Suicide Waves at Night

July 24, 1967, 25 miles south of Da Nang

There was no light to strike the knife
Except the flash of mortars;
There was no light to watch the life
Ebb from fallen friend or foe -
Only kill-cr-be-killed orders:
All the bayonet need know.

In the valley in the darkness
Company D was overrun by the Cong - exploding mortars almost killed everyone.
In the valley in the darkness
Company D finally won
But many lay dead
And my brother was one

The village park

In the middle of the village park. the flag
shadows the snow

Under the rainbow
over the village park
ripples the flag.

In the middle of the village
In the middle of the park
Stands a tall metal flag pole
The flag taken down after dark Reaching up into the dark

Near the flagpole in the shadows
Stands a war memorial
Stands a memorial plaque
With the names who

Near the flagpole in the shadows
stands a plaque with the names of those

Near the flagpole in the shadows
Stands a memorial plaque
With the names of those who served
And the boys who never came back.

A single raindrop ripples the moon,
and wrinkles the young girl's face

Distant leafless trees and the afterglow beyond hems the horizon

Nothing but snow
untrodden and shadowless
tinged with afterglow.

The snowy graveyard:
mother and father clear
little brother's stone.

Stooping in the snow,
little brother's stone.

Near the snowy mound

Over the snowy corn field

The snowy corn field
a scarecrow

Beneath the deep snow

Under the crescent moon,
over the snowy pine tree,
a huge flapping crow.

Under the crescent moon,
over the boats in the bay

over the drifting canoe

Under the crescent moon,
over the snowy pine tree,
a flapping crow.

The autumn moon
emerging from a murky cloud,
awakens the child.

The autumn moon
emerging from a murky cloud,
enlightens the child.

The autumn moon -
the old storyteller
enlightens the child.

A blue jay
perched on the snowy limb
screams at the evening sun.

A ruffled blue jay
perched on the snowy limb,
screams at the evening sun.

Beneath the linden,
at nightfall...a lone firefly:
little brother...

The bare linden tree
flexing its snowy limbs
