Figure 1. The process of β-cell destruction via cytokine mediated apoptosis in Type 1 Diabetes (T1D). The cytokine mediators IL-1β and IFN-γ lead to the upregulation and down regulation of various genes involved in functions such as stress response. This ultimately leads to cell death [12].