Our Local Racing Season

What Was Done at Philadelphia Cycle Race Meets During the '97 Season.

The following list of the season's performances, compiled and tabulated from our files, constitutes one of the features which render The Philadelphia Inquirer worthy of the attention of our wheeling community.

FIVE MILES OF EXCELLENT RIDING, and an entry list of over 100 names, prepared for the New Jersey Race on Sunday, Dec. 29, 1897.

Three miles of excellent riding, and a large entry list, for a six-day’s race at the New Jersey Race on Sunday, Dec. 29, 1897.

The location of this race is in the vicinity of the Delaware and Raritan Canal, where a friendly post says "Beverly." M.

The race is a three-mile one, and will be run on a level and quiet road, where the best horses can obtain the full value of their time.

The distance is about 10 miles, and the course is a most promising one, as the road is very good.

The race is to be run at 2 p.m., and the entry list will be published in the next issue of The Inquirer.

The following is the list of the race:

These entries are from the list of those who have entered for the race, and the race is to be run on the 29th of December.

The following are the entries for the race:

These entries are from the list of those who have entered for the race, and the race is to be run on the 29th of December.

The following are the entries for the race:

These entries are from the list of those who have entered for the race, and the race is to be run on the 29th of December.