MANY TAKE PART IN CELEBRATION OF PARENTS' DAY

More Than Three Hundred Parents Attend Exercises Held in Their Honor Sunday

Y. M. C. A. CONDUCTS SERVICE
Short Addresses and Musical Entertainment Feature Varied Program

"This assembly of over eight hundred mothers and dads and sons here today is a positive indication to me that the home is still an essential element in American life," said Dr. John M. Thomas, president of Rutgers University, in his address at the Parents' day service on Ford campus Sunday afternoon.

President Thomas welcomed the guests of the college and mentioned the possibilities of a future Parents' association and of the things such an organization could accomplish. He recalled the fine work that similar associations in other colleges have done. He also spoke of the service that different departments of the university rendered to the citizens of the state and he clarified the fact that Rutgers is now a state university. He urged that closer union between the sections of the state be created.

The program of the Parents' Day celebration was conducted by the Rutgers Y. M. C. A. This was the first attempt of the college at a function of its kind and more than three hundred parents of students attended the exercises held in their honor, coming from all parts of New Jersey and neighboring states.

Dr. Speer Gives Sermon
The exercises commenced at eleven o'clock Sunday morning when the guests heard Dr. Robert E. Speer of New York, deliver the morning service in Kirkpatrick chapel. Dinner was served at the fraternity houses and in the college dining hall after the service. Following dinner, the special program was conducted on Ford campus, where chairs had been set out under the pines.

Selections were rendered by the college band and glee club, and addresses were made by Dr. John M. Thomas, Dr. Fraser Metzger, Dr. Stanley White, and Allan G. Mitchell '27. Dean of Men, Dr. Metzger, spoke first, superseding the president's address because of another speaking engagement at which he was due. The dean extended a sincere welcome to the parents and expressed his desire that they would not wait till another Parents' day to visit the university again. He spoke of the greater affinity that now exists between father and son as compared to many years ago.

Dr. White in Address
Dr. White, in his speech, spoke of the youth and the existing criticism of the younger generation. He said he was not afraid of the "revolt of youth," because where no opposition is given to the things that are handed down from preceding generations there can be no progress. The chaplain told the parents of his duties at the university, speaking of

TENNIS TEAM REGISTERS WIN, DOWNING HAVERFORD

Scarlet Netmen Capture Close Match, Winning 4-3 Over Rivals

Led by Captain Ev Waugh the Rutgers varsity tennis team registered its first victory of the season defeating the Haverford netmen, 4 to 3, on the Bleeker Place courts, Friday afternoon. Three triumphs in the singles and one in the doubles gave the Scarlet request wielders the edge over their Pennsylvania opponents.

In the first singles, Captain Waugh made a gallant uphill fight to defeat Webster of Haverford at 6-8, 6-4, 6-4. The Scarlet leader dropped the first set in a hard fought encounter, but came right back in the next set to even the count and then to emerge victorious in the final set.

Waugh also displayed his flashy driving, dazzling service, and steadiness to good advantage in the first doubles with Macwatty, the Scarlet pair defeating Carrey and Webster of Haverford at 6-3, 7-9, 6-3. The result of this match won for the Scarlet as the score read Haverford, 3; Rutgers, 3 when the first doubles players took the court. Summaries:

Singles—Waugh, Rutgers, defeated Webster, Haverford, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4; Macwatty, Rutgers, defeated Lester, Haverford, 6-4, 6-3; Forsythe, Haverford, defeated Rabinowitz, Rutgers, 6-3, 6-1; Evans, Haverford, defeated B. Copleman, Rutgers, 6-3, 6-1; Bessley, Rutgers, defeated Carrey, Haverford, 4-6, 6-2, 12-10.
Doubles—Waugh and Macwatty, Rutgers, defeated Carrey and Webster, Haverford, 6-3, 7-9, 6-3; Evans and Lester, Haverford, defeated Rabinowitz and McKinney, Rutgers, 9-7, 6-3.

To Vote for Two Delegates of Scarlet Letter Council

The underclass delegates to the Scarlet Letter council will be elected this week, under the supervision of the Student Council, according to an announcement by W. C. Kempf, president of the newly formed council. The sophomore delegate will be elected Wednesday after chapel and will sit on the council for the rest of this scholastic year. The freshman delegate will be elected Thursday and will sit on the council until June, 1928. The council will hold a meeting next week to elect the editor and business manager of the 1929 Scarlet Letter.

SPEAKER DISCUSSES IMPORTANCE OF PAST

Dr. R. E. Speer Gives Sunday Address
Before Audience of Parents and Undergraduates

The power of the past was the theme of the address by Dr. Robert E. Speer, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, at the morning service in Kirkpatrick chapel Sunday. Dr. Speer spoke before a congregation of students and of parents who were attending the Parents' Day celebration.

The speaker showed through the use of several illustrations the responsibility of those living in the present to fulfill what their predecessors started. He revealed the inspiration that comes from turning to the past to note the stalwartness of our forefathers.

As an example of the importance of fulfilling what the past has started, Dr. Speer told of a football game. "There were two minutes to play and one yard had to be gained for one of the teams to get a touchdown and win the contest. The ball was passed to a halfback, it was fumbled, the game was lost. What was the difference between that act and all the plays preceding it in the game?"

The speaker asked, "It was the fact that this was one link of a long chain and if that link was broken, the chain was destroyed. What that one man did undid all that other men had done before him."

"Generations do the same thing," said Dr. Speer. "One generation comes and tears down all that previous generations have built. When we realize what the past has done and the faith that the past has in our behavior, we are inspired to greater deeds. That was what Napoleon did. He was out in Egypt under the shadows of the pyramids addressing a mere handful of his surviving soldiers. Things looked hopeless for them and the great leader knew that only inspirational words would give his men new vigor. 'Men,' he stated, 'forty generations are looking down on you! With those words in their hearts his soldiers fulfilled their duties.'"

Dr. Speer urged that the living generation feel the power of the faith that is placed in them by those of the past. "I wish there were some words that would show you men who are here today the shame of betraying the trust that the past has in you—of deserting their faith," he said.

In closing, Dr. Speer referred to the pictures of the builders of Rutgers that adorn the chapel walls. "One can almost hear the pictured lips speak to us! Seeing that we are compassed about by their spirits, let us strip off all that is unclear and run with faith and loyalty the race that they ran."

SCARLET KEY HOLDS DANCE

Sixty couples attended the first annual Scarlet Key dance at the Chi Psi lodge, April 29. The music was furnished by Pete Van Cleef and his orchestra. The chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. Metzger, Dr. and Mrs. Marvin, and Miss Julia Williamson.

R. O. T. C. UNIT INSPECTED BY WAR DEPARTMENT MEN

The R. O. T. C. unit of Rutgers was inspected yesterday and today by the inspecting officers from the War Department, Major John T. McLane, Cav., U. S. A., and Major E. P. Parker, F. A., U. S. A.

The officers made an official call on President John M. Thomas Monday, inspected various sections in the theory of military science, and continued this theoretical examination this morning. The practical demonstration started this afternoon at 1:05 p. m., when first call was sounded, and was followed by a review.

The corps then went through their customary maneuvers, and completed the demonstration by combining to form a single war strength rifle company to execute an assault. The national colors, the first part of the set of colors donated by John W. Mettler, have arrived, and the university color is expected within the next two weeks.

MAROON NINE WINS OVER RUTGERS, 3-1

Lafayette Gets Two Runs in First and is Never Headed; Loose

YEISLEY FANS THIRTEEN MEN

Loose fielding by Rutgers in the first inning enabled the Lafayette baseball nine to hand the Scarlet its first defeat of the season by a 3 to 1 score at Neilson field Saturday. Although the joint efforts of Gordonier and Triola, sophomore twirlers, held the Maroon invaders to four hits, a bad start left the Scarlet ball tossers with a two-run disadvantage which they were unable to overcome against Yeisley's steady pitching and his teammates' able fielding. The veteran Lafayette southpaw, who fanned thirteen Scarlet players, was found for eight hits, but managed to keep them well distributed.

Koch, Maroon lead-off man, laid down a bunt which Gordonier fielded perfectly, but threw wild to first. On Bell's grounder, Boettcher threw high over first, Koch taking third and Bell second. Grube, Lafayette captain, singled, scoring Koch and Bell. Lafayette's other run came in the fifth when McGarvey, fast Maroon right fielder, hit a home run over the embankment in right center.

Bases Full But No Runs

In Rutgers' half of the first, singles by Rosen, Irwin, and Hibbs filled the bases with one out, but Troiano flied out, and Fox lined to Yeisley. The lone Rutgers' tally came in the sixth, Hibbs starting things with his Texas-leaguer over second. Boettcher ran for the Scarlet captain, who is still suffering from the effects of an injured leg. Hibbs, however, remained in the game as a result of mutual agreement. Pete Troiano, next batter, was hit by a pitched ball. Fox grounded to Koch, forcing Troiano at second, but Koch threw wild to Bell, Boettcher scoring.

Rutgers never threatened after the sixth. In fact, with the exception of the first and sixth, only two of Coach Jacklitsch's men got as far as second. Yeisley starred for Lafayette, retiring thirteen by the strokeout route. Gordonier pitched well for seven innings, but was accorded poor support. Triola relieved him and hurled hitless ball in the last two innings, striking out three of the seven Eastonians who faced him. Joe Irwin featured the second inning by making all of the

AG CLUB HAS ANNUAL DANCE

The Agricultural club held its annual dance in the Dairy Husbandry building at the college farm Saturday night, April 30. The affair was attended by approximately forty-five couples. Music was furnished by "Hub" Parkhurst and his orchestra.

The chaperones were: Dr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Beaudette and Professor and Mrs. Arthur J. Farley. The committee in charge consisted of Kirkland D. Marder '28, chairman; William H. Parkhurst '28, Ellis P. Leonard '28, Dwight M. Barber '28, and Russel M. Bettes '29.

SEMINARY MUSEUM OPENED

The historical museum in Suydam hall connected with the New Brunswick Theological Seminary will henceforth be open to the public Wednesday afternoons from 2:30 to 4:30.

Among the most notable articles are the table upon which the American revised version of the Bible was prepared, a mummy of an Egyptian queen, imported from the Tomb of the Divine Mother, Tsah-Omen in Egypt, a very grotesque suit of Japanese armor, a set of miniature Chinamen, cleverly carved from wood, each one representing a different occupation in Chinese life, reproductions of Indian idols, and a copy of the famous Rosetta stone. There are also specimens of American Indian beadwork and many other representations of early America.

Upperclassmen Studying Journalism to Edit Front Page of Home News for One Day's Practical Work

Junior and seniors in the journalism course will have an opportunity to try their skill in practical work soon when they will be called upon to edit the first page of the New Brunswick Home News. Plans for taking over the local paper are not yet complete, but under arrangements so far finished May 17 is the tentative date for the stunt.

The juniors will become full-fledged reporters for the day, except for the salaries. They will work on local news, submitting their stories to the seniors in the journalism room in the library. The seniors will edit their copy and write

PLAY FIVE GAMES IN BALL TOURNEY

Dekes and Betas Each Defeat Two Rivals, While Zeta Psi Is Also Victorious

INTRAMURAL TENNIS STARTS

Delta Kappa Epsilon whitewashed the Commuters, 14 to 0, and Beta Theta Pi swamped Delta Phi, 10 to 1, in the two games played in the intramural outdoor baseball tournament Friday afternoon. Monday, three other games were played, Zeta Psi, Delta Kappa Epsilon, and Beta Theta Pi being victorious.

Clay Alton pitched air-tight ball for the Dekes against the Commuters, with Harry Lewis as his battery mate. Lourie and B. Cohen comprised the battery for the losers. In the fourth inning Lewis hit a home run. The opposing batteries in the Beta Theta Pi-Delta Phi tilt were for the Betas, Hanf and Thompson; for Delta Phi, Forman, Bowman and Heinzman.

Zeta Psi Beats Winants

Monday afternoon Zeta Psi defeated Winants 3 to 1, Potter pitching for the winners. In the evening a double-header was played with Delta Kappa Epsilon and Beta Theta Pi registering victories over Ivy club and Hegeman hall, respectively. Both Alton and Garrett pitched sterling ball for the winners.

Due to adverse weather conditions only one match has been completed in the intramural tennis tournament. Several teams have started their matches and the managers expect that the tournament will soon be in full swing.

In the one match completed, the Evergreen club lost to Delta Upsilon, 2 to 1. Gifford and Hatfield in the doubles and Shepard in the singles scored victories for the winners. Rosenhouse won the only match for the Evergreen club.

BASKETBALL MANAGERS NAMED

Basketball managers for the 1927-28 season were announced today by Graduate Manager of Athletics Harry J. Rockafeller. William S. Emley, 3rd, of Ventnor, N. J., automatically became senior manager, succeeding Edwin Siddins, of Atlantic City. William H. Whitaker of Hackensack, was selected as junior manager, two examinations being necessary for the choice. Oliver C. Lyon of Montclair, Robert N. Berry of Flemington, and Irwin N. Karkus of Perth Amboy, were named as sophomore managers.

MATH CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Rutgers Mathematics club held its April meeting on Friday evening in the Engineering building with an attendance of eighteen members. Three papers were read: J. Ensey Clayton, Jr., speaking on "Jacobi's Invariant," Dr. Clyde M. Huber speaking on "Non-euclidean Geometry," and Mr. Carl Gronquist '25 had as his subject, "Analysis of a Structure by the Method of Least Work."

At the May meeting, which will be held Wednesday, May 18, Mr. Robert M. Walter '25 will give a talk on "Mathematics in Insurance."

ROCKWELL AND HECK ON TRIP

Dean Rockwell has been in Pittsburgh for a few days, where he has been engaged as consulting engineer for one of the subsidiary companies of the Carnegie Steel Company.

Professor Heck attended in Boston on April 22, a meeting of a committee on "Symbols in Heat and Thermodynamics." This committee is organized under the International Electrotechnical Commission, which is working for a general uniformity of scientific and technical symbols. The meeting was held at Harvard University with eleven out of thirty representatives present from various societies. Good progress was made toward an agreement upon a set of symbols to be recommended for use in a particular field.

SCARLET RELAY TEAM WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Despite Bad Breaks, Rutgers Quartet Leads Field in Mile Relay
at Penn Carnival

For the second year in succession, Coach Bernie Wefers' varsity mile relay team captured the Middle Atlantic States Association championship at the 33rd annual University of Pennsylvania relay carnival at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Friday and Saturday. Captain Schutzendorf, Carney, Schulman, and Demarest composed the quartet which represented the Scarlet and covered the mile in 3:25 1/4.

All the breaks were against the Scarlet, drawings for lanes giving the eighth lane from the pole to the Rutgers team. New York University, Lafayette and Union all getting posts near the inside of the track. Coach Wefers says that this cost the team a new record. Captain Schutzendorf, Rutgers lead-off man, handed the baton to Carney in second position. Schutzendorf ran a clever 440 yards. He was leading in the stretch, but was bumped by another runner on the touchdown and lost some precious ground. Carney got the lead soon after the start and held it all the way, giving Schulman a slight advantage. Schulman allowed the Lafayette and Union runners to take the lead during the middle of the distance, but jumped the field on the last turn and handed Demarest a margin. Demarest followed his predecessor's example and allowed the other teams to lead till the last turn. Then he let loose a powerful finish to win in 3:25 1/4, 1/4 seconds slower than the college record of 3:24 1/4.

Lafayette Beat Union for Third Place

The track was a quagmire on Saturday when the Class B championship of America was run, and the team floundered around in the mud, and lost to Bates by a yard. The race was closely contested all the way, but the Scarlet stars could not adapt themselves to the mud readily and this caused their defeat. Howard College, a negro institution, finished third.

The carnival was one of the most closely-contested in several years and good times and few upsets featured the performances. The most interesting events were the 400-meter hurdles and the 480-yard shuttle hurdle relay in which English college athletes from Cambridge ran away with the relay and took second and third in the individual competition.

BIOLOGICAL SEMINAR MEETS

Professor Thomas J. Murray, B.S., M.S., of the bacteriology department of Rutgers will address a biological seminar Thursday at New Jersey hall. His subject will be "The Effect of Chlorine Compounds on the Bacteria in Milk." Mr. R. J. Dubos will also address the meeting. His subject will be "The Role of Catalase in Anaerobiosis."

SECOND ISSUE OF RUTGERS ANTHOLOGIST OUT MAY 20

The second issue of The Anthologist, Rutgers literary magazine, will appear on May 20, the day of the annual exhibition drill, according to the present plans of the board.

A large amount of the copy is now ready for the printer, but contributions may still be received. Associate Professor of English William B. Twiss has looked over all the copy for the coming number and is acting in the capacity of faculty advisor.

Several improvements over the initial number which appeared in February will be made in the second issue and it is hoped that a few more pages may be added. All those wishing to try out for places on the business staff should see Harry J. Volk, business manager, and all contributions should be handed to Kingsley Childs, editor.

Determined to regain their winning stride, the Rutgers varsity ball tossers will encounter the Amherst nine at Neilson field Friday afternoon. The contest with the Scarlet will be the opening game of the annual metropolitan trip of the Bay State team. Coach Jacklitsch's charges should be victorious as Amherst has met with only mediocre success this season. The tilt, however, is likely to develop into a pitching duel between Karl Gordonier, southpaw ace, and Pratt, Amherst's sensational freshman right-hander.

Amherst Freshman Trinity

The Amherst nine came along slowly in its pre-season practice, unfavorable weather conditions hampering the progress of the squad. The Lord Jeff team inaugurated its season about ten days ago, winning a pitcher's duel from Trinity, 1 to 0. Pratt, making his first start for the varsity, twirled sensational ball, blanking the Trinity batters with no hits and no runs in his six innings of mound duty. Al Nichols went to the box in the seventh and also gave an excellent account of himself. Nichols allowed one hit and two passes during his stay on the mound. Pratt's speedball dazzled the Trinity batsmen, the Purple tosser hanging up eleven strikeouts. Whittaker, Trinity hurler, allowed Amherst one scratch hit until the eighth frame when Lou Parker doubled, went to third on an out, and scored when the Trinity third sacker erred on Dean's grounder. Amherst played loosely in the field, the infield committing four misplays.

Springfield battled the Amherst tossers to a 2 to 2 tie in a ten-inning contest last week. Springfield scored one tally in both the first and third frames, but Amherst came right back and knotted the count in the last half of the third with a batting bee which sent two Purple runners over the plate. CONCERT BY CHORAL CLUB GIVEN AT ASBURY HOTEL

Rutgers Singers to Entertain Again
at Atlantic City Saturday

The University Choral club made its first seashore appearance Saturday night in a concert at the Hotel Berkeley-Carter, Asbury Park. The second appearance of the club at a seashore resort will be made next Saturday, May 7, at the Hotel Chalfonte-Haddon Hall in Atlantic City.

The full personnel of the clubs made the trip to Asbury Park and rendered the regular program, which included "When Summer Came" by the N. J. C. club and "I Must Down to the Seas Again" by the Rutgers club. Florence Mulford '26, and Charles Glazer '30 were the soloists with the clubs. Hawley Ades and Helen Thompson were well received in their group of two piano selections.

Dancing followed the concert and a large number of younger people enjoyed that part of the affair. Ted Couse's orchestra furnished the music.

The trip to Atlantic City on next Saturday, which will be the longest of the season, will be the fifth engagement of the clubs for this season. A concert at Plainfield will conclude the year's activities.

Two buses, carrying a selected number of singers from each of the clubs, will leave the city at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, and it is planned that the party will reach Atlantic City shortly after noon.

No definite plans have been made for the afternoon, but it is probable that the members of the clubs will be at liberty to spend the time in diversions. Possibly a rehearsal will be held late in the afternoon.

Supper will be taken in the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall, where the clubs will spend the night, and at 8:30 the concert will be given. The return to New Brunswick will be made on Sunday afternoon.

Delinquents

A resolution of the faculty announced last fall provided that each department of the University might formulate rules governing so-called honors courses in which upper classmen would be allowed to work for special honors with a minimum of detailed supervision. It was evidently intended at the time that rules for the proposed courses would be drawn up within the present academic year.

Since that time only one department has made any move in compliance with the regulation. Students in economics courses are now working under the new system, and in the biological courses there has always been provision for such work. But no other department has announced what opportunities it would offer the student eligible to escape from humdrum of routine work.

The selection of courses for next year must be made by the student some time between now and graduation. Without any knowledge of what courses are open, students eligible for honors work will have a hard time trying to make a wise selection of studies for next year. The changes in electives which inevitably occur in the fall make that season a scramble as it is, and if the formulation of honors work is allowed to go until then, the result will be highly confusing.

It seems that sufficient time has elapsed since the provision for honors work was first made for more departments to announce their plans, and unless action is taken fairly soon there will be too many eleventh-hour changes. There is no virtue in finding a way to progress and then delaying to take it.

The Underpaid Professor

In a recent address before the American Philosophical Society, President James R. Angell, of Yale, sounded a warning that higher education in this country was gravely menaced by the difficulty of securing men of first-rate intellectual ability for college faculties. He implies that the economic status of education has not been adapted to competition with the industrial and financial world.

"The professor needs to have freedom from his incessant financial anxiety," says Dr. Angell. "As conditions are today, we find that many of our best minds are finding it impossible, in the face of business opportunities, to choose the career of scholarship."

Such a remark, coming as it does from the head of a great university, is an indication that a condition often felt to be particularly acute at Rutgers is not peculiar to this university. Apparently other institutions have had cause to wish for the good old days when a professor was almost as important as a floorwalker, and was paid as well.

The outlook is not particularly encouraging from the student's point of view. Perhaps he feels even more strongly than the administrators the scarcity of that rare compound of personality and learning that makes a real professor. Dr. Angell's statement comes home to Rutgers students after the loss of Dr. Crozier and Dr. John H. Logan.

Book Review

The Sun Also Rises. By Ernest Hemingway. Scribner's Publishing Co. $2.50.
Is it not most unfortunate that a liberal and cultural college education should fail to inculcate in one appreciation enough of good literature to recognize the outstanding merit of Ernest Hemingway's "The Sun Also Rises," a most highly praised modern novel? Of what avail are our reading, observing, and thinking, if they do not teach us to discern a Maestro of new style, a style of pellucid, limpid, prose which a child of six, thanks to cross-word puzzles, would consider on a parity with his reader's primer? Into what hebetude must a college man have fallen when he cannot respond to a tale replete with accounts of drunkenness?

As I read this book, my reaction was more and more one of antipathy—apathy, to be precise, which is worse. It seemed a flat, dull, inane account of a flat, dull, inane existence. I finished the book, yes, but merely because my curiosity was piqued to see if somewhere the author might perchance say something, "We Moderns"—Hemingway and Antheil. (By the way, a musical version of this book in the hands of Antheil, with gallons of wine poured very realistically over the audience, might prove more stimulating. At any rate, it would be a good publicity stunt).

I would say something tangible about this book if there were something tangible in it. At the most, every two pages out of three, the whole company gets drunk; and in the intervening pages we are treated with an eroticism, disarming by its ingenuousness and freedom from innuendos. The word eroticism as applied to this book may be decidedly too strong, but Hemingway's treatment of sex is boring sophistry. Thankfully, it did not take long to read, but what puzzled me most was the title. Perhaps the editor will offer a prize for an explanation—any explanation.

We notice that Woolworth's advertises a dime banana split. If the sales-ladies are not acrobatic, we presume that the price covers merely the cost of the fruit.

The Orteig Prize, for a flight from Paris to New York has just been doubled and now is worth $50,000. How times have changed! Columbus once had no picnic getting here. Today we pay people to come.

Now that the reader has reached this paragraph, Gum Drop Jr. is able to point out that the Orteig Prize is also on the market for men traveling from New York to Paris. Which means, or so it seems to us, that by remaining where we are, we ought to be eligible for $100,000.

Last Sunday was the 105th anniversary of the birth of General Ulysses S. Grant. As Irvin Cobb once wrote, Grant seems to be the only permanent resident of New York City.

A Scientific Housekeeping Corporation of New York City is endeavoring to eliminate the housekeeping problem by starting a training school for servants. The company is a cooperative one, and on the surface, should be successful. And yet, we advise all to fight shy of it. In fact, we think the firm should be investigated and thoroughly censured; for an announcement of the company's activities states: "that within a short time after the school commences operating there will be no servant problem for the mistresses of New York."

Such free admissions of the moral turpitude existing along the gay white way should stir every puritan to immediate action. Let's go New Jersey! Hallelujah! Or however you spell it.

A recent article calls attention to the fact that Charley Chaplin's wife is suing him for alimony of $3,000 a week. All of which, even from Chaplin's viewpoint, is no laughing matter.

And this alimony question is one place where Jackie Cogan has it over his older rival. Bank on that.

Funny Americans! After fighting for six months last year to regain a lost hour, we allow daylight saving to go into effect again. Hour ways are so different.

Ask me another: Who wasn't called for jury duty in the Snyder trial?

Prominent Men To Talk
There will be among the speakers at these sectional meetings, not only individuals of prominence in the educational profession throughout the state, but also leaders in the profession in other states, and in foreign countries, and members of the faculties of many universities, Rutgers included, who come from schools or departments other than those dealing with education. Several business men and women will discuss various phases of secondary education as the business world views them.

A Safe Place To Buy

Looks often deceive and it is only by getting right down under the surface of things that the worth of an article can be accurately measured up, and that is why the meaning of the words "high priced" is often misconstrued. This store never was and never will be a so-called "high priced" place to buy. It sells goods at a modest advance over actual cost. It sells tried and tested quality.

What it does not sell is its good name for giving the customer full value received for every dollar spent!

RUTGERS INDIANS BEAT LEHIGH, 9-3

Brown and White Receives Worst
Defeat in Years as Scarlet Wins Fourth Straight

ED. ROBERTS LEADS ATTACK

Lehigh University's lacrosse team received one of its worst defeats in years when Coach Fred Fitch's Rutgers twelve downed the Brown and White players, 9 to 3, at Taylor field, South Bethlehem, Pa., Saturday afternoon. With Eddie Roberts again leading the Scarlet Indians in scoring, the home team trailed, 8 to 1, at the end of the first half.

The Rutgers twelve took the offensive at the opening whistle, and before fifteen minutes had elapsed, Roberts penetrated the Lehigh crease thrice in a row. A few moments later Bennie Mark, who had been playing steadily at third attack, made a dash for the net and registered after receiving a pass from behind the goal. A pause in the Scarlet onslaught followed, and Raleigh, Lehigh second defense, scored his team's first counter after a long run.

After a spirited skirmish around the net, the fifth Scarlet goal was tallied, the ball rolling in from the scuffle, and the point being credited to Captain Cass. MacGillivray and Hopkins accounted for the next three markers, the latter scoring his second goal shortly before the period ended.

Lehigh's defense tightened considerably at the start of the second half, and ten minutes of hard scrimmaging followed before Ed Roberts rang up his fourth point of the game. The Scarlet then went on the defensive, and although Buck and Raleigh of Lehigh each tallied once, the work of Auten at goal and of Captain Cass and Townsend at the points prevented any serious rally by the Brown and White.

The victory was the fourth straight for Coach Fitch's charges, who have also registered impressive victories over the his conferences with the men when they come to him for counsel.

Allan Mitchell, the retiring president of the college Y. M. C. A., presided at the exercises and welcomed the visitors, offering them the liberty of the college and its buildings.

Following the assembly on Ford campus, tea was served in the fraternity houses and a reception was held by the Y. M. C. A. at the Martin building with the assistance of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. Metzger, Dr. and Mrs. Marvin, Dr. and Mrs. White, Dr. and Mrs. Lipman, and Dean and Mrs. Rockwell.

The entire arrangement of plans for the Parents' day was done by the Y. M. C. A. undergraduate cabinet, James W. Lent '28 being the chairman. It is probable that, due to the success of the first Parents' day at Rutgers, the affair will be an annual event in the college calendar.

TIGER'S CUBS DEFEAT FROSH INDIANS, 3-2

Yearlings Receive Initial Reverse
From Speedy Princeton Team in Well-Played Game

Princeton's freshman lacrosse twelve handed the Scarlet cubs their initial defeat of the season by giving them a 3 to 2 beating at Princeton Saturday. The game was in doubt until the final whistle and the score was tied at half time at one-all.

Scudder, starting at center for the freshmen, was knocked out in the first part of the game and his absence from the midfield was a factor in the defeat. Both combinations exhibited plenty of fight, but the superior stickwork of the Princetonians gave them victory.

Campion, attack: Ed Kearney, point; and Beams, third defense, were the outstanding performers for the Rutgers aggregation. Graham, Campbell, and Taylor led the Orange yearlings in attack and defense. Beams scored the first goal for Rutgers after carrying the ball down the field and Lemmerz, captain of the frosh, registered the final counter in the second half when a last-minute rally showed signs of overtaking the leading Princeton twelve.

Graham, Princeton center, opened the scoring early in the first period. This was followed by the first Rutgers goal chalked up for Beams. Both teams took chances throughout the remainder of the half, but good defense tactics prevented further scoring.

Hall and Taylor started the second half with a bang when each registered in rapid succession after the whistle. Rutgers' defense tightened and scoring was stopped until late in the period when Lemmerz made the final counter. Repeated efforts of the Scarlet to tie the score before the final whistle failed.

Rutgers to Play Amherst

twirled the full game for Amherst, allowing eight safeties while his teammates collected the same number of hits off Erickson, Springfield's star twirler. Dean and Trenchard led the Amherst batters with two bingles apiece and Wilson starred in the field. Saturday, Harvard blanked Amherst, 8 to 0. Barber, Crimson twirler, allowed five widely scattered hits while the Harvard sluggers drove Kellogg, Amherst's veteran southpaw, from the mound. Kellogg allowed five hits and nine passes in five innings. After they had tallied once in the second inning, the Crimson players scored two more runs in the fourth without getting a hit, Amherst contributing four errors to Harvard's cause. After Harvard had scored twice in the fifth frame, Pratt relieved Kellogg. Pratt steadied the Amherst nine and allowed only two runs and four hits in the last three frames.

Referees—Taylor and Collins. Time of periods—30 minutes.

Trenchard, Purple backstop, proved easy for the Harvard baserunners, the Crimson purloining six bases.

Pratt will probably start for the Purple against Rutgers. Nichols and Kellogg are also primed for pitching duty and may get the twirling assignment instead of the young righthander. Trenchard, veteran receiver, will be behind the bat. The erratic Amherst infield will have Walker at first. Wilson covering the keystone sack, Dean at the hot corner, and Navin at shortstop. Amherst is strong in the outfield. W. Parker, L. Parker, and Campbell composing the outer pasture patrol. Szweciszki may replace Navin at short, and Hicks is certain to break in the game as a pinch hitter.

Karl Gordonier will probably do the hurling for Rutgers with Captain Hibbs behind the bat. The infield will be the same as usual, Rosen, Irwin, Boettcher, and Bliss cavorting in the inner garden. Clements, Troiano, and Fox will roam the outfield, but Lord and Rabinovitz are almost certain to get into the game. DeMucchio, Triola, Day, Quad, Eisenmann, Lee, and Contant will round out the Scarlet squad.

BROWN NEXT SCARLET LACROSSE OPPONENT

Rutgers to Engage Providence Team Friday; Yale Game Saturday

Brown	Third Defense	Degenhardt

Rutgers' varsity lacrosse team will journey to Providence Friday afternoon to play the Brown University twelve in the first game of a two-day trip to New England. Saturday the Scarlet Indians will meet Yale. The Brown stick wielders have not made an impressive record to date, and the Scarlet Indians are expected to add another victory to their string of four straight triumphs and no defeats.

Brown has been beaten by Union, and a week ago last Saturday lost an unexciting game to Pennsylvania, 20 to 1. Rutgers defeated Pennsylvania its first game, 5 to 4. Yale handed the Rhode Islanders a 2 to 0 defeat. This is Brown's first year of lacrosse, and the Providence institution's defense has been an easy mark for its opponents to date.

Rutgers, fresh from its decisive victory over Lehigh, will present a veteran combination on the field. Ed Roberts, who has been playing a remarkable game all season, will probably start at out home. He scored four of the nine goals in the game with Lehigh and three of the seven in the Union game, and is one of the most consistent scorers on the Rutgers team. McGillivray, who can also be depended upon to furnish plenty of opposition.

The Scarlet twelve has undertaken a hard schedule, and the Brown game will be little indication of its power. Yale, Syracuse, Army and Princeton have yet to be met, and this quintet can be depended upon to furnish plenty of opposition.

ASBURY PARK YIELDS TO FROSH NINE, 5-2

Good Playing by Team Makes Possible Second Win of Season; First Game at New Field

Outfitting the Asbury Park High baseball nine, 2 to 1, the Rutgers freshman team chalked up its second victory of the season defeating the shore diamond combination, 5 to 2, at College field Saturday afternoon. The contest was the first to be played on College field, since it was transformed into an athletic playground.

Jim Digney, who occupied the mound for the Scarlet yearlings, was in fine form, allowing only four singles, issuing five free passes, and sending eight of the Asbury Park batters back to the bench via the strikeout route. Mike Pecora, at shortstop, played well for the yearlings, handling five chances perfectly and banging out three hits in four times at bat.

Rutgers' first run came in the initial inning when Schettino walked, went to second on Newson's single and scored on Pecora's single to left. Schettino scored again in the third after receiving a walk.

Asbury Park tied the score in the fifth. Daniel and Van Brundt walked, and Digney missed Thorne's grounder, filling the bases. Daley's infield hit scored Daniel. Schettino fumbled Hendrickson's slow bunt and Van Brundt scored. Newman bunted to Digney, who threw Thorne out at home.

In the seventh the yearling pushed across two runs and in the eighth added

SCARLET RUNNERS MEET LAFAYETTE THIS AFTERNOON

Greatly Improves Chances

KEEN COMPETITION EXPECTED

Coach Wefers Holds Daily Practice for His Track Charges

Fresh from its recent victory over Lehigh, Coach Wefers' track team will meet the strong Lafayette team in a contest which will decide the championship of the "Middle Three." Rutgers, Lafayette and Lehigh, at Neilson field this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. This year the Maroon has a fairly strong team and it is expected that the competition will be keen in almost every event.

During the past week, Coach Wefers has held practice sessions every day in an effort to repeat his victory of last year, when the Scarlet won over her old rivals by a score of 67 to 59. Although the squad this year is lacking in outstanding stars, the team is a well-rounded one, capable of picking up points in every event.

Tony Zoller and Warren Brundage will carry the Scarlet in the sprints. Schutzendorf, Carney and Demarest will run in the middle distance events while Beattie, Schulman, Williams, and Renne will take care of the mile and two-mile runs. Sullivan, Don Brundage, Young, and Perlenfein will compete in the low and high hurdles; Shedd, and Wilson in the high jump; Fay and W. Brundage in the broad jump; Cost, Test, Koehlein, and Durrell in the pole vault; Shedd, Gesbicker, Keegan, Young, and Test in the weight events.

Shedd Competes Again

Chances for a victory for Rutgers have been considerably improved by the return of Jim Shedd, weight star, to track competition. Shedd has now recovered from a football injury which was expected to keep him out of track for the entire season. He will compete tomorrow in the javelin throw, the shot put and the discus, and should add at least 10 points to the Scarlet's total.

Lafayette has engaged in but one meet so far this season, her other meet, that with Swarthmore, being postponed on account of rain. Last Wednesday the Maroon lost to Haverford, 66 to 60. Although the score was close the Eastonites succeeded in garnering five first places out of the possible fourteen. In Phillips and Sturman, Lafayette has two first-class hurdlers. These men ran fast races against Haverford in the face of a high wind. The Maroon is especially strong in the distance runs. Against Haverford, Hanford, Musgrave, and Humma ran 1-2-3 in the mile, and in the

SERGEANT CLARENCE COFFEY TO REPLACE SERGEANT MILLER

Exhibition Drill Program Announced
By Military Department

Sergeant Clarence O. Coffey, of the Eighteenth Infantry 1st Division, has been commissioned by the government to replace Sergeant John H. Miller, of the Rutgers R. O. T. C., who will retire shortly. Sergeant Coffey has been in the service fifteen years, and has served in all parts of the world.

Whether or not Rutgers will receive the rating of "distinguished college" will be announced sometime in June.

A tentative program for Exhibition Drill, Friday, May 20, has been arranged and contains many features. Company A will do physical drill, Company B will illustrate platoon attack, Company C close order drill, and Company D, formal guard mount. The Juniors will demonstrate machine gun action, and Seniors, the Infantry Howitzer weapons, the 37 mm. gun and the 3-inch trench mortar. Major General James H. McRae, commanding general of the 2d corps area, will review the battalion, which will be commanded by Cadet Major Stanford Hendrickson.

Presentations of colors to the leading company in the efficiency contest by John W. Mettler '99, of a saber to the best soldier of the Junior class by the Sons of the American Revolution, of the Scabard and Blade medal to the most distinguished freshman in Military Science, and of marksmanship medals to members of the R. O. T. C. rifle team will take place.

Company D leads in the efficiency contest at the end of April with 420 points. Company C has 401; Company B, 394, and Company A, 371.

Poster Contest to be Held By Senior Ball Committee

A poster contest will be held by the senior ball committee, it was announced yesterday. A ticket to the ball will be given to the person submitting the four best posters. The contest will close Wednesday, May 18, and all posters will be judged before being distributed about the campus.

The ball will be held Thursday night, June 9, and will be the opening event of the Commencement Week program. The orchestra has not yet been selected, but it is expected that a contract will be signed next week.

Several novel features which will be introduced at the ball this year will be announced later. George J. Wells, head of the decorations committee, is planning for an effect entirely different from those of former dances.

The committees are: Favors, Schutzendorf, Hieckie; music, Zahn, Arkin; decorations, Wells, Ferris; patronesses, Siddons, Stier, Wirtz; lights, Philipps, Berkowitz; chaperones, Goldschmidt, Whitman, Schwarz; floor, Darwent, Senerchia; publicity, Blackman, Mulhern.

Two of the strongest lacrosse teams in the East will face off when Coach Fred Fitch's undefeated Rutgers twelve engages the powerful Yale Indians at New Haven, Conn., this afternoon. The contest will be crucial, and one of the hardest on the Scarlet schedule.

The Rutgers attack will consist of Jerry Thralls, who has fully recovered from his leg injury; MacGillivray and Hopkins, both consistent scorers, and Ed Roberts, who is expected to continue his brilliant performances at the out home position. Nellie Rohrbach will get the call at the center and Bennie Mark will start at third attack. The Rutgers defense will be comprised of Bud Auten, goal; Captain Dick Cass, point; Ed Phillips, cover point; Eddie Townsend, first defense; Eddie Gray, second defense; and Al Brown, third defense. Substitutes making the trip are Herb Palmer, Ed Pereyra, Cliff Roberts, and Wayne Johnson, attack players; and Stretch Alton, defense, and Deakin, center.

FROSH TRACK TEAM FACES COLUMBIA CUBS TUESDAY

Rutgers freshman track team will encounter the Columbia freshmen in their second meet of the season at Neilson field Tuesday. Thus far the Rutgers team has defeated the Lehigh cub while Columbia swamped Stuyvesant High School of New York and lost to N. Y. U. yearlings 77 to 40.

From past performances Wiese is expected to defeat Sims and Schwietzer in the 100- and 220-yard dashes. McDowell will be Wiese's running mate in the 100, while Matties will start with the freshman luminary in the 220. Wiese will also run the 440 with Von Glahn, but he will meet stiff opposition in Lea and Pilz of Columbia. The 880-yard run is expected to be one of the closest races of the day, with Captain Smith and Badrow of Rutgers meeting Hagen and Johnson. Neither Joyce, Hagen, nor Biggs are expected to put up much opposition to Smith in the mile. O'Neill and Crawford of Rutgers are expected to take the 220-low and the 120-high hurdles from Axelrod and Pany of Columbia, while Knowles of Rutgers should place in the high jump.

Biff McDowell will probably take the javelin throw for Rutgers, but Hanley of Columbia is expected to win the shot put and the discus easily. Rutgers will enter McDowell and Thompson in the shot put and McDowell and Klein in the discus. In the broad jump, Marmor and White will meet Murphy and Pilz of Columbia, while Margolis and Marion of Rutgers and Bailey of Columbia will fight it out for first place in the pole vault.

MATMEN ORGANIZE FOR NEXT YEAR

Wrestling and Boxing Association
Appoints Council to Elect

ELECTION OF OFFICERS HELD

Plans for next year and an election of officers constituted the chief business of the last meeting of the current college year of the Rutgers wrestling and boxing association held Tuesday night. Albert H. Byrne '28 was elected president of the association; Frank H. Curry, Jr., '28, vice-president; and Louis Flackbarth '28, secretary and treasurer. Curry was also chosen manager of the wrestling team for next year and Joseph T. McGough '29 was selected to manage the affairs of the boxing team next season.

The association also unanimously voted that managerships should be conducted on the same basis as the other athletic managerships in college, and that a council composed of the head of the Physical Training department, James H. Kelly, the faculty advisor of athletics, the president of the Wrestling and Boxing association, and the captain and manager of the respective team, shall choose all managers.

Wrestling Outlook Hopeful

Although the wrestling team did not win one of its meets in its initial season during the recently-concluded campaign, many of the men showed promise and a considerable amount of interest was displayed in the mat sport. Moreover, the season was a success financially which indicates that the sport is popular with the student body.

Next year, mass instruction, starting November 7 and continuing until December 10, under the direction of Allan Compton, will be open to everyone who desires to learn something about wrestling. In this way it is hoped that many men will become interested, and that several of the football men will turn their attention to wrestling at the conclusion of the gridiron campaign.

At the end of the period of mass instruction, an elimination wrestling contest open to all men will be held in seven classes, and a trophy will be presented to the winners in the various divisions. From the men in this competition, the coaches will pick the squad, and thereafter daily instruction will be held for the members of the squad.

Either last year's coach, Mike Boutsarous, or Coach Frank Foster of Princeton will be engaged as the wrestling mentor next season, and it is highly probable that the Council on athletics may award a minor letter to the members of the team should the sport prove a success both financially and as regards student interest.

Schedule Now Being Made

The association has allowed six meets for the wrestling team next year and already four have been booked. Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute will be met here, January 6, and Temple will visit Ballantine gymnasium, February 3. The Scarlet grapplers will journey to Franklin and Marshall, February 11, and will wrestle Lafayette at Easton, Pa., February 25. Negotiations are now being made with Amherst and Williams for meets on January 14 and February 15, respectively.

Three tentative matches have also been booked for the boxing team, these being with Fordham, Temple, and C. C. N. Y. It is also hoped that two or three more encounters will be scheduled for the Scarlet exponents of the art of fisticuffs who will again probably be under the tutelage of Coach Whitey Dennis next season.

Testimonial to the Late Francis Cuyler Van Dyck Given by Rutgers Faculty at Meeting on Wednesday

A testimonial to the late Dr. Francis Cuyler Van Dyck, professor emeritus and former dean of Rutgers, was given by the Rutgers University faculty in the faculty meeting on Wednesday, when the faculty members adopted the following resolution:

"The faculty of Rutgers University desires to place on record at this time its sense of sorrow at the death of Dr. Francis Cuyler Van Dyck. He was graduate, dean, and Professor Emeritus of this college and spent practically his whole life in and with the college. He lived and served under five different presidents and was the favorite professor of more classes than any other teacher in the institution. His long service of half a century, with his high proficiency as a teacher, his well balanced disposition, his noble character as a man made him a professor of rare distinction in the Karl Gordonier, southpaw hurler of Coach Jacklitsch's pitching corps, will be called upon for his hardest assignment of the season Tuesday afternoon, when the Scarlet baseball nine engages the University of Pennsylvania tossers at Franklin field, Philadelphia. The tilt is expected to be a southpaw duel, "Hooks" Walker, Red and Blue left-hander, being slated to oppose Gordonier on the mound. Walker will be supported by one of the best college nines in the East, Penn having won seven and tied one of eleven contests this season. The Scarlet will be out to avenge last year's defeat, when Penn blanked Rutgers, 10 to 0.

Penn opened its season, trouncing Drexel 20 to 2, in seven innings. The Red and Blue scored in every frame and collected twenty hits from three Drexel twirlers. Becker, Penn third sacker, batted out five safeties. Sanford and Shober limited Drexel to three widely scattered hits. Sanford did not allow a hit or a run in his four innings on the mound. Franklin and Marshall was blanked, 14 to 0, Sanford and Shober permitting eight safe wallops while their mates pounded out thirteen safeties.

Southern Trip Successful

Penn opened its Southern trip, playing a ten-inning 2-1 tie with North Carolina. Duke fell before Penn's slugging, the Red and Blue winning, 12 to 6. Walker, pitching for Penn, allowed seven hits, and batted out a home run. Penn reached four Duke twirlers for seventeen hits. Richmond was the next victim, Penn winning with Shober and Knoblauch pitching, 12 to 5. The Red and Blue took a pitching duel from Georgetown, with Sanford in superb form, 3 to 1. Becker's homer with one on enabled the Quakers to triumph. Maryland stopped Penn's streak, the College Park nine winning, 9 to 5.

The Army was defeated 6 to 1, Sanford limiting the Cadets to six bingles. Swarthmore upset Penn in a ten-inning tilt, 7 to 3. Walker weakened in the ninth and tenth frames, the Garnet falling on him for all its runs. Harvard was overcome in a slugging match, 11 to 7. The Crimson hammered Sanford but (Continued on page 4)

RUSHING AT RUTGERS MAY BE STANDARDIZED

Interfraternity Council to Decide On New Set of Rules for Pledging

A set of interfraternity rushing rules compiled by the rushing rules committee will come before the fraternity houses Tuesday and will be acted on Thursday night at the meeting of the Interfraternity council. The rules are as follows:

Rushing is defined as speaking or communicating with a freshman in any way on or off the campus by any member of a fraternity either alumnus, active, or pledge.

All rushing as defined above will cease from August 30th until the day two weeks after the registration day for the three upper classes. Such a day being specifically defined through the dean's office in the fall.

After this two weeks' period a three weeks' period of intensive rushing will take place, during which no pledging will be done. On the day previous to the beginning of this rushing period invitations for meals will be tendered the freshmen by the fraternities desiring to look over such men as candidates. Each freshman will accept those in which he desires by letters through the dean to those fraternities which have invited him and in which he is interested.

These invitations will include two meals, one lunch and one dinner. The acceptances are to be for lunch and dinner on different days for the same fraternity.

On the first day following the formal rushing period each fraternity will submit formal bids through the dean's office to the candidates whom they desire for membership. On the third day following the formal rushing period each freshman will formally accept the bid he desires to take by reporting to the evening meal at his chosen house. During this period between the formal rushing season and the formal acceptance of bids there will be no rushing; such rushing being defined again as found in section (1).

Following the date of formal acceptance of bids there is to be open rushing until the following August 30th. VI—For the violation of these rules a bond of five hundred dollars ($500.00) will be forfeited for the first offense and for the second offense pledging for one year will be denied the guilty fraternity. Furthermore any man who pledges himself to a fraternity in violation of these rules will be denied the right to join any fraternity on this campus during his stay at this university.

SPEECHES AND DEBATES PART OF PEITHO MEETING

A program consisting of extemporaneous speeches, a debate, and the reading of a paper, a meeting of the Peithosian society, was given Thursday night.

A three-minute speech by William J. McKenna, Jr., '30 on "The Humorous Tendency in Contemporary Literature" was followed by one entitled "A Speaker Accomplishes More Than a Writer" by George Ort '29.

A debate, "Resolved: That Drama Should be Subjected to Moral Censorship," Harry Folger '27, affirmative, and John Cost '29, negative, was the next feature of the program.

The meeting closed with a paper by John Goodman '29, entitled "Decency and the American Novel."

Dr. Charles H. Whitman, Professor of English, will deliver an address at the next meeting, Thursday, May 19.

SENIOR BALLOTS DECLARE PAYSON MOST INSPIRING

Most for Rutgers; Brown

SUNDAY CHAPEL VOTED DOWN

Students Think College Needs Better
Professors, Building Second

Lester E. Hanf was chosen as the man who had done the most for Rutgers by the senior class in the annual senior balloting Tuesday. Hanf will receive the Rutgers Club of Newark Prize. J. Kenneth Gifford, Roland R. Renne, and Gordon G. Schutzendorf, all tied for second place.

Alfred G. Brown drew a large majority for the best athlete in the class, being followed by Hanf. Renne was voted the best all-around man in non-athletic activities; Schutzendorf second, and Gifford was tied with Samuel G. Blackman for third.

Dr. Eliot R. Payson was voted the most inspiring professor, also the most humorous professor. Dr. William L. Sandage was named as second most inspiring, and Dr. Charles H. Whitman third. Professor William H. F. Lamont was chosen second most humorous, and Dr. Ralph G. Wright third. Dr. Whitman was also voted the most scholarly professor, Dr. Payson second, and Dr. William H. Kirk third.

English Department Best
Twenty-one men designated the English department as the one giving the most valuable courses. The actual courses specified were highly varied, but seven of the votes named contemporary drama. The economics department came next with sixteen votes.

Contemporary drama was also voted the most interesting course, followed by the history of education. Psychology was given twenty-nine votes as least valuable, and nineteenth century prose second with eight votes.

When asked to estimate the length of time necessary to re-establish the honor system at Rutgers, twenty of the students said three years. Fifteen men estimated one year, and an equal number five years. Others varied considerably, a few expressing the opinion that the university was ready now, and others giving ten and twelve years as the probable length of time necessary. A few men thought that it could never be done.

Two-thirds of the class expressed themselves opposed to Sunday chapel, sixty-two voting against it and thirty-one for it.

Professors Needed Most

The seniors were asked what Rutgers needed more, buildings or professors. Forty-four said professors, and thirty-nine buildings. Three men did not answer the question directly, saying that a still greater need was a smaller and more select student body.

Fifty-one seniors said that they preferred the Phi Beta Kappa key to the varsity "R," and thirty-four voted for the athletic award. The proportion was six to four in favor of the scholarship award, almost exactly what it was last year. (Continued on page 3)

The Rutgers freshmen baseball team will try to make it three wins out of four when it meets the Princeton freshmen at Princeton this afternoon.

The Scarlet cubs won their first game, beating Erasmus Hall high of Brooklyn, 6 to 4. In their second game the yearlings lost to Lehigh, 8 to 3; then they won last Saturday from Asbury Park high, 5 to 2. The Princeton freshmen lost to the Lawrenceville school nine Tuesday, 2 to 1, but defeated Princeton Prep, 7 to 2, Wednesday. The Orange and Black yearlings have won three of their four contests to date.

Several practice games have been played with the varsity in preparation for the contest, and the Scarlet yearlings entertain high hopes of repeating last year's victory when the first-year men defeated the cubs of old Nassau, 4 to 3.

The Senior Ballot

The opinions registered by the seniors in the questionnaire Tuesday offered little encouragement to those who hope for an early return to the honor system. Very few of the prospective graduates thought that anything could be done earlier than three years hence, and many predicted a still longer period under the proctor system.

In the absence of any well defined leadership toward the honor system, and with the great mass of students almost apathetic about it, the seniors are probably justified in taking the stand they did. The ground must be carefully prepared, and sustained effort extending over a considerable period of time will be necessary before such a proposal can be allowed to run the hazard of a vote.

The voting on whether Rutgers needed more professors or more buildings was so close as to be inconclusive. Several seniors did not answer the question as asked, but stated that a smaller and more select student body was a still greater need. Such a question might well have been included in the ballot. Rapidly increasing registration is not necessarily a sign of progress, and many people have expressed a fear that numbers might be less important than quality.

The ballots showed a distinct sentiment unfavorable to compulsory chapel, but the vote could hardly be described as a landslide. Anything that is done in this regard in the future will require thorough investigation in order to determine whether or not the opinions of the seniors are typical of the whole student body.

Phi Beta Kappa retains its lead over the varsity "R." In most votes taken on this question, there is a surprising uniformity of opinion, the key winning six to four in almost every case.

Psychology seemed to be the least liked course. This was the same result secured at Yale. Evidently, the science of psychology has not yet discovered the correct method of selling itself to the student. The next task that psychologists might appropriately take up would be to determine just what mental processes make it unpopular.

A New Association

The formation of a boxing and wrestling association at Rutgers marks another step toward organization of a varied field of sports. It will be an added opportunity to students for athletic competition, and will tend to bring more men into athletics by increasing the possible number of sports in which they may take interest.

Wrestling proved to be a financial success this year, probably because it required less equipment and cheaper coaching than other winter sports. It may thus recommend itself as an activity which will not draw on the revenue from football for maintenance.

One advantage of the proposed scheme is that it will provide instruction for the tyro. Wrestling and boxing are not highly organized in secondary schools, and the competition that the novice will

Book Review

Science, the False Messiah. By C. E. Ayres. Bobbs-Merrill. $3.00

People find it interesting to be told that science is the author of our greatest progress and our redeemer from barbarism and superstition. This is not true; but it is everywhere repeated. The same people, as well as many others, may find it interesting to be told that invention and technology are the basis of our departures and the cause of our disaffection from our ancient folk-lore, and that science—far from redeeming us from the vices of credulity—is the inviolable faith of our new dispensation. In an age when to accept religion, any religion, is a sign of effeminacy, of the fanciful, this lure founded upon the lack of knowledge of science in general and its ultimate function, is enticing and satiating enough to supplant the more ancient custom. Mr. Ayres prefers to say that science in its purest form is but a clarifying instrument of our folk-lore upon which all institutions stand.

The very title is suggestive of all this. Whether or no we are far enough removed from the problem has not entered the discussion. The author assumes we are. The entire work is a thesis to catalog science in its proper pigeon-hole, and separate carefully and scientifically for us our own assumptions, our own false conclusions, and to properly relegate and relate religion and science. Science might be said to be a help to those who earnestly seek the reason of religion, of those who are trying to construct their philosophy on a basis of reason and sound research.

Religion alone touches at the central problems of life. This is the author's underlying attitude. In his book he unconsciously allowed his dry humor and beautiful satire some play. For instance, he makes a vicious stab in the dark in one of his chapters headed, "That we can keep science and belief separate by relegating our religion to the Sabbath Day."

Again, he captions a whole portion of his book "Science Takes Command" and proceeds to show how little a command it can wield. He rails at the people who speak of science when they do not know what pure science is. Then by way of illustration he picks apart our conception of time. "What time is it?" "Six o'clock." How do we know? Well, Naval Observatory dictates it thus, what is the Naval Observatory that it can decipher natural laws? And so on until we don't know what time it really is and are at a loss what to think. True, this kind of argument is destructive, but it is also constructive. And further, it shows how a true scientist reacts to anything in his research. He takes nothing, not even the most obvious, for granted.

For awakening scientific inquiry within us, this book is worth reading. There is no evident attempt to produce a literary work. In fact, it might be classified with scientific writing in its treatment and, consequently, to many readers requires close attention. The work is terminated by a list of theses which the author will nail to a laboratory door, which are no less revolutionary to the scientist than were Luther's original theses to the theologians.

Intercollegiates

A freshman at the University of Colorado recently went to call on a co-ed at one of the local sorority houses. No sooner had he entered the door than a health officer quarantined the house for scarlet fever. Over the phone, the frosh complained that while the fifteen girls were all very nice, they had him wash the pots and pans every night.

Three of five freshmen at the University of Washington, who were attempting to paint their class numerals on the roof of the stand at the athletic field, were arrested, and two of them lodged in jail overnight. The men were released when they promised to cover their art work with a coat of black paint.

When the University of Illinois banned student cars, many of the undergraduates took to roller skates in order to save time in going between their rooms and classes. And then the order came that no student could skate on the campus walk until after 4 p. m. each day, to "relieve the congestion" and to save the disturbing of classes. Since the passing of the new ruling, roller skating has become a craze and merchants have been unable to supply the demand for skates.

The new library at the University of Illinois is the fourth largest in the country. Those that exceed it in size are the Yale, Harvard, and Columbia libraries.

In the Magazines We See

The Nation, May 4, 1927. Ramsay MacDonald. By Oswald Garrison Villard.

Back in the treaty-making days of 1919, Ramsay MacDonald was a delegate to the Versailles Conference. With his humane and un-imperialistic ideas, he was relegated to a back seat. His ability was not questioned, but a man with high idealistic views could not be tolerated in such an austere concert. Nevertheless, his ability won out. Less than five years after that ignoble conference, we see MacDonald at the head of the English Government.

MacDonald's plan for peace was immediate reconciliation, the restoration of good-will, the rebuilding of wasted Europe without annexation, indemnities, or penalties. With these points incorporated in the Peace Treaty, Europe today might have been saved the wrangling, the suspicions, the hate, the distrust of democracy, now prevalent there. But Ramsay MacDonald was ahead of his time, and Europe suffers for its blunders.

Living Age, May 1, 1927. Lenin in Siberia. Reminiscences of His Widow. From somewhere on the Volga, in the autumn of 1893, came to Moscow a disciple of Marx, named Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, to completely reorganize the largest nation on this globe, and upon his death, millions of people mourned him as their god.

He was indefatigable in pursuing the work that he had early outlined for himself. His aim was to alleviate the miserable conditions of life of many of Russia's peasants. In this cause, he suffered many arrests, exile into Siberia, hunger, and fear of assassination.

Lenin had a great intellect and a fine personality. He was a keen lawyer, a student of languages, even to translating Webb and Marx, and in his own literary endeavors, he wrote many articles and pamphlets. His circle of friends was large. He had the knack of picking out men who made good revolutionary workers. These many friends helped Lenin in his difficulties and were his staunchest supporters when he assumed the leadership of the government of Russia.

What Price Humanity. By Legionnaire Torato. The most romantic of all adventures—the Foreign Legion of France—loses its lustre and brilliance upon a close scrutiny. Once a member of that select group, the only glory left to the Legionnaire, is to perform a successful escape.

What attracts men to join the Legion? The love of adventure, unemployment, uncertainty at home, family quarrels, crimes, and other dark episodes, have determined them to take the plunge. Thus in the ranks of the Legion, we find men of every walk in life, from the nobility down to the riff-raff of the streets.

According to the author, life at the headquarters at Sidi-bel-Abbes is to the Legionnaire the nearest approach to Hell on this earth. Nature, man, fate, all conspire against him until he loses all his aesthetic and sensual judgment that he may have had and becomes merely a hard-boiled fighter inured to terrific hardships.

A Safe Place To Buy

Looks often deceive and it is only by getting right down under the surface of things that the worth of an article can be accurately measured up, and that is why the meaning of the words "high priced" is often misconstrued. This store never was and never will be a so-called "high priced" place to buy. It sells goods at a modest advance over actual cost. It sells tried and tested quality.

What it does not sell is its good name for giving the customer full value received for every dollar spent!

Quality for quality and price for price, the selling figures here are for the uplift of public confidence and the maintenance of a permanent trade.

SCARLET NETMEN DEFEAT WASHINGTON AND LEE, 4-2

Strong Wind Together With Shower Hampers Efforts of Players

Rutgers' tennis team scored its second straight victory by defeating the Washington and Lee netmen, 4 to 2, on the Bleeker place courts Wednesday afternoon. Unfavorable weather conditions hampered the players, a high wind blowing continually.

In the first singles, Captain Waugh scored over Cassell, Washington and Lee star, in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3. The Scarlet leader held the upper hand throughout and won easily. Later, paired with Macwatty, Waugh defeated Cassell and Dobbs in the first doubles, by the scores of 6-2, 6-2. In the second doubles, McKinney and Rabinowitz won the first set at 6-1, but their opponents, Pitts and Homer, took the next set. Rain, which began falling during the last games of the second set, prevented the completion of the match. Summaries:

Singles—Waugh, Rutgers, defeated Cassell, W. and L., 6-4, 6-3; Macwatty, Rutgers, defeated Dobbs, W. and L., 6-4, 6-3; Rabinowitz, Rutgers, defeated Turk, W. and L., 6-2, 6-4; Pitts, W. and L., defeated B. Coleman, Rutgers, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4; Homer, W. and L., defeated Beasley, Rutgers, 6-1, 6-3.

DR. KUMMEL COMPLETES LECTURES ON NEW JERSEY

Doctor Henry D. Kummel, state geologist, concluded his series of five lectures on the geology of New Jersey Thursday morning. Dr. Kummel has been state geologist for over thirty years and has seen the inauguration of such departments as water supplies, forests, and parks. Some of his lectures were based upon four years' extensive field work.

According to Dr. Kummel, New Jersey has deposits typical of almost all of the periods of geological history; the oldest rocks are found to the west, the newest on the coast. The talks covered in detail the development of this state over a period of more than a million years. The chief references were to the glaciers that at various periods of time covered the state and to the nature of the deposits they had left. One of these glaciers formed a lake and turned the Passaic River far from its original path.

Reports of all the geological surveys ever made in the state can be obtained from the state geological department. It is of interest that Professor Cook, former professor of geology at Rutgers and establish of the geological museum here, held for some time the office which Dr. Kummel now holds.

Some people are so narrow-minded that they can't even part their hair.

Junior Oratorical Contest

Frank Brower, winner of the second prize of twenty dollars, gave an address on: A College Man's Philosophy of Life. Frederick W. Hall won honorable mention for his speech entitled: Governor Smith's Reply.

The judges were Dr. Stanley S. White, college chaplain, Professor Charles Hale, of the English department, and Mr. Victor W. Simons, instructor in public speaking.

year and about equal to the proportion at Princeton a year ago.

Calvin Coolidge is the choice of the senior class at Rutgers for the next president, according to a straw vote secured by the undergraduate newspaper this week in connection with its annual questionnaire put to the members of the senior class. Coolidge won over Governor Al Smith, sixty-seven to eighteen.

Coolidge Biggest Man
The seniors also voted Coolidge the "biggest man in America." Henry Ford coming second, and "Big Bill" Edwards third. When asked to name the biggest man in the world, the students chose Mussolini first, Coolidge second, and Bernard Shaw third.

Seven seniors admitted that they had never been kissed, eighty replied "yes," and about six refused to answer the question. Seventy-one of the men are smokers, and twenty are not.

Greta Garbo received the greatest number of votes for favorite screen actress, being followed by Norma Shearer and Clara Bow, both tied for second place. John Barrymore is the favorite movie actor, and John Gilbert the runner-up.

Eva Le Gallienne received the greatest number of votes for favorite stage actress, followed by Marilyn Miller and Ethel Barrymore in the order named. Caponsacchi was declared the best play of the year, with the American Tragedy a second.

Two Authors Tie for First

Sabatini and Thomas Hardy were tied for first place as favorite prose writer, and Dreiser, Galsworthy, and O. Henry were each given four votes for second place. The total number of authors named was more than twenty. Poe is the favorite poet, and Tennyson the second.

FRESH TO MEET RUTGERS PREP

The Freshman tennis team will inaugurate its season against the Rutgers' Prep racquet wielders on the Bleeker place courts Monday afternoon. The Prep school will offer an experienced team which has already registered two 5-0 victories over Pingry, of Elizabeth, and Montclair Academy.

Montenecourt will lead his teammates at first singles, however, Miller and Alioth are almost on a par with their captain. The ineligibility of Burns and Meytroff has been a serious blow to the freshmen team. In all probability Rosenhouse, of West New York High, will occupy first singles, Rudnick, of Poly Prep, second singles, and R. Smith will play in the singles and doubles.

Modern smoking pleasure that never fails

THE smokers of this age are the most independent ever known. Accepting no hearsay, they have smoked out the facts. They have learned that the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown are rolled into Camels, that here is the incomparable blending for goodness, that Camels simply never tire the taste.

Camel is the cigarette that never fails to please the modern age. Regardless of how often you want the comfort of a smoke, of how steadily you light one after another, Camel will never fail you, never give you any but the finest thrill of smoking pleasure. This is why Camel's popularity, by far the largest in the modern world, keeps overwhelmingly in the lead. As modern taste becomes more insistent upon choice tobaccos, increasing millions discover Camel's incomparable mildness, smoothness and mellowness.

If you want the cigarette that's good to live with from morn to mid-night, the one that is the choice of the modern age, "Have a Camel!"

BETAS WIN FINALS OF INDOOR TOURNEY

Theta Zeta Goes Down to Defeat, 9-4, in Closely Contested Game in Ballantine Gym

Before more than 100 enthusiastic spectators, many of them members of the cheering squads of the rival teams, the Beta Theta Pi combination captured the annual intramural indoor baseball championship and trophy defeating the Theta Zeta representatives, 9 to 4, in a seven-inning contest in Ballantine gymnasium, Tuesday night.

The Betes got off to a two-run lead in the first inning and thereafter led throughout. The Theta Zetas retaliated with one counter in their half of the second, but the College Ave. batters came right back in the third to add another tally, making the score 3 to 1. In the fourth, the breaks, such as ball bouncing off the supporting timbers of the ceiling and the walls in unexpected fashion, began to go against the Theta Zeta combination and as a result the Betes put the game on ice chasing six runners across the plate in this canto.

Both went scoreless in the fifth and sixth, but in the seventh, led by Dick Boettcher, varsity third sacker, the Hamilton St. players staged a desperate but vain rally which netted three runs. The sophomore guardian of the hot corner pulled some tricky base running to start the three-run comeback. With a man on first, Boettcher hit to the Betes' second baseman, who retired the man coming down from first. The Beta keystone sacker then threw to first in an attempt to double up Boettcher, but the latter had already rounded the initial bag and headed for second. The Beta first baseman uncorked a bad heave to the second sacker and Boettcher took third, then continued on his way to home scoring on a close play at the plate. The Theta Zetas then added two more, but, with the bases full, were retired after the third run had been scored.

men registered impressive victories over the University of Pennsylvania, Montclair A. C., Union College, and Lehigh University. The Blue was downed by the strong Crescent A. C. twelve at New Haven, April 2, 5 to 2, but came back strong the following Saturday to defeat the University of Pennsylvania twelve, 10 to 5. The Rutgers twelve had defeated the Pennsylvanians the week before, 5 to 3, so the comparative scores do not indicate much.

Representatives of Old Eli visited Baltimore April 13 and were overwhelmed by a fast Johns Hopkins team, 12 to 3. Brown University was entertained at New Haven April 30, and the Yale stick wielders came close to shattering all high scoring records by piling up a 26 to 0 score.

Stevens, Yale's first attack man, has been the most consistent point scorer in the four games played thus far. Against the Hopkins twelve, Stevens registered all three goals for the losers, and in the Crescent A. C. contest he and Hogue,

INDEPENDENTS, KAPPA SIGS, ALPHA SIGS, PHI EPS, WIN

Kappa Sigma trounced Evergreen club 8 to 2, Alpha Sigma Rho downed Chi Psi 16 to 7, Phi Epsilon Pi defeated Delta Upsilon 7 to 5, Independents trimmed Hegeimann 4 to 1, in the intramural baseball games played on College field this week. Rain and wet grounds caused the postponement of the Delta Phi-Chi Phi, Theta Zeta-Raritan club, and Zeta Psi-Lambda Chi Alpha engagements.

Tritellon Lodge will cross bats with the Evergreen combination and the Dekes will face the Zetes Monday. Tuesday will see Theta Zeta facing the Evergreen nine.

Chi Phi downed Alpha Sigma Rho 2 to 1 in the lone tennis match Wednesday. Kappa Sigs won both singles matches against the D. U. duet Thursday, and the doubles match will be played next week. Evergreen club won two of the three matches against Delta Phi in the remaining engagement scheduled.

Several games are scheduled for next week: Monday, Independents-Beta Theta Pi; Zeta Psi-Hegeman, Chi Psi-Chi Phi; Tuesday, Theta Zeta-Phi Epsilon Pi, Alpha Sigma Rho-Ivy Club Wednesday, Sigma Delta-Evergreen Club, Pi Kappa Alpha-Lambda Chi Alpha; Thursday, Delta Phi-Delta Upsilon; Friday, Zeta Psi-Phi Gamma Delta, Independents-Delta Phi.

SENIORS TO USE OLD SYSTEM

Members of the present senior class may graduate under either the former quality credit system, or under the new regulations, by virtue of a resolution passed at the faculty meeting, held in the Chemistry lecture room, last Wednesday at 4:15 p. m.

The ruling was made for the benefit of those seniors, who, under the new system, would be unable to graduate, because of an excess number of "4" grades. These men will be allowed to graduate in June if they conform to the regulations which were in effect during their first three years.

J. Wallace Higgins and John G. Metzgar were selected by the faculty at this time as commencement speakers.

PHILO ELECTS EIGHT MEN

Eight men were elected to membership in the Philoclean Literary Society Thursday night at the semi-annual elections of the society. The members-elect are: Frank H. Curry '28, Wallace S. Eddy '28, Addison C. Ely '28, Alan E. James '28, John A. Macwatty '28, Harold H. Perlenfein '28, William L. Todd '28, and Ralph J. Hasbrouck '29.

The initiation of the newly elected men will be held at the Chi Psi Lodge Wednesday night at seven-thirty.

Scarlet Nine Plays Penn

The Quakers drove three Harvard moundsmen to the showers. Last Saturday, Yale defeated Penn, 3 to 2, Walker being shaded by Holabaird, Eli port-sider.

Penn Lineup Formidable

In addition to Walker, Foster Sanford, Jr., son of the former Rutgers football coach, "Lefty" Knoblauch, O'Hara, and Shober, former frosh ace, will be ready for mound duty for Penn. Gene Connel will be behind the bat, with the infield composed of Cole at first, Armstrong covering the keystone sack, Becker at the hot corner and Thompson at short. Coach Carriss' outfield is one of the best in the East. Captain Tremper, who has received two major league offers, will be posted in center; Sammy Thomas in left, and Deutsch in right. The infield reserves are Aldrich, Magner, Tashjian, Murphy, and Pearlman. Davenport and Matthews may be stationed behind the plate and the sub fly chasers include Scull and McDonald. Both Cole and Tremper were teammates of Pete Troiano, Rutgers center fielder, at Erasmus Hall High, Brooklyn, in 1924.

Gordonier's battery mate will be Captain Hibbs. Irwin, Rosen, Boettcher, and Bliss will compose the Scarlet infield, and Clements, Troiano and Lord the outfield. DeMucchio and Triola will be primed to relieve Gordonier if the southpaw shows any signs of weakening, and Quad may relieve Hibbs behind the bat. Lee, Eisenmann and Contant will be the infield reserves, with Rabinovitz and Fox ready for fly-chasing duty.

NETMEN MEET LAFAYETTE HERE SATURDAY MORNING

The Rutgers varsity tennis team will engage in its fourth match of the season when it encounters the Lafayette netmen on the Bleecker place courts Saturday morning. The Scarlet racquet wielders are in the pink of condition, and are confident of turning in their third consecutive victory.

Captain Waugh, MacWatty, Rabinowitz, B. Copleman, and Beasley will most likely play in the singles for the Scarlet; Waugh and Macwatty, and McKimney and Rabinowitz will probably be the Rutgers representatives in the doubles. Lafayette will come to New Brunswick with a strong delegation, but the Scarlet netmen appear to have a good chance of avenging last year's setback at the hands of the Eastonians.

Following tomorrow's contest the Rutgers netmen will rest until the following Saturday when they will journey to New York City to meet the New York University netmen.

SCARLET LETTER CONTAINS SEVERAL NOVEL FEATURES

1928 Year Book Goes On Sale This Week; Senior and Fraternity
Sections Rearranged

DEDICATED TO DR. PAYSON

Biography of Col. Rutgers Included in Improved Edition

The balance of copies of the 1928 Scarlet Letter have arrived and are ready for distribution to the student body. The books may be obtained at the Scarlet Letter office, second floor of the center house of Winants Hall, any day this week between the hours of 4 and 6 p. m. Extra books may be secured at the same time at $4 per copy.

This year's book, which is dedicated to Dr. Elliot R. Payson, includes several changes in arrangement which have reduced its size slightly in an effort to use larger cuts and stay within the limits of the reduced appropriation. Last year the book was put on the blanket tax by popular vote and the students were assessed $5 per man. This year the assessment was reduced to $4 and was incorporated in the student activities tax.

The artistic influence of the book is Egyptian, a radical departure from the wood cuts used last year. The border is composed of hieroglyphics in gray tint. Brown leather with the same grain as last year is used on the cover, which has a plain Egyptian design, with the Old English "R," as usual.

Ivory Paper Used
An ivory paper replaces the dead white used last year and the view section is printed in brown art ink on cream paper with a special border printed in tan. The pictures are on double mounting.

The administration section was completely revised and includes a picture of Dr. Thomas and pictures of all five deans of the university. The faculty list is printed in double column to avoid as much as possible the catalogue feature. A list of the past presidents of the university is also included.

The senior class section has been changed so that three seniors are on a page instead of two, as was formerly the custom. This permits some saving in space without any loss in material except the reduction of the size of the senior writeups. Instead of having a picture of all the class officers, the picture of the president of each class has been used as a cut-to-shape half tone and the class officers have been listed. The class group and history are practically the same as last year.

The junior pictures this year are much larger than those in last year's book and are only ten to a page instead of twelve. They are arranged in two panels, with the names and addresses between the panels.

The sophomore class list is printed in three columns, with the name in capitals, fraternity in italics and course in regular type. The freshman class roster is printed in the same style as last year, except that no capitals are used throughout the section.

SENIOR BALL COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES NEW FEATURES

All Posters Must Be in By May 18;
Have Not Selected Orchestra

A novel feature contemplated for the Senior Ball is the stamping of the Rutgers seal on the wrists of all men as they enter the gymnasium. This will serve as identification when leaving the hall during the evening, and will prevent the crashing of stags.

The Senior Ball committee will meet again this week when it is expected that final announcement will be made of the selection of the orchestra. The decorations committee is negotiating with several New York firms and will present something new in decorations.

All posters in the contest should be submitted to the chairman of the committee, Gordon Schutzenzendorf, by Wednesday, May 18. A free ticket will be given to the person making the four best posters.

PHILO CORRECTIONS

Due to an error in the last issue of THE TARGUM, the names of two of the men who were elected to membership in the Philoclean Literary society were omitted. Gerard R. Gnade '28 and C. Redford Davis '29 were also elected at the last meeting of the society. The initiation of the new members will be held Thursday night at 7:30 p. m. in the Chi Psi lodge.

Name New Chanticleer Staff; Schimmel '28 to be Editor

William B. Schimmel '28 was elected editor-in-chief of The Chanticleer, and Burbank Roberts '28 received the business management of the magazine at the election of next year's staff of the Rutgers comic publication held yesterday.

Next year's art editor will be Maurice W. Berger '28. The rest of the editorial staff will consist of: assistant editor, Robert R. Blunt '29; literary editor, Kingsley Childs; and assistant art editor, Carroll A. Badeau '28; and make-up editor, Henry D. Papen '30. The rest of the business staff will be: advertising manager, F. Bartling Beasley '28; circulation manager, Robert E. Pettit '29; and service manager, James R. E. Ozias '29.

The new staff will publish the last issue of this year with the assistance of the retiring staff. Keys for service on The Chanticleer will be given to the senior members of the past year's staff in the near future.

CUB TRACKMEN MEET N. Y. U. TEAM FRIDAY

Keen Rivalry Expected When Freshman
Outfit and Metropolitan Rivals Clash

Rutgers' freshman track team will clash with the powerful New York University yearling squad Friday afternoon at Ohio Field, New York City. Both teams have won their meets by large margins; the Scarlet record showing wins over Lehigh and Columbia by large scores, while the Gothamites also swamped Columbia.

Wiese and McDowell have the edge on Meister and Bernstein in the century, and Moskowitz should give Wiese and Hutchinson no trouble in the 220. On past performances Warwick ought to beat Wiese, Leigh and von Glahn in the quarter. Phillips, Hickey, and Ganser outclass Captain Smith and Badrow in the mile and 880, having made much faster time against Columbia than the Scarlet cubs have made in competition. The hurdles will bring forth the closest competition of the day with two former P. S. A. L. champions, Furth and Wrobel, meeting O'Neill and Crawford in both events.

Michaels and Smith are good for over 110 feet in the discus and they should have little difficulty with McDowell and Klein in the plate tossing event. In addition to his efforts with the discus, Smith outs the shot 51 feet, ten feet better than McDowell or Thompson. Myers and Bill McDowell are due to have a battle royal in the javelin; Myers tossed the steel-tipped spear more than 160 feet in the Columbia meet, while McDowell holds the Rutgers record at 161. Taylor of the Violet is expected to gather the other point.

Marion, Margolis, and Knowles are counted on to outscore Gasser, Furth, and Duperty in the pole vault, none of the men from the metropolitan team having done more than 9 feet, 6 inches. Knowles and Werner seem to be evenly matched in the high jump, with Bernstein taking third. Burnstein will be the N. Y. U. hope in the broad jump against Marmor, White and Hagan.

SCARLET TWELVE WINS AND LOSES

Varsity Indians Beat Brown, 4-0,
But Drop Hard Battle to Yale Team, 7-4

MACGILLVARY RUTGERS STAR

One victory and one defeat was the result of the varsity lacrosse twelve's New England trip Friday and Saturday, when the Scarlet Indians downed Brown, 4 to 0, and dropped their first game to Yale, 7 to 4. Coach Fitch's men, after an easy workout at Providence, Friday, put up a game struggle against the strong New Haven team, but were not able to cope with the Blue's shifty attack.

The contest with the Yale twelve, as contrasted to the Brown tilt, was fast and furious throughout. For the first five minutes, both struggled for an advantage, and a minute after Stevens, brilliant Blue first attack, had registered his first for the home team, Ed Roberts crashed through with the tying point. The two twelves stood even for the next eight minutes, but after Fields and Stevens had each registered for the Blue, Rutgers was unable to come from behind again. With a half minute to play, the Scarlet attack made a strong stand, and Jerry Thrall's goal brought the count to 4 to 2 as the period ended.

MacGillvary Stars

For the first five minutes of the second period, the Scarlet defense staved off the rushing attack of the Blue, and during that time the Rutgers offense threatened on several occasions. Yale registered first when Lynch received a pass from behind the net and made good on the shot. Coach Fitch's men again took the offensive, and MacGillvary, leading the attack, netted the rubber to make the score 5 to 3. A variation in the Yale attack followed, and by sending extra men to the net the Connecticut players added two more points through the shooting of McKee and Lynch. The invaders were not yet through, however, and after MacGillvary had scored his second of the half on a beautiful backhand throw, the Scarlet stayed on the offensive for the remainder of the contest, and only the most strenuous effort on the part of the Blue defenders stopped further scoring.

Starring for the Rutgers attack was Don MacGillvary, who led the team in scoring and who stood out in general running and stick-work. Ed Roberts and Jerry Thralls also played well, but both were too well covered. On the defense, Ed Phillips at cover-point, played the Reilly yesterday. Frausing is now confined to his home as a result of a nervous breakdown, and until his return to work the above regulations will be in effect.

TENNIS MATCH POSTPONED

Wet courts caused the indefinite postponement of the Rutgers Freshman-Rutgers Prep tennis match scheduled to be played on the Bleeker place courts Monday afternoon.

Colonel Smiley to Retire as Head of Rutgers R.O.T.C.

Colonel Samuel E. Smiley, retired army officer who has served for many years as professor of military science and tactics at Rutgers university, will be succeeded by Colonel Ralph McCoy, United States Army, according to word received by President John M. Thomas today.

Colonel McCoy, who is at present located in Hawaii, will assume his new duties on or about September 15. Colonel Smiley, graduate of West Point and Chicago Law College, was professor of military science and tactics at Rutgers from 1888 to 1891, from 1903 to 1906, and from 1920 to 1927. The colonel will be placed on the inactive list.

TRACKMEN VANQUISH LAFAYETTE, 87 to 39

Superiority in Field Events Decides
Victory in Favor of Scarlet;
Zoller Double Winner

Scoring 87 points to 39 for Lafayette, Rutgers' varsity track team succeeded in downing its ancient rival in the annual dual meet held at Neilson field Saturday. The Maroon pressed Rutgers hard in the track events, but the Scarlet won easily in the field, taking all three places in the shot put, the discus throw, and the broad jump. Rutgers won ten of the fourteen events and tied for first place in another. Lafayette was victorious only in the mile, two-mile, and 120-yard high hurdles. By virtue of Saturday's victory and a previous one over Lehigh, Rutgers clinched the track championship of the Middle Three.

Tony Zoller was the outstanding star. In the 100-yard dash, the Scarlet ace equalled the Rutgers track record of 10 seconds. Zoller also won the 220-yard dash and was the only double winner. In both the century and the furlong, Purcell of Lafayette pressed the winner hard and the Scarlet sprinter was only able to break the tape a scant yard in the lead. Don Brundage took third place in the 100-yard dash and his brother, Warren, finished third in the "220."

S. Demarest Wins Quarter
In the quarter mile S. Demarest met Brown of Lafayette for the fifth time and scored his fourth victory over the Maroon quarter miler. Demarest took the lead at the gun, held it throughout the race. Coming into the home stretch Brown made his challenge, but was unable to overtake the flying leader.

The mile was a thrilling battle between Humma of Lafayette and Schulman of Rutgers which Humma won in the fast time of 4:34.35. The Maroon runner led by about two yards all the way through the race. After the first lap the two leaders gained a quarter lap lead over the rest of the field which they later extended to fully half a lap. Schulman started his sprint in the back stretch, but

SCARLET LETTER COUNCIL

There will be a meeting of the Scarlet Letter council at four p. m. Friday in the office of the Dean of Men to elect the editor and business manager of the 1929 Scarlet Letter. RUTGERS NETMEN BEATEN BY MAROON TENNIS TEAM

Rutgers varsity tennis team was forced to bow to the Lafayette netmen, 4 to 2, on the Bleeker place courts, Saturday morning. Two victories in the singles, one by Macwatty, steady second singles player, and McClintock in the fourth singles accounted for the Scarlet's two points.

Macwatty was hard pressed to defeat Captain Wendt of Lafayette at 6-3, 3-6, 6-3, but his steady playing was too much for the Maroon leader in the late stages of the match. McClintock, playing his second match for the Scarlet, showed that he is of varsity calibre in winning from Ross of Lafayette in straight games at 9-7, 6-4. McClintock had a tough time in the opening set, but once he solved his adversary's service, he held the upper hand thereafter. Summaries:

Singles—Moore, Lafayette, defeated Capt. Wauch, Rutgers, 6-2, 6-1; Macwatty, Rutgers, defeated Capt. Wendt, Lafayette, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3; Lombard, Lafayette, defeated Rabinovitz, Rutgers, 6-4, 6-3; McClintock, Rutgers, defeated Ross, Lafayette, 9-7, 6-4.
Doubles—Moore and Lombard, Lafayette, defeated Wauch and Macwatty, Rutgers, 6-2, 6-3; Wendt and Ross, Lafayette, defeated Rabinovitz and McKinney, Rutgers, 6-4, 7-5.

Adin Fox, veteran Scarlet righthander, is expected to start his first game on the mound when the Rutgers baseball nine crosses bats with the Union College players at Neilson field, Friday afternoon. Although the Schenectady nine has won only one of its four contests, Coach Jacklitsch is expecting a hard game. The Garnet's tilt here will be the first of its annual Metropolitan trip.

New York University trounced Union in the latter's first game, 7 to 2. "Skeets" Gallagher, N. Y. U. twirler, was in fine form and allowed the Garnet nine scattered hits. Maybe, veteran righthander, was on the mound for Union and allowed the same number of safeties. Loose fielding and poor batting in the pinches were responsible for the defeat at the hands of the Violet. Union took the lead in the fourth with a two-run rally, but the Violet sluggers hit Maybe hard in the fifth and sixth frames and romped to victory. McLane, Mitchell, and Gribbon scintillated in the infield for Union.

Union Defeats Stevens
Pounding O'Connor, Stevens Tech twirler, for sixteen wallops, Union trounced the Hoboken Engineers, 20 to 7. The Garnet staged a determined uprising in the fifth inning, pounding out ten runs. The rally was featured by a long home run by McLane with two on. Williams, making his first start on the mound for the Garnet, allowed five scattered singles in his seven innings on the slab. Neither Kearn nor Doty, who followed him on the mound, were puzzling to the Schenectady batters.

Springfield routed the Garnet, 13 to 3. Ketchum was an easy mark for the Y.M.C.A. sluggers and the Garnet could not connect with the offerings of Beech, Springfield's twirler.

Colgate won a ten-inning pitching duel from Union Friday, 2 to 1. Maybe allowed six hits while the Garnet collected five widely distributed bingles off two Maroon moundsmen. Colgate pushed a run over in the third, but Union knotted the count in the fourth. Watson, reserve Colgate outfielder, won the contest, (Continued on page 5)

CONCERT BY CHORAL CLUB GIVEN IN ATLANTIC CITY

Clubs Pass Week-End at Shore Resort
After Successful Recital

Sixty members of the Rutgers University Choral Club, under the direction of Howard D. McKinney, presented their second annual concert Saturday night in the Vernon Room of the Hotel Haddon Hall in Atlantic City. The club members were the guests of the management of the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall.

The club left New Brunswick at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and made the trip by bus, reaching Atlantic City shortly after one o'clock. The afternoon was spent in strolling on the boardwalk or investigating some of the many attractions of "America's Playground." A rehearsal was held at 4:30 o'clock, at which time a photograph was taken of the combined clubs.

The concert program was presented at 8:30 o'clock, in the Vernon Room, and was well attended. The regular program was presented with the exception of the substitution of the "Weeping Willows" of N. J. C. for the entire N. J. C. club. Part of the program was broadcast through Station WPG, of Atlantic City. Dancing until twelve o'clock, with music by the hotel orchestra served as a diversion.

Sunday morning and early afternoon was spent in various manners by the members of the club. The return trip was started at 3 o'clock and the club reached this city at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night. The entire trip was greatly enjoyed, and the members of the club were delighted with the manner in which the hotel authorities provided for their accommodation and entertainment.

A Sophomore in Distress

In this issue of THE TARGUM appears a letter from a sophomore who apparently feels more than a little nettled at the requirement which forces him to take military science, hygiene, and public speaking. He admits that these subjects might have some value, but finds them as taught here "worse than useless."

THE TARGUM sympathizes with the young man in his dejection, particularly with reference to military science. Drilling never was popular in May, and probably never will be. Most upper classmen can remember counting the Tuesdays on the calendar during those last few weeks of the sophomore year. As for hygiene and public speaking, many another man has wondered "what price education."

But far more important than our correspondent's attitude toward the curriculum is his naive suggestion that to cheat on the examination in a compulsory course is a just retaliation for the shortcomings of the subject. He must get that out of his head about as quickly as possible.

Here is an evidence of the work that must be done before the honor system can come back to Rutgers. A sophomore who gives the impression of something more than usual intelligence, and declares that he wants a good education, has been allowed to drift along for two years with no better idea than this of the difference between right and wrong. Is this the best that compulsory chapel can give us? Or does the trouble lie elsewhere?

No, young man, you must not look over the other fellow's shoulder when you take the final exam. And if you do, you must not save your conscience with the idea that the faculty made you do it by requiring you to take the course. A faked examination is a lie, and a liar is not a gentleman.

Nobody cares how much more astute you are than your proctor, and nobody cares about the salvation of your mortal soul. But somebody does care very much that before you leave this campus with a Rutgers degree you learn how to behave yourself in a fashion that will not bring shame upon Rutgers. And somebody cares very much that you learn to respect the honor tradition on this campus. You have no right, as a Rutgers man, to delay the return of the honor system by act or word.

Don't Take it to Heart

According to an ancient college custom of three years' standing, the editors of an otherwise sober and dignified journal are supposed once a year to don the fool's cap and try to be funny. No matter how poorly the cap fits, the task may not be refused. Hence the annual Mugrat added to this issue.

The most modern theories of psychology tell us that the foundation of wit is the plumbing of one's self esteem, while observing the discomfiture of another. For this reason it was necessary that the dignity of various persons be offered upon the altar of undergraduate humor. The Mugrat wishes a speedy recovery to those persons, and reminds all and sundry that the unfortunates selected for their targets were by no means the only possible ones. "With malice toward none, but charity toward all," the editors hope that their feeble witticisms will be taken in as good natured a spirit as they were written.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Occasionally it happens that a man enters college for the purpose of educating himself. Instead of being allowed to pursue his studies with all possible zeal and application, he finds himself compelled to take subjects such as Military Science, Hygiene, and Public Speaking. For aught I know, these may be fields of the highest potential value, but as taught here in Rutgers, they are worse than useless. For the student must waste time on these subjects not only in the classroom but also during his few precious hours of independent work; otherwise he must repeat them, for they are, as you know, obligatory.

Suppose such a student should find himself in a position to pass such a course without working; not to mince terms, by copying. He will be grateful for the chance, as a rule, and avail himself of it accordingly. A specific example might not be without value: I am such a man, and could without considerable difficulty find a few others. If I could in some manner copy on the Military Science examination this term (as I perhaps did in the Hygiene final of last year) I would not hesitate a moment in doing so.

But how about those who come to college for the "atmosphere"; to satisfy technical school requirements, to cultivate valuable friendships; to collect five or six "R's"; how about such fellows? I could easily name thirty or forty whom I know to have copied in one or another of these subjects—Military Science, etc. Ask any man taking Military Science how often he has seen students peering eagerly over each other's shoulders at a book propped against the back of a chair in Military Science recitation. It may be a revelation to some of the faculty, but it won't be one to the student body.

How much real educational or moral value is there in such courses?

Very truly yours,

C. B. '29.

Targumdrops

(Editor's note—We had to delete some of this copy, but we assure the reader that it was funny.)

The winner of the Wan P. Jall, Sr., prize, offered for the worst contribution to Mugratdrops during Easter week has just been announced by the committee of twelve. The shy recipient of the double ice cream cone is Jake Blinnerstein. His epic follows:

"Poems is rit by fuels like me,
But only Dave can make a jigger."
No apologies are offered by either Jake or Dave or the committee. Brave people.

Gum Drop, Sr., emphatically wishes to announce at this time that he cannot accede to the request of the Student Council for more adequate appreciation of their work. After all, there are other worthwhile organizations in the school which need publicity. Try and find 'em.

Ha, ha! This is a real good one. Genuine humor, in fact. Lives up to all Mugrat traditions. Listen to it. Ha, ha! You know, ha, ha, every time the Rutgers ball team meets it's rainy weather. So we just thought of this one. Ha, ha! But it's a corker. Ha, ha! During the seventh inning stretch the Scarlet nine ought to gather in a circle and sing, "Muddy Waters 'Round My Feet." Ha, ha! Worthy of a Harry Lauder. What? Just a perfect example of college humor. Ha, ha!

In closing, Gum Drop, Sr., wishes to announce that he will not be responsible for any debts, enemies, comments, etc., contracted by his first born.

NEW PARTNERSHIPS FORMED RECENTLY

WILL PRODUCE BETTER PLAYS

(Special to the Mugrat)

NEW YORK, June 1.—A new partnership, consisting of Jenk N. Shavid and Jean Singe, has received articles of incorporation by New York State. The corporation's business and entire holding will be the hands of the partners, who will produce only the "bigger and better" plays on the Broadway stage. At a meeting of the stockholders shortly after the incorporation, Miss Singe was elected President, Stage Manager, Director, Producer, Author, etc., etc., while Mr. Shavid was named Leading Actor and Vice-President, Assistant Director, Assistant Stage Manager, Assistant Producer, Assistant etc., etc., etc. Mrs. President, Producer, Stage Manager, Director, etc., etc., etc., has had much experience in the line in which the firm will restrain its various activities. She comes from the sunny south and was brought into this world under the spreading maples of a great old aristocratic estate. From the Southland Miss Singe went forth to gain wisdom and to give some of hers to the ignorant world. Finally, she went into the dramatic business, not to earn a living, but for the love of the game.

Porsakes Stage For College

Mr. Shavid, Vice-President, Assistant Director, Assistant Stage Manager, Assistant Producer, Chief Actor and Assistant, etc., etc., etc., of the corporation, goes to New York from Round Hook, N. J. He was graduated with honors from the high school of that place. He not only was an actor, but he doted on the life of an actor—in fact, the Bohemian life was his ideal—and in this condition he went to a university to get ready to live the Bohemian well.

While earnestly getting a broad conception of life from the liberal arts course, he met one of the teaching staff of the woman's college of the university, and fell, not literally, of course; but he fell for her dramatic ability and was at once enrolled in the cast of The Sentimental Young Woman, in which he showed himself nobly. Not satisfied with his achievement in this production, which was staged, produced, directed, costumed, etc., etc., by his new partner, Mr. Shavid became an actor with the cast of Seventeenth Heaven, where he again showed up exceptionally well.

Gives Plans In Interview

During the course of an interview granted to the reporter of THE MUGRAT this morning, Miss Singe, ably seconded by her partner, explained the new corporation and the work which it intended to do in the coming year.

"I am going to be the big gun of the corporation," she said, "and will do most of the work, as I did in my recent position. I have had exceptional experience in the work and am ably fitted to carry on the biggest and best plays that were ever produced upon any Broadway stage."

"Mr. Shavid will be cast as the leading man in all productions which we will put on and should bring a new era into the art of acting with his unsurpassed ability in all parts. His leading lady has not yet been found, and it may be necessary for me to play opposite him, a thing that would be a pleasure to both me and him, for we are heart and soul with each other in our project. I hope that you will watch our rise to fame carefully and that you will be liberal in your press notices of our productions. I desire credit for my work and believe that a good paper will give me that. My Southern friends are watching me, and through your columns I may be able to show them how great I am. Please remember that I am the President, etc., etc., of this corporation, while Mr. Shavid is my beloved assistant."

Rutgers to Take Over J. & J. Plant Despite Trustees' Strong Opposition

Fleet of Lighters to Be Used for Mason's World Tour;
"Steam Heat" Secures Dirt Infested Room Above
Innovated R. O. T. C. Parade Ground

At the last meeting of the stockholders of Johnson & Johnson it was voted to turn the entire New Brunswick plant over to Rutgers College. This action was merely a formality, as the articles of agreement had already been signed by representatives of the stockholders and the college at the last trustees' meeting. This was not accomplished, however, until after a lengthy battle, in which the trustee opposition was subdued only after several concessions had been made. Chief among these was that by which the two lighters, Denny Brothers and James W. Johnson, were included in the turnover, one to be used in the increasingly popular botanical trips and the other to be fitted up for C. B. Mason's World Tours.

This action has long been expected, and since the new college banner bearing the revised motto of the college "Jazz and Joviality" (J. & J.) has been flying from the southeast corner of the George street annex, delay in announcement has caused some comment. It is now officially announced, however, that the delay has been at the request of the trustees, as it was desired to install the new dust and dirt collector on the roof of the George street annex before the riggers were dismissed from the employ of the old concern. Since the fourth floor of this building is to be taken over by the offices of Steam Heat, the dirt collector has been necessary for promoting efficiency in the collection of material.

New Drill Ground

The second and third floors are to be used by the military department as drill ground, Buccleuch Park to be used exclusively for map making. The work of the R. O. T. C. at Plattsburg will hereafter be transferred to these more commodious quarters. College officers will occupy the first quarter mile of the first floor and the balance will be taken up by the first collegiate showroom in America, if not in the world, in which samples of production will be lavishly displayed.

The handsome electric sign will be remodeled and in the future all chapel announcements will be broadcast exclusively through this medium. The small light visible Sunday nights immediately in front of the large sign which has been lit since the first papers were signed will still continue in evidence. For the benefit of any hangers from the High School Teachers' Conference, who have yet been unable to leave the campus under their own power, it may be said that this light signifies that during the following week breakfast will be served at Mac's at the usual hour.

Observatory Nearer Stars

Schenck Observatories, through the courtesy of the New Brunswick Uplift Society, will be elevated to the top of the more western stack, members of the society having promised to be on hand at all times to aid the astronomy enthusiasts to and from their studies. The old observatory is to be equipped with sound-proof walls and windows and when hermetically sealed will be used as practice rooms for the college band.

The power house will be turned over to the philosophy department and five hours' coal passing will be equated as one hour of credit—credit and a half for overtime. The buildings to the east of Hamilton street will be removed to a position over the canal in order to provide covering for the quarter-mile tank. A set of locks on either end will provide outlet for any swimmer who finds himself unable to stop. The buildings in their new positions will house the research department of Dr. McLeod and staff, and also provide laboratory facilities for the new course in hygiene which will be required of all undergraduates six hours a week for four years.

To accommodate commuters, classes will be run according to train schedule, classes starting five minutes after trains arrive. Dismissal will be in time to allow for catching trains. In the event that a train comes in early, classes will be excused five minutes before the train arrives. At present work is going on in refinishing and redecorating the new acquisition to harmonize with the new college colors—the beautiful blue. It is visible in the window shades of the acquisition at present. The large force so employed in this work can be seen daily going to and from their labor morning, noon and night.

The disposition of the old college buildings has not yet been definitely decided. Negotiations whereby several of the old buildings are to be utilized in building new levees to replace those destroyed in the Mississippi floods are still under way.

The ultimate fate of these buildings and of more trivial details of the further utilization of the new plant are still pending. Upon recommendation of the faculty, the student council and A. C. A., these matters will eventually be settled.

In the meantime classes will go on as usual.

The Sears Roduck mail order house has been receiving congratulations on all sides recently. Through the efforts of their peppy salesman, Jake Beezer, they have succeeded in handling the order for the Chinese uniforms. Operations on the Chinese front have been at a standstill, due to quibbling over the type of uniforms. Several of the older men wanted to have the skirts tucked inside the trousers, and it was over this technicality that most of the trouble started.

Mr. Beezer, who is well known as a house party chaperone and former Yale man, used his own muscular form as an illustration in favor of the skirt out. He pointed out the fact that it would be easier to straighten up the lines if the skirts were not tucked in. There was some argument, but a timely Scotch joke and a laundry ticket flashed at an opportune moment clinched the deal.

PROFESSOR JUGGED FOR BEATING DOGS

Instructor Charged with Extreme Cruelty Despite Professed Courteous Mien

FROF'S CLASSES SUSPENDED

Announcement was made this morning that all classes in contemporary scenarios would be suspended until Dr. Wilfred Z. Sandwich returns from his stay at the county jail, where he is held pending trial on a charge of cruelty to dumb animals, preferred by the sewing circle of the Fifth Restored Dutch Church. The defendant was arrested after alleged cruelty to two bull terriers yesterday afternoon.

According to eye-witnesses of the alleged beating, the doctor was attempting to separate the dogs while they were fighting over a bone in front of the Delta Psi fraternity house. One of the dogs bit him, and in a fit of fury he heaped verbal abuse upon the defenseless brutes and held them suspended in the air by their diamond-studded collars.

Took Dogs Out For Airing

When interviewed this morning, the defendant stated that he had had the dogs out for an airing. He said that he was not in the habit of doing this, but that as a special favor to their owner had consented to exercise the animals. He took them out of town by a back way and walked through Buccleuch Park for a time. Then he recalled that he had to visit the library and get some books there that he feared the students would see before he did, and decided to return by way of Bleeker Place.

He stated that the dogs behaved very nicely while they were in strange territory, but that as soon as they rounded the corner of Bleeker and Hamilton and came within sight of the Delt house they acted up. Both the brutes then began tugging at the leash in an attempt to beat one another to the Delt garbage can. They dragged the unfortunate savant after them and simultaneously grabbed the same bone.

The doctor maintains that he addressed the dogs in a courteous manner, saying, "Now dear; don't be a bad boy." He even declares that he retained his temper until some Johnson & Johnson girls passing by heard the remark and tittered audibly. Then the dogs began to fight, and in his attempts to separate them he was bitten on the hand. Then, according to Dr. Sandwich, he said, "Naughty boy," but according to other rumors he seized one of the dogs by the scruff of the neck, held him up in the air and twisted his tail unmercifully.

Owner Attending Meeting

Passersbys, attracted by the piercing cries of the animals, attempted to make the doctor desist, but all pleading was futile until the owner appeared. The owner, it appears, had been in the Delt house attending a fraternity meeting, and he came rushing down the steps shrieking wildly. Then the doctor, hearing the shrieks, tossed both the dogs away from him, said something about the "dratted brutes" and was on the point of going away when he was arrested by the New Brunswick police force, who at that moment was on his way home from a tour of inspection on the banks.

When questioned at police headquarters the doctor admitted that he had never had any particular liking for dogs, and none at all for these in particular. When questioned about the ill humor he had exhibited at the sight of the owner he refused, on advice of counsel, to make any statement.

Both the dogs suffered from collapse after the fight, but at last reports were resting easily in their cribs at home, and physicians in attendance state that they will be taken for an airing as soon as the city has collected the garbage again.

Brown Game Slow

A slow and uninteresting contest took place at Providence Friday when the Scarlet warriors downed Brown, 4 to 0. Though always on the offensive, Coach Fitch's machine missed the presence of Roberts and Thralls on the attack, and was hindered by a wet grass field and the effects of a long boat ride.

It looked much like a scoreless first period, when during eighteen minutes of play around the Brown net over twenty Rutgers shots missed their mark. Finally MacGillvary found the net for the only score of the period, and for the next ten minutes, the Scarlet attackers rotated about Brown's net while their own defense men were left leaning on their sticks.

After the intermission, the visiting team took the field with a little more life, and after five minutes of play, Rohrbach registered on a long shot. Five minutes more, marked by much stalling and wild shooting, followed before MacGillvary penetrated the net after receiving a pass from Pereyra. Wayne Johnson, who had been substituted for Bennie Mark at third attack, showed plenty of life and his second try for a score added the final point

YEARLING BALL TOSSERS TO OPPOSE MAROON FROSH

Rutgers' freshmen baseball team will play its fifth game of the season when it meets the Lafayette freshmen at Neilson field Wednesday. Thus far, the Rutgers cubs have won two and lost two games.

Jim Digney will oppose Mike Murgberg, pitching ace of the Lafayette team, on the mound. The probable lineup for Rutgers: Schettino, 3b.; Newson, 1f.; Pecora, ss.; Gasparini, c.; McDermott, 1b.; Sahloff, 2b.; Wexler, rf.; Daniels, cf.; Digney, p.

TENNIS COURTS AT COMMONS

New piping for the tennis courts is now being installed on the Commons, so that the courts may be watered and kept in good condition by the groundkeepers. Three courts at the Commons are already in use, and it is hoped that the other three will be opened to the undergraduates in the near future.

CHORAL CLUB TO END SEASON

The final event on the calendar of activities of the University Choral Club of Rutgers and N. J. C. will be a concert Friday night at Plainfield High School. The regular concert program, followed by an informal dance, will be the order of entertainment for the evening.

Numeral Winners Included

The fraternity section has been completely rearranged. A full page picture of the active chapter occupies the left-hand page, with the names of those in the picture printed in italics beneath. On the right-hand page is a new picture of the fraternity house and the list of active members by classes. Printed under the roster, in the same tint as the border, is the fraternity badge or coat-of-arms.

The major sports each have a full page heading and the pictures of the coaches, captains, managers and managers-elect or captains-elect, are individual instead of being grouped on a panel. Pictures of the squads have been used as much as possible and the names of the men appear under all. The minor sports have small headings and half-page pictures of the teams. The names of the freshmen who won their numerals in the fall sports and the names of those who won their numerals in sports last spring are listed in a manner similar to the list of winners of the varsity "R," which appear at the front of the varsity section.

New Sports Included

A page is devoted to the new sports—boxing, wrestling, fencing and handball—but no pictures are included, as none of the sports have yet been admitted to the Council on Athletics.

The outstanding feature of the activities section is the listing of names under pictures.

The literary section is largely devoted to a biography of Colonel Henry Rutgers by E. Wayne Marjarum '28, in which is included a full-page picture of Colonel Rutgers. The winning contributions to the Scarlet Letter-Anthologist Literary Contest are printed. The prize poem was written by Herbert E. Laguna '30, and was entitled "Rivington Street, New York." The prize story was written by Heinrich A. J. Jacobson '29 and was entitled "Afterglow." The winners of this contest will each be awarded complimentary copies of the book.

Instead of an advertising section and a nonsensia section, the two were combined with the acknowledgment page to form the "Hash Section." In this section are the advertisements, throughout which the cartoons and jokes are scattered.

This year's book has 306 pages, as against last year's 348.

Union Infield Strong

Union is represented by a well balanced team, whose main strength lies in the infield. Coach Hal Wittmer has a large pitching corps headed by Ken Maybe, stellar guard of the Garnet basketball quintet. Ken Williams, Garnet portside, may be sent to the mound Friday in place of Maybe. Ketchum, Doty and Kern are the other Garnet moundsmen. Boutellier, veteran receiver, will be behind the bat for Union. Mitchell, McLane, Captain Haber, and Gribbon will perform in the infield. Mitchell, playing his first year of varsity ball, has been a sensation about the initial sack. Red McLane is another flashy performer, while Haber, who covers the shortfield, and Gribbon, who holds down the hot corner, are of the consistent type. Hoehn, who is batting at a .500 clip, will be in right field, MacDowell in left, and Mackie in center. Lewis is Wittmer's reserve backstop and O'Neil, Smith, Copeland, and Marold are the reserve fly-chasers. Terry and Halenza are the infield subs.

Fox's battery mate will be Captain Gregg Hibbs. The infield will remain intact, Irwin, Rosen, Boettcher, and Bliss forming the inner defense. Clements will be posted on left, Troiano in center, and Lord in left. Clements has been fielding brilliantly but is hampered by a weak arm. Rabinovitz, the only senior of the team, may replace Clements in the left

"What's the future with a large organization?" That is what college men want to know, first of all. The question is best answered by the accomplishments of others with similar training and like opportunities. This is one of a series of advertisements portraying the progress at Westinghouse of college graduates, off the campus some five—eight—ten years.

R. F. FRENGER

WHEN R. F. Frenger was at New Mexico State, in 1915, automatic control for substations, hydro-electric generating plants, railway and mine substation systems, was a hazy dream. Even five years later, when Frenger was working in the Switchgear Sales Section of the Westinghouse Company, automatic switching was far, far away.

Today, however, Frenger, still in his thirties, finds himself in effect the Sales Manager of an automatic switching business—a business that runs up into seven figures every year.

Frenger came to Westinghouse to sell. He expected to sell steam apparatus, since he had taken an M. E. degree.

After a period in the Westinghouse sales school, he became interested in switching apparatus. He spent many months on the engineering side of the work. He spent several years as a sales specialist in the Westinghouse Chicago Office.

Then, as automatic switching grew in importance, Frenger grew along with it. Today he is head of the Automatic Switching Section of the Switchgear Sales Department.

Frenger's work is pioneering in a very real sense, for the automatic control business, lusty as it is, still is in its infancy. Engineering ways and means must be supplied as well as specialized sales skill. The whole world is the market.

Not long ago, Frenger ran out to San Antonio to help the local Westinghouse salesman land an order that puts the San Antonio sub-stations under automatic control. When the Holland vehicular tunnel opens, and connects Manhattan with the Jersey shore, Frenger can point to the traffic signaling system as coming from his section.

At Cleveland one man in a downtown office building turns off and on eleven different sub-stations scattered throughout the city and its suburbs to operate the railway system—all without leaving his chair. Frenger's section again.

It is another case of a well trained man in a pioneering organization.

AMHERST HUMBLER BY SCARLET, 11-10

Varsity Secures Early Advantage
In Ten-Inning Tilt Marred
By Ragged Playing

IRWIN HITS HOMER IN TENTH

Rutgers triumphed over Amherst, 11 to 10, in a see-saw ten-inning ball game at Neilson field Friday afternoon. The four pitchers who graced the mound had a hard time due to the wet ball and ragged infield support, Rutgers making seven misplays and Amherst six. Joe Irwin won the game in the tenth with a home run.

The New England nine scored once in the first inning, but the Scarlet came back with seven tallies on four hits, two free tickets and three errors. Rosen and Boettcher got on base to start the rally. Irwin hit to Wilson who threw wild to second, Rosen denting the pan on the play. Hibbs hit to left scoring Boettcher, Irwin and the batter going to third and second, respectively, on the throw in. Troiano was passed, filling the bags, and Lord's single over second brought in Irwin and Hibbs; Clements got a walk again, cramming the sacks. Bliss hit to Walker and Troiano was retired at the platter, then Triola poled out a one bagger that scored Lord and Clements and advanced Bliss to third. He attempted to steal home and was safe on an error by the Amherst receiver. Rosen was hit by the pitcher, but Boettcher ended the rally by forcing Rosen.

Amherst went out to regain the lead in the second and cut it down to a three-run margin. Two errors by Boettcher put Walker and Szweczyk on base and Pratt's long triple to left scored both runners. Dean's single brought in Pratt with the last tally of the session. In the fourth a pass to Wilson and a homer to deep right by Campbell left the Scarlet but one run to the good, while in the fifth the visitors jumped into a three-run lead.

Parker went to second on a misplay by Boettcher, Szweczyk was passed and De Mucchio hit to Pratt, filling the bases. A free ticket to Dean forced in the tying run and Rosen's fumble on a hit by Wilson let in two runs. Campbell hit a sacrifice fly to left bringing Dean across the platter.

A three-base hit by Bliss was turned into a run on Rosen's single in the fifth frame. The Scarlet tied the count in the eighth. Dean bungled Irwin's smash after Boettcher had singled, both men moving up on a bunt by Captain Hibbs. Boettcher came home on Troiano's fly to left and Lord's hit scored Irwin.

A beautiful catch by Lord in deep right saved the game in the ninth, when he pulled down a screaming liner with a runner on second. Joe Irwin's powerful bat connected with one of Nichol's shoots for his third homer of the season in the tenth, ending the game. The box score:

Amherst

Wilson, 2b 3 2 2 3 1 2

Coach Jacklitsch's diamond warriors will engage in their third game of the week this afternoon, meeting the Swarthmore nine, at Neilson field. Rutgers will take the field with the same line-up as at the Pennsylvania game. Although the changes which Coach Jacklitsch made in Tuesday's game failed to improve the team's play, the Scarlet mentor is confident that his charges will show a smoother brand of ball in this afternoon's tilt. Either Karl Gordonier or "Vic" Triola will toe the slab for Rutgers, with Captain Hibbs behind the bat. Roy Cates, freshman ace of the Garnet mound corps, will do the twirling for Swarthmore. Cates' battery mate will be Richards, who scintillated in the Rutgers-Swarthmore gridiron game last fall.

Swarthmore has registered three victories in their seven games to date. Swarthmore lost its first game to Lehigh in a see-saw contest, 10 to 7. The Garnet fell on the offerings of Roberts, Lehigh twirler, for three tallies in the first inning. Lehigh counted once in the second, but Swarthmore pounded Roberts for four more runs in the third. The Brown and White sluggers drove Cates from the mound in the sixth, six runners crossing the plate. In the tenth, McFeeley who had relieved Cates, weakened and Lehigh scored the three winning counters.

Dropped Game to Army

Army took an exciting tilt from Swarthmore, eking out a 10 to 9 victory. The Cadets were leading 9 to 0 when the Garnet came to bat in the eighth. Five hits and a brace of errors, combined with five passes sent nine Garnet baserunners over the platter. The Army pushed the winning tally over in their half of the inning. Swarthmore outhit the Cadets, 14 to 13, Cates going the route for the Garnet. The Garnet then defeated the U. of P. nine for the first time in ten years, winning in eleven innings, 7 to 3. Swarthmore staged a three run rally in the ninth, after two were out, to tie the score, and pushed over four tallies in the tenth to rout the amazed Red and Blue nine. Cates opposed Walker on the mound and yielded seven hits. Burr starred for the Garnet. (Continued on page 4)

MACWATTY NEW CHAIRMAN OF CAMPUS ACTIVITIES ASS.

John Kauffman Made Vice-President;
Membership Revised

John A. Macwatty '28 was elected chairman-treasurer of the Association of Campus Activities and John R. Kaufman '28 was elected vice-president-secretary of the organization at its final meeting for the year held at the Theta Zeta house Tuesday night.

In order that the organization might be composed of a junior and a senior from each group represented, several revisions in the membership were made. Interscholastic debating was changed from chairman and treasurer to chairman and secretary; the Scarlet Letter was changed from editor and business manager to editor and the president of the Scarlet Letter Council; and the band was changed from president and manager to ex-manager and manager.

A proposal to accept the Y. M. C. A. as a member of the organization was defeated. The following organizations are now represented: TARGUM, Scarlet Letter, Queen's Players, musical clubs, college band, and interscholastic debating.

David A. Moscovitz '29 was announced as junior representative for debating next year.

Forty-six gold "R's" have been ordered and fifty-one certificates are being made. These awards for meritorious extra-curricula work will be ready about May 20.

Moscovitz and Carney Nominated by Sophomores

David A. Moscovitz received 110 votes against the 71 of his opponent, John M. Carney, in the nomination race for the presidency of the sophomore class. The competition for the vice-presidency was closer, Joseph B. Preletz beating Robert C. Johnson, 82 to 75. The nominations for secretary were received by Robert L. Knight and Robert R. Blunt, the count being 79 to 63 in favor of Knight. Randolph Forman was given 79 votes for treasurer, while the second highest was Kingsley Childs with 76 votes.

The final election will be held next week. The highest two nominations for each office were selected to run in the election.

FRATERNITY COUNCIL SUGGESTS NEW RULES

Three Weeks Rushing to Be Followed
By Bids Submitted Through
Dean of Men

Modifications were made in the interfraternity rushing rules by the Interfraternity Council at its meeting Thursday night, and the rules will be referred back to the fraternities for consideration.

The rules are now as follows: I—Beginning the day of registration, a three weeks' period of intensive rushing will take place, during which no pledging will be done. II—On the first day following the formal rushing period each fraternity will submit formal bids through the Dean's office to the candidate whom they desire for membership. III—On the third day following the formal rushing period each freshman will formally accept the bid he desires to take by reporting for the evening meal at his chosen house. IV—Following the date of formal acceptance of bids there is to be open rushing until the following August 30. V—For the violation of these rules, for the first offense a bond of $500.00 will be forfeited or the privilege of pledging denied for the succeeding calendar year, and for the second offense pledging for the succeeding calendar year will be denied the guilty fraternity. Furthermore any man who pledges himself to a fraternity in violation of these rules will be denied the right to join any fraternity on this campus during his stay at this college. VI—These regulations shall go into effect at the opening of college, 1927.

A resolution was also passed at the meeting of the Council relative to the attitude of the fraternities during Freshman Week. The resolution is: No fraternity shall interfere with any freshman during the first three days of Freshman Week; interference to be determined by Dean Metzger.

PEITHOSOPHIAN ELECTS MEN

Four men were elected to membership in the Peithosophian literary society at a special meeting held in the old history room, Van Nest hall, Thursday evening. The men elected were Kenneth B. White '28, David A. Moscovitz '29, G. Edward Holloway '30, and Richard K. Warr '30. At the next meeting, to be held in the Fine Arts room, Queens, next Thursday, May 19, Dr. Charles H. Whitman, professor of English, will speak before the society.

PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED FOR THE MILITARY BALL

Major General McRae, commander of the Second Corps area, will be on the receiving line at the military ball to be held in Ballantine gymnasium, Friday evening, May 20. "The Frolickers," a nine-piece orchestra, will furnish the music.

Stanford Hendrickson, chairman of the committee in charge, yesterday announced the members of the various committees which are as follows: Harold C. Powell and Courtney P. Brown, gymnasium; John A. Bowman 4th, and Frank L. Hindle, Jr., decorations; Freeman R. Cass, patronesses; Eugene C. Harvey, programs; and Stanford Hendrickson and Ralph W. McClintock, Jr., orchestra and tickets.

The tickets, which cost three dollars apiece, are on sale at the book store and also may be obtained from any member of Scabbard and Blade.

SCARLET TRACKMEN MEET N. Y. U. TODAY

Manhattan and C. C. N. Y. Also Entered in Quadrangular
Meet at New York

RUTGERS SLIGHTLY FAVORED

Coach Wefers' varsity track team will compete with the trackmen of N. Y. U., Manhattan College, and C. C. N. Y., in a quadrangular meet at Ohio field, New York City, this afternoon. This meet, in which the Scarlet cinder path representatives will face some of the best athletes in the East, should be very close with few points separating the four contestants. Judging from the comparative results of the four teams thus far, Rutgers should win the half- and quarter-mile runs, the 220-yard low hurdles, and the two dashes and should take the team honors by a small margin.

One thing which favors a Rutgers victory is the fact that the events in which the Scarlet is weak are divided almost evenly among the other three teams. N. Y. U. is especially strong in the field events and the mile run. In these the Violet tallied five of its six first places in the recent Lehigh meet. City College, despite the loss of "Pinkie" Sober, star half-miler, who thrice defeated Allan Hellfrich, is fairly strong in the track events. Manhattan due to the ability of Delehanty has its greatest strength in the broad and high jumps. According to past performances, N. Y. U. should furnish Rutgers with the strongest opposition, City College should take third place and Manhattan last.

Coach Wefers will start Tony Zoller, Don Brundage, and Warren Brundage in the 100- and 220-yard dashes. Zoller, who equaled the Rutgers 100-yard record in the Lafayette meet last Saturday, should have little difficulty beating Huguenin of N. Y. U., Carney of Manhattan, and Smith of City College.

The mile run will bring forth the closest competition with Schulman of Rutgers, Peltzer of City College, and Halton of N. Y. U., staging a battle royal for victory. On past performances, Halton and Peltzer have a slight edge on the Scarlet miler. Last week Halton won the mile against Colgate in 4:44. Maurice Peltzer, cousin of the great German champion, is the best distance runner that the Lavender has had in many years, although the mile is a trifle short for his best performance. Schulman, however, should be in the thick of the fight from start to finish.

The two-mile run should be a thrilling duel between Beattie of Rutgers, Piltzer of City College, and Roth of N. Y. U., with the odds slightly favoring the Lavender runner. Beattie ran a great race against Musgrave of Lafayette Saturday, only to lose on the last lap when his pace (Continued on page 3)

PHILO HOLDS INITIATION

Ten men were initiated into membership in the Philoclean literary society at the last meeting of the year. William B. Schimmel '28 was elected president of the organization; Robert S. Warner '28, succeeds Harry Volk '27, as vice-president; Robert A. Voelker '28 was elected secretary, and Kingsley Childs '29 treasurer.

Mr. Schimmel read a group of poems he has written, which received the enthusiastic approval of the society. Milton Tucker '28 submitted a paper on two novels, "Sorrel and Son" and "The City Without Jews." George J. Wells '27 reported on "Giants of the Earth" and Charles F. Fowler '27 reviewed the play, "Pygmalion."

The initiates are: Frank H. Curry '28, Wallace S. Eddy '28, Addison C. Ely '28, Alan E. James '28, John A. Macwatty '28, Harold H. Perlenfein '28, William L. Todd '28, Gerard R. Gnade '28, C. Rexford Davis '29, and Ralph J. Hasbrouck '29.

The engagement of Mr. Ernest Fisher, instructor in economics, to Miss Helen Cass, of the faculty of the New Jersey College for Women, was announced at a meeting of the economics department Wednesday afternoon. Miss Cass is a graduate of Smith College and Mr. Fisher is a graduate of Amherst. Mr. Fisher has been on the faculty of the New Jersey College for Women, Princeton and Rutgers. Mr. Fisher is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Rutgers' varsity lacrosse team will meet a severe test in the speedy Syracuse twelve, when the two teams clash on Neilson field at 2 p. m. this afternoon. The contest will bring together two of the strongest twelves in the East and it is expected that it will be one of the best played games here this season.

Syracuse has an excellent record thus far. The Orange team, coached by Laurie Cox, has yet to lose to a college team, and has defeated all opponents by one-sided scores. Syracuse opened the season with a victory over the Alumni, 7 to 0. Then followed wins over Georgia Tech. and Georgia University, both by 11 to 0 scores. Randolph Macon fell before the Orange attack, 7 to 0. Syracuse suffered its first and only defeat at the hands of the Mount Washington club, 7 to 6. Cornell was defeated, 4 to 0; and Maryland was the Orange's last victim, 10 to 3.

Syracuse Twelve Strong

The Syracuse stick wielders constitute a fast, powerful twelve, which is especially strong on the defense. Clark and Bizik, both three-letter men, play excellent games at third defense and center, respectively. Gray is captain of the team and is a strong defensive player. Painter, at first attack, is the leading scorer and the fastest man on the team. So far, he has an average of four points per game in scoring. Taylor, cover point, weighing 194 pounds, is the biggest man. In addition to his lacrosse activities, Taylor is a good football player. Huges and Baker, sophomores, are playing their first season with the varsity.

For the last three years the Syracuse twelve has succeeded in defeating the Scarlet. This year, however, Coach Fitch has developed the strongest team that has represented the Scarlet since the sport was inaugurated here, and expects to turn the tables on the Orange invaders. Of six games played, the Scarlet has lost only one. Last Saturday, Yale in a fast close game gave Coach Fitch's men their first taste of defeat. Before the game, Rutgers had gained decisive victories over Lehigh, University of Penn, Montclair A. C., Union, and Brown. The victory over Lehigh was the first ever won by a Rutgers lacrosse team over the Brown and White.

The practice sessions this week have been devoted to offensive and defensive drill in an effort to strengthen those departments of the game. Several changes have been made in the lineup which faced Yale last week. Alton will replace Gray at second defense as Gray is out on account of sickness, and Palmer will be used instead of Hopkins at second attack. Mark being shifted to third attack. Wayne Johnson will start at first attack.

RUTGERS MEN SPEAK

Robert R. Renne, John R. Kauffman, and Theodore Thielpape visited several northern New Jersey high schools, speaking on the Rutgers Summer Session, Thursday and Friday.

Plans are under way to have men speak in all the larger schools throughout the state.

Childs and Deakin Chosen To Head Scarlet Letter

Kingsley Childs '29 was elected editor of the 1929 Scarlet Letter at a meeting of the Scarlet Letter Council in the office of the Dean of Men on Friday afternoon. Oliver Deakin '29 was elected business manager and Robert Schirmer '29 was elected advertising manager. The remainder of the board will be selected by the new editor and business manager from the nominations submitted by the retiring board.

Richard Warr '30 was elected secretary of the newly formed council. The council will supervise the production of next year's annual, and is headed by the retiring editor, W. C. Kempf '28.

AWARDS FOR TEAMS CHANGED AT MEETING

Different Color Sweaters Designate Sports; Give Special Design to Cheer Leaders

New awards for Rutgers University sport teams were recommended at a meeting of the committee on the revision of awards Wednesday evening. The recommendations of the committee, composed of Graduate Manager Rockefeller, Schutendorf, Gifford, Brown, Hanf, Hiecke, Cass, Waugh, H. Johnson, and Schoonmaker, will be submitted to the Athletic Council, the Student Council and the student body.

According to the recommendations, undefeated Scarlet teams will have the honor of wearing white sweaters with Scarlet letters as a distinguishing feature. More than one year with no defeat will be rewarded by a Scarlet band on the sleeve. Major sports winners will wear Scarlet sweaters with black letters while minor sports men will wear black sweaters and Scarlet letters, if the recommendations of the committee are accepted.

White sweaters with the ordinary cheerleader insignia will be worn by the cheerleaders and the head cheerleader will wear a distinguishing Scarlet band around the neck.

In addition to the color of sweaters and insignia, the committee recommended that the sweaters have the crew neck style instead of the V-neck which is so commonly worn at present.

HOLD FROTH NOMINATIONS

Nominations for sophomore officers of the class of 1930 were held in chapel Thursday noon. The men receiving the highest number of votes were: President, James Digney, Clarence F. Von Glahn; Vice-president, Frank M. Jelenko, William B. Meytrott; Secretary, Alford D. Smith, Stephen G. Doig, Jr.; Treasurer, Edward Kearney, George E. Weglener.

SCARLET TENNIS TEAM TO MEET N. Y. U. TUESDAY

Captain Everett Waugh and the remainder of the Scarlet tennis squad will visit New York Tuesday to meet the undefeated Nork York University netmen. With two victories and one defeat behind them, the Rutgers players are expecting a difficult tussle with the New Yorkers.

It is expected that no change will be made in the order of the Scarlet line-up for Tuesday's match. Captain Waugh will have his usual position at the No. 1 post, and Macwatty, the most consistent singles winner, will be at No. 2. Rabinowitz is almost sure of taking the third place, and either Beasley or McClintock will play at the fourth singles post. Rutgers will be represented in the doubles by the Waugh-Macwatty combination and McKinney-Rabinowitz duo.

The outstanding performers on the N. Y. U. team are Ed Snowe, veteran No. 1 player, and Captain Irving Brower, runner-up in the North Jersey championship tournament of two years ago and a veteran of three years on the Purple squad. Neither Snowe or Brower have been defeated in college competition this season.

LAMBDA CHIS BEAT ZETES IF INTERFRATERNITY BALL

Tennis Tournament Postponed Because of Inclement Weather

Lambda Chi Alpha shut out the Zetes 6 to 0 in Thursday evening's game of the interfraternity baseball tournament. In the afternoon, the Independents downed the otherwise unbeaten Beta Theta Pi nine by a 3 to 2 count in one of the closest games of the tournament. Earlier in the week, the Phi Gams sent the D. U.'s down to their third straight defeat by a 7 to 1 tune, while Raritan club trounced Evergreen 8 to 2, Tritellon outscored the Theta Zeta combination 7 to 2 and the Alpha Sigma Rho nine continued on its winning streak by piling up seventeen runs as compared to three for the Phi Eps.

No progress was made in interfraternity tennis due to the condition of the courts and the inclement weather. All of the matches have been postponed, therefore, until next week.

FROTH TENNIS AGAIN POSTPONED

Wet courts caused the indefinite postponement of the tennis match scheduled to be played between the Rutgers freshmen and Rutgers Prep netmen on the Bleeker place courts Thursday afternoon. The match was originally booked for Monday, but unfavorable playing conditions caused a deferment until Thursday.

The Student in a Glass Case

In a recent convention at Amherst at which fourteen college newspapers were represented, the delegates went on record as opposed to drinking at college functions, but pointed out that "drinking among college men was only a minor problem of drinking among men in general, and that until the major problem was solved, the minor problem would remain."

The convention showed good sense in recognizing a fact too often overlooked by those who interest themselves in student welfare. There is too great a tendency to consider the student as a man in a world apart without identifying him as an integral part of society, affected by the same conditions that influence every one else.

For some reason or other, conditions among youth in general and students in particular are watched from a different point of view than other classes. An undergraduate drinking bout, a student joyride, or any youthful gyrations, draws more attention and worry than the escapades of any other class.

The shining example of this is the world cruise of the "Ryndam." The ship had barely docked when the newspapers had begun to collect figures on the number of students dismissed for drunkenness. If it were possible to compare these figures with amount of drinking by other travelers who leave the oasis, it would probably be found that the students were no more given to excess than anyone else. But who ever heard of anyone worrying about the drinking of other tourists?

Perhaps if the public would refrain from treating undergraduates as prize exhibits, the students themselves would be at less pains to play up to their reputation.

A Chance to Come Through

The send-off given the 1929 Scarlet Letter should do much to provide a good yearbook for the next junior class. Perhaps fewer boards have had a more favorable opportunity to turn out a suitable production.

The experiences of the 1927 Scarlet Letter proved the need for somebody to hold the editor up to the mark. That supervision will be provided for future boards. Similarly, the editors will henceforth have the benefit of experienced supervision of their work, whereas in the past the board has taken up its task with insufficient guidance from experienced men.

Another favorable circumstance for the new editors is the advantage of an early start. The elections for the 1928 board

Contemporary Review, April, 1927. After Marcus Garvey, What of the Negro. By Kelly Miller.

To create a land to which the negro might return and call his fatherland, was the dream of the poorly-educated West Indian negro, Marcus Garvey. Today, his dreams still continue, while he rests securely behind the bars at Atlanta penitentiary.

Ten years ago he came to this country unheralded, without money and friends. Intensely black and without any commanding personality, Garvey with an indomitable will gathered millions of negroes in this country and over the world into a pan-Ethiopian movement which eventually filled the minds of statesmen with apprehension.

From his pioneer organization in Harlem, he stretched out his fingers over the globe and in 1920, felt that some spectacular demonstration for the redemption and organization of Africa should be staged. A convention attended by thousands of delegates from all parts of the world was held in New York in August of that year, and elaborate plans were drawn for the government of Africa with Garvey as emperor and many titles bestowed upon his cohorts with all the oriental pomp that is usually associated with the negro's penchant for display.

Garvey hoped to develop race consciousness through race patronage and cooperation. Grocery stores, laundries, restaurants, hotels, and printing presses, and even a steamship line, the Black Star line, were organized, with the eventual failure of all. But the fanatic is never daunted by failure.

Finally through some small technicality of the postal law, Garvey was sentenced to five years at Atlanta, with the future in store for him of being deported as soon as he is released. Just another emperor of Africa whose kingdom failed to materialize.

Nation, May 11, 1927. Curbing the Mississippi. By Walter Parker.

For forty-eight years the Federal government under the Mississippi River Commission has attempted to stem the annual floods by "levees-only" or "confinement-only" policy, without ever trying to go to the fundamental cause. Marshes have been drained, natural reservoirs have been reclaimed by damming the waters with levees, and more and more drainage from cities have been diverted into the mighty Mississippi. Added to these handicaps, the banks of rivers and streams in the upper reaches have been made porous by the natural destruction of forests. The natural result is the perennial flood. Intense reforestation along the upper reaches, and thus keeping control at the source, is, in the opinion of this member of the Flood Commission, one of the necessary elementary protectorates against floods.

Scientific Monthly, May, 1927. Did Man Originate in Central Asia. By William K. Gregory.

Besides the attempt to locate the birthplace of man, this interesting article explains the advancement of man through the glacial periods of history. Professor Gregory illustrates his article with a chart showing the ascent of man from the lower primates to the Caucasian and Mongolian groups of today. His primitive primate is a slightly reconstructed skull found in Wyoming, supposedly of the Eocene Age (sixty millions of years ago).

Crime and Punishment. A Symposium. Hon. William McAdoo, Professor Mayer from Tufts College, and other have contributed articles relative to the huge destruction wrought by larceny and murder in this country.

Some of the interesting facts brought out by Judge McAdoo were: that New York City alone has 500,000 defendants that come before its courts annually; that the London "bobbie" does his beat without a revolver; that the great number of brutal murders in this country is due to the ease with which revolvers may be secured.

were delayed until the fall, with the result that inexperienced men were put to it to get the book out on scheduled time. Little opportunity was given for farsighted planning, and the necessity of speed made satisfactory work difficult. With these hindrances eliminated, the 1929 board should be able to give the campus a real yearbook.

NEW EDUCATION PLAN TO START AT OREGON

Western University Will Inaugurate Project Dividing Course Into Two Two-Year Periods

As the result of a movement started a year ago by a group of students in the University of Oregon, a new educational plan has been conceived and will go into effect this coming fall, affecting the incoming freshmen at the university.

Last spring a questionnaire was distributed to students at the instigation of the editor of the Emerald, the student daily, in order to obtain student opinion on the educational situation at the university. Changes were suggested, but as the university was without a president, nothing was done at the time.

In the fall, however, Arnold Bennett Hall, the new president, appointed a faculty committee to consider the problem, while a student committee, headed by the new editor of the Emerald, worked independently, giving most heed to the need for giving the better students greater opportunities.

Finally a plan has been evolved whereby the four-year college course will be divided into two two-year courses. The first two years will be devoted to rounding out the high school course, and will provide for graduating at the end of these two years those students who do not wish to or are not capable of continuing their college education. The second two years would only be open to students who have maintained average grades throughout the first two years.

The students in this higher course are to be divided into (two groups) pass students and honor students. The pass students will continue under the plan now existent at the university. The honor students are to be members of the new honor college.

Admission to the honor college will be granted on the basis of work already done, natural ability, and of psychological and other tests. The student may enter on faculty recommendation on the basis of his ability as shown in comprehensive examination given by members of the faculty.

Each honor student will do special and intensive work in subjects of his own choosing, and is expected to attend a reasonable number of lectures, seminars, and conferences with professors. At the end of the course, the honor student will submit a written thesis and take a comprehensive oral examination on his two years' work. If a satisfactory grade is obtained, the student will receive a Bachelor of Arts degree.

COLLEGE ATHLETE CONDEMNS PRESENT ATHLETIC SYSTEM

Points Out That Benefits and Bad Effects Are for Only a Few

Jefferson D. Burrus, Jr., captain of the University of Wisconsin crew, for three years a star end on the Badger football team, vice-president of the Wisconsin Union, and recently elected Rhodes scholar from Wisconsin, in a 30-page pamphlet issued through the Union board, points out five faults apparent to an athlete in the present intercollegiate athletic system, and advances six proposals which, as an athlete and student, he thinks will correct the situation.

His charge against the athletic system is:

"1. Athletics are too intense for a few; several hundred men at the most bear the athletic burden of the entire university, enjoying its benefits and suffering its injurious effects.

"2. The majority lacks opportunity for athletic participation; general student health and well-being are inadequately provided for in the general athletic program.

"3. Varsity athletics are too much in the limelight, subordinating the intellectual program in the eyes of high school students, the general public, and even of the university students.

"4. Cut-throat competition is forced on the coaches by the football public, and the general attitude of alumni tends to accentuate the evils of the situation.

"5. Students and faculty have too little control of athletics, with the result that there is little harmony between athletics and education."

A Safe Place To Buy

Looks often deceive and it is only by getting right down under the surface of things that the worth of an article can be accurately measured up, and that is why the meaning of the words "high priced" is often misconstrued. This store never was and never will be a so-called "high priced" place to buy. It sells goods at a modest advance over actual cost. It sells tried and tested quality.

What it does not sell is its good name for giving the customer full value received for every dollar spent!

Quality for quality and price for price, the selling figures here are for the uplift of public confidence and the maintenance of a permanent trade.

SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY HEARS DR. KUEMMEL

Geological History of New Jersey Outlined in Interesting and Vivid Manner

JERSEY STRATUM DESCRIBED

Dr. H. B. Kummel, State geologist and director of the department of natural resources, addressed the final meeting of the New Brunswick scientific society on Wednesday evening in the chemistry lecture room. His subject was "The Making of New Jersey."

He presented the leading historical facts dealing with the evolution of the earth and its inhabitants, placing special emphasis on the development of the surface features and the underlying rocks and their bearing on the industry of the state. Likening the four great divisions of geological time to the four acts of a drama, with the air, water, and other natural forces as the actors, he drew vivid word pictures to illustrate the scenes so that the setting of each era could be visualized.

Oldest Rocks in Highlands

The oldest rocks of the state which form the highlands in which deposits of zinc and iron ores occur were said to have been formed during a period of 750 million years which began 1,500 million years ago. There was little if any life on the earth at that time. The iron ore deposits in New Jersey are no longer mined to any extent due to the fact that ore from Cuba can be delivered at the furnaces in Pennsylvania cheaper than can the New Jersey ore.

There were considerable gaps between the acts, and the second act presented a time when life was developing and some 20,000 feet of sediments were deposited under the sea which covered the western part of the state until the close of this period. The curtain fell amid earthquakes and mountain building which resulted in mountains as high as the Andes. It was explained that such mountain building goes on slowly and was comparable to the conditions existing in California today where small slips recur frequently and have resulted in the formation of the Andes and all the western ranges in North America.

Familiar Red Soil Laid

During the third act the red brown strata so familiar to residents of New Brunswick was laid down in a great valley between high mountains. During this period lava flows were erupted and copper minerals formed when molten lavas intruded into the sands and muds. The history of the potash bearing green sands was traced, and it was stated that if a cheap commercial process can be found, there would be enough potash in New Jersey to take care of the United States for a thousand years. It is in an insoluble form, however, and can not compete with the soluble salts of Germany and other regions.

The last act dealt with the glacial epoch. It was estimated that 40,000 years have elapsed since the ice retreated and that man was already on earth at that time and probably hunted or was hunted by the great long haired mammoths which roamed New Jersey at that time.

Tapping Ceremonies Will Be Held Last of Next Week

Next year's members of four undergraduate honorary societies will be chosen after chapel on the last four days before examinations.

The present members of Cap and Skull, senior honorary society, will file from the Fine Arts room Tuesday, May 24, after chapel and walk between two lines of juniors who will be lined up, back to back outside the chapel. The new members will be tapped in order of the number of points toward eligibility which each has.

The members of Casque and Dagger, junior honorary society, will be designated by having yellow ribbons pinned on them as the class of '29 files from the chapel on Monday, May 23.

Scarlet Key, an association of fifteen defeated sophomore managers, organized to take care of visiting teams, and Cap and Bells, sophomore pep society, will conduct their tapping in a similar way.

Scarlet Key will use scarlet ribbons in designating its new members on Thursday, May 19, and Cap and Bells will decorate the new pep artists with green on Friday, May 20.

Rugers in Track Meet

broke down. Roth ran a fast race last week against Rosa of Colgate, doing the two miles in 10:20.

Scarlet Good In Quarter

Rutgers ought to take two first places in the middle distance runs with Demarest, Carney, and Schutzendorf competing in the quarter and Schutzendorf and Carney in the half. The Scarlet runners seem to have the edge on the rest of the field, which includes such good middle distance racers as Captain Geoghegan of Manhattan, Schoolman of N. Y. U., and Captain Lo, Lazarus, and Sober of City College.

Don Brundage of Rutgers is favored on the strength of comparative times to take the 220-yard low hurdles from Heiber of N. Y. U., and Temple of City College. The result of the 120-yard hurdles is very doubtful with all the contestants having an even chance to break the tape in the lead.

Lawrence of N. Y. U. is good for 126 feet in the discus and should have little trouble winning that from his Rutgers rivals, Ely, Gesboker, Levis, and Keegan. In addition to his plate tossing specialty, Lawrence is good in the javelin throw and should furnish considerable opposition to Shedden of Rutgers. Lawrence's teammate, Veit, who tossed the steel-tipped spear 163 feet against Colgate last week, also should do well. So far, Weinberg of N. Y. U. has been putting the shot several feet farther than the best efforts of Gesboker and should win that event from the Scarlet weight man.

The high jump will bring together some of the best jumpers in the east, with Delehanty of Manhattan, Karavin of City College, and Shedden and Wilson of Rutgers standing ahead of the rest of the field. Delehanty should win the broad jump. The Scarlet pole vaulters, Test, Durell, Cost, and Koehlein have an even chance to take that event from their opponents, Willard of N. Y. U., and Yokel of City College. Probable entries:

100-yard dash—Zoller, D. Brundage, and W. Brundage, Rutgers; Smith and Lazarus, City College; Huguennin and Stein, N. Y. U.; W. Carney, Manhattan.

120-yard high hurdles—Perlenfein, Rutgers; Licherie, N. Y. U.; Temple, City College; Gynes, Manhattan.

220-yard dash—Zoller, D. Brundage, and W. Brundage, Rutgers; Smith, City College; Huguennin, N. Y. U.; W. Carney, Manhattan.

YEARLING TRACKMEN DOWNED BY COLUMBIA

Rutgers Gives Victors Very Hard Battle Before Yielding By 60-57 Score

In its second meet of the season, the Rutgers freshmen track team went down to defeat before the Columbia first-year men, 60-57, in one of the closest contests ever seen on Neilson field. The result of the meet was ever in doubt, and it was not until after the last event, the javelin throw, that Columbia was declared the victor.

Wiese and O'Neill were double winners for Rutgers, while McDowell scored a first, a second, and two third places for the Scarlet cubs. Wiese easily took both the hundred and the 220-yard dashes, and O'Neill took both hurdle events by a comfortable margin from Crawford, also of Rutgers. McDowell scored first in the javelin, second in the shot-put, and third in the century and the discus throw. Knowles took first place in the high jump from Ryan of Columbia, while Margolis of Rutgers and Bailey of Columbia were tying for first place in the pole vault. The Scarlet cubs took all three places in the broad jump, Marmor winning and White and Hagen following close behind.

Columbia's lone double winner was Hanley, who put the shot 47 feet, 1 inch, and hurled the discus 118 feet. Hanley also finished second in the javelin throw. Cowger took a second and two third places in the weight events. Columbia won the meet when her men gained twenty-seven points in the three distance events. Pilz and Brown took the 440, and Hagen and Joyce won the mile, followed by a one-two-three victory for Columbia in the 880 by Lea, Johnson, and Hagen. Summaries:

David A. Moscovitz '29 easily surpassed all other contenders in the sophomore contest for the Myron W. Smith prize in oratory held in Kirkpatrick chapel Wednesday afternoon. The topic of Moscovitz's speech was "Lincoln and the Constitution." The prize for first place is fifteen dollars. The second prize of ten dollars was won by Arnold E. Ascherfeld with his speech, "An Honor System at Rutgers."

Those who received honorable mention were: Thomas C. Galligan, Charles H. Wray, Edward Huberman, and George H. Ort. The judges were Mr. Berg '18, Professor Phillips of Rutgers Preparatory School, and Professor Bayles of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary.

MASTER-SERGEANT MILLER RESIGNS FROM THE ARMY

Master Sergeant John H. Miller, who has been on duty with the military department of Rutgers University since November 11, 1920, was retired May 11, 1927, after more than twenty-six years of continuous service in the Marine corps and regular army.

Sergeant Miller's first enlistment was on July 8, 1899, and for the next five years he served with the U. S. Marine corps in the Philippine islands, taking part in the Philippine insurrection. He later served with the Fifth United States infantry during the Cuban pacification, and during the World War he held a captaincy in the infantry.

His record was remarkable in that, during his whole service no time was lost due to absence without leave, or for any causes due to his own misconduct.

U. OF P. NINE DEFEATS SCARLET TEAM, 11-2

Sanford's Sons Twirls Rutgers Men to a Loss; Rosen Knocks Only Home Run

Twirling masterfully for the University of Pennsylvania, Foster Sanford, Jr., son of Rutgers' former football mentor, sent the Rutgers baseball nine down to its second defeat of the season, 11 to 2, at Franklin field, Philadelphia, Tuesday. Only three scratch hits were made off the baffling delivery of the Red and Blue right hander, who was withdrawn from the fray in the fifth inning after his mates had amassed an eight-run lead. As in the Lafayette encounter, Coach Jack-litsch's men outthit the opposition, this time by 9 to 7, but the punch was notably lacking with men on base. The playing of Rosen and Lord was the bright spot in an otherwise dismal afternoon for the Scarlet. Score:

FRESHMEN LACROSSE TEAM MEET ERASMUS HALL TODAY

Coach Fitch's yearling lacrosse men will be pitted against the strong Erasmus Hall high school twelve at Brooklyn this afternoon. Only one regular will be missing from the cub line-up when they cross sticks with the New Yorkers. Beef Morgan, husky second defense player who sustained a bad leg injury in practice early in the week, will probably be replaced by either Crouthamel or Peck.

The starting line-up is announced with Freeman, goal; Kearney, point; Crouthamel, coverpoint; Seydel, first defense; Sheble, second defense; Beams, third defense; Scudder, center; Warr, third attack; Doig, second attack; Campion, first attack; Lemmer, in home; and McAbee, outhome.

While the Scarlet freshmen have won and lost in the two contests played thus far, the Brooklyn team has been victorious twice in three starts.

Rutgers Meets Swarthmore

Schwylkill was defeated, 8 to 7, the Garnet staging batting sprees in the eighth and ninth frames and pounding out seven of their eight tallies. Cates was hit freely by the Ministers but managed to go the route. Stevens then handed Swarthmore an 8 to 7 trouncing, the Engineers staging a three-run rally in the ninth to upset the Garnet. Cates again toed the slab for Swarthmore. The Navy drove Cates from the mound and hit McFeely freely, routing the Garnet, 16 to 2. In their last start, Swarthmore took a pitching duel from Ursinus, 4 to 3. Cates was in excellent form and limited the Blue to six scattered bingles.

Have Fast Outfield

Cates, although a freshman, has had plenty of work on the rubber this year. Last year, Cates was declared one of the best high school twirlers in the country. Richards, who will receive his right-handed slants, is a veteran backstop. McCook is the star of the Garnet infield, the veteran keystone sacker fielding and hitting in a sensational manner this season. Adelman will cover the initial sack, with Sipping at short and Maguire in the short field. Lippincott, Baum, and Burr will patrol the outer precincts. Baum is the heaviest hitter of this fly-chasing trio. McFeely will be primed for emergency mound work. Johnson, Townley and Colb will be on the Garnet bench but it is probable that Petrikin will take his old post in the right pasture.

Gordinier will be given a chance to hang up his second victory of the season. The wily southpaw seems primed to regain his winning stride. Triola may receive the mound assignment, with Fox, Dey, and DeMucchio rounding out the pitching department. Captain Hibbs will take his usual post behind the bat, with Quad ready to take up the receiving duties. Chang Lee has taken a regular post at the "hot corner," Boettcher relieving Tommy Clements in the left garden. Bliss will patrol the short field with Rosen roaming around second. Pete Troiano who has played consistent ball all season will be in his usual post in center, with Jack Lord in right, Rabinovitz, Contant, and Clements will be the reserve fly chasers with Eisenmann ready to break into the inner patrol.

RUTGERS FRESHMAN NINE DROPS GAME TO LAFAYETTE

Scarlet Yearlings Out-Hit Opponents, But Fail in Last Inning

Rutgers' freshmen ball tossers dropped a loosely played game to the Lafayette cubs at Neilson field Wednesday afternoon, 3 to 2. Although outhitting the visitors by seven hits to five, the yearlings were unable to come from behind and as a result suffered their third defeat of the current season.

Rutgers threatened to tie the score in the last inning, but fell short by one run when Gordon was cut down at home. Daniels fanned to start the inning; then Wexler singled to left; Gordon, batting for Sahloff, walked; Notton, pinch hitting for Digney, also struck out. Then Schettino singled to center, scoring Wexler. Gordon, in attempting to score on the hit, was caught at the plate. Score:

DEBATING CONTEST ANNOUNCED

Plans for a state elimination debating contest are being formulated by the Rutgers Interscholastic debating league, under the direction of John R. Kaufman, chairman of the league.

Sections consisting of Northern, Southern, and Central New Jersey, New York State, Long Island, and Pennsylvania, will each present a competitor, selected by elimination of the other high and prep schools of the section, to compete for a trophy.

Middletown, Conn. (By New Student Service)—A course in "War: Its Causes and Cure" is one of the recommendations embodied in the Wesleyan undergraduate report which is now available in pamphlet form.

"The purpose of such a course," report says, "would be to give a background of facts on the subject of war as a method of settling international disputes, so that educated men would be capable of recognizing the various factors making for conflict when they appear on the horizon of current events, and could more confidently take steps to eliminate them."

"A few of the topics covered by this course on international conflict would probably be: the history and development of the 'art' of war; a classification of the causes of conflict—historic, economic, psychological, etc.; forces at present tending towards war and towards peace, such as nationalism, imperialism and trade; the possible nature of a 'next war'; the after-effects of war on the 'victors' and the vanquished; on business and the progress of the human race; pacifism and its limitations; problems of national defense; education for peace; disarmament; and the League of Nations."

Another Presentation on GRINDING
by
NORTON COMPANY
WORCESTER, MASS.

Axes that fell the trees in the vast forests are shaped and sharpened on grinding wheels in tremendous quantity production.

Saws that work lumber into usable forms are kept sharp by saw-gumming machines equipped with wheels made especially for this purpose.

The mechanical Yarder is a typical example of a labor-saving machine of tremendous strength that Man's ingenuity has devised for the lumber industry. Machining operations by the grinding wheel and grinding machine are important steps in the manufacture of this wonderful lumbering apparatus.

Powerful engines of transportation—the caterpillar crawler, the motor truck and locomotive that transport lumber thru the forests owe a share of their efficiency to the production of hundreds of close fitting and working parts by grinding.

McClintock, Harold Powell, and Eugene C. Harvey.

Saturday afternoon the varsity lacrosse game between Princeton University and Rutgers will be the center of attraction for the guests. House dances will be held Saturday night. The guests will be allowed to remain at the fraternity houses until ten o'clock Sunday morning. Classes will be suspended Friday afternoon but will be resumed as regularly Saturday morning.

BIOLOGISTS TAKE BOAT TRIP

Dr. Thurlow C. Nelson, professor of zoology, took a class in limnology in his motorboat on a trip down Raritan bay last week to search for oysters and plankton, microscopic organisms upon which oysters feed. The trip became something like an engineering convention in addition to a biological expedition when the pump to the cooling system of the motor broke down. The biologists did not let a little thing like that frustrate the purposes of science, however, for they were able to maintain ordinary cruising speed by feeding water into the cooling system by hand.

TEN PROFESSORS ATTEND
ENGINEERING CONFERENCE

Ten members of the Rutgers University faculty attended the spring meeting of the Greater New York and New Jersey section of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education held at Princeton University, Saturday, May 14. The faculty members were: Dean Rockwell, Professors Heck, Thompson, Mehrof, Creager, Lendall, Johnson, Stephenson, and Messrs. Mason and Gronquist.

This society is interested in the improvement of engineering education and at the Princeton meeting there were five papers delivered in relation to matters connected with the recent investigation and with questions of current interest in engineering education. President Hibben of the university welcomed the sixty-five members who were present and the university entertained all of the delegates at dinner in the evening, after which Professor Edward Capps gave an interesting talk on some of his own work and the work of the American School of Archeology in Greece.

Fresh from its 6 to 5 victory over the powerful Syracuse Indians, the Rutgers lacrosse team will meet the Army twelve at the Military Academy field, West Point, N. Y., this afternoon.

The cadets have one of the most powerful aggregations in the East and are expected to furnish the Scarlet's stiffest opposition this year. Although they got off to a slow start, they have been gaining power rapidly and at the present time are rated but little below the Yale and Syracuse teams. In the first engagement of the season, a defeat was suffered, the Soldiers going down before the Johns Hopkins representatives, 8 to 4. Nothing can be predicted from this contest, however, as it was the first game for both teams and shows little concerning the relative strength of either. The Lafayette Indians were overwhelmed, 16 to 0, in the second clash. Pennsylvania fell, 5 to 2. Stevens offered little resistance and could only score one goal while the Soldiers were gathering ten. On Saturday afternoon, while the Scarlet was handing Syracuse its first defeat in three years, the Army team, playing under wraps, defeated New York University, 3 to 1.

Army Beat Penn

The only games that furnish any basis for comparison are those with University of Pennsylvania and with Stevens. The Scarlet won from Penn, 5 to 3, and the Cadets scored a 5 to 2 victory over the Red and Blue. The game with Stevens was a practice contest and little information may be gleaned. However, the West Point twelve has met only one team that is of the same caliber as the Scarlet's opponents, and in view of this fact Rutgers rules favorite this afternoon.

The Army lineup brings up many memories of the 1926 football season. At second defense is Born, star right end of last year's eleven. Trappnell, grid veteran and mainstay of the West Point backfield for the past two years, fills the center position. Daley, who received mention for several All-American teams at guard, plays cover point. Other gridiron luminaries who will be seen in action against the Scarlet are Harbold, Draper, and Seaman.

O'Donnell and Ayre are the chief factors in the Cadets' attack. Against Hobart, O'Donnell and Ayre each accounted for two goals, and in the John Hopkins

Col. Smiley Retires to Private Life Following
Long Record of Service at Various Army Posts

The departure of Colonel Samuel E. Smiley from active service as head of the military department of Rutgers university marks the conclusion of a long and varied military career during which he has served the country in all quarters of the globe. The colonel has been professor of military science and tactics at the university for three separate periods since 1888, his last term of service being for seven years.

Colonel Smiley prepared for Lafayette College at the South Jersey Institute, Bridgeton, N. J., but went to West Point in June, 1881. He graduated June, 1885 and was appointed second lieutenant, 8th U. S. Infantry and stationed in California. For the next thirty-eight years of service he was located at points all over the world, advancing through the various grades from second lieutenant to colonel of infantry. He was retired at his own request in 1920.

The colonel served at various times as battalion, regimental, and brigade adjutant and quartermaster, aide-de-camp; mustering officer; department adjutant general; adjutant general of the District of Columbia militia; inspector general of the Philippine department; commander of China expedition; organizer and commander 16th Infantry Brigade; com-

MACGILLVARY LEADS ATTACK

In the most exciting and best played lacrosse contest yet seen on Neilson field, Coach Fred Fitch's varsity stickwielders triumphed over the champion Syracuse University twelve, 6 to 5, Saturday afternoon. It was the first intercollegiate defeat suffered in three years by the Orange team, which was rated the best in the country last year.

More than 2,000 fans were present to see the Scarlet team, after starting in a slow manner, come from behind to win after trailing by 3 to 2 at the end of the first period. The Rutgers attack was strong enough to penetrate the famous Orange defense on many occasions, and it was nip and tuck until the last three minutes, when Don MacGillvary scored the tying and winning goals in close succession. MacGillvary's total for the day was three points, and the diminutive attack man shared major honors with Ed Roberts, who entered the game near the end of the first half and contributed two goals to the Scarlet's total. Carroll Hopkins, playing his usual flashy game at first attack, registered the first counter of the game in the first four minutes. Bud Auten, dependable goalie, was the mainstay of the Rutgers defense, blocking no less than sixteen attempts at the net and running the ball out of danger in many crucial plays.

Hopkins Scores First Goal

The visiting team took the offensive at the start, but the Scarlet defense held firm and worked the rubber toward the opposite net after a short scrimmage. Thralls and Wayne Johnson worked the ball in from midfield, and Hopkins, after receiving a long pass from the side, smashed the rubber into the net after four and one-half minutes of play.

The Syracuse attack once more went into action, and a minute after the draw, Painter took a pass from Livingston and grounded the pellet past Auten's stick. In two more minutes, Painter again scored, this time receiving a pass from Gray. The Orange continued to hold the ball in the vicinity of the Rutgers net, and with sixteen minutes of the period gone, Painter registered his third goal of the period.

Here the Rutgers attack braced, and taking the ball into Syracuse territory, started a steady offensive toward the net. With nineteen minutes gone, Ed Roberts was injected in place of Wayne Johnson, and after a two-minute tussle around the crease, Roberts scored. Coach Fitch's men stayed on the offensive until

PAJAMA PARADE WEDNESDAY

An exciting clash is anticipated with the approach of the annual pajama parade, which will take place tomorrow night. The freshmen will report on the steps of Winants hall and from there will be marched down College avenue, and at a selected point the procession will be halted and exercises will be held to the amusement of the sophomore class. Speeches will be given by prominent freshmen.

Frank Curry '28 Appointed
Rutgers Head Cheerleader

Frank H. Curry '28 is head cheerleader for next year and William L. R. Todd '28 is assistant cheerleader as a result of selections made last Friday afternoon. Four junior cheerleaders were also named after formal tryouts were held at Neilson field.

The new junior cheerleaders are John B. Bowden, Robert R. Blunt, Robert L. Knight, and Herbert V. D. Young, all from this year's sophomore class. The new cheerleaders will gain their first experience at the Princeton lacrosse game Saturday.

TRACK TEAM GOES TO UNION MEETMiddle Atlantic States Championships at Schenectady Friday and Saturday

Rutgers' varsity track team will compete in the Middle Atlantic States Championship track meet at Union College field, Schenectady, N. Y., Friday and Saturday. Almost all the leading Class B colleges of this section have entered teams, in an effort to carry off the coveted title.

Thursday evening the Rutgers team consisting of eleven men will leave New Brunswick for the scene of the meet. Coach Wefers has not yet definitely decided on the men he will send to represent the Scarlet, but it is almost certain that the following cinder path stars will make the trip.

Zoller and W. Brundage will carry the Scarlet in the sprints; Captain Schutendorff, Carney, Schulman, and Demarest are entered in the quarter and half-mile runs; Beattie will try his endurance in the two mile; Young and Don Brundage are the Rutgers entries for the 220-foot hurdles; Test and Gesboker are the only Rutgers men entered in the field events, the former in the pole vault and the latter in the discus and shotput. Keegan's studies will prevent his making the trip.

It is uncertain whether Tony Zoller will sufficiently recover from the injury which he sustained last Saturday against N. Y. U. to run in the Middle Atlantic. His loss will seriously handicap Rutgers' chance of victory inasmuch as Sullivan is also out of track competition with an infected leg.

By comparative scores and times, Union and N. Y. U. are the favorites to fight it out for the title. Both these colleges have strong well balanced teams. Union is especially strong in the distance runs and hurdles, while the Violet shows her greatest power in the middle distance runs and field events. Honors in the field events are likely to be scattered among numerous teams.

SENIOR BALL ANNOUNCEMENT

Bert Kaplan and his orchestra have been engaged to play at the senior ball June 9, it was announced yesterday by Gordon G. Schutendorff, chairman of the committee in charge of the dance. This orchestra has played at proms at Columbia, N. Y. U. and Fordham.

MILITARY INITIATIONS HELD

Ten juniors were initiated into Scabbard and Blade, the honorary military fraternity, last night. The initiates, who were announced last month, are: Walter E. Arps, E. Arthur Bell, Addison C. Ely, Albert T. Ellis, Alan E. James, Rodney P. Gibson, Harry M. Lewis, Herbert E. Lorenz, Joseph T. McGough, and Harold F. Quad.

SCARLET NETMEN TO MEET
PENNSYLVANIA OPPONENTS

Rutgers' varsity tennis team will probably encounter its strongest opposition this season when it meets the University of Pennsylvania racquet wielders at Philadelphia, Friday. The Red and Blue netmen have already defeated Fordham, 4 to 2, who downed the Scarlet, 5 to 2, Saturday. The Penn players have also won over Lehigh, 6 to 3; Amherst, 8 to 1; have tied Dartmouth, 3 to 3; and lost to Princeton, 5 to 4.

Captain Waugh of Rutgers will meet John Millen, one of the best schoolboy racquet wielders in Greater New York last year, in the first singles. Captain Bill Kraft will trade lobs and volleys with Macwatty of the Rutgers team in the second singles.

Wesley Stanger and Milton Hofkin will meet Rabinowitz and McKinney, the Rutgers third and fourth singles men respectively. In the doubles, Waugh will pair with Macwatty against Millen and Kraft, and Rabinowitz and McKinney will oppose Stanger and Hofkin.

A rejuvenated Lehigh baseball team will meet the Scarlet nine for the second time at Neilson field tomorrow afternoon. Coach Jacklitsch's charges are prepared for a strenuous contest, and the Scarlet mentor has held Mike DeMucchio, brilliant left hander, in reserve for tomorrow's tilt. The Scarlet nine has a more impressive record than their South Bethlehem rivals, and in addition already hold an 8 to 7 victory over the Lehigh nine.

Lehigh experienced a disastrous start on the diamond this season. The Brown and White received seven consecutive setbacks, culminating with the trouncing at the hands of the Scarlet tossers. After the Rutgers defeat, the Brown and White lineup was revised and several of the regulars were relegated to the bench. Since this change, Lehigh had broken even in four contests. Proespelt, varsity keystone sacker, Castor, veteran initial sacker, and McCombes, former frosh infield star, have been displaced in the regular lineup and the change seems to have instilled new life in the Brown and White nine.

F. & M. Routed, 11-4

Franklin and Marshall was trounced, 11 to 4, Brady, Lehigh's stellar southpaw, reigning supreme in the pinches over the Lancaster batters. F. & M. pushed a run over in the first, but the Brown and White came back with two in their half of the inning. Three tallies in the second drove Dirstine, the Purple twirler, to cover and Waschick, who followed him on the slab, proved easy for Lehigh. Brady breezed along in fine form until the ninth, when he weakened and the Purple scored three times.

Pennsylvania took a stirring contest from Lehigh, 8 to 6. The Red and Blue staged a two-run rally in the seventh and overcame Lehigh's one-run lead. The Brown and White sluggers drove "Lefty" Knaubach, Quaker southpaw, to the showers, but Foster Sanford, brilliant right hander, checked Lehigh's batting flurries. Hesse went the route for Lehigh and deserved a victory, sloppy fielding overcoming his fine work in the box. Dickinson was routed by Lehigh, 12 to 2. Lehigh batted the offerings of four opposing twirlers freely, while Brady again was sending the rival batters back to the bench. Nevins and Hayes drove the ball over the fence in the first, to send Lehigh into the lead.

Kappa Sigma Nines Triumph

Alpha Sigma Rho, Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Theta Zeta were victors in interfraternity baseball in the past week, and Zeta Psi, Sigma Delta and Hegeman have defeated their rivals on the courts.

The Lam Chis registered one of the closest victories in the tournament Monday evening when Koch pitched his team to a 2 to 1 victory over the Dekes, Alton was the losing hurler. Anthony of Kappa Sig held Theta Zeta to one hit for five innings while striking out eleven men and won by a 10 to 0 score. In Monday afternoon's tilt, Alpha Sigma Rho continued on its winning day by downing the otherwise undefeated Phi Gams 6 to 5. Stryker pitched good ball for the winners while Algren and Vanderwerker shared the mound for the George street nine. Theta Zeta shut out the Evergreen Club Friday night 15 to 0 with Potts allowing the losers only one hit in the five innings. Simmons and McMahon clouted the ball for four bases during the encounter.

The Zetes won over the Phi Gams 3 to 0 on the courts, easily winning both singles and doubles matches, Sigma Delta scored a win over the D. U.'s and Hegeman beat Raritan Club in both singles matches.

Pulling the Wires Until They Break

One of the crudest exhibitions of fraternity politics that have been observed on this campus in several years broke out last week in the preliminaries of class elections. If a man wants to lower his dignity by personal solicitation, that is up to him, but the wholesale swapping of fraternity votes and the solicitation of support for doctored tickets is a little too strong for the most hardened of us.

The primaries for the class of 1929 were almost amusing. Printed slips presenting the names of candidates which were distributed in chapel showed all the earmarks of interfraternity collusion. The freshman candidates event went so far as to approach the yearlings of houses not included in the tickets, asking support for this or that combination of societies.

Coincident with the actual log-rolling, charges of unpleasant nature were rife, some of them untrue. One rumor stated that a candidate for the presidency of the class of 1929 was offered the chairmanship of the junior prom committee as a bribe for withdrawing, an accusation that proved to be without foundation. The changes in representation of several organizations on the association of campus activities also resulted in false charges.

The petty bickering that results from any contest is not of itself important. It is forgotten in a few weeks, and seldom gets any further. But open campaigning that divides the entire college into hostile groups directly affects the welfare of the university as a whole. Athletics, literary societies, publications, and many other activities suffer as a result.

So long as we have fraternities, it will be difficult to diminish the prominence of partisanship in undergraduate affairs. But when the campaigning hides under the mask of race prejudice, when personal friendships are jarred, and the welfare of the university is subordinated to temporary considerations, things have gone too far.

A Knotty Problem for the Fraternities

The efforts of the interfraternity council to devise a set of rushing rules which will abolish some of the unpleasant features of the present cut-throat system are meeting with difficulties. All parties recognize the desirability of saving the freshman from his bewilderment, but in self-defense the fraternities hesitate to approve a ruling which might make it harder for them to maintain themselves.

It is unfortunate that the fraternities on this campus have expanded under the old system so that it is now hard for them to accommodate themselves to a newer one. They prefer to fill their houses with pledges as early in the year as possible in order to meet financial requirements, but must mark time for three weeks under the proposed system. By the end of that time, the freshmen will

Voice of the Soph Candidate

(Before Election)
"Politician, politician, do your stuff for me,
Get those votes in hordes,
If I win—huge rewards
Will be yours immediately, your fraternity
And the party in combine,
You see? Only now, make time!
Get the men by word or look,
Get the vote by hook or crook,
Doff your hats and doff your coats!
Get to work and get the votes!"

(After Election)
Listen, sucker, don't bother me!"

The proposed rushing rules for fraternities have possibilities. Great possibilities. Think of the freshmen who can live for half a term on free meals.

Or, again, imagine yourself in the room of Joe and Ike, the two frosh from the same high school who swore to go to the same fraternity. Joe is speaking. Ike, he says, Waddya think of the Alphas, they have all the athletes. Yeh, replies Ike, but think of the Gammas, what marvelous beefsteaks they serve. And their tomato soup! However, Joe interrupts, How about the Alphas serving ice cream every day? Of course that's true, admits Ike, nevertheless, between you and me, the bunch I like best is the Kappas—they have the most heavenly chocolate pudding and their oatmeal is simply divine. Just like mother used to make. And so on—

Of course, the fraternities which will be hit hardest, if the rule passes, are the ones with no tables at the house. Two alternatives are open to such groups. They can clothe the president of their bunch with a chef's hat and let him supervise a one-night stand in the vestibule or on the porch of the house. The man of the bunch with the best voice should patrol the outside of the home equipped with a megaphone and keep yelling some rhyming phrase like: "Get your pies at Omega Phi's" or "Free beer right here," or some similar quotation which will attract the crowd.

In order to get the yearlings to swallow the bids, houses with one-night stands might insert pledge pins into their hot-dogs and soda. Charged water, no doubt, is the best medium with which to pop the bid.

The other alternative of the house without a table is to get one.

Thomas Gallagher, a member of the century club, recently ascribed his old age to the fact that he managed to keep away from rum. Such talk is utter nonsense. The problem, Thomas, is not to keep away from rum, but to get next to it, and the big puzzle, after having got next to it, is to hold it properly.

Gum Drop, Jr., finally entered Roxy's Theatre last Saturday, and he received several shocks in so doing. First, purchasing an orchestra seat at Roxy's lands you somewhere in the second balcony, provided you're lucky enough to precede the mob that patrols the standing room section. Secondly, we checked a bag, and after the show went to the checking room and left a tip as we obtained our luggage. "Oh, no," said the girl sweetly, "we're not allowed to accept tips." "How unlike New York," I replied even more sweetly as I pocketed the nickel.

have trouble in subletting their lodgings. The only way to meet the situation is to pledge men while yet in high school, and few will agree that this is a desirable practice.

Assuming that the rules can be enforced, the houses will have to modify somewhat their present methods of selecting men. To get ten acceptances, it may be necessary to bid thirty men. The work of separating enough desirable men for bidding from the available field is no small task for any fraternity.

Perhaps the step is too large for the present time. The new rules are designed primarily for the protection of the newcomer, and as such are commendable. But if we are to have any progress at all, the change from old to new must be more rapid than the fraternities can meet.

Book Review

The Book Nobody Knows. By Bruce Barton. Bobbs-Merrill. $2.50.

To those who have never forced themselves to adopt the three-two plan—that is to read two chapters of the Bible on weekdays and three chapters on Sunday—this book will be an inspiration and a help. There is embodied in this book a summary of the major portions of this "widest circulated book" and presented in such a way as to give the average person more than a passing knowledge with the Bible. The first part presents an outlay of the historical facts of the Old Testament so cleverly that the interest is held. It is amusing to watch the gyrations of the author in trying to present the facts as stated in the Bible and still keep himself out of any theological discussion or practical commitment on the verity of each statement.

The Great Life is the heading of the second part of this work. This probably is the best presentation of the four gospels in popular prose that is existent. A running history telling how each book came to be written, along with surrounding circumstances, makes these books far more interesting and enlightening. The acts of the apostles, and the apocalypse are each given due places but fall far short of even catching the spirit of the original writings.

Then, like many of our popular histories, there is a sort of index of the leading men and women in the Bible with a page or two given to each—or better, to justify the author's choice of these particular personages as being outstanding. It is not an uncommon rumor that had the author devoted a book to any of these prominent people his success would have been greater. For in his previous book on Christ, he shows a great ability at character analysis interpreted into modern language. But Mr. Barton is no literary man. Although the work lacks enthusiasm, it indicates a great amount of work in research. The failure of the author to catch the spirit of the original is noticeable in the simple, almost mechanical record. However, we must respect the sincerity and motive of the author and not be too harsh in our trying to find and enjoy only that which is literary and finished.

College athletics may serve a man in good stead while he is in college, but his ability will prove of little use to him after he is graduated, according to J. M. Employers are more interested in what a man got out of the game instead of what he did, he stated.

YOUNG LONE RUTGERS VICTOR

Rutgers' varsity track team was decisively beaten by New York University in a quadrangular track meet held at Ohio Field, New York City, last Saturday afternoon, the final score showing the winners leading the Scarlet trackmen by a score of 85 5-6 points to 35 1-6. Manhattan College finished third with 16 points while City College was last with a total of 13 counters. Fisher and Veit, N. Y. U. stars, were the only double winners of the meet, Fisher breaking the tape in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes, while his teammate won first honors in the half-mile run and the javelin throw.

New York University accounted for more points than the combined totals of her three rivals and took first place in every event except three, Young of Rutgers, finishing out in front in the 220-yard low hurdles, while Delehanty, star jumper of Manhattan, captured the broad jump from Kutner of N. Y. U., with a nice leap of 21 feet and 6 inches. Thomas Skidd accounted for Manhattan's other first place by putting the shot 42 feet 8 inches to beat Weinberg and Lawrence of N. Y. U., and Geschocker of Rutgers. As a result of her victory Saturday, N. Y. U. is now considered a favorite in the coming Middle Atlantic States meet. The Violet's chances, however, are slightly weakened because of the fact that Veit was badly spiked in the half-mile race and is probably lost to the team for ten days at least.

Young Wins Hurdle

Young, speedy Scarlet hurdler, was the only Rutgers' cinder path star to win an event. Young ran a pretty race in the 220 lows to beat out his teammate, Don Brundage, at the tape. Heiberg and Winterbottom finished third and fourth respectively for the Violet. This event was Rutgers' best exhibition of the meet.

ANTHOLOGIST OUT FRIDAY

The second issue of The Anthologist, Rutgers' literary magazine, will appear Friday unless something unforeseen happens. The magazine will be sold at the exhibition drill and also at the college bookstore. Associate Professor of English William B. Twiss has been chosen faculty advisor of the publication and his suggestions and advice in the preparation of this number have made it better than the initial one which appeared in February.

Fisher won the century in impressive style for N. Y. U., easily distancing Hoffman and Smith both of City College, to finish three yards in the lead. His time, 10 2-5 seconds, was fast considering the fact that he was running against a heavy wind. Don Brundage took fourth honors for Rutgers. Fisher had difficulty beating Smith of City College, in the 220-yard dash but managed to stay out in front to win by about two yards.

Jack Carney of Rutgers, gave Veit a thrilling battle in the half-mile run and it was only in the last few yards that the Violet runner won the race. Carney fought him all the way down the stretch and just failed to have enough left in the final sprint to take the victory. Schutzendorf, captain of the Rutgers team, took fourth place.

Richard Halton of N. Y. U., won his specialty, the one-mile run, finishing far ahead of Booth, also of N. Y. U. Rutgers was unable to place in the event.

Beattie Second in Run

Roth had little trouble in winning the two-mile run for the Violet. He crossed the line nearly 300 yards ahead of Al Beattie of Rutgers, after taking the lead at the gun and keeping it all the way. For a time, Murphy of Manhattan, challenged the N. Y. U. runner but the pace proved too fast and he soon fell to the rear. Two Rutgers men, Beattie and Hunziker, then took up the chase but Roth constantly lengthened the distance between himself and his rivals during the last laps. Hunziker took third place from Schwor of N. Y. U., by a single yard after a thrilling sprint down the home stretch.

Licherie won the 120-yard highs for New York, coming home five yards ahead of Sundbeck, also wearing the Violet. Perlentein captured third place for the Scarlet, while Ralph Temple of City College, finished behind him.

Latimer Lawrence of N. Y. U., as was expected, proved to be a heavy scorer for the Violet in the field events. He won the discus throw with a toss of 124 feet and 10 inches, and also took third honors in the shot put. In this latter event Keegan and Ely scored second and fourth places respectively for Rutgers.

Willard of New York University, won the pole vault by his jump of 11 feet. Test of Rutgers, was tied with Delehanty of Manhattan, for third place.

The Scarlet's chances for victory received a heavy blow when Tony Zoller, her best sprinter, pulled a tendon in one of the trial heats of the 100-yard dash and was unable to run in the finals. Sullivan also was out of competition due to an infected leg. Summaries:

the period ended, but the Orange defense checked tightly to prevent further scoring.

Syracuse Captain Scores

Captain Gray scored for the visitors thirty-five seconds after the second half began. For the next four minutes Rutgers worked into Syracuse territory, and Ed Roberts scored his second after a fast dash from the side. On the next play the Scarlet attack took the ball in from midfield and registered, Roberts to MacGillivray to net. Rutgers continued on the offensive, but after several unsuccessful tries at the Syracuse net, the Orange once more took the lead when Clarke scored.

With the Orange twelve leading by 5 to 4, MacGillivray scored the tying and winning goals within one minute. The first counter of the pair was made by a clever back overhead shot, after MacGillivray had taken a pass from Rohr-

Saturday's game with Syracuse, despite the hardness of play, has left the Scarlet squad in excellent condition. In all probability, Eddie Gray will not have recovered sufficiently to start at third defense.

Commencement
isn't the end—
It's just the Beginning!

IT'S mighty easy to think of Commencement as the end of everything that's care-free and pleasant. But don't make that mistake.

The cold, gray world after college isn't so cold and gray to the fellow that tackles it in the right spirit.

Of course, it isn't going to pay you a fat salary right at the start-off. That isn't the way it does things. Instead, it is going to put you through a testing and seasoning process which will measure your grit and your stamina and find out whether you're a dependable performer.

Once you've proved your dependability, you'll get responsibility and with responsibility comes income. And remember this—you'll consider yourself an experienced and dependable engineer long before the world admits it. It's that waiting period which will try your pluck.

In the meantime build your reputation of top-quality materials. Team up with the best in every job you handle. Stand for, fight for the best materials, the best designs, the best construction methods. Don't let your name get associated with second-bests, make-shifts and could-have-been-betters.

It's a great world. I've seen something more than a century of it and I know. And it wants you to make good.

Sincerely yours,

HIBBS LEADS HITTING ATTACK

Rutgers' varsity baseball team defeated Swarthmore, 13 to 8, at Neilson field Saturday. The Scarlet collected nineteen hits while the visitors registered thirteen. Five runs in the eighth inning won the contest for Rutgers. Four doubles and two triples were made during batting rallies, all extra-base blows coming with men on the sacks.

Gordinier started on the mound for Rutgers, but got into difficulty and was withdrawn in the sixth in favor of Triola. During his stay on the hill, the Scarlet southpaw fanned six Garnet batters. The Quakers scored two runs in each of the fourth, sixth, seventh and ninth innings. Gillette pitched the entire game for Swarthmore.

The Scarlet was first to score in the second session when Troiano singled and rode home on Bliss' triple. Three more markers were added in the third. Rosen singled to left and went to second when McGuire fumbled Boettcher's grounder. Irwin beat out a bunt, loading the bases. Rosen scored on Hibbs' sacrifice, Boettcher on a passed ball, and Irwin on Troiano's single.

Swarthmore tallied twice in the fourth when McCook's triple scored Richards, who was on first through Lee's error. The Garnet second-sacker registered on Baum's single to left. Tex Rosen then ended the inning with a prettily-executed double play.

Clinch Game in Eighth

The Scarlet hung up another trio of markers in the fifth on four singles and a sacrifice. Coach Jackitsch's workmen put the game on ice in the eighth after two Scarlet batters had been retired. Boettcher started the rally by singling to center. Gillette hit Irwin with pitched ball. Captain Hibbs doubled, scoring both runners, and Pete Troiano singled to center. Jack Lord hit a long liner to left field, but when Lippincott fielded it he hit the pole on the sidelines and the ball bounded back to the fence. Hibbs, Troiano and Lord scored on this play.

The Quakers registered four tallies in the sixth and seventh sessions on a walk, an error, five singles and a pitcher's balk. In their final turn at bat, the Garnet nine attempted one of their last-minute rallies. Lippincott and Richards singled. They advanced on a passed ball by Hibbs. McCook went out to Eisenmann, however, and Baum fouled to Hibbs. Johnson beat out a hit to third, scoring Lippincott. Petrik, batting for Lipping, ended the rally when Rosen threw Johnson out at the plate on the pinch-hitter's grounder, Richards scoring before the out.

Troiano's four singles out of five times up, and Irwin's three safe blows in four trips to the plate were the batting features. Hibbs' guarding of the plate was notable, the Scarlet captain retiring three Main Liners at the rubber. Score:

paw, outpitched Hesse of Lehigh this Saturday, the Maroon winning a nip and tuck pitching battle, 3 to 0. Yeisley allowed two bingles, while the Maroon sluggers garnered six safeties off Hesse's right-hand slants. Hayes collected both of Lehigh's safe wallops.

Brady to Face Scarlet

Jerry Brady or Hesse will be on the firing line for Lehigh, with Nevins, veteran receiver, behind the plate. Brady has shown splendid form in his last two starts and is almost certain to receive the mound assignment. Hesse and Roberts will be ready to toe the slab if Brady finds the going rough. Talbert, Pitts, O'Callaghan, and Bramble will patrol the infield, with Rosenson, Captain Hayes and Flynn in the outergarden. McCombes, Castor, and Proebstle will be on the Brown and white bench. Hayes and Nevins are the heavy artillery of Lehigh's batting brigade.

The revised Scarlet nine has given plenty of evidence of its strength in its recent brace of victories over Union and Swarthmore. Coach Jackitsch is contemplating another change in the Rutgers infield, Sammy Eisenmann replacing "Chang" Lee at the hot corner. DeMucchio's battery mate will be Captain Hibbs. The Scarlet leader has been hampered by a bad leg in recent contests, but "Doc" Besas is confident that Hibbs will have entirely recovered by Wednesday. Gordinier, Fox, Triola, and Dey round out the mound corps, with Quad primed to go behind the bat.

Joe Irwin will be at his usual post at first, with Tex Rosen and Tony Bliss covering the opposite sides of the key-stone sack. Eisenmann will be stationed at the third sack. Dick Boettcher has established himself in the left pasture, and Pete Troiano will roam between him and Lord, who will be out in the right garden. Rabinovitz, Clements, Contant, and Lee will be on the bench for the Lehigh tilt.

TENNIS TEAM VANQUISHED BY FORDHAM NETMEN, 5-2

Rutgers' varsity tennis combination suffered its third setback of the season at the hands of Fordham's netsters by a 5 to 2 score on the Fordham courts Saturday. McKinney was the lone member of the Scarlet to win in the singles when he defeated Meyer in three sets, and paired with Rabinowitz, downed Keresey and Daley in straight sets. Macwatty, playing at No. 2 position, was beaten for the first time when he was downed in straight sets by Donohue. Summaries:

Singles—McCaulliff, Fordham, defeated Waugh, Rutgers, 6-4, 6-2. Donohue, Fordham, defeated Macwatty, Rutgers, 6-1, 6-1. King, Fordham, defeated Rabinowitz, Rutgers, 3-6, 10-8, 6-4. McKinney, Rutgers, defeated Meyer, Fordham, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4. McCarthy, Fordham, defeated McClintock, Rutgers, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4. Doubles—McCaulliff and Donohue, Fordham, defeated Waugh and Macwatty, Rutgers, 6-3, 6-4. Rabinowitz and McKinney, Rutgers, defeated Keresey and Daley, Fordham, 6-3, 6-1.

Violet Wins Decisively, Taking Ten
First and Ten Seconds
in Dual Meet

New York University's powerful freshman track team decisively defeated Coach Weifers' yearling outfit by a 92 to 25 count at Ohio Field, New York, Friday afternoon. The Violet cubs showed great power in every event, taking ten firsts and the same number of seconds, while the high jump ended in a tie. The Scarlet team was strongest on the track, accumulating sixteen of their points in the running events. Furth was high scorer of the day, piling up sixteen tallies, and Wrobel and Gassner tied for second honors on the New York squad at eight all. Wiese and Knowles scored ten and seven respectively for Rutgers.

Furth and Wrobel put the Violet in the lead by running one-two in the high jumpers, Wrobel leading O'Neill to the tape by a yard. The time of 16 2-5 seconds established a N. Y. U. record. Furth took the lows from O'Neill by three yards with Wrobel in third place. Wiese had a hard battle to subdue Meister in the century, winning by two feet in 10 1-5 seconds. The Rutgers flash won the furlong easily from Weinstein and Meister.

Rutgers could score but two points in the quarter, half, and mile. Von Glahn scored one in the 440, and Earl taking third in the half mile. Captain Smith and Badrow failed to place in the mile, the former's sprint just falling short of giving him a third. All the other Rutgers entries in these events were out-classed.

McDowell was the Scarlet representative to score in the weights; his best effort in the javelin giving him third place. Myers, former P. S. A. L. champion, threw the steel tipped spear 180 feet 6 inches for a new N. Y. U. record. Knowles tied Werner of the Violet cubs for first in the high jump at 5 feet 7 inches, and placed second in the pole vault. Marion and Margolis of Rutgers, tied for third in this event. Summaries:

DR. NOYES STRESSES NATURE IN RELIGION

"Genuine religion begins in the experience of a living God," stated the Rev. Morgan Noyes, D.D., of the First Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, N. Y., at the morning service in Kirkpatrick chapel, Sunday.

"It seems that if religion is to mean anything to us, we must have a picture of what our God is like," said Dr. Noyes. "We ask, 'What is the Almighty?' In the first place, He is power." As an example of this, the speaker referred to the evidences of the power of a ruling force such as the sunlight, the wind, the tide of the ocean, and the overflowing life of springtime.

"God is mind," continued Dr. Noyes. "It is hard to explain that this is not a haphazard universe, but when we consider the complexities of nature, then the realization comes that there must be a mind, a super-human intellect, back of it all."

"Thirdly, God is love," said the speaker. Dr. Noyes spoke of the forces of nature that sometimes seem to us as being too relentless in their destruction to be governed by a God of love. "We must always remember the goodwill in the heart of men at the time of such a catastrophe as the flood in the west at the present time," he said. "It is when we see the love of one man for another that we see clearly the evidence of the love of God."

"Sometimes we find it hard to picture the God of whom we speak," Dr. Noyes continued. "Our fore-fathers thought of Him as an old man sitting in the sky ruling over the universe from his throne in the heavens. To many of us, it is hard to change that picture, although it is absurd to others." As an example of the difficulty of conceiving of some of the wonders of the universe, the speaker told how hard it is to understand the theory of electrons. For the same reason it is a task to conceive of the living God.

"Far more important than a picture of God, is the touch upon us of an unseen Power, Mind and Love."

MODERN smokers find in Camels a nicety of blending, a friendly cordiality of flavor, an inherent goodness that thrills from the first puff to the last. That is why Camels are the favorite of the present age. The warmth of golden sunlight or autumn fields gleams in their smoke. Camels are the modern expression of all that is the finest.

Camel quality and Camel excellence are recognized wherever modern smokers gather. Particular smokers in this hard-to-please age find the best of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos blended in this famous cigarette. They find a consistent goodness that never fails, no matter how liberal the smoking.

Rutgers' freshman lacrosse twelve made a clean sweep over Brooklyn teams this season when it triumphed over the Erasmus Hall outfit by a 3 to 1 count, in Brooklyn Saturday, after defeating Poly Prep earlier in the year.

Flegenheimer earned a tie when he bounced the sphere through the opening and the teams fought deadlocked until the end of the first playing period.

Beams made the winning score for the Rutgers team when he sent the ball into the net in the first minute of the second half. Lemmerz put the game on ice when he sank the third goal for his team in the final minute of the game. Lineup:

PREPARATIONS COMPLETE FOR CLASS DAY, JUNE 10

Program Includes President's Speech, Poem, History and Prophecy

The complete program for Class day exercises, which will be held in Kirkpatrick chapel and on Queen's campus Friday afternoon, June 10, was announced today by Lester E. Hanf, president of the senior class.

Lester E. Hanf, Brooklyn, will deliver the president's address to open the ceremonies. The class poem will be read by Bernard Forer, Trenton. Charles B. Mason, Newark, will give the address to the trustees. The class historian, George A. Hiecke, Wood Ridge, will relate the achievements of the class, while Frank S. Amon, Linden, will present the class prophecy. Gordon G. Schutendorf, president of the Student Council, will speak to the undergraduates.

The three seniors who will present the mementoes to their classmates are Edward K. Goldschmidt, Upper Montclair; Oswald G. Nelson, Ridgefield Park, and Howard A. Johnson, Cranford. The mementoes will take the usual form of a comic gift supposed to represent some characteristic of the receivers. Roland R. Renne, Bridgeton, chairman of the committee on the class memorial, will make the formal presentation on Class day. The memorial this year will consist of voluntary contributions by members of the class.

The ivy oration will be delivered by Allan G. Mitchell, Vineland; the tree oration by Alfred G. Brown, Jr., College Point, N. Y., and the pipe oration by Charles H. McKinney, Bogota. Wallace E. Wirtz, Montclair, has charge of the tree planting.

SENIOR BALL FAVORS SECURED

Favors for the senior ball which will be held Thursday night, June 9, will be black leather note cases lined with Scarlet silk and bearing the class numerals 19 R 27. Cardboard programs with the Rutgers seal stamped on the cover in gold will be inserted in the cases.

Plans for the ball progressing rapidly, although a decorator has not yet been secured. The committee has visited Newark and New York, interviewing several concerns, and will make a choice this week.

Bert Kaplan and his orchestra will furnish music for the ball, each half of which will be divided into seven dances. The poster contest will close today and the winner announced Tuesday.

RUSHING RESOLUTIONS TABLED TILL MONDAY

Fraternity Council to Hold Special Meeting to Settle Differences Over Proposed Rules

The rushing resolutions brought before the interfraternity council Thursday night were tabled until a special meeting scheduled for Monday night. During the interim the council will attempt, through Dean Fraser Metzger, to have the administration make provisions to release pledges from their one-year leases of dormitory lodgings, in order that they may take up their homes in fraternity houses more easily.

The rushing rules as proposed were first adopted eleven to three, but after the vote was taken a general misunderstanding over the meaning of some of the regulations arose, and the delegates from several houses asked for another vote. When it was taken, five houses voted affirmatively, and three negatively, the remaining houses answering "not ready."

The chief objection raised to the rules as proposed was that so many dormitory rooms would be thrown upon the market for subletting at the same time that it would be difficult for the pledges to move to fraternity houses, many of which depend on freshman tenants for filling the house.

In the election of officers, Gregg Hibbs was chosen for president. Forrest E. Holmes was made vice-president; George W. Young, secretary, and Oren G. Howell, treasurer.

PEITHO HEARS PROF. WHITMAN

Dr. Charles H. Whitman, professor of English, spoke on "Shelley" at the final meeting of the Peithessophian literary society Thursday evening in the Fine Arts room, Queen's. His talk embraced the whole career of Shelley; his education, his nature, and the influences bearing on his life.

Dr. Whitman read several of Shelley's works, among them being Ode to the West Wind, and Ode to a Skylark, reputed to be one of the best bird-poems in the English language.

Previous to the open meeting, five men were initiated into the society. They are: Kenneth B. White '28, David A. Moscovitz '29, James R. E. Ozias '29, Richard K. Warr '30, and G. Edward Holloway '30.

CAP AND BELLS TAP FROSH

Twelve members of the freshman class were tapped for Cap and Bells after chapel Wednesday. Four others are to be chosen next year. The new men are:

James E. Yuill, Willard H. Lemmerz, Charles F. O'Neill, Jr., Alan A. Edmonston, William H. Bradbury, John A. Ahlgren, Harry F. Glaeser, John C. Hutchinson, Jr., Robert W. Lindsay, Kenneth D. McGrayne, James J. Hagen, and Albert H. Notton.

FRESHMAN LACROSSE TEAM TO OPPOSE MANUAL HIGH

Rutgers' yearling lacrosse team will meet its strongest opponent of the year, the undefeated Manual Training High School twelve, Saturday afternoon in a preliminary to the varsity tilt with Princeton.

Downing the Princeton cubs, 4 to 2, last week, the metropolitan team extended its winning streak to four consecutive games. The freshmen were defeated by the Princeton first-year men, 3 to 2.

Coach Fitch has held intensive practice sessions all this week despite the rain, and the results of several scrimmages with the varsity have shown the freshmen to be in fine form. The probable lineup for the freshmen is: Freeman, goal; Kearney, point; Crouthamel, cover point; Seydel, first defense; Sheble, second defense; Beams, third defense; Scudder, center; Campion, third attack; Doig, second attack; Warr, first attack; McAbbe, in home; Lemmerz, out home.

SCARLET MAROON CONFLICT TODAY

Fordham Has Won Eight Games and Lost Five So Far; De Mucchio on Mound

PROBABLE LINEUP
Fordham: Liebl, rf.; Graham or Murphy, cf.; White, ss.; Porter, 2b.; Ryan, 3b.; Coleman, lf.; Feaster, c.; Clancy, 1b.; Hanlon or Harrington, p.

While the Rutgers baseball nine was winning over Lehigh Wednesday by 7 to 4, the Fordham tossers, whom the Scarlet will encounter today at Fordham field, New York, were whitewashing Catholic University, 2 to 0. The Maroon outfit, coached by Jack Coffe, is a fast, hard-playing team with a brilliant, although erratic, infield and a well-balanced pitching staff. Of thirteen contests to date, Fordham has won eight and lost five.

In the Maroon's first game, April 6, Columbia was defeated 2 to 1 in fourteen innings. Bob Cooney and Art Smith, star Columbia hurler, hooked up in a pitchers' duel which was broken by Ryan's single in the fourteenth frame. Cooney, Maroon right-hander, fanned eighteen Lion batters.

Vermont was next trounced in a slug-fest, 20 to 7. Zev Graham, speedy halfback; White, and Clancy were the batting stars. Cooney also pitched this game. Substitutes finished the fray after a commanding lead had been accumulated by the regulars. The next Saturday the Maroon fell before the right-handed slants of Dudley Smith, star Yale hurler, losing their first game by 6 to 1. Smith limited the Fordham sluggers to five hits while the Elms were handing Bob Cooney his first defeat.

Navy Defeated, 6 to 1
Fordham won its most peculiar game the following Saturday when Navy was defeated 6 to 1. Errorless fielding saved the game for the Maroons, who were out-hit 10 to 2 by the middies. Tuglie, Navy twirler, although found for only two hits, was very generous with passes, giving twelve bases on balls while his mates contributed three misplays to the Maroon scoring. N. Y. U. was next taken into camp by Coach Coffey's men, the Violet losing by 5 to 4. Cooney relieved Joe Harrington, Maroon star of last season, and pitched hitless ball for four innings. Joe Dwyer's double, followed by Ryan's single resulted in the winning run.

The University of Virginia won an unexpected 4 to 2 victory over the Maroon on May 4, mainly through Beard's superb pitching. John Murphy started the game for Fordham but was knocked out in the third inning. Joe Harrington finished the game, holding the Southerners to five hits in his seven innings on the mound. Four infield errors were largely instrumental in losing the game. Byrne, substitute outfielder, clouted a homer for Fordham. Two days later Providence College was defeated, 3 to 0, in ten innings. Roger Hanlon pitched well, giving the opposition only four hits. The Maroon launched a determined offensive in the tenth, scoring all their tallies in that session. Holy Cross next bowed to the Maroon, 8 to 1. Cooney's great pitching accounting for the victory. Zev Graham's three hits and White's extra-base slugging featured.

Princeton Wins on Homer
Delaware lost to Fordham in the first of three games played on consecutive days by the Maroon. The score was farcical, 19 to 1, Joe Harrington allowing only two scratch hits in five innings. The

RUTGERS INDIANS MEET PRINCETON

Close Tilt Expected When Varsity Encounters Tiger in Last Contest of Season

SCARLET SLIGHT FAVORITE

PROBABLE LINEUP
Princeton: Sessa, 2b.; Boettcher, 3b.; Irwin, 1b.; Hibbs, c.; Troiano, cf.; Lord, rf.; Clements, lf.; Bliss, ss.; DeMucchio, p.
Rutgers: Liebl, rf.; Graham or Murphy, cf.; White, ss.; Porter, 2b.; Ryan, 3b.; Coleman, lf.; Feaster, c.; Clancy, 1b.; Hanlon or Harrington, p.

Coach Fred Fitch's varsity lacrosse twelve will end its season when it meets the strong Princeton University team at Neilson field this afternoon. The Rutgers team, in good shape after its hard tilt with the West Point aggregation Wednesday, will go into the contest a slight favorite.

Although the Army game was hard played throughout, no serious injuries were suffered by the Scarlet players, and it is expected that Captain Cass, who received a few bad jolts, will be in good shape by this afternoon. The regular attack combination, consisting of Jerry Thralls, Ed Roberts, Don MacGillvary, and Carroll Hopkins, is functioning perfectly and is expected to create plenty of trouble for the none too strong Tiger defense. Nellie Rohrbach and Bennie Mark will start at their usual midfield positions, and the Scarlet defense will consist of Bud Auten, goal; Captain Dick Cass, point; Ed Phillips, cover point; Eddie Townsend, first defense; Ed Gray, second defense, and Al Brown, third defense. Stretch Alton's place will be taken by Gray, who has fully recovered from his illness, and Alton will be held as a utility defense man. Other men who are likely to break into the lineup as substitutes are Pereyra, Forman, Palmer, W. Johnson, Deakin, C. Roberts, and Fairchild.

Tigers Beaten Thrice

While the Scarlet twelve has been registering victories over the University of Pennsylvania, Montclair A. C., Lehigh, Union, and Syracuse, losing by close margins to Yale and the Army, Coach Niles' Tiger stickmen have been defeated three times in five starts. The Tigers started the season by losing to the undefeated Crescent A. C. twelve, 6 to 2, and dropped a close decision the following Saturday to Swarthmore by a 10 to 9 count. A victory over Lehigh followed, in which the Tigers could not gain more than a 6 to 3 margin. The second victory for the Orange and Black was registered over the L'Irondelle Lacrosse Club of Baltimore, over whom the Princetonians scored eight times, and a week later the strong Mount Washington team handed the Tigers a 6 to 4 setback. The same Lehigh outfit that held the Princetonians to six goals fell before the Scarlet by a 9 to 3 count.

The strongest part of the Princeton twelve is the attack, made up of Stinson at third, Cather second, Nies first, and Captain Thulin and Parker in the home goals apiece, have been the team's most consistent scorers, Cather with five, and Nies with four, coming next in the scoring column. With the exception of the goal, which is guarded by the dependable Joe Sessa, the Princeton defense is not remarkably strong, and it is expected that they will have a hard task to stop the rushing attack of Coach Fitch's men. The defense consists of Ballantine, point; Eastman, cover point; Miles, first defense; Schenck, second defense; Willaner, third defense; and Thompson, center. Hyer and Ruge are the most dependable of the substitutes.

BIOLOGS HEAR DR. SHULL

Dr. George H. Shull, professor of botany and genetics at Princeton, addressed a biological seminar in New Jersey hall, Thursday afternoon, speaking on "Species Hybridizations in Old and New Species of Shepards' Purse."

Wanted—Names for Chicken and Duck, Orphans and as Yet Unchristened, Born During Pajama Parade

The sophomores were declared the winners of the pajama parade Wednesday night after capturing a total of thirteen freshmen and bringing them to the cannon in front of Quenn's. The sophs had several more captives on hand if needed, but after touching the thirteenth beplastered and fragrant yearling to the old gun for good luck, decided to call it quits.

Among the more interesting developments of the parade was the birth of a chicken and a duck. Attending physicians were Kewp Goldschmidt and Bus Brown. These two little orphans were rescued from the horrible fate of coming into contact with a freshman by the timely work of some sharp-eared sleuth, who heard their cries for release. Because of their tender years, they were placed in safe keeping, according to rumor, in Bill Dutcher's desk.

It is understood that a prize will be offered for the best names suggested and a christening will take place in the near future.

Sophomores Tapped For Members of Scarlet Key

James E. Bristol, 2d, William H. Dutcher, Jr., Robert L. Knight, Penfield, S. Jennings, James R. E. Ozias, Walter B. Jorgenson, Armond L. Arnurius, John B. Bowden, Howard O. Molineux, Robert R. Blunt.

At least twenty-five couples are expected to attend Saturday night's house party at Zeta Psi. Pete Van Cleef's orchestra has been secured and the house is to have appropriate spring decorations. DR. BANCROFT OF COLUMBIA GIVES TALK TO SIGMA XI

Sigma Xi, honorary scientific society, held its final meeting of the year in the Chemistry building, Wednesday night, at which time Dr. Wilder D. Bancroft, World War professor of physical chemistry at Cornell University addressed the group on "Back to Aristotle."

"Professor Bancroft showed that there were two ways of gaining scientific knowledge: the first, experimentation followed by the drawing of conclusions; the second, theorization followed by an attempt to prove the theory. Dr. Bancroft urged that more scientists turn to the latter method, which was the only one the Greeks in Aristotle's time knew and with which they acquired great success. He gave illustrations of both types of workers, all well known in the history of science. The speaker stated that he believed the theoretical work as valuable as the experimental, for the latter is often incorrect or misinterpreted. Theory, if wrong, can easily be proved so, and another course adopted, until at last the correct result is reached, Dr. Bancroft averred.

STUDENT COUNCIL BALLOTING KILLED AS CORRUPT VOTE

Fraternity Politics Charged As Assembly Is Asked to Approve New Plan

VOTING SYSTEM CHANGED

Student Council to Nominate Successors in Future

Charging that fraternity politics had so influenced the vote of the junior class that the nominations for student council were not representative of the will of the student body, the 1927 student council assembly Friday noon nullifying the previous voting and establishing a new system of elections.

The council charged that less than half of the juniors voted in the direct primaries, and that of the 80 votes cast 60 showed the marks of a prearranged ticket devised by fraternity log-rolling. The student council also maintained that many men of prominence in the junior class had not been nominated, and that those who were chosen to run for seats on the council were in many cases not qualified.

The resolution met with strong opposition from the floor, Herbert E. Lorenz appealing to the students not to pass what he termed an eleventh-hour measure. He stated that one reason for the dissatisfaction with the present nominations might be the disappointment of members of the 1927 council with the failure of fraternity brothers to receive nominations.

Oswald G. Nelson replied to Lorenz in a rather fiery speech, in which he described more fully the alleged irregularities on the ballots. When the motion went to a vote it was necessary to take a standing count in order to determine the result.

Under the new ruling it will be necessary for the council to work rapidly in determining the membership of the 1928 council in order that the men on it may receive the proper credits for cap and skull, tapping for which is to take place Tuesday.

The resolution prepared by the council provides that the actual nominations be made by the outgoing council and that the election be determined by a point system similar to that used by Cap and Skull. As soon as the new measure was adopted the members of the council distributed new ballots containing the nominations of the council. It will be necessary to have the advisory council and the student council vote again before the elections are settled.

The resolution follows:

Article 1. Active members of student council, by open agreement, shall nominate 14 candidates for student council.

Article 2. By a system of three votings seven of the candidates thus nominated shall be elected.

Article 3. These three votings shall consist of one voting by the student body, one voting by the student council in power and one voting by the advisory board of the faculty.

Article 4. These votings shall each count one-third for election.

Digney to Be On Mound for Yearlings in Last Game of Schedule

Rutgers' freshman baseball nine will meet the Seton Hall yearlings in the last game of the season for the Scarlet cubs at Neilson field this afternoon. The Rutgers yearlings are desirous of winning because a victory will give them an even break for the campaign.

The Scarlet cubs have lost three games. The defeats were suffered at the hands of the Lehigh, Lafayette, and Princeton freshmen. The two yearling victories were scored over Asbury Park High and Erasmus Hall High of Brooklyn. Practice for the Seton Hall tilt has consisted of games against the varsity.

Due to Digney's superior pitching in the Lafayette game and in one of the practice games, he is favored to start on the mound for Rutgers. During Wednesday afternoon's practice Bill Sahloff turned his ankle so there is a possibility that the yearlings will be handicapped by his absence.

The Rutgers cubs will probably take the field with Schettino, 3b.; Newson, l. f.; Pecora, s. s.; Gasparini, c.; McDermott, 7b.; Daniels, c. f.; Wexler, r. f.; Sahloff or Ignall, 2b.; Digney or Failmezgar, p.

Coming Up For Air

A recent issue of the Daily Kansan reports the complaint of a speaker that while at school he was too busy to read books. How many other men have had the same thought?

It is doubtful if the person who made that statement meant that his studies left him no leisure. The trouble nowadays is more likely to be the large number of tasks which students impose on themselves under the general head of undergraduate affairs. Insofar as students voluntarily turn in their spare time to campus enterprises rather than books, they are to blame.

But many will agree that it is a system rather than individual choice that carries a student into his dilemma. The spirit of rivalry and the promise of rewards often result in too great a devotion to enterprises which may become burdens. Almost every campus boasts of a long array of activities—dramatic clubs, musical clubs, literary societies, Y. M. C. A. branches, publications, debating societies, societies for the study of this, societies for the promotion of that, associations of societies, and meetings without end. The student who plunges into them soon finds himself caught in a current from which there is no escape.

It may be answered that the student is better off bustling about on his ephemeral undertakings than idling away in sheer inaction. But it is as bad to incline too much the other way. Some time at least should be left for passive reception, even if it involves actual waste. Students should also be hearers of the word, and not doers only.

Johnny Comes Marching Home

After reading the reports of student warfare against compulsory military science at N. Y. U., it is a relief to turn to the comparatively peaceful atmosphere of our own drill ground. The seniors at the metropolitan college voted their course in the art of making war "inane, useless" and "utterly futile."

Possibly one reason why the N. Y. U. students do not take kindly to drill is that they have no military balls to compare with ours. Military science has the distinction of being the only course at Rutgers which ends the year by throwing a party. If a few more departments would take the hint, the pre-examination period would be almost enjoyable.

Of course, the freshmen and sophomores, not to mention the cadet officers, worked hard for the gala. They went out and drilled all year just so they could learn to keep step when passing the reviewing stand Friday. They even learned to shoot, and in some cases to obey orders. No wonder, when the captains and the generals have departed, and the shooting and the tumult die away, they want one last good time before the calamities start. They know they may not be eligible for the next one.

In the Magazines We See

Independent, May 14, 1927 America and Britain in the Air. By Commander J. N. Kenworthy.

The development of military and commercial aviation, when it is seriously considered, will be as rapid and as important as the first development of the railways. Up to the present both England and America have failed to realize the importance of flying as the most reliable means of transportation for the service of the world.

There has been, as yet, no real attempt to develop great commercial airships on non-military lines. The machines used today are slavish copies of the comparatively primitive ones used in the Great War. Large sums of money are being spent by both England and the United States in playing with the dirigible balloon, a cumbersome and expensive experiment at best.

When the English speaking nations are aroused to the importance of flying in the economic, political, and military development of the world, aviation will cease to be an amusing national experiment and become the greatest forward step in the march of progress since the steam engine.

Forum, June, 1927. The Pathology of Race Prejudice. By Edward Franklin Frazier.

Certain manifestations of race prejudice on the part of southerners must be regarded as abnormal behavior. In many southern minds the whole system of ideas regarding the negro is completely dissociated from the normal personality. This negro complex is evident in all planes of thought. Health programs are slighted because it is argued that negroes will increase; woman suffrage is fought because colored women will vote; the selective draft is opposed because the negro will be armed.

There is a tendency among those afflicted with a negro complex to project their own unaccepted or anti-social desires upon the less fortunate negro. In reality, the southern white man is a greater menace to the negro's home than the latter is to his.

This abnormal behavior toward the negro, resembling closely the symptoms of insanity and characteristic of so many southern whites, makes them incapable of rendering just decisions when white and colored people are involved, and prevents them from really understanding the problem they have on their hands.

New Republic, May 18, 1927. Mexico's Bid for Supremacy in Central America. By Linton Wells.

Mexico is challenging the United States for the position of commanding influence in Central America. She has been able to create a state of mind in Central America, detrimental to the prestige of the United States, by distributing radio stations to various Central American republics, which nightly receive and give to the press many words of anti-American propaganda, broadcast in Mexico City. Mexico has aided all of the Central American countries in one or more of their numerous upheavals and has worked to undermine the position of the United States in Panama by instigating a general strike there a year ago. As a result of Mexican agitation in Panama, the recently negotiated treaty between this country and Panama has just been repudiated by the latter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Andrew Schmidt of Watchung have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elsie Fuller Schmidt, to the Rev. Harold W. Schenck '13, of Nutley. Miss Schmidt is a graduate of New York University and served as a Y. M. C. A. worker during the World War, in France, as well as at Camp Lee, Virginia. At present she is head of one of the Binet schools in Newark. Rev. Dr. Nafey has just completed a special post graduate course in surgery, consisting of one year at the University of Pennsylvania and another at Rutherford hospital in western North Carolina. After graduating from Rutgers in 1910, he attended the University of Pennsylvania, graduating in 1914. Following an internship at the Presbyterian hospital in Philadelphia, he established a practice in Highland Park. President Holt came into prominence with his campaign to clean up athletics last year when he dismissed a score of Rollins football men whom he charged with receiving money for playing.

What is believed to be the first reportorial account of the Boston Massacre, March, 1770, has been discovered at the University of Ohio State museum. The paper contains a detailed account of the battle and officials believe that it was donated to the university many years ago.

The "Advice to Young Girls" number of the humor magazine at Wesleyan University has been suppressed.

Captain McEwan, football coach at the University of Oregon, would abolish spring football because it interferes with other sports and studies and overemphasizes the game.

Ohio State professors maintain that one-third of the students are incapable of doing the required work.

A new college, which will be christened Bryan University, will shortly appear at Dayton, Tennessee, for the purpose of preserving literal belief in the descent of man from Adam and Eve. The faculty will be pledged to teach biology and economics without the slightest intimation of a conflict with the Bible.

COLLEGE WEARIED FAMOUS AUTHORS

O'NEILL, DREISER ON LIST

New York (By New Student Service) —Has the United States a distinguished kicked-out-of-college list? Oxford today reverses the memory of Shelley, John Locke, William Penn, Edward Gibbon and Walter Savage Landor. Yet these men were such unruly undergraduates that they were all expelled from the university, charged with such crimes as sedition, atheism, duel fighting and manslaughter. Has this country a comparable list?

The writer broadcasts this question for enterprising researchers. There was, of course, the near expulsion of John Fiske from Harvard in 1861. Young Fiske was one of the first to be stirred in America by the Darwinian discoveries. The faculty was frightened at this serious and exceptionally well-read sophomore. And they finally got something on him. He was observed reading from a volume of Comte in church and was swiftly summoned for punishment. Taken before the faculty he was charged with disseminating infidelity among the students and with "gross misconduct" at church. Fiske denied the former allegation and admitted the latter. Although several faculty members wanted to suspend him for a year he was let off with a "public admonition." James MacNeil Whistler, like Poe before him, was expelled from West Point for poor scholarship. In his third year he was found deficient in chemistry. One Colonel Larned gives the following account of the incident:

"Whistler said: 'Had silicon been a gas, I would have been a Major General.' He was called up for examination on the subject of chemistry. When called upon to recite he started: 'I am required to discuss the subject of silicon. Silicon is a gas.' 'That will do, Mr. Whistler,' and he retired quickly to private life."

Syracuse Dismissed Crane

As might be expected, the writers of the contemporary era revealed a more rebellious spirit in their student days than their Victorian predecessors. Some were dismissed, others left voluntarily, an atmosphere they found much too stifling. With them should be classed Stephen Crane. Thomas Beer has this to say of Crane's year at the University of Syracuse: "He lounged at Syracuse in the back room of a restaurant and other freshmen were impressed by a classmate who sold ketches to The Detroit Free Press and who assured them that the police court was the most interesting place in Syracuse. He got notice from the faculty by telling a professor that he disagreed with St. Paul's theory of sin and seriously shocked the wife of another authority by declining to meet Mrs. Willard at her home for the reason that he thought Mrs. Willard a fool. As for college, it was a damned nuisance and he was glad to have done with all things academic in June."

One year was all that Theodore Dreiser needed of the University of Indiana. W. M. Toner wrote in The New Student, Dec. 19, 1925. "He was a student here then, but he was not known through scholarly ability or athletic prowess. He plodded through his first year, then left, conscious only of an acute inapprehension concerning the polite usages of education in our factory of knowledge. His particular fire of intellectual power could only grow brilliant under the belittles of personal tutelage. As it was, this fire only smoldered under the cramping exigencies of the class room in the pursuit of a particular formula."

There was no place for Theodore Dreiser in the scheme of the university. To every one who knew him then, he was an intellectual misfit. He would wander aimlessly through the fields or sit in a chair at his rooming house typing and untying knots in his handkerchief. The university and life in general held for him nothing but bewilderment. He could find no philosophy that eased his mind towards the prosaic tragedies that surrounded and engulfed him.

Princeton Ousted O'Neill

Engene O'Neill was expelled from Princeton at the end of his freshman year for a trifling offense. He might have returned in a year, but he was busy experiencing a world whose reverberations never penetrate the precincts of a rural campus. Years afterward he learned to transmute his stock of raw experiences in the folds of tramp steamers on a gold hunting expedition in Honduras into plays as a student in Professor George P. Baker's famous '47 Workshop, then at Harvard.

Sinclair Lewis, too, left college to return later. A long-legged drawing Middle Westerner fresh from Sauk Center, he was constantly in rebellion against Yale environment. He was editor of The Yale Literary Magazine in his junior year. The next year he fled college and lived at Helicon Hall, Upton Sinclair's haven for radicals in New Jersey. After a period of harrowing adventures he returned to Yale for a year and his degree.

A Safe Place To Buy

Looks often deceive and it is only by getting right down under the surface of things that the worth of an article can be accurately measured up, and that is why the meaning of the words "high priced" is often misconstrued. This store never was and never will be a so-called "high priced" place to buy. It sells goods at a modest advance over actual cost. It sells tried and tested quality.

What it does not sell is its good name for giving the customer full value received for every dollar spent!

RUTGERS BATTERS BEAT LEHIGH, 7-4

Fox's Effectiveness in Pinches
Features; Contest Marred
By Ten Misplays

JOE IRWIN CLOUTS HOME RUN

Starting his first game, Adin Fox, veteran right-hander, twirled Rutgers to a 7 to 4 victory over Lehigh at Neilson field Wednesday afternoon. Fox allowed nine hits and issued five passes, but was effective in the pinches. The Scarlet collected ten safeties off the offerings of Brady, Lehigh's stellar portside, and managed to bunch them. Lord led the Scarlet batters with three safe wallop in four trips to the plate, and Joe Irwin connected for the circuit in his first time at bat. Captain Hayes led the Brown and White assault, banging out four safe hits. Both teams played erratically in the field, five errors being made by each.

After two were out in the first, Hayes singled, but the Brown and White pilot was caught stealing. Rutgers lost little time in scoring, registering one run in the initial frame. Rosen opened with a single, but Boettcher grounded into a fast double play, Bramble to Pitts to Talbert. Irwin drove a hard hit over second, and Hayes fell in fielding the ball, Irwin completing the circuit before the pellet was relayed into the infield.

Lehigh Ties in Second
Lehigh knotted the count in the second. Nevins walked and took second on O'Callaghan's sacrifice bunt. Talbert singled and Nevins easily beat Clement's feeble toss to the plate. Hibbs allowed the ball to roll through his legs and Talbert set sail for third. Fox backed Hibbs up and tossed the ball to Boettcher. In the runup which ensued Talbert reached third. Bramble walked and stole second. But Fox was supreme in the pinch and fanned Pitts and Brady.

Rutgers resumed its lead in the second. After Troiano had been tossed out, Lord reached first on O'Callaghan's error. Clements doubled, Lord advancing to third. Fox singled, scoring Lord. Fox stole second, but Rosen flied to Flynn.

Scarlet Scores Three
Boettcher bunted safely to start the last half of the third. The Scarlet third sacker pilfered second and Irwin walked. On a passed ball Boettcher and Irwin advanced. Hibbs grounded out to third, the runners holding their bases. Brady uncorked a wild pitch, and Boettcher crossed the platter. Troiano hit to Brady, who heaved the ball to right, Irwin scoring. Lord's liner scored Troiano, but Clements grounded into a double play.

Fox was in difficulty in the fifth, and Lehigh brought the score up to 5 to 3. Flynn walked and held first when Irwin nailed Rosenson's foul. Hayes beat out a bunt to Boettcher. Bliss booted Nevins' grounder, Flynn scoring. Talbert singled, scoring Hayes, but was out trying for second, Lord to Boettcher to Rosen.

Lord and Bliss singled in the sixth with two out. Fox then singled and when Flynn allowed the ball to get past him, Lord and Bliss tallied and Fox raced around to third, but was left stranded when Brady forced Rosen to pop out. The visitors tallied their final run in the seventh. Hayes and Nevins singled, and on Irwin's error Hayes crossed the plate. Score:

Moseley, Army Substitute, Scores Single Tally; Scarlet Team Off Form

AUTEN SHINES ON DEFENSE

Army's lacrosse team handed the Scarlet Indians their second defeat of the current season, 1 to 0, at West Point, Wednesday. Moseley, a substitute, playing his first game of the season, gave the Cadets a hard-earned victory, registering the winning goal a few seconds before the end of the first half.

Coach Fitch's players were off the championship form which they showed against Syracuse last Saturday, when they defeated the Orange, 6 to 5. Had the Scarlet Indians shown more of that dashing style of play against the Army there is little doubt that the Military team would have been vanquished. Eddie Roberts was held in complete check by the Army defense. MacGillivray was also closely accompanied by an Army man throughout the contest. Thralls, Hopkins, and Mark were also unable to penetrate the Army's stone-wall defense. At center Rohrbach more than held his own against Trapnell.

Scarlet Defense Weakens

The Rutgers defense which shone so brightly in the Syracuse game was expected to hold the Army attack men in check easily, but the Army surprised by breaking through repeatedly for tries at the net. The offensive play of the Army gave the Scarlet plenty of trouble all through the contest. Donald, Saunders, Ayre, and Simonton, presented an attack that was hard to stop. They continually worked the ball into Rutgers territory for a slam at the Scarlet goalie. Only excellent work by Auten kept the score down.

Bud Auten played a stellar game at goal for Rutgers. During the contest the Army Indians took no less than thirty shots at the Scarlet net. Auten blocked them all except Moseley's shot which later proved to be the winning tally. Time and again Auten stopped well-aimed shots with his body or intercepted them with his stick, to run the ball out into the field beyond danger.

Coach Fitch did not make a substitution throughout the entire game, allowing the twelve starting players to continue the game from start to finish. Lineup:

Army	Position	Rutgers
Donald	In Home	Roberts
Saunders	Out Home	MacGillivray
Ayre	First Attack	Mark
Simonton	Second Attack	Thralls
Solem	Third Attack	Hopkins
Trapnell	Center	Rohrbach
Harbold	Third Defense	Gray
Born	Second Defense	Brown
Seeman	First Defense	Townsend
Daly	Cover Point	Phillips
Anderson	Goal	Cass
Lewis	Goal	Auten
Goal-Moseley	Substitutions-Moseley for Solem, Watson for Donald, O'Keefe for Moseley, Sladen for O'Keefe, Moseley for Saunders.
Time of halves—30 minutes. Officials—R. Taylor and E. P. Cypiot.

Scarlet Meets Fordham

next day Princeton won from Fordham in the eleventh inning when Jake Slagle singled and rode home on pinch-hitter Stewart's double. Palmer gave the Maroon batsmen four hits while Cooney was yielding seven. The third consecutive game resulted in a 7 to 1 victory over St. John's College of Brooklyn, Hanlon pitching well and Graham collecting three safeties, one a triple. Boston College defeated Joe Harrington 4 to 1 last Saturday, principally on infield errors. Clancy hit hard for the Maroon while Graham, who thrives on right-handed pitching fattened his average. The Eagles garnered but one more hit than the Maroon, loose support accounting for three tallies. Bob Cooney pitched Fordham to a 2 to 0 victory over Catholic University Wednesday, limiting the Marylanders to four safeties. The rival pitcher, Foley, also performed well, giving only six hits.

Coach Jacklitich will probably start Mike DeMucchio, Scarlet southpaw, against the Maroon today. This means that Graham, who is weak against portside pitching, may not start. Captain Hibbs will be behind the plate with Irwin, Rosen, and Boettcher guarding the sacks and Bliss in the short field. Clements, Troiano, and Lord will roam the outfield. Gordinier and Triola will be held ready for relief duty, while Rabinovitz, Eisenmann, Quad, and Lee will be primed for utility play.

RUTGERS OPPOSES GARNET IN FINAL TENNIS MATCH

Scarlet Ends Campaign With Strong Swarthmore Court Rivals

Swarthmore's powerful tennis team is favored to win over the Scarlet netmen in their final match today at Swarthmore. The match will be the second of a two-day trip, the Penn court team having been played yesterday. The Rutgers team has had a poor season, winning but two matches at the expense of Haverford and Washington and Lee. The Swarthmore outfit has a 7 to 2 triumph over the strong Lehigh netsters to their credit, and in their other contests has shown strength.

The outstanding players of the Garnet are Hamel and Johnson. Hamel scored over Neil Sullivan of Lehigh, who is rated with Van Ryn, of Princeton, at the top of the intercollegiate list in the east. This performance makes him an overwhelming favorite over Captain Waugh in the first singles. Johnson has made a fine showing in most of his matches and is expected to defeat Macwatty, the Scarlet representative in the second singles. The rest of the Swarthmore players are more experienced than the Rutgers players and should win easily.

VARSITY TENNIS TEAM LOSES TO POWERFUL N. Y. U. SQUAD

Violet Wins Easily, Dropping But One Set in Entire Match

New York University's varsity tennis team displayed its best form of the season when it whitewashed the Scarlet combination, 9 to 0, on the Fleetwood courts in the Bronx, Tuesday. The Violet was not pressed in any of the matches and dropped only one set during the afternoon when Macwatty forced Tarangeoli to three sets before succumbing to a powerful service.

Captain Snow of N. Y. U. and Captain Waugh of the Scarlet met in the feature match which the former won in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, after smothering his opponent with smashing cross-court drives.

Singles—Snow, N. Y. U., defeated Waugh, Rutgers, 6-3, 6-4; Tarangeoli, N. Y. U., defeated Macwatty, Rutgers, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1; Brower, N. Y. U., defeated Rabinovitz, Rutgers, 6-3, 6-4; Blank, N. Y. U., defeated McKinney, Rutgers, 6-4, 6-1; Becker, N. Y. U., defeated McClintock, Rutgers, 6-4, 6-1; Brinkerhoff, N. Y. U., defeated Beasley, Rutgers, 6-3, 7-5. Doubles—Tarangeoli and Becker, N. Y. U., defeated Waugh and Macwatty, Rutgers, 6-3, 7-5; Brower and Blank, N. Y. U., defeated Rabinovitz and McKinney, Rutgers, 6-4, 6-1; Resler and Block, N. Y. U., defeated McClintock and Beasley, Rutgers, 6-3, 7-5.

SCARLET BEATEN IN EXTRA INNING BY FORDHAM, 1-0

Liebl's Triple in Tenth Tallies Lone Run for Maroon; Cooney Hurls for Fordham

MIKE DeMUCCHIO ON MOUND
Varsity Passes Up Chance to Score in Tenth; Gets But Three Hits

In a closely-contested ten-inning pitchers' battle, the Rutgers baseball nine bowed to the Maroon of Fordham, 1 to 0, at Fordham field, New York City, Saturday. A single by White following Liebl's triple spelled defeat for Mike DeMucchio, who pitched one of the best games of his mound career. Bob Cooney, star Maroon right-hander, was in equally good form, however, and emerged the victor in the tenth frame.

To start the final inning Liebl hit one to center. Pete Troiano came in on it and attempted to make a shoe-string catch, but the ball escaped him and Liebl continued to third. DeMucchio got past Zev Graham, Fordham's leading batter, by forcing him to pop to the infield, but White pounded a safety to center, scoring Liebl with the only tally of the game.

Scarlet Nearly Scores
Coach Jacklitsch's men had an opportunity to score in their half of the tenth when Cooney hit Hibbs with a fast one. Troiano forced the Scarlet captain but stole second and continued to third as Cooney threw out Clements. Rutgers' final chance faded when Jack Lord struck out.

DeMucchio and Cooney engaged in a fairly even duel, with the Fordham server having slightly the better of it, allowing three hits to DeMucchio's five. The Scarlet southpaw fanned six to Cooney's seven, but distributed five passes to the home team while Cooney failed to yield any. The Maroon moundman hit a Rutgers batter with a pitched ball as his hurling mistake. Cooney was instrumental in his team's victory by making eight assists and starting a double play that squelched a promising Scarlet rally.

Fordham Fails to Score
Fordham also missed a chance to score when, in the ninth inning, Feaster singled and stole second with one out. Murray fled to Rosen and Clancy walked, bringing Cooney to the platter. With a chance to win his own game before him, the Maroon hurler hit a long fly to center, where Troiano made a nice catch.

Two of the Coffeymen's five hits came in the second inning but no score resulted when Troiano captured Sheff's deep fly. Feaster secured the third Maroon hit in the ninth, while Liebl and White got the last two in the fatal tenth. Rutgers made hits in the fourth and fifth frames but the double play started by Cooney averted difficulty in the fourth.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL TURNS DOWN RUSHING RULES

Will Thoroughly Investigate Rushing
Rules in Other Colleges

The rushing rules as proposed by the Interfraternity Council which were submitted to the fraternities for adoption were rejected by a small majority at a meeting of the council last night. The principal objection to the proposed plan of rushing control was that the fraternities would suffer as a result of not having the freshmen to live in the houses for the first three weeks.

A survey committee to investigate further the problem of rushing control was appointed today. The functions of the group will be to make a study of rushing systems in other colleges during the summer, and to report its findings to the Interfraternity Council in the fall. The council feels sure that greater success will be met after further study of this problem, and that prospects indicate that before long there will be a rushing system adopted which will be in good working order.

FRATERNITY EXPELS TWO MEN

Roberts and Demerest Chosen Sports Captains

Edwin B. Roberts, of Ridgewood; Stuart Demerest, of Roselle Park, and John Macwatty, of Hasbrouck Heights, were elected captains of spring sports, lacrosse, track and tennis, respectively, by letter winners yesterday.

Eddie Roberts is a two-letter man, performing brilliantly on the court during the basketball season and becoming a sensation on the attack of Coach Fitch's lacrosse twelve this spring. Stu Demerest has won two varsity letters in track and is a member of the championship Penn relay team as well as being the star quarter-miler with the squad. Macwatty has gained two letters in tennis and has been the most consistent winner for the past two years.

BASEBALL FINALS BETWEEN KAPPA SIGS, LAMBDA CHIS

Kappa Sigma and Lambda Chi Alpha advanced to the finals in the intramural baseball league by virtue of their victories over Alpha Sigma Rho and the Independents respectively Monday afternoon.

The Kappa Sigs had things easy in their semi-final tilt and won by a 5 to 1 count. Grace, pitching for the winners, had the Alpha Sig sluggers well in hand throughout the affair, while Stryker, who started for the losers, was knocked out of the box in the first inning. Walker, following Stryker on the mound, was more effective and allowed three runs in the remaining innings.

Kappa Sigma will meet Lambda Chi Alpha Wednesday afternoon in the finals, the winner to gain the college championship.

Committee of Twelve Passes Drastic Measures to End Drinking at House Dances; Four Men Are to be Punished

Four men will be penalized for being intoxicated during the military ball house parties last week-end. Dr. Fraser Metzger, dean of men, refused to disclose the names of the students and also the nature of the penalty.

This action is the result of a meeting of the Committee of Twelve yesterday afternoon. This body, consisting of six members of the senior class and six members of the faculty, recommended that students known to be involved in drinking during the week-end of the military ball be penalized, the nature of the penalty to be determined by the dean of men.

It was further recommended that appeal be made to the Interfraternity Council to take steps to prohibit drinking at house parties. Dr. Metzger stated that, although only four students would be punished, he is aware that there were many other guilty ones who were not identified by him in his investigation Saturday night. There are only four whom the dean was able to positively recognize.

The Interfraternity Council received a report by Dr. Metzger at a meeting of that body last night and at that time the dean requested that the council go on record as opposing the evil of drinking on the campus. The council passed a resolution stating that any house tolerating drinking will be penalized.

SCARLET INDIANS LOSE TO PRINCETON

Decide the Game; Rutgers Defense Plays Well

ROBERTS; MCGILVARY STAR

After playing two extra periods to reach a decision, the Rutgers varsity lacrosse twelve was nosed out by the strong Princeton team, 4 to 3, at Neilson field, Saturday afternoon. With only two minutes to play in the second half and the Scarlet leading, 3 to 2, Parker registered the tying goal for the Tigers. Captain Thulin's well-directed shot in the closing minutes of the second extra period decided the contest for the visitors.

Three thousand people stayed to witness the first extra ten-minute period and when neither team scored, the crowd still waited to see a decision reached after Captain Cass and Captain Thulin agreed to play it out in spite of the league ruling that provides for only one overtime period.

Game Fast and Hard Played
The game was fast and hard-played from the start. The visiting team got off to the lead after twelve minutes of play when Stinson, husky third attack, brought the rubber in from midfield and registered the first score of the game.

After the draw the Scarlet attack went definitely on the offensive, and four minutes of hard scrimmage resulted in a goal for Rutgers, when Ed Roberts circled the net from the rear and pushed the ball past the goalie's stick. With the score tied, Lawler, speedy Princeton center, tore off a long run from midfield, and made good on a difficult side shot un-checked by any defense men. The Tiger team held on to the lead until the end of the thirty minutes.

The Scarlet attack started the second half with a rush, but the Tiger defense, checking closely, kept the rubber away from the net. After six and a half minutes of play, during which several Rutgers attempts had missed their mark, Brown penetrated the Princeton net with a long haul after he had taken a pass from Townsend. With the score again tied MacGillvary put his team out in the front a few minutes later when his backhanded flip pierced the goal, and for the next twenty minutes the Scarlet stickmen kept the ball in Princeton territory but failed to register again.

Tie Score Near End

It looked like a sure win for the home team, but with five minutes to go the visitors' attack took on new life and bombarded the Rutgers goal. Auten, still playing brilliantly in the crease, spoiled a dozen Princeton chances, and the defense held firm, but the Tiger would not be denied. With only two minutes before the whistle that would signify a Rutgers victory, Parker raced to the net and registered the point that evened the count. The Scarlet attack came back strong, but the Princeton defense was too tight to be

RUTGERS NINE TO FACE RIVALS

During Next Two Weeks Lafayette and N. Y. U. Oppose Scarlet in Baseball Tilts

FACE POWERFUL TWIRLERS

Rutgers' varsity baseball nine will meet two strong opponents in New York University and Lafayette during the next two weeks. N. Y. U. will be encountered at New York Saturday, June 4, and Lafayette will be met at Easton, Pa., Thursday, June 9. Coach Jacklitsch's charges met the Lafayette nine earlier this season and lost a close contest, 3 to 1.

N. Y. U. has compiled an enviable record during the campaign and from all accounts should give the Scarlet tilters a tough battle. Early in the season, the Violet tilters vanquished Vermont in ten innings, 5 to 3; St. John's of Brooklyn, 9 to 2; and St. Bonaventure, 8 to 6. The New Yorkers then met defeat at the hands of Yale, 19 to 7, and Colgate, 9 to 2. They broke the losing streak on April 27 with a 7 to 2 triumph over Union, which the Scarlet defeated 3 to 2.

Fordham Beat N. Y. U.

Fordham, which conquered the Scarlet, 1 to 0, Saturday, won over the Violet in a close tussle, 5 to 4, on April 30. Manfredi, star N. Y. U. twirler, turned in one of his best games of the campaign when he blanked Princeton, 2 to 0, on May 4. Six days later the Violet nine bowed to C. C. N. Y. 3 to 2. Another close game which the New Yorkers lost with the strong Army diamond combination, the cadets winning in ten innings, 2 to 1. Since the defeat at the hands of the West Pointers, the N. Y. U. nine has been showing marked improvement, and will undoubtedly prove one of the Scarlet's toughest opponents.

Lafayette Has Played Well

Since the 3 to 1 victory over Rutgers, April 30, the Lafayette nine has been giving a good account of itself and in all probability the Scarlet will be extended to the utmost to avenge the previous setback at the hands of the Eastonians. In a six-inning tilt which was called on account of rain, the Lafayette tilters vanquished Franklin and Marshall, 8 to 0. The Lafayette nine tallied its second victory over the New York A. C., when it conquered the Winged Foot combination 10 to 2 on May 11. Previously the Lafayette nine defeated the New Yorkers, 11 to 2. Recently the Eastonians swamped Lehigh, which the Scarlet twice defeated, 8 to 7 and 7 to 4.

Lineup Unknown As Yet

At this early date, it is impossible to name the lineups for the games, but Gordinier and Triolo will probably perform on the mound for the Scarlet. Manfredi may get the twirling assignment for the N. Y. U. nine and Yeisley, who beat Rutgers, 3 to 1, and humbled Lehigh, may again be selected to occupy the slab for Lafayette.

Student Chapel Wednesday to Ratify Council Change

Because of the discovery that the student council constitution was improperly amended last Friday to care for the new voting system, an additional compulsory chapel services will be held tomorrow for final ratification.

The error was brought to the attention of the 1927 council Monday night and steps to secure formal ratification for the change were taken Tuesday morning.

The constitution provides that amendments must be read twice in chapel and published once in THE TARGUM before final vote. The second reading was accordingly held Tuesday, and the publication was cared for in THE TARGUM of May 21.

The final vote will be taken Tuesday night, and the elections completed Monday night will be formally ratified at that time.

GEORGE YOUNG ONLY RUTGERS MAN TO PLACE IN M.A.S.T. MEET

Pulled Tendon Keeps Zoller Out;
Several Tracksters Qualify

George Young was the lone member of the Scarlet track team to place in the Middle Atlantic States Championships at Schenectady Saturday when he placed fifth in the 220-yard low hurdles. Five of Coach Wefer's charges qualified for the finals in the preliminary heats Friday but all were outclassed in the finals. With the one point, Rutgers trailed thirteen colleges in the total point score.

With Zoller, star Scarlet sprinter, out of competition from a pulled tendon received in the quadrangular meet a week ago, Warren Brundage was left alone in the sprint vents, and took first place in the initial heat of the 220-yard dash only to be outpaced in the semi-finals. Demarest made the fastest time in the preliminaries of the quarter-mile but weakened by his recent sickness, he failed to place in the finals. Shedden qualified in the javelin but was outclassed in the final throwing. Although Beattie ran the two-mile run in a second under the present Rutgers record, he registered only seventh in the final placing.

Herb Meyer's meet record of 154.5 seconds in the 120-yard high hurdles was lowered to 153.5 by Duane, Union College's star timber-topper.

Now that the Dust is Settled

The circumstances which attended the election of a student council for next year have given that body an unfortunate start on its work. It will never be popular with the opponents of the system under which it was formed.

Much of the blame rests on the 1927 council for so delaying the elections that they could not be properly cared for. However, the student body is also largely at fault. It was their fraternity politics that caused the trouble originally, and the delays occasioned by an irregular amendment to the constitution might also have been avoided if the students had had some knowledge of the council's constitution.

The only thing to be done now is to make the best of a bad situation by accepting the new election system and considering the matter closed for the year. It is too late now to bring up technicalities, and if any injustices have arisen, the students have no one to thank but themselves. If they are incapable of running a clean election they must not complain at the results of the alternative they were forced to take.

Mismanagement and delay have caused trouble on this campus as often as any other single factor, and apparently each generation of students must learn the lesson of attending to business properly. But perhaps they can draw a lesson from the recent fiasco and remember it long enough to see that any changes in the new election plan are taken care of before the famous "eleventh hour" next year.

Among the points proposed for change are the nomination power of the student council, and the equality of voting for the nominees between the students, the council, and the advisory board. Many objections have been raised on this score, and should be thoroughly thrashed out before we can call the constitution a permanent job. The only requisite is that the work be done in time so that we can have the luxury of a smooth and untroubled election.

The Calamities Begin

With all student affairs finished for the year, and nothing left but examinations, we can all sit back now and take life easy. Nothing to do but go to shows, get ready for the senior ball, and enjoy ourselves generally.

Of course, there are always a few who will study for examinations, but they are fortunately in the minority. The wise men know that it is too late, and depend on fooling the professor. Some are harder to fool than others, but that only lends zest to the game.

There is always another way out. That is to crib for all you are worth, and justify the abolition of the honor system. What do we care for honor, anyway? Cheating is the easy way out, and so long as we are not caught, what harm is done, except to injure ourselves and Rutgers?

Book Review

Copy, 1927. Appleton & Co. $2.00.

There is a constantly increasing interest in literature written by those classed as amateurs, probably because we feel a common bond of kinship through our own attempts to write. It is certain, also, that we can more easily put ourselves in the position of the amateur writer as he looks at his work and thus follow in the spirit of the theme to our keen satisfaction and enjoyment. The Writers' club of Columbia, a group of students learning how to write stories, essays, and drama under the supervision of a competent faculty, has had published a work containing the best of the students' works at the end of each year, this being their fourth successful production. It is probably due to this characteristic of the reading public that insures them success.

There are gathered in this year's collection many stories worthy of the best recognition regardless of the standing of the authors. "The Delayed Departure" is a story of a Chinese who sacrificed his honor as created by centuries of Chinese tradition because he failed to "depart" on New Year's Eve after he realized his inability to pay his just debt to his friend. The only thing and by far the most honorable thing to do when he knew he could not pay his debt at the time when all China clears her financial house—New Year's Eve—was to commit suicide. Previous to this delaying, our Chinese friend had traveled many miles to hear a concert offered by a trio of foreign artists. Two days later one of the artists all but faints on this devotee's doorstep. Because of his love for music he saved the musician from the awful plague which he had contracted and lost his honor.

Some of the other stories smack distinctly of New York with all its attributed modern laxness portraying various sides of life. The main impression one gets is seeing the writer and his personality between the lines. One cannot imagine so beautiful a dialect as told us in the story "Down Hog Kill Way" without feeling that the writer must have spent much time in the Blue Ridge mountains. Nor is the character study camouflaged or studied. The homely simplicity, the primitive moral code, the taciturnity of the mountain folk may be mentioned from wide reading, but never made the basis of a beautiful story.

The essays are much better in that the writers seem more sure of themselves and write for the sheer joy of writing. The form is not so studied, or formally correct. The description of a Florida hurricane is extremely picturesque and fully as real. One can almost hear the roar of the storm or the whine of the wind, so vivid is the picture drawn. Another interesting article is that on "China's Fight Against Illiteracy," which shows the vital importance of education in this land of dormant civilization. One Mr. Yen, a graduate of Yale and a "Y" worker, is given much credit for what progress China has made in her fight and is further looked to as the continuing impetus in this work.

The poetry is well written and, though the pieces are short, reveals flashes of beauty of soul. The expression is excellent and clever. The drama may be open to the approval or disapproval of the reader. To present a picture of childish philosophy is difficult, but in drama the problem arises "who can play these child parts." The other play, "Yellow Roses," exhibits exceptional skill in the treatment of a difficult, yet common problem of home life.

Though this book is written by amateurs it should not be underestimated, for it betrays careful study and effort well-directed, needing but more experience and a clientele to be professional. This should be especially interesting to other amateurs, who may well profit by this work.

Targumdrops

The Scarlet Edgar Guest has just made life thirty-four lines easier with his latest—

The Tramp

The Tramp and the Dog had taken the road;
Their thoughts were joyful and care-free;
They carried not even the sign of a load,
They had nothing to carry you see.

The Tramp had nothing to fear from thieves
Who might, by chance, be on the road;
He had nothing to lose except the leaves on clothes that remained unsewed.

The People had known this vagabond;
Life in the City cleaned him out;
Of him the People had once been fond,
Now they said he was down and out.

Yet he patted the Dog in that airy spring
And chuckled aloud in just pure glee,
"Old boy, I'm glad that I've done this thing,
They can think what they want of me."

He follows the road around a hill
And bursts out into happy song;
Then suddenly breaks off! Stand still!
As if there's some ghost he has seen.

He looks below and sees a place
Where men work madly on the Job;
Why grime just covers every face;
Their heads like little puppets bob.

The sun glares on each weary head;
The dust spits out and chokes the Mob;
Why all of them might well be dead,
And even the great engines sob.

The Tramp looks down upon this scene
And asks the Dog (who cannot see),
"How can they know what life may mean?
Old pal, why must it be?"

Al K. Hall, a youth seen around these parts, and in this column before, helps out to the tune of three paragraphs or so.

Mr. Hall says, speaking for the column:
We feel inclined to agree with the party overheard the other day while we were regarding the northern aspect of the new Paramount Building in New York, when he said that he thought Mr. Thaw had shot the wrong architect.

In an effort to avoid the agitation for the pleasure involved we wish to say, in an unofficial statement, that next year the Exhibition Drill will be conducted in a slightly different manner. Whereas, heretofore the best company of the year has been awarded the Colors for the following year, next year, in addition to being awarded the Colors for the following year, the best company will be afforded the pleasure of shooting the band upon the conclusion of the exercises.

Targumdrops has posted a reward for anyone who can give us any information as to the whereabouts of our lost reporter. He was sent to cover the big scoop of the Commuters' Convention at Manhattan transfer and has not been heard of since. Send all information to the dead letter office.

The commencement issue of THE TARGUM, coming out in about three weeks will be the next and the final chance for any man to compete for the John P. Wall prize of $10 for the best contribution of any sort to this column.

Until then, adieu, hit those exams, don't take any wooden bills, and, as Mr. Hall says—step lively, Pop, here comes the Mississippi!—with two more s's on the way.

A Safe Place To Buy

Looks often deceive and it is only by getting right down under the surface of things that the worth of an article can be accurately measured up, and that is why the meaning of the words "high priced" is often misconstrued. This store never was and never will be a so-called "high priced" place to buy. It sells goods at a modest advance over actual cost. It sells tried and tested quality.

What it does not sell is its good name for giving the customer full value received for every dollar spent!

DR. CULP SPEAKS AT SUNDAY CHAPEL

"Sense Perception" Subject of Address; Uses Lindbergh and Lincoln As Examples

Dr. Cordie J. Culp, Ph.D., D.D., pastor of the Presbyterian Church of New Brunswick, addressed the student body on the topic of "Sense Perceptions and Faith," in the morning service in Kirkpatrick chapel Sunday. Dr. Culp said that the tendency of the people of the world today is to put too much emphasis on sense perception. This tendency was caused by the progress that the scientists have made, he stated. He questioned whether or not we can trust our senses, and whether or not we can accomplish things without faith.

Dr. Culp mentioned the flight of Captain Charles Lindbergh. It was against all the reasons of sense that a single man could accomplish such a task alone, and it was only by perfect faith in his machine and in himself that he accomplished the task.

Dr. Culp brought out the fact that faith was a part of the will and was seeing beyond the ordinary. He said that faith gave us four principal perceptions; namely, insight into life and the knowledge of help from a superior faculty, conviction as to what was right and what was wrong, fulfilling a certain human want without which no great accomplishments can be made, and lastly the power to perform great acts. The speaker used as an example of insight, the fact that Abraham Lincoln has said that he was guided by a superior force to his will, and was helped in many important decisions by a superior power.

Dr. Culp illustrated his second point by making it clear that without faith we would not be able to judge between right and wrong. He illustrated his last point by giving as an example the fact that, although Napoleon said that God was on the side of the heaviest artillery, he ended his career at St. Helena.

FOUR SENIORS GRADUATED BY THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Four members of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary were graduated at the commencement exercises in Kirkpatrick chapel Thursday morning. The men who received their diplomas are Leroy Charles Brandt, John De Maagd, Chester Arthur Moore, and Victor William Simons.

Dr. W. H. S. Demarest, president of the seminary, presided. Four speakers addressed the graduates. They were Professor Theodore Bayliss, who spoke for the faculty, Rev. Henry Kussler, who spoke for the Board of Superintendents,

RUTGERS NETMEN LOSE TWO MATCHES OVER WEEK-END

Scarlet Players Were Unable to Capture One Match; Waugh Plays Well

Rutgers' varsity tennis team suffered two defeats last week, losing to the University of Penn netmen, 6 to 0, at Philadelphia, Friday, and receiving an 8 to 1 setback at the hands of the Swarthmore racket wielders at Swarthmore, Pa., Saturday.

In the match with Penn the Scarlet netmen were unable to capture a single match. Waugh gave Millen, Penn's star player, a hard fight in the first singles, but lost at 6-4, 7-5. Rabinowitz gave a good account of himself against Stanger, but went down to defeat at 6-3, 6-2. Summaries:

Singles—Lingleback, Penn, defeated McKinney, 6-1, 6-3; Stanger, Penn, defeated Rabinowitz, 6-3, 6-2; Hoffman, Penn, defeated McWatty, 6-1, 6-3; Miller, Penn, defeated Waugh, 6-4, 7-5.

Doubles—Stanger and Lingleback, Penn, defeated Rabinowitz and McKinney, Rutgers, 6-2, 6-2; Miller and Hoffman, Penn, defeated McWatty and Waugh, Rutgers, 6-0, 6-0.

Swarthmore Netmen Win
The Swarthmore tennis team won its match with the Scarlet netmen rather easily, the Rutgers netmen being able to annex only one match, which was won by Rabinowitz from Johnson of Swarthmore, 8-6, 4-6, 6-3. McClintock and Beasley of Rutgers put up a hard fight against McDiarmid and Hodges of Swarthmore before the Garnet players won at 2-6, 6-3, 6-4. Summaries:

Singles—Hammell, Swarthmore, beat Waugh, Rutgers, 6-2, 6-3; Nicely, Swarthmore, beat McWatty, Rutgers, 6-4, 6-4; Rabinowitz, Rutgers, beat Johnson, Swarthmore, 8-6, 4-6, 6-3; Vanhart, Swarthmore, beat McKinney, Rutgers, 6-3, 6-2; McDiarmid, Swarthmore, beat McClintock, Rutgers, 6-2, 6-1; McDangall, Swarthmore, beat Beasley, Rutgers, 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.

Doubles—Hodges and Nicely, Swarthmore, beat Waugh and McWatty, Rutgers, 7-5, 6-3; Johnson and Vanhart, Swarthmore, beat Rabinowitz and McKinney, Rutgers, 6-1, 6-2; McDiarmid and Hodges, Swarthmore, beat McClintock and Beasley, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Princeton Defeats Rutgers

After a brief rest period, both teams tried in vain to score. Twice the Scarlet attack threatened, and shots by MacGillvary and Roberts missed by inches. The Tiger forwards were not idle either, and it was mainly the work of Townsend, Auten and Phillips that prevented any Princeton scoring. The second extra period started slowly, the hard pace telling on both teams. Once more Coach Fitch's attackers worked into enemy territory, and once more the Princeton wall stayed off all threats. For eight minutes both teams struggled for an advantage, and the fast-weakening Rutgers defense held its ground. Then Lawler was substituted for Parker on the Princeton attack, and the final rush for the goal ended when Captain Thulin scored the fatal point by a beautiful shot directly from the front, with less than two minutes of play left.

But the Scarlet attack was not dead yet. Rohrbach got the draw at midfield, and Roberts and Palmer carried the ball in towards the Princeton net. Palmer shot and missed, recovered the rubber, and again aimed for the net. The ball was stopped dead a foot outside the crease, and in the scramble that followed Coach Fitch's men failed by inches to pierce the net before the defense carried the ball out of danger for the last time.

Defense Works Well

Coach Fitch's team played a sterling brand of lacrosse up to the last whistle, and although the Scarlet attack was never hitting its best stride, it was the superior Princeton defense that decided the issue. The Rutgers defense also was in top form, Gray, Brown, Phillips, and Auten playing almost perfect lacrosse. Roberts

This Pen Must Stay in Perfect Order or we make it good without charge

The custom of sending Gifts to Graduates has now been extended by general accord to include those in the lower classes who have manifested sufficient industry to pass their final exams.

To know what to give, one needs but observe the students' own expressions of preference for the Parker Duofold Pen and Pencil.

To have earned the favor of the younger generation is our reward for serving it with studied personal interest. We have lifted the frowns from student brows [among others] by giving the world a writing pair that are inspirations to work with and beauties to possess.

All those in favor of owning, or giving the finest—whether for Graduation, Birthday or Wedding Gifts, or for prizes at Bridge or Golf—will signify by stepping in to the nearest Parker pen counter. The first thing to look for is the imprint, "Geo. S. Parker," on the barrels. Then nobody will be disappointed.

FROSH SPEAKING CONTEST, WON BY WILLIAM W. OWEN

William W. Owen won first place and John A. Yacovelli second, in the freshman declamation contest held Thursday afternoon in Kirkpatrick chapel. Richard L. Pollock, Walter A. Kovaleski, Theodore J. Ignall, Carl E. Brugler, Ferdinand J. Wolf, and Ernest E. McMahon qualified for honorable mention in the order named.

The contestants were the ten men from the freshman public speaking sections who ranked highest in their classroom work. They were allowed to prepare a topic in advance. Owen developed his subject, "Men Like Gods," so as to show that man's power of achievement puts him on a plane with a god, and that he should use that power in ways worthy of its nature.

The prizes for first and second place, consisting of books to the value of $15 and $10 respectively, are offered annually by Edward Livingstone Barbour, professor of the art of public speaking.

1927 MEMORIAL TO BE FUND

The memorial of the class of 1927 was voted to be a fund to be created by donations from its members, at a meeting of the senior class Tuesday. Ten dollars will be required of each senior between now and commencement for the fund, and thereafter voluntary contributions will be received yearly and at the annual banquets of the class. It is probable that five dollars will be added to the banquet fee in order to increase the fund.

Henry P. Schneeweiss, treasurer of the university, and other prominent men will act as trustees of the fund. Contributions should be made out to the "Class of 1927 Memorial Fund" and be given to any member of the committee in charge.

Me
Prince Albert

WHEN my father was in college, "Put that in your pipe and smoke it!" was considered snappy conversation. I'm ready to take this old line literally when the talk centers around Prince Albert. Because P. A. makes two of what I like in a pipe.

All wise-cracking aside, P. A. is the money when it comes to deep-down satisfaction in a smoke. It's got everything! Cool as the trail of the ice-man across the kitchen. Sweet as vacation. Fragrant as a pine forest.

Think up your own similes. You'll write them all in the column headed "Superlative Degree" when you learn the joys of a jimmy-pipe and Prince Albert. If you don't know this grand old smoke, come around to my room and I'll give you a load.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins, pound and half-pound tin humidors, and pound crystal-glass humidors with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of bite and punch removed by the Prince Albert process.
