped almost to her scalp before she dared show herself in public.

"The only thing I ever did right in my life was to marry you," she told Bill miserably one night.

Bill grinned at her and massaged the little worry lines between her eyebrows with his thumb. "Well, you can't be a hundred-percent right all the time," he comforted her cheerfully.

When Dave got his promotion and the young Tuckers announced that they would be moving West, Ginny's natural sorrow at losing them was tinged with unmistakable elation. Of course she'd miss Caroline . . . but think of not having the super-plus-perfect example under her nose at all times.

While they were getting ready to sell the place Dave brought home the tomato plants to set out in the back yard.

"It might help with the sale of the place," he told Ginny and Bill.

"Want me to help put them out?" Bill offered.

"Nope . . . I'll leave that to Caroline . . . she'll have better luck with them." He looked down at the small green plants and then up at Ginny. "Here, Ginny . . . take some of these and try your luck with them."

Ginny tried to refuse but Dave talked her down.

It seemed like the finger of Fate that when she tuned in her radio the next morning some man was talking about tomatoes.

"The trouble with most people," the man confided, "is that they baby their plants to death. Always picking off bugs and snipping here and there. Let your plants alone until they start developing . . . and then treat them to a handful of VEG-O-GROW every few days . . . Lady . . . you'll have more tomatoes than you know what to do with!"

Ginny looked thoughtful as she snapped off the radio. Maybe . . . just maybe this was her chance to outdo Caroline. Caroline, she knew, was a bugpicker. When Bill came home that night she asked him to pick up some VEG-O-GROW the next time he was in a seed store.

Bill looked astonished. "What for? What is it?"

"It's some kind of plant powder," Ginny told him seriously. "For my tomato plants. The man says it's a pinkish gray powder with an offensive odor, guaranteed not to hurt you, hair, or clothes . . ."

Bill smiled as he stood behind his newspaper. "K, But . . . I'll get a son of a . . . that . . ."

Ginny could hardly wait . . . she started the VEG-O-GROW . . .

When the oracle on the radio mentioned that the time was ripe Ginny called Bill into the office. "Bill, I'll bet you . . . ROW," she greeted him.

She had to repeat it before he knew what she meant . . . then he laughed easily. "Oh, sure . . . Page. It's down on my work bench . . . But, listen, angel . . . be careful . . . on the end of the bench . . . soaking in it."

Butter fingers, again! Well . . . until he saw her tomato plants.

She found the sack with the pink powder and fed it liberally to her precious plants. Then she soaked the ground the way the man on the radio had suggested.

They were all so busy the next couple of weeks that no one took any notice of Ginny's tomatoes. Caroline and Dave were showing the new owners around the place one evening and stopped to introduce them to Ginny and Bill. The new man whose name was Hubert called over the fence to Ginny. "I've been admiring your tomato plants, Mrs. Allison. They really are beauties . . . must be an expensive cutting . . ."

There was a stunned little silence while Caroline and Dave and Bill looked from Ginny's plants to Caroline's and then back to Ginny's again.

"They came out of the same setting that ours did," Caroline said in a puzzled tone. "What did you do to yours, Ginny?"

"Oh, I've been studying up on tomatoes," Ginny said. "They're really quite interesting."

Bill was regarding her curiously. "That's right . . . you had me get some of that plant junk. How come you never used it?"

Ginny shrugged. "I did use it, VEG-O-GROW," she told Caroline, "it's supposed to be wonderful for tomatoes . . ."

Caroline nodded respectfully. "I'll try if I have a garden again . . ."

Ginny's heart was light as she followed Bill back into the house. Once . . . just once she had bested Caroline.

Bill was looking at her in a frankly puzzled way. "What was the idea of telling Caroline you used that junk on your tomatoes?"

"I did use it, silly. I've been using it for weeks . . ."

Bill swallowed. "You're sure?"

"Of course I'm sure."

He took her by the arm and led her down the stairs and over to his work bench. "Now show me . . ." he invited.

Ginny sighed in exasperation, opened the familiar paper bag and let some of the pink powder sift through her fingers. "Here . . . this is the stuff . . ."

Bill was holding a smaller paper bag at arm's length and his smile was completely delighted. "THIS is your VEG-O-GROW? Butter Fingers. I don't know how you managed it but you seem to be growing the neighborhood's prize tomatoes with pink kausomine!"

If you can't seem to save for the things you want most in life, here's the perfect plan with which to begin 1955. It's the Payroll Savings Plan of investment in U. S. Savings Bonds—and it's making dreams come true for 8 million Americans just like yourself. It's one of the easiest savings plans ever, because your saving is actually done for you.

Here's how it works. Just sign the form provided by your pay office and fill in the amount you want to save each week. That amount will be put aside for you—before you have a chance to spend it. When enough accumulates, your company will buy and turn over to you a Series E Savings Bond.

Bonds, you know, earn an average 3% annual interest, compounded every 6 months, if held to maturity. And now they go on earning for as long as 19 years and 8 months! That means a return of up to 80% more than you originally paid.

Put your family's security—and your favorite dreams—at the top of your list of New Year's resolutions. Start 1955 by signing up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or, if you're self-employed, the Bond-A-Month Plan where you bank.
