Dear Sir:-

In answer to questions asked in yours of the 22nd. inst.

Anderson Campbell

Co. D. 311th Infantry,
Camp Dix, N. J.,
Nov. 4, 1917.

My dear Mr. Silvers,

A few days ago I received your letter concerning the work of War Service Bureau and in which you ask if I wish to resume some of the college activities. The idea certainly appeals to me as it will serve, in a measure, to keep me in touch with the fellows should an opportunity of coming back within a reasonable time present itself.

Respectfully yours,
Melvin Campbell.

My dear Mr. Silvers,

From the letters of the War Service Bureau I gather that you would like to get in touch with Capt. H. S. Sang. I have been transferred rather recently to the above company to which Capt. H. S. Sang has just been assigned as commanding officer. I imagine he must be the man you are looking for as it is unlikely that there are two captains of that name with the same initials.

Respectfully yours,
Melvin Campbell.

Dear Mr. Campbell:-

Thank you very much for word about the address of Captain Lang. I have been trying to find him for a long time and appreciate your interest.

With every good wish,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Sir:-

Clipped this from the Army and Navy Journal of Nov. 10, 1917.

M. V. Campbell is a member of a class somewhere around 1900.

M. V. Campbell, late Lieutenant U.S.M.C., has prepared a practical scheme for quick results in training the men of the National Army entitled "Rapid Training of Recruits" based on a work of the same title by an Army instructor in England. The commendable abruptness of the style of the text is apt to impress the student as to the importance of doing things not only quickly but smartly in effective military fashion.

Very truly yours,

C. H. Connors
