In reply to your inquiry, concerning my son - H. E. Schofield your surmise is correct.

June 23-1918

My dear Silvers

Just a note to tell you of a change of address. Am in the training school for officers of the Naval Auxiliary Reserve. The discipline is more rigid than I ever imagined possible, and the course intensive to the last inch. But with all that I hope to "knock spots out of it." Regards to any who may be interested.

Sincerely,
Harold Schofield '17.

My dear Mr. Schofield:

of June 23rd containing your new address.
I appreciate your interest and wish you all success in the course you are taking.

Very sincerely yours,

My dear Silvers

your last circular letter was interesting as usual. Since I wrote you last I have been promoted to Ensign in the Naval Auxiliary Service. There is a school at Pelham Bay Park which is open to any one in any branch of the naval service, for training officers, graduating the men as Ensigns. It is usually preceded by a two months trip on a coastwise steamer. Then comes the eight weeks at the school. It was the hardest grind I ever put in in all my life, but the goal was well worth it. The officers were strict but absolutely square, and I would advise every eligible Rutgers man to try for it. The course is fine and every thing is planned to accomplish the best results possible in the allotted time. Will try to run down to see you some day this coming week if I am not shipped out in the mean time. Am making my New York headquarters at the address below, which you better use until further notice.

Hurriedly
